

LEWIS MAKES TOURNNEY CARD

Four Horseshoe Matches Are On Today's Schedule In Coliseum

CONTESTS WILL SOON END

Four horseshoe games for today were posted yesterday by James Lewis, director of intramural athletics. The games will be played in the afternoon, no evening games being possible this week because of the Greater Lincoln Exposition in the Coliseum this week.

The games scheduled are: Phi Sigma Kappa vs Sigma Chi, 4 o'clock on Court 1; Pi Kappa Alpha vs Beta Theta Pi, 5 o'clock, Court 1; Sigma Alpha Mu vs Phi Delta Theta, 4 o'clock, Court 2; Sigma Phi Epsilon vs Delta Sigma Lambda, 5 o'clock, Court 2.

Final Results Not Ready Yet

The final results of the free throwing contest cannot be announced until Sigma Phi Epsilon complete its allotment of shots. Delta Sigma Phi is the winner of second place in the contest, instead of Pi Kappa Alpha, as was announced last week. Kappa Sigma has first place clinched, but Sigma Phi Epsilon has a chance to place fourth in the running.

With the basketball tournament out of the way, Lewis expects to dispose with the handball and horseshoe tournaments as soon as possible. Results in both will be compiled soon to give the fraternities some idea as to their standing.

Whew—that was some basketball tourney! That is just about the way everyone expressed it after the 18th annual Nebraska state basketball tournament had ended in the Coliseum Saturday night after three days of elimination. The world's largest collection of basketballers collected on the Nebraska campus Thursday morning to vie for season's honors on the court.

In the Saturday night finals, St. Paul came out winner of Class A. It was the first time for many years that the basketball crown left Lincoln or Omaha. And now that the championship is outside of these two cities, the tournament next year promises to be greater than ever.

not interfere with the spring workout of the Husker moleskin warriors. Coach Bearg expects to put his 1928 candidates through an intensive spring workout if the weather prevails during the 15 days of practice.

The curtain has dropped on the 1928 cage season and as we scan the results of the hectic Oklahoma campaign we find that Nebraska finished in a tie for sixth place with Drake. Seven games won and eleven lost was the record hung up by the 1928 Scarlet and Cream court squad.

The last Missouri Valley basketball season ended as follows:

| | W | L | Pct. |
|---------------|----|----|-------|
| Oklahoma | 18 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Missouri | 13 | 5 | .722 |
| Okl. Aggies | 11 | 7 | .611 |
| Kansas | 9 | 9 | .500 |
| Washington | 8 | 10 | .444 |
| Kansas Aggies | 8 | 10 | .444 |
| Nebraska | 7 | 11 | .389 |
| Drake | 7 | 11 | .389 |
| Griannel | 6 | 12 | .333 |
| Iowa State | 3 | 15 | .167 |

And once again the laurels go to Oklahoma University. The Missouri Valley indoor track meet at Des Moines was won by the Sooner tracksters with Missouri Second, Kansas third and Nebraska fourth. And the Missouri Valley wrestling meet last week at Columbia went to the Oklahoma Aggies. That the trophies are all going Sooner way is not to be questioned any more. Oklahoma has developed in the last few years to be the outstanding athletic school in the Valley.

Next year Nebraska meets the Sooners at Norman in football. It will be the first meeting between the two eleven for many years and it remains to be seen if Oklahoma is going to beat Nebraska in everything or if the Huskers will remain supreme in the football sport.

It looks as if another year is going to slip by and someone else besides Nebraska will take the Missouri Valley outdoor track meet. With a fourth place rating in the indoor meet last week the Husker tracksters will have to hurry to come out of that position.

Missouri's power was not shown in the Des Moines meet, as the Tiger coach only took six men with him and at that the Columbia crew won second place. It is our prediction that the Tiger tracksters will give the Oklahoma Sooners a fast bid for first honors at Lincoln when the Valley teams convene for outdoor honors on the track.

Iowa Basketball Coach Advocates Rule Changes

Iowa City, Iowa.—(IP)—Control of the entire game of basketball by a lengthy center who is able to gain the tip-off almost invariably when opposed by a shorter center would be done away with if a plan urged by Coach Justin M. Barry, of the University of Iowa were carried into effect.

Barry would eliminate the jump center as a means of setting the ball in action at the start of a period or after the making of a basket. Instead he would have the ball thrown into the court by a player whose team had won a toss of the coin at the first of the game. From then on, after a basket had been made, the defensive team would be given the right to throw in the ball. This plan would not eliminate the jump after a held ball.

Barry believes that the adoption of such a plan would develop team play, doing away with the advantage of a tall center. It also would eliminate the roughness which is usual after the jump center, he thinks.

REDS TAKE WIN IN COLOR MEET

Senior Scarlet Team Triumphs Second Time in Series Of Track Events

The Senior Reds hung up their second consecutive tri-color victory scoring 108 1-2 points in the meet held Monday afternoon under the east stadium. Monday's meet was the second of a tri-color series of four and the Red's victory places them securely in first place to date. The Blue team with 60 1-2 points, and the Black team with 59 finished second and third.

The Junior Blues also repeated their work in last week's meet and came through with 68 points and first place. The Red team scored 42 for second place, and the Blacks 38 for third. The attendance at the meet was poor and some of the main point-scorers for the various teams failed to make an appearance.

Mays Makes Fast Time

Mays, Junior Black, ran the quarter-mile run in faster time than the Senior Red winner stepping the distance in 54.4 seconds. The marks made in Monday's meet did not come up to the usual tri-color standard but the lack of competitors probably accounts for that fact. Ragains, Sloan, Tomson, Bailey, and Oehlrich were on hand to hold up the record of their respective teams as usual.

The summary of events:

War Losses Due to Lack of Knowledge

Fort Collins, Colo., March 12.—A large percentage of our losses in France were due to ignorance of the science of war on the part of our junior officers, according to Major John P. Lucas, professor of military science and tactics, who broadcast over station KOA, on the agricultural college program recently.

He talked on the purpose of the reserve officers training corps which has been established in many colleges throughout the country to train students as army officers in case an emergency arises. Young men who have the benefits of military training, he explained, find it helpful in their peace-time pursuits as well as a service to the nation in time of war. It brings about physical as well as mental development while the disciplinary features make for law-abiding citizens.

Pairings for All-University Boxing Meet Will Be Listed When Filings Are Made

Entrees for the all-university boxing tournament to be staged at the Coliseum during the next two weeks must be turned into the athletic office by Wednesday evening, March 14, directors of the tournament announced Monday. Pairings for the tourney will be made as soon as all the entrees have been listed.

The tournament is open to all university boxers including both fraternity and non-fraternity competitors. The winners of the various weights will receive a medal for their accomplishment. The University may award some kind of emblem to the most outstanding competitors, the directors announced.

The winners will also be entered in the Olympic tryouts at Omaha this spring. The University will probably pay the expenses of the trip in addition.

Letter Men at Ames Have No Grid Practice

Coach Workman Eliminates Varsity Men from Spring Football Practice Session

Ames, Iowa, March 12.—(Special)—No varsity football men will be eligible for spring football practice at Iowa State, is the announcement of Head Coach Noel Workman. The reason for Coach Workman's move is to have the entire varsity squad next fall on a par as far as a knowledge of the game is concerned. The Iowa State mentor also believes that varsity men on the spring squad too often discourage the less experienced candidates.

Presidential Election Stirs Interest Among American Universities

Oberlin, Ohio.—(IP)—The accusation that college students are completely oblivious to affairs outside the ivied walls of learning may hold most of the time, but once in four years at least there comes a renewal of interest in academic circles in affairs national.

For the quadrennial presidential election stir is one which invades almost every college and university campus in the country. Already this year straw votes on presidential candidates have been held at Yale and at Oregon—Hoover winning by big majorities in each case—and many more such collegiate presidential straw votes are being planned.

But of still more interest, because it affects the activities of the students more, the mock political convention, examples of which are held in many colleges and universities every four years just before the regular political national conventions. Among those planning such events for this year are Ohio State, Western Reserve, Wisconsin, Ohio Wesleyan, and Oberlin.

Oberlin claims the distinction of originating the idea. It was back in 1864 that the first Oberlin Mock Republican National Convention was held. Lincoln was the Oberlin nominee, and since that time at nine of the fifteen such conventions held here the same candidate as was later selected by the Republicans, was named by the Oberlin students.

Oberlin's convention always has been Republican in nature. Other schools hold Democratic conventions wholly, or alternate the two every four years. Some have a combined Republican and Democratic convention at which delegates of both parties are eligible for election.

In the 1924 conventions Coolidge, Borah, and LaFollette were the most popular Republican nominees in collegiate circles, while Al Smith was almost the sole Democrat named by undergraduates. At Western Reserve university, LaFollette was given the presidential nomination, with Al Smith as the vice-presidential running mate.

rest of the college year to all seniors except those who are under discipline. Dean Gauss' statement reads: "After consultation with the Undergraduate Council this office has decided to grant as an experiment, to all seniors, except such as at present are under discipline, the privilege of so-called 'unlimited cuts' for the remainder of this academic year. "This means that seniors during the present term will be relieved from the compulsory attendance upon those class exercises in which there is nothing of the nature of a daily report or a daily recitation, or a daily test or laboratory work, or test assigned in connection with lecture courses."

Hot trumpet—Sock it!

THE saxophones moan. The trumpets trump. The cornets corn. And the fellow who plays the piano should have been an acrobat! That's the kind of an aggregation which gets real music out of dumb animals at a dance.

And real music makes even the best dancer thirsty. All right! Go over in the corner by the palm trees and quench your thirst with "Canada Dry." This ginger ale has a delightful flavor . . . tang to it . . . dryness . . . sparkle. It has a subtle gingery flavor because it is made from pure Jamaica ginger. It contains no capsicum (red pepper).
