Scene Is Portrayed

An artist is at work in the cave drawing on the walls the figures of elephants, reindeer and horse. A woman is holding a torch to light the work of the artist and one of the two children is also carrying a light, The figure of an old man appears in the corner bending over a glowing fire.

"Many have used this theme," Miss Dolan stated. "This is my conception of it. It remains to be seen how well I succeed. I have been working on it a week and today least a month to finish it, but-one the day's activities. A large crowd never can tell."

Dinner; One Hundred Fifty Persons Are Present

Chancellor E. A. Burnett has reattendance. The North Platte chamber of commerce gave a banquet complimentary to Cary Gray, president of the Union Pacific railroad; Chancellor E. A. Burnett and W. P. Snyder, superintendent of the North Platte sub-station,

President Gray in his speech at the banquet, expressed appreciation of the work of the experiment station at the University of Nebraska. In explaining the attitude of the railroad to the public, Mr. Gray stated that the railroad sought to help develop the country and establish terms of good understanding both with their employees and the public

Rates Nebraska High

Among other facts mentioned by Mr. Gray was that he considered the Universiy of Nebraska and the Agricultural College as one of the most important factors in the state for the development of the state.

Mr. Snyder, who was honored at the banquet, has been at the experiment station for twenty-four years and is the only superintendent that the station has had. Many of his researches have been developed until they have received national recogni-
