(Continued from Page 1) out the state in the past month. Students from towns near Lincoln were not required to take the preliminary tests.

Gold, silver, and bronze medals were awarded to winners of first, second and third places in each of the twenty-nine divisions.

Four places were given in each of the divisions. In the pentathlon, a fourfold examination was given covering the prerequisite courses, required for college entrance. Twenty students competed in this contest. The board of regents of the University offered scholarships to the four highest competitors. Record Crowd Attends Tenth Farmers' Fair

(Continued from Page 1) There were thirty horses and fifty riders in the event. A large number of the horses were from the Lincoln Riding Academy, managed by Keith Walker. A number of demonstrations were given besides the riding contests. This included the exhibition of the different gaits of the horses and several jumping events.

The parade represented the past and present development of state and agriculture. The first section showed the past conditions. Cowboys, Indians, pioneers, and frontiersmen followed by their crude implements of agriculture and transportation, typified the old methods of the American farmer.

Next came the new and modern development. High powered tractors drawing four-row cultivators and combine harvesters represented the efficiency of the present day farming.

Thirteen Exhibits Thirteen agricultural exhibits filled the lower floor of the Student Activities building, twelve of these representing the various departments in the College of Agriculture. Clarence Bartlett was general chairman of this feature.

All the classrooms and laboratories in the Home Economics building were used for exhibits. The various divisions within the department were represented in this feature.

Fifty-five beef cattle, dairy cows and horses were paraded around the quadrangle of the Ag campus. These animals were groomed for the Fair and presented a very stately sight for the large number of spectators. This feature was in charge of Victor Sander. Pershing Rifles, choice platoon of cadets in the University, presented a close order drill during the early part of the afternoon.

Many amusing entertainments were to be found on the grounds. Pony rides were provided for the children. The many concession stands reported an unusually large business. Two large dance floors, one in the Student Activities building and the other outside did a large business.

The board of managers for the 1928 Farmers' Fair was composed of Arthur Hauke, Wood River, chairman; Anton Frolik, De Witt, treasurer; Gladys Renfro, Red Cloud, secretary; Paul Jenkins, Lincoln; Lucille Refshauge, Aurora; and Elsie Marsh, Lewellen.

New Methods Organization is stressed as a means of efficient work, and election campaigns are based upon the reorganization of the methods used. A survey of the present system of elections upon this campus will be made and perhaps a plan of reorganization submitted.

Miss Gaulke plans to call together for a conference two members from each girl's organization, although her work at present is chiefly throughout the state. She will carry her campaign for greater interest in politics among women to the campus, not only from a national, state, or local standpoint, but from the point of view of a university student actively interested in campus affairs.

"When we so changed the methods of election at North Dakota University, we didn't 'pull something over' on the men," smiled Miss Gaulke.

Engineers Banquet At Lincoln Friday

(Continued from Page 1) Mickey presented the award. Johnson Wins Medal The Sigma Tau award, which is in the form of a medal was given to the sophomore who attained the highest scholastic honors of anyone in the freshman class the preceding year. Myron O. Johnson won this award, making an average in his freshman year of 94.5 percent. Dean T. J. Thompson presented the medal to Mr. Johnson.

The Fee award, which was introduced this year, was awarded to the man adjudged to be the most prominent graduating engineer. This was presented to Ross Kilgore of the electrical engineering department. Announcement was made by Marvin Haith, president of Sigma Tau. The picture of Bertrum G. Goodhue, architect, was presented to the College of Engineering by the Sigma Tau fraternity, to be hung in the hall of fame in the Mechanical engineering building. K. K. Crownover made the presentation.

Dean O. J. Ferguson, chairman of the engineering publication board, announced the appointments of the Nebraska Blue Print staff for the coming year. The program was closed by a speech by Thorne Brown, on "The Government in Business."

With ideal weather conditions several of the present marks may be broken. Past performances this spring indicates that Saturday should witness an upset of records, especially in the sprints and weight events. Chief among the possible record breakers are Lambert, crack sprinter from Kearney, who is at present a joint holder of the 100-yard dash record, Hokuf of Crete high state pentathlon champion for 1928, and White, the Winnebago Indian who is present holder of the 12-pound shot put mark.

Lambert has been timed in ten seconds flat for the hundred on several occasions this spring, turning in a mark of 9.9 for a pentathlon record. It is doubtful if anyone will touch Art Easter's mark in the 220 of 22 seconds but the century is due for a going over. Since 1904 when Burrus set the present mark, it has been tied by Wildman in '04, Wood in '10, '11; Holstein, '16; Noble, former Cornhusker football and track star, '18; Morgan, '19; Easter, '25; Lambert, '25.

Hokuf will no doubt set a mark in the javelin as he has been throwing the spear in competition this season around 176 feet. His work in the shot and discus have also been very good but with White returning to compete in the weight events, the Crete star will no doubt have to be content with a try at the javelin mark. White, in a county meet last week, tossed the iron ball fifty-one feet.

The hurdle marks will no doubt stand. Clem Trumble of Cambridge, brother of the Nebraska hurdler, stands the best chance in the high barriers and may take a mark away from his brother if he is right. The low hurdle mark of 25.6 seconds has not been approached thus far this season.

Gothenburg Good Competition in group I, made up of the smaller schools, is always very keen. Tekamah, last year's winner and Nelson have strong teams in the field this year. Gothenburg, with Barnes and Ostergard back, should take group II in easy fashion. Tecumseh with Mathis, Blum, Brillhart, and Casford, state home course relay champions for 1928, should count heavily in this class also. Grand Island and Lincoln, last year's winner, will fight for group III honors.

Schools entered thus far: McCook, Seward, North Platte, Minden, North Loup, Daykin, St. Paul, Tilden, St. Edward, Guide Rock, Table Rock, Lexington, Hershey, Elk Creek, O'Neill, Schyler, Randolph, Oakland, Minatare, Lincoln, Omaha Central, North Omaha, Plattsmouth, Dewitt, Arlington, Ord, Tecumseh, Tobias, Demonstration school, Peru, Du Bois.

Jackson, University Place, Nelson, Havelock, McCool Junction, Aurora, Wymore, Fairbury, Hastings, Beatrice, Fairmont, Kearney, Franklin, Edgar, Wilbur, Callaway, Kimball, Crete, Paisdale, Fairfield, Sargens, Crofton, Dunbar, Arselmo, Rock Co., Omaha Tech., Fairbury, Norfolk, Friend.

Students Are Healthier in April April saw a big increase in student health, according to records of the student health service in the College of Pharmacy. As compared with 1929 in March, only 840 persons were treated last month at the clinic.

Prof. Horace C. Filley of the department of rural economics at the College of Agriculture, spoke on the subject of "Farm Relief" to Professor Cochran's current history class on Friday afternoon.

That there is urgent need for farm relief in this section of the country is shown by the fact that so many banks in this agricultural district are failing. That there have been relatively few bank failures in the Eastern states would seem to indicate that financial conditions are more stable there than in the Middle West, was the opinion of the economics professor.

Some of the causes of this depression are: The low price of farm products and their decreased buying power and contributory but not primary, land speculation. Mr. Filley discussed the McNary-Haugen bill and stated its primary purposes as being, (1) to establish a Federal Farm board, (2) to maintain orderly marketing, (3) to control and distribute surplus of products.

The professor stated that there are objections to the McNary-Haugen bill as it now stands but if passed it would give temporary relief and might pave the way for a more effective measure for farmer's relief.
