Dr. J. Stanley Welch, Lincoln physician and surgeon, will speak on "Medicine as a Profession" this evening at seven o'clock at the Social Sciences auditorium. His lecture is the fourth of a series being given under the auspices of the Federation of Church Workers, with "Vocations" as the central theme. The attractions of the medical profession together with its opportunities will be presented by the speaker. Students who have been unable to decide on a profession as yet will be especially benefited by this address.

Dr. Welch is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, receiving his Bachelor of Science degree with the class of 1900. He then entered the Northwestern Medical school at Chicago and received his M.D. degree from that institution in 1903.

Two More Scheduled
Two more lectures have been scheduled to complete the series on the subject of "Vocations." Rev. Clifton H. Wolcott, pastor of the First Baptist church, will give an address on "The Ministry" on Wednesday, March 23. An insight of this profession as viewed by one of its members will be given at this time.

(By Catherine Elizabeth Hanson)
Those who heard Jacques Thibaud in his concert at St. Paul church Monday evening will all agree that Thibaud is more than an average fiddler. The concert was especially of interest to University School of Music students who composed over one-third of his audience. ## GRID PRACTICE STARTS TODAY

Sixty Candidates Are Ready to Begin Spring Training This Afternoon

FUNDAMENTALS STRESSED

(By Douglas Timmerman)
Spring football practice starts this afternoon on the south stadium field with a squad of sixty gridsters ready to report and a quintet of coaches on hand to direct the proceedings. Many uniforms are still available, according to the stores department, and Coach Ernest E. Bearg is still calling for more volunteers.

Spring drill will consist of passing, blocking, and setting-up tactics calculated to give the squad a foundation for the more strenuous practice next fall. Fundamentals will also receive most stressing, according to Coach Bearg, and a punting drill will be furnished each day in an effort to correct a Husker weakness in that department last year.

More Men Out
Coach Bearg, who just returned from a trip to Illinois, was concerned about the Husker football outlook. "With only fourteen letter men back, we need a lot of new material to fill up about twenty vacant places on the squad. For that reason I'd like to see more men out than the sixty odd that have already checked out suits."

Starting a day early in his practice drill, Leroy Lucas, giant tackle on the Varsity eleven last year, went through a prolonged drill tackling the dummy Tuesday afternoon. The husky Nebraskan put in the afternoon at hard practice and lost several pounds from his strenuous drill.

"Bunny" Oakes, line coach, will be on hand to drill the linemen who report.

In addition to Oakes, Charley Black, Leo Scherer, and Ray Lehman will be on the field to give the candidate a strenuous workout during the fifteen day practice period.

Hainer Scholarship Trophy and Fifteen Prizes Offered to Highest Groups

Fifteen plaques will be presented to the fifteen fraternities having the smallest percentage of delinquent hours. The standings of the Greek societies are compiled from the records made the second semester last year and the first semester of the present school term.

Co-Eds Gather To Join Mystic New Auxiliary

(By Bill McCleery)

"Mah-ah!"—Don't run, boys, you don't have to hold the baby—that's just the Nanny Goat password. For the benefit of those University students who have been ill, out of town, or just illiterate, we will explain that the Nanny Goats is just the Billy Goats auxiliary. If you don't know about the Billy Goats come down to a special night class at The Daily Nebraskan office New Year's eve.

This is no horsefeathers. Every lady in the registrar's office has joined the sacred order of Nanny Goats under the registrar's lodge. If you expect to rate at the registrar's office (nobody does anyway) you'll have to be a Billy or a Nanny Goat. The only thing on male students' lips is "Bah-a-a!" and practically (get that—practically) the only thing on co-ed's lips is "Mah-ah". O K M N X—we're twenty thousand (20 comma 000) strong! One lodge has offered a little variation on the password—it is "O. K.—Emma necks". If Emma will please call—please.

All Men Take Oath

Practically every fraternity on the campus is represented in Billy Goats. Barney Google, exalted angora, might be mad if he saw some of the new pledges into his Bah-lodge. The big butter man (read the last twice) you might get it) of the Lincoln chapter called and said something about somebody not choosing to run for vice-president of the Nanny Goats. This certain Nanny was a—aw, we promised not to say any more

Factions Will Not Matter in 'Straw' Voting

Students Abandon Sides for Election Today; Groups Have Favorites
To-day is the day that Nebraska university political factions are no more. Perhaps they will reappear for the annual spring elections and at the Pershing Rifle try-outs but to-day, Wednesday, leaders of the north and south parties cannot dictate. Nebraska students will have an opportunity to "vote as they please" when the ballots are passed at the nine o'clock classes to decide the student's choice for our next president.

Reed and Willis Are Reviewed As Presidential Possibilities

(Editor's Note: Below are reprinted the last of a series of reviews of presidential candidates condensed from articles appearing in The Independent and Christian Science Monitor. Today's articles are from the Monitor. The articles have been run to acquaint students with the merits of leading candidates preparatory to the poll to be taken today in all 9 o'clock classes by The Daily Nebraskan with the assistance of the political science department.)

JAMES A. REED

By CHARLES G. ROSS
Washington Correspondent, The St. Louis Post-Dispatch
Declared an outcast by his party in 1920, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, bitter-end opponent of the Wilson policy of international co-operation, today has the unanimous endorsement of the Missouri State Democratic Committee for the presidential nomination by that party.

In 1910 Reed defeated David R. Francis of St. Louis for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator and was elected. It tells something of his ability as a campaigner to recall that he has never been beaten on a direct appeal to his constituents; all his political defeats have been at the hands of conventions.

Unbound by Rules

The record shows that Reed was not long bound by the unwritten rule that a new Senator shall be seen and not heard. He soon gave evidence of the oratorical power and debating skill that have helped to bring him to his present prominence. Several of his earlier speeches were in favor of downward revision of the tariff; this reminds one of the planks of his platform today. He

Ohio Senator

Senator Frank B. Willis, candidate for the Republican nomination for presidency, whose name appears on the student ballot for the "straw" vote that will be taken at nine o'clock classes this morning. Senator Willis as a possibility is reviewed in another part of this page by a Washington writer.

STUDENTS CAST BALLOTS TODAY FOR FAVORITES

Presidential Preferences Will Be Determined at Voting In Classrooms

FIFTEEN NAMES ON LIST

Members of Both Parties Appear on Sheets; All Have Possibilities
Presidential preferences of University students will be expressed on The Daily Nebraskan's ballots in nine o'clock classes this morning. More than 3,000 ballots have been delivered to University professors having nine o'clock classes today. The ballots will be mailed to the Nebraskan office immediately and the results will appear in the University publication as soon as the votes have been received and counted.

"Any student can vote," emphasized the Nebraskan's poll manager. "Those who do not have nine o'clocks may step into any classroom and vote, or may call at The Daily Nebraskan office in the basement of U hall from 3 until 5 o'clock this afternoon. Reserve ballots are being held there."

Reviews Have Appeared
Assisted by the department of political science, the Independent, and The Christian Science Monitor, the Nebraskan has printed a comprehensive review of the character and accomplishments of each of the fifteen possibilities whose names appear on the ballots.

The men whose names appear on the voting sheets are Borah, Curtis, Dawes, Dumahey, Hoover, Hughes, Lowden, Meredith, Norris, Reed, Ritchie, Smith, Underwood, Walsh, and Willis. In addition to these names certain questions will be asked on the ballot. The voter will be requested to put down the party preference of his father and mother, his major study and his year in school.

The "straw vote" idea in colleges is very popular, eastern colleges having taken it up unanimously. Harvard voted yesterday for their preference. As soon as all the colleges who intend to take up the poll have turned in their results The Independent magazine will compile a list of all the colleges and universities with their respective votes.

SKITS WILL BE PARTY FEATURE

"Spring Frolic" Program Will Be Bolstered by Acts From Uni Night

COLLEGIANS ARE BOOKED

The "Spring Frolic", the party being given Saturday night at the Ag college Activities building by the Varsity Party committee is going to take the place of University night which was to have been given that night.

An entirely new and different line of entertainment is in store for University students Saturday night. Fritz Daly is going to have two curtain skits presented that night at intermission. As yet the skits are not out for publication but will be taken from the proposed University night program.

The committee inspected the floor at the Activities building and it is pronounced as one of the best dance floors in Lincoln. It is large enough to accommodate a crowd of 300 couple and small enough that the intermission entertainment can be heard.

STUDENT CRIBBING IS VESPER'S THEME

Edna Schrick Discusses Subject from Viewpoint of Co-Eds at Ellen Smith Hall Meeting

"We all agree that cheating is wrong. Then why does it exist here and on other campuses?" asked Edna Schrick, in discussing "Cribbing" at the Vespers service held Tuesday at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith Hall.

"It is because so many things interfere to keep us from studying when we ought to be studying, things that are more fun than studying. It is because when examinations or tests are sprung on us we resort to cheating to get a grade, because fraternities and sororities and professors are forever harping on grades," she suggested.

Law College Senior Will Address League

Mr. Erwin Jones, senior in the College of Law, will address the Lutheran Bible League on "Jewish Law and the Trial of Christ", on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in room 204 of the Temple.

The Lutheran student pastor, Reverend Erck, says that the subject to be discussed by Mr. Jones should interest students of the Christian faith, especially because of the fact that the lecture is being held during the Lenten season when the various churches are bringing the message of Lent to the attention of the worshippers. He extends a welcome to all those interested.

Grace Coppock Drive Falls Short of Mark

Seven hundred dollars of the goal of fifteen hundred which was set in the annual Grace Coppock drive, had been collected when the drive closed last Saturday night. Never before has this campus failed to contribute its quota of fifteen hundred dollars to the work of the Y. W. C. A. in China.

The four teams in the lead at the close of the drive were captained by Edna Schrick, Ina Bollen, Lyndall Brumback, and Esther Gerner.
