Women Will Have Luncheon in
Cafeteria of College
Of Agriculture

More than two hundred teachers of home economics in Nebraska high schools are expected to be present at the first meeting of the Nebraska State Home Economics Association which is being held in Lincoln Friday and Saturday, March 30 and 31. After a dinner and a short musical program at the University Club Friday evening at 6 o'clock, several talks will be given by prominent home economics teachers and leaders.

Included in the musical program are: Mildred Hawley, a home economics student, who will play a piano solo; Jane Hinkley, who will sing a soprano solo; and Elouise Bradford, who will sing a contralto solo.

Lucy Harte, president of the Nebraska State Home Economics association, will preside at the meeting after the dinner. The feature of the evening will be an address "The Development of Leadership Through Home Economics Teaching," which will be given by Miss Beulah I. Coon, head of the department of teachers training at the University of Chicago.

FAIR EXHIBITS WILL CARRY OUT THEMES

Each Department Will Have Display
Showing Its Relation to
Farm Operation

Exhibits at the Farmers' Fair May 5 at the College of Agriculture, will carry out a centralized theme, according to Clarence Bartlett, chairman of exhibits. Each department in the College will have a display representative of the department and which shows its relation to farm operation.

Not only will the various phases of farm operations be on display but the actual management of the farm will also be open to inspection by the Fair visitors. There will be available authentic data regarding the investment, cost of operation, profit and loss of the farm as managed under the conditions that the exhibits represent, according to Mr. Bartlett. This is the first attempt of the (Continued on Page 3.)

Co-Eds May Take Golf Or Tennis This Spring

Holiday Will Speak at Meetings to
Be Held Thursday; Rausche
Will Instruct

Co-eds who are interested in spring golf for credit are asked by Miss Mabel Lee to meet in Room 101 at the Armory Thursday April 5, either at 11 or 4 o'clock. Golf is being offered for the first time this spring by the women's physical education department as an alternative to tennis.

Mr. Halliday, professional at the Antelope park links, will talk at this meeting on the subject of "Golf Clubs." Final organization of the classes will be made at this time and it is imperative that all girls who are intending to enter the golfing classes be present. Any juniors and seniors who are not taking work in the department but who are interested in this sport may enter the classes.

Miss Rausche will be the instructor in golf and the first lessons will be given in the Armory and on the campus. A golf net has been set up in the east gymnasium, second floor, so indoor practicing can be done.

'There Are No Rules Concerning Observance of Lent', Says Hunt

Editor's Note: This is the seventh of a series of interviews with the University's student pastors concerning the Lenten season and its relation to University life which will be published by The Daily Nebraskan.

(By Cliff F. Sandahl)
The disciples of Christ belong to the nonliturgical group of Protestant churches, hence there are no rules or ritualistic regulations concerning the observance of the Lenten period," declared the Rev. Ray E. Hunt, pastor of the First Christian church and student pastor of the University, yesterday afternoon.

Miss Beulah Coon

Miss Beulah Coon, who will speak on "Development of Character Through Home Economics Education" at the Saturday morning session of the Nebraska State Home Economics Association which is meeting here today and tomorrow.

DEBATERS WILL MEET DAKOTANS

Nebraska Team Goes to Grand Island for Contest to
Be Held Saturday

PITTSBURGH IS HERE NEXT

Cornhunker debaters meet the North Dakota debating squad members at Grand Island Saturday. Nebraska will uphold the negative of the question, "Resolved: That Secretary Kellogg's policy in regard to Central America should be discontinued."

Carl F. Hansen, a debater at Nebraska last year, is arranging details for the debate at Grand Island. Mr. Hansen is an instructor in the Grand Island High School at the present time.

Two Represent Nebraska

Nebraska will be represented in the argue-fest by Robert M. Baldwin and Jacob M. Finklestein. Baldwin is a freshman in the College of Law, having taken his undergraduate course in Arts at Maryville College in Tennessee. He has been active in debating and dramatics in the University and is a member of Phi Alpha Delta, legal fraternity.

The second speaker for the negative, Jacob Finklestein is a new man in debate at Nebraska. He took an active part in debate in Lincoln High school, and was one of the men of the debate squad to appear against Drake at the Omaha Technical high school on March 14. He is a junior in the college of Arts and Sciences and a member of Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity.

The University of North Dakota men who will speak are Lloyd Blume and Bennie A. Johnson. Lloyd Blume is a junior in the North Dakota College of Law, and a member of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic society, Phi Alpha Delta, legal fraternity, and Kappa Sigma, social fraternity. He has had a great deal of experience in debating during his college career.

Jewett Orders Cadets To Hear Smith Speech

R. O. T. C. Unit Will Form on Parade
Ground Thursday, April 5,
At 3:50 O'clock

All cadets are required, upon approval by the chancellor, to hear an address by Major General N. A. Smith, U. S. A., at 3:50 o'clock April 5, according to an order issued yesterday by Lieut. Col. F. F. Jewett. Men will form in column of battalions in line of close column on the west end of the parade ground facing south without arms.

Members of the band will form at the head of the regiment, without instruments, and members of Pershing Rifles will form with their respective companies. The above order was issued by Colonel Jewett yesterday afternoon.

University Bulletins Are Sent Over State

Two University of Nebraska bulletins published in February are being sent out over the state, introducing a new feature in the printing of these information pamphlets.

"Better Living for Nebraska," distributed February 8 and "Better Business for Nebraska," completed for February 23, are the first of the new series of "Better Nebraska" bulletins. The covers for the bulletins, instead of being gray and plain are of light cream paper with illustrations on the front. The bulletins are very striking and more modern than those of other years.

The bulletin of the University of Nebraska is published monthly in October, weekly in February and May, tri-weekly in March, semi-weekly in April, and semi-monthly in June of each year by the University of Nebraska.

Students Help To Hang Up Sun On Field Tours

(By Fritz Daly)

The saying "there is no rest for the wicked" may or may not be true in the case of students in the geology department but getting up at 5 o'clock every Saturday morning is nothing to be forgotten in a hurry.

While the great multitude of Nebraskans are peacefully slumbering dreaming of an enjoyable Friday night date, those who aspire to study the depths of the earth are rolling out of the warm bed, sleepily drawing on the outdoor clothing in preparation to an all-day journey.

Get Early Start

By the time pajama clad co-eds are at the point of inquiring whether it is noon and time to get up, these embryo geologists have completed a half-day's work and are wondering if it is not nearly time to eat.

It is the belief of the heads of the geology department that practical work, along with theoretical study, is the best means of putting their ideas across. The old adage that "experience is the best teacher" is plainly evident in the work being carried on by the department.

Travel Around State

A course in field work is offered the second semester which requires students to put in a certain amount of work in the field. The class, which meets every Saturday, takes a trip into some part of southwestern Nebraska and instead of spending the day attending a movie members of the class get out into the field and get down to "dirt facts."

ROUND TABLE WILL HEAR SWEARINGEN

Presbyterian Minister of St. Paul,
Minn., Will Speak Today
On 'Follow Me'

Dr. Henry C. Swearingen, pastor of the House of Hope Presbyterian church, St. Paul, Minnesota, will speak at the campus Religious Round Table luncheon this noon at the Grand hotel. His subject, bearing on the Lenten season, will be "Follow Me."

The speaker, who is here for the dedication of the new First Presbyterian church, is a moderator of the general assembly of that denomination in Minnesota. He is also doing considerable work among the students at the University of Minnesota.

Lived in Lincoln

Dr. Swearingen formerly resided in Lincoln and will be remembered by a number of the faculty. While here he was the pastor of one of the local Presbyterian churches.

This address will close the series of noonday luncheons which have been sponsored by the University pastors during the Lenten period. Dr. I. B. Schreckengast, chancellor of Wesleyan university, was scheduled to speak this noon, but Dr. Swearingen was secured in his place.

Quarantine of Alpha Phi House Is Lifted

Dorothy McCoy, Sophomore I. Taken
To Hospital With Slight
Diphtheria Case

Alpha Phi sorority was temporarily quarantined yesterday morning due to a case of diphtheria in the sorority house at 1531 S. street. Dorothy McCoy, '30, Imperial, was taken to the hospital yesterday afternoon with a slight case of diphtheria.

It was thought that the sorority would be quarantined for some time but following an examination of all women in the house it was decided that there was no need for such action.

PLAYERS WILL PERFORM AGAIN

Galsworthy's 'Old English',
Will Be Given Four Times
This Week End

STUDENT MATINEE TODAY

"Old English," the play by Galsworthy, which was successfully presented Wednesday evening by the University Players, will be given two performances today and two tomorrow.

A student matinee will be given today at 3 o'clock especially for University students. Besides the two evening performances at 8 o'clock tonight and tomorrow evening, another matinee will be given Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Ray Ramsay plays the leading role of the show, Sylvanus Heythorpe, with dramatic and professional ability, and critics say it is the best role he has enacted while appearing in Lincoln.

The play is long, longer than the average, and displays dramatic ability in the tenseness and depth of its roles. Ramsay is ably supported by an experienced cast who give the proper interpretation of the play.

'It' Is Important Part Of Personality Says Minnesota Professor

Alpha Phi's got quarantined for having "it", but, according to Professor George W. Friedrich of State Teachers College, St. Cloud, Minnesota, sex appeal is a good thing.

"Charm, sex appeal, or 'it' is one of the most important phases of personality," states the prominent educator. He goes on to say that if girls don't want to be stable Mables they should elevate the skirts with fashion.

We quite agree with all this, but it makes recitation rather difficult, and besides, the professors get all the benefit of it anyway. No wonder college professors are noted for being absent-minded. They're not absent-minded—just preoccupied. You would be, too, with some charming Thetas in the front row.

In a comprehensive census almost taken by The Daily Nebraskan it was found that men prefer long skirts. "My ideal girl," dreamily confessed a Kappa Sig, "is a girl with long hair and skirt to match." "My dream baby," came back a Phi Psi, "is a girl with a boyish bob."

Many New Books Are Received by Library

Students interested in reading will find a wide variety of subjects to choose from among the new books received recently by the University Library.

The list of new books is as follows: Mind and Personality, Brown; Psychology of Secondary Education, Judd; About Ourselves, H. A. Overstreet; Learning How to Study and Work Effectively, Book; Religion in the Making, Whitehead; Christianity, Guignebert; The Organization of the Early Christian Churches, Hatch; Judaism (2 volumes), Moore; Modern Development of City Government (2 volumes), Griffith; The (Continued on Page 2.)

Last Mixer Before Spring Recess Is Saturday Night

An "Ag Mixer," the last one before spring vacation, will be given Saturday night at the Student Activities building, sponsored by the agricultural engineers.

According to the committee in charge, a good five-piece orchestra has been obtained to furnish the music. The dance will start at 9 o'clock.

Crowds Pour into Coliseum to View Opera 'Il Trovatore' Presentation

Capacity of Drill Field Is Taxed by Cars; Several Attend in Full
Dress or Tuxedo; Few Top-Hats
Are Seen.

(By Bill McCleery)

Citizens of Lincoln and surrounding vicinity, and University students responded magnificently to the call of "Il Trovatore" last evening when the result that the Coliseum was packed. Wave after wave of enthusiastic faces mirrored the power and appeal of the Chicago Civic Opera Company's presentation.

MAGAZINE GETS COMMENDATION

Prairie Schooner Is Praised in
Letter From E. J. O'Brien
Of London, England

CAMPAGN IS LAUNCHED

"The thin white dust that lies over the stories in the Prairie Schooner is the real soil from which our future literature will spring."

Thus writes Edward J. O'Brien of London, England, in a letter to Dr. Lowry C. Wimberly, associate professor of English, regarding Nebraska's only literary magazine.

Mr. O'Brien annually collects the best short stories from literary magazines all over the world and publishes them in a book called the "Best Short Stories." In his 1927 volume, according to Dr. Wimberly, several Prairie Schooner stories were indexed as distinctive.

"Keep It Going"

Continuing, Mr. O'Brien writes: "Do keep it going even if the university has to sponsor it. I regard it as more important to Nebraska than your lecture courses. All the stories shine in my little milky way, and I think you will be pleased with the record."

A campaign for new subscriptions and financial contributions to this magazine, which is published quarterly, has been launched, Dr. Wimberly, who is chairman of the board of editors, said.

"Letters have been sent to all faculty members," he added, "and already several checks have been received. If enough money is raised we shall continue with the work otherwise it will be necessary for us to disperse with it."

Members of Sigma Upsilon, national literary fraternity, which organization sponsors the publication of the Prairie Schooner, are canvassing the various buildings on the campus. It is thought that every faculty member will be reached in this manner.

The next number of the magazine will appear in April.

TENNIS FOR CO-EDS WILL START TODAY

Five Practices Are Required to Take Part in Tournament to Be Held May 14-19

"Wanted: 100 girls to play tennis for W. A. A. points." This might easily be the ad that Eloise Spencer, W. A. A. tennis manager, might insert in the Daily Nebraskan to induce co-eds to come out for the tennis season which will open Friday, March 30.

Only five practices are required in order to participate in the tournament which will be held May 14 to 19. Girls who enter the tournament will receive twenty-points. If they advance beyond the second round, fifty points will be given.

Points Are Given
Those who play in the semi-finals will get seventy-five points and those who participate in the finals will get 100 points. Additional points will be given for health, scholarship, sportmanship and technical skill.

All girls desiring to play tennis are asked to sign their names on the W. A. A. bulletin board which is on the east entrance of the gymnasium. After each practice, the name of the (Continued on Page 3.)

Clifford Hendricks Is Invited to Conference

Nebraska Chemistry Professor Gets
Notice of Spring Meeting
Of Chemical Society

Dr. C. Clifford Hendricks of the chemistry department, has received an invitation to meet with the editors of the Journal of Chemical Education, both for a conference and a dinner during the sessions of the American Chemical society. The spring meeting of the society will be held April 16 to 19 in St. Louis.

Dr. Hendricks, with Mr. P. G. Johnson of the Teachers College, will present a paper on "The Division of Chemical Education." Dr. Hendricks is Nebraska's contributing editor to the Journal of Chemical Education.

'IL TROVATORE' IS ATTENDED BY RECORD CROWD

Coliseum Is Packed for Opera
Performance by Chicago
Civic Company

Audience Applauds Work of
Antonio Cortis, Rimini,
Augusta Lenska

(By Don Carlson)

"Il Trovatore," the grand opera composed by Verdi, was presented by the Chicago Civic Opera Company, to more than eight thousand people at the University Coliseum last night.

The first grand opera ever to play in Lincoln with the original company, "Il Trovatore" scored a tremendous success as was evident by the continued applause of the crowd that filled the Coliseum. Rosa Raisa, who leads the company of stars, received much applause from the audience, as did Antonio Cortis and Augusta Lenska.

Verdi's "Il Trovatore" takes place in the fifteenth century, in the provinces of Aragon and Biscay, in northern Spain. The lighting effects aided the beautiful scenery in forming the appropriate background for eight different scenes. The costuming was typical of the times, the original script of the opera having (Continued on Page 3.)

KATHERINE PIAZZA WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Italian Student, Senior, Will Go
To Bryn Mawr College After
Tour of Europe

Because of outstanding work in the department of romance languages, Miss Katherine Piazza, University senior, has won a resident scholarship at Bryn Mawr college. After a tour of Europe this summer, she will begin her advance work there next fall.

Miss Piazza was born in Sicily, Italy, and came to Lincoln at the outbreak of the war in 1914. She received her preliminary education in the Lincoln schools, and was graduated from Lincoln high school.

Has Taken All Languages
Her record in the University is characterized by intense interest in the romance language department. She has taken five and one-half years of Latin, four years of French, three years of Spanish and two years of Italian. That is all the University offers. This has been done in conjunction with the work necessary for a degree.

Miss Piazza, accompanied by Dr. Laura Pfeiffer will spend next summer touring Europe, spending much of her time in Florence and Paris. While in Italy, Miss Piazza will visit relatives, and in Paris she will study.

Though the scholarship she has won is for one year only, Miss Piazza believes she will continue her work at Bryn Mawr, and take a Master of Arts degree there. Her plans after that are undetermined. She believes work as a linguist would be interesting to her, although she may teach.

Alpha Delta Pi Downs Phi Mu in First Round

Semi-Finals of Co-ed Volley Ball
Tournament Will Be Played
Friday Afternoon

Alpha Delta Pi defeated Phi Mu 34-10 Wednesday afternoon in the first round of the co-ed intramural volleyball tournament. Phi Omega Pi eliminated Alpha Xi Delta and Delta Zeta eliminated Alpha Delta Theta in first round matches played off last week.

In the semi-finals Friday afternoon Phi Omega Pi will be matched with Theta Phi Alpha and Delta Zeta will fight it out with Alpha Delta Pi. Finals will be played Saturday afternoon, at 1:30 and 2 o'clock.

Alpha Phi's Are 'Inside Looking Out' Because of Diphtheria Quarantine

Stock in Alpha Phi cakes went down thirty points yesterday morning following the report that the sorority had been quarantined for a case of diphtheria. It is now soaring again with the news that the quarantine has been lifted.

The Alpha Phis live in a brick house with green trimming on S street. It is quite hard to distinguish at night because the shades are always pulled (yes they are!) but you can usually tell it by Joyce Ayres' Ford which is parked out in front most of the time.

Next to mid-semester examinations it would have gone straight to the (Continued on Page 3.)

CRAWFORD SPEAKS TO LUNCHEON GROUP

Theta Sigma Phi Sponsors Meeting
That Hears Professor
Of Journalism

"Writing is something of a commercial venture and the publisher can not gamble on literature, he must have real selling material," stated Professor R. P. Crawford, in addressing the luncheon sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, Thursday noon at the Right-A-Way Cafe on the subject of "What to Write and Where to Sell."

In comparing the larger magazine with the smaller, Professor Crawford stated that the only way one could hope to write for a small magazine the Century for instance, with a circulation of only 25,000, is to have some other source of income. The Curtis Publishing Company was cited by the speaker as an example of a large publishing company. The profits of the company during the past (Continued on Page 2.)

Meeting of Pre-Med Society Hears Dr. Orr

Lessons in Surgery Gained From World War' Is Subject of Talk at Banquet

Fifty pre-med students were addressed by Dr. H. W. Orr, chief surgeon of the Nebraska Orthopedic hospital, last evening at a dinner at the Grand Hotel. His subject was: "Lessons in Surgery Gained from the World War."

"Vast improvements have been made in the field of antiseptics since the World War, resultant from observations which were made at that time," said Dr. Orr. The tremendous amount of learning which was amassed at that time, and subsequent thereto is exemplified in the modern trend of surgery. "It has resolved itself to the proposition of keeping the surgical wound free from germs rather than killing them after they have located in the incision."

This banquet was the second monthly meeting of the Nu-Med society since the first of the year, and a notable high-light in the evening was Dr. Orr's act of turning over to the present secretary of the society minutes of the meeting of this same organization thirty-odd years ago at which time Dr. Orr held the office of secretary.
