

OKLAHOMA FIVE LEADS RACE FOR VALLEY HONORS

Sooners Remain Undefeated; Tigers Stand Second, Nebraska Eighth

Oklahoma Sooners continue to lead the pack in the Missouri Valley basketball race for 1928 championship honors. The Sooners from Norman have a perfect percentage column, having won in eight starts.

The Missouri Tigers are pursuing the Sooners with one lone defeat and that handed them by the Nebraska Huskers. The two leaders meet this week at Columbia. A win for Coach Edward's Tiger crew will tie the two quintets for first place and a setback for the basketballers from Columbia will mean that they still continue to hold second place alone.

VALLEY STANDINGS

Nebraska	2	5	.286	186	207
Grinnell	1	6	.143	193	276
Iowa State	1	7	.125	250	326

Oklahoma Aggies and Washington are tied for third place, each with five wins and three defeats. This week end the Stillwater Aggies trek to the camp of the Cornhuskers for a game on the Coliseum floor. This will be the first time Nebraska has met an Oklahoma quintet this season. The Aggie floor men are led by "Ab" Wright, sophomore flash who has been leading the scorers of the conference all season.

Holt High Point Man

Coach McDermott's Oklahoma five presents one of the most formidable basket shooting quintets in the Missouri Valley if not in the entire country. The Sooner five have scored 341 points in eight games and have held their opponents to but 186 points. Led by the tall "Vic" Holt, Sooner pivot man the Sooners have ran rough shod over all Valley fives they have met this season. Holt has taken the leading in the individual scoring and is now leading with 103 tallies while Wright of the Oak Aggies is close behind with 96.

The Sooners come north this week for their first real test against the Tigers and Washington. The southern quintet boast of four men over six feet and hope to make their northern invasion entirely successful. In the eight games so far the Oklahoma five has scored an average of 43 points a game.

Last week's games affected the Valley standing very little with the exception of the dumping of the Kansas Jayhawkers which set the Allen crew down in the second division. The victory for the Washington five put them into third place.

Nebraska is well down in the second division with two wins out of seven starts. The Huskers took the count of the Iowa State quintet on the Coliseum floor Saturday, putting the Ames team into the cellar position. Grinnell and Ames have eked out but one victory out of seven games.

Games this week:

Thursday: Kansas at Grinnell.
Friday: Oklahoma at Washington, Oklahoma Aggies at Kansas Aggies, Kansas at Iowa State.
Saturday: Oklahoma at Missouri, Oklahoma Aggies at Nebraska, Kansas at Drake.

No new developments on the proposed Army-Nebraska game as yet but we can afford to wait for such an opportunity as this. Herb Gish is still in the east negotiating with Army officials and a meeting was held with athletic officials yesterday. If Nebraska should land the Cadet game for 1928 and possibly a game for Memorial Stadium in 1929 it will be a huge step forward for Nebraska in the sport light of the world and we don't mean "if."

"It won't be long now,"—until Nebraska has a baseball nine on the diamond representing the Cornhusker institution. It will not be this year but is a sure thing for next season. Baseball has been extinct at Nebraska for three years now and the grand old American pastime is coming back. The spring of 1929 will see aspirants for the horsehide nine working out on the Nebraska diamond somewhere west of the Coliseum.

The Cornhusker carnival at the Coliseum Friday night, sponsored by the N-club, is one of the high lights on the intramural athletic program at Nebraska this year. The big event will include the fraternity relays, wrestling and boxing.

Coach Henry Schulte is taking stock of his varsity track material for the coming season. Tryouts for the frosh were held last week and a number of varsity candidates were on exhibition also.

Roland "Gip" Locke and Fait "Chief" Elkins, Nebraska's two Olympic men are working out on the track prior to their leave for New York for the Olympic finals.

Coach Charley Black's revamped lineup on the hardwood looked plenty neat in the Iowa State game and from all indications the same quintet will face the powerful Oklahoma Aggies on the Coliseum floor this Saturday. Munn has replaced Elliott at center, Lewandowski has replaced Krall at guard and Grace is working in the forward hold with "Jug" Brown in place of Othmer.

Munn, the tall sophomore center showed up better in the Cyclone game last week than he has all season. There are great prospects for Munn at the pivot position and we believe that with more experience he should rival the tall Holt from Soonerland.

Nebraska opens its Missouri Valley wrestling season Saturday at the Coliseum when the Kansas Jayhawkers grapplers come to Lincoln for a Valley mixup. Coach Guy Lookabaugh has a promising squad of mat men this season but Coach Kellogg has a likewise promising squad at Nebraska so the meet should be everything but one-sided.

AMES RELAY TEAM LEAVES FOR RACES

Iowa Runners Start for Millrose Games; Captain Caulum Is Ill in Hospital

Ames, Iowa, Feb. 1.—A crippled Iowa State relay team is making the trip to New York for the Millrose races Thursday, Coach Bob Simpson announced today.

Captain Lindus Caulum of Sioux City, the fastest half-miler in camp, is still in the college hospital with influenza, and his place will be filled by Behrens of Davenport, who has looked good in speed drills. Thornburg, who has been on the sick list, is out of the hospital, and although not in top form, will run in the Millrose games.

The Cyclones are scheduled to meet Penn State and New York university, according to word received from the east. The other members of the team making the trip are Hoak and Thompson. Coach Bob Simpson and his charges left Ames yesterday.

Ray Conger, national collegiate and national A. A. U. mile champion, who is scheduled to represent the Illinois Athletic Club in the Wanamaker mile event of the Millrose games, may be hampered in Thursday's race by an infected tooth. Conger will make the trip with the Iowa State 2-mile team.

KANSAS PREPARES FOR IOWA INVASION

Jayhawks Will Meet Ames, Drake, Grinnell This Week-end With Crippled Line-up

Lawrence, Kan., Feb. 1.—With a crippled line-up and the memory of a 35-28 defeat at the hands of Washington University last week-end, the Jayhawk quintet is preparing for an invasion of Iowa this week-end. A surprise line-up to be used in these games is being rounded into shape, according to Dr. F. C. Allen, director of athletics and coach of basketball at the University of Kansas. The stiff schedule for this week includes games with Grinnell on Feb. 2; Ames, Feb. 3; and Drake, Feb. 4.

Balfour Jeffery is out of the game for the season with an injured knee. Bob Maney's hand is bothering him and Clarence McGuire is suffering from an injured ankle. McGuire will probably be in shape for the Iowa trip however. Art Lawrence, who was a star on the football squad last fall and who was expected out for basketball this semester, will be ineligible on account of scholastic requirements. Harold Schmidt and Duane Henderson were graduated at the end of the first semester.

Of the three Iowa teams Ames is the only one which has played Kansas this season, K. U. winning the game, 33-46.

TEACHERS WILL BE ACADEMY LEADERS

Frankforter Heads Chemist Section; Brenke, Brunig, Slaymaker Are Officers

Dr. C. J. Frankforter of the chemistry department will be chairman of the chemistry section of the Nebraska Academy of Science when it meets at Midland college, Fremont, April 25, 26, 27. Several university faculty members are officers of the organization. Prof. W. C. Brenke of the mathematics department is vice-president, Prof. M. P. Brunig of the physics department, secretary, and P. K. Slaymaker, professor of engineering design, treasurer. Prof. D. W. Crouse of Midland college is president.

Agricultural League Plays First Games

The opening games of the inter-department basketball league at the College of Agriculture were played last evening in the Student Activities building. There are eight teams entered in the league so far: agronomy, ag. journalism, ag. engineers, chemistry, dairy, rural economics, animal husbandry and faculty. The games are being played on a percentage basis. Each team plays every night and the team winning the highest number of games will win the league.

Colorado Aggies May Establish 'Honor Day'

Fort Collins, Colo., Feb. 1.—The presidents of all the honorary fraternities at Colorado Aggies met in a group conference with Dean S. Arthur Johnson a few days ago to formulate an "honor day" on the campus. Plans are not yet complete, but it is hoped that such a day, when all honorary organizations can pledge their new members at one time, may appear on the college calendar.

ALUMNI RETURN FOR VISIT

Former Nebraska Chemistry Student Renews Acquaintances

Former students of the chemistry department who were recent visitors of the campus are: Dr. Randolph Major, who received his master's degree here in 1924, now chemical instructor and research assistant at Princeton; Dr. R. H. Edee, granted a master's degree in 1925, now assistant professor of chemistry at Hamline college, St. Paul, Minn.; Miss Dora Brunell of Friend, Nebr., now professor of chemistry at Houghton college, Houghton, N. Y.; Miss Josephine Grave of Falls City, now instructor of chemistry at Principia academy, St. Louis, Mo.; and Irwin A. ## Housekeeping At Wisconsin U. Is Gigantic Job

The University of Wisconsin affords a housekeeping job that would have appalled the most efficient major-domo of the largest medieval castle. This job falls to the lot of A. F. Gallistel, superintendent of buildings and grounds at the state university of Wisconsin, who keeps things ship-shape in the academic home of the university's 9,000 students.

Mr. Gallistel has oversight of the university's 110 buildings of all kinds, valued at some $10,500,000. Exactly ninety-one of these buildings are heated from the central station which generates 4,800 horse power, and burns 150 tons of coal each winter day.

The steam from the heating station travels through thirteen miles of pipe laid in two one-half miles of tunnels large enough to walk in and one one-half miles of smaller conduits.

The 2,000,000 gallons of water which the university uses on an average school day is carried through three miles of lake water mains and two miles of city water mains.

Mr. Gallistel's establishment has 700 acres in the campus at Madison, and another 700 acres in experimental farms, etc. The lake shore frontage is 13,000 feet. Roads and drives on the campus measures approximately ten miles.

LAW PROFESSOR IS AUTHOR OF ARTICLE

L. Vold of College of Law Tells of Tort Principles of Business in Harvard Review

Prof. L. Vold of the College of Law is the author of a leading article in the Harvard Law Review for January. The article, "The Tort Aspect of Anticipatory Repudiations of Contracts," is the first systematic presentation of the bearing of tort principles on the question of liability for unjustified cancellations of business aspects. Another of the leading articles in the law review for this month is by Gustavus H. Robinson, now at the Boston University law school, who was formerly a professor of law here. His subject is "The Public Utility Concept in American Law."

New Haven, Conn.—(IP)—According to the university health department, 1,687 students at Yale have been vaccinated since small pox appeared in the vicinity of the campus.
