PLANS FOR BALL ARE COMPLETED

Kosmet Klub's 'Farewell Party' Committees Announce Final Preparations

PROGRAM WILL BE VARIED

Kosmet Klub's "Farewell ball", final fire benefit and climax of University parties, will be presented in the Coliseum Friday evening. According to committees from the Klub everything is in readiness for the "good-bye party".

Decorations have been worked out during the last few days, and will represent Kosmet Klub's attempt at decorating the coliseum. Lines of colored lights will be strung from balcony to balcony, and an orchestra platform will be constructed on one side of the coliseum floor to allow all possible room for dancers.

"We are planning on a large party," remarked Lynn Twinem, next year's president of the Klub. "Since the alumni association has given us the privilege of staging their party, and judging from the small number (Continued on Page 2.)

Co-Eds Learn To Judge Goods Scientifically

Girls in the textile division of the department of home economics of the University of Nebraska are justly proud of some new equipment which enables them to make very scientific analysis of the fabrics they are studying. There exists a realization that courses in this division are enabling the students to become good judges of fabrics.

They are gaining not only the information which the economical housekeeper should have, but are getting the scientific training in testing textiles which textile chemists should receive. Some of these students will probably go out of the university into textile work.

As a beginning of their scientific study, the girls first learn the simple physical tests for material. The wise housekeeper should know the looks and "feel" of the leading textile fibers. She should know, in a general way, whether a fabric will wear well and retain its color under definite conditions. She should also know the use and the proper care of different kinds of fabrics.

By means of the physical and chemical tests and the new equipment now installed in the laboratory, (Continued on Page 2.)

Unique Trip Is Anticipated by Two Teachers

Misses Mable Lee and Miriam Wagner Will Visit Europe This Summer

Peddling through the British Isles will be the summer occupation of Miss Mable Lee, director of the department of physical education for women, and Miss Miriam Wagner, staff member. They will sail from New York June 16 on the Homeric and will return to this country a few days before school begins in the fall.

Miss Lee and Miss Wagner will be joined on their trip by Dr. Myrtle Shaw and Miss Frances Hay, instructors in the University of Wisconsin. Miss Lee was an instructor at Beloit college four years before coming to Nebraska and the other three travellers are graduates of that school. It was here that the first dreams were dreamed and the first plans made which will be realized in the trip this summer.

The travellers will arrive at Cherbourg in time to make the trip to Plaugastel in Brittany by June 24. On this day pilgrims from all Brittany will meet in Plaugastel for a religious festival, "The Pardon of St. John." Every year pilgrims travel (Continued on Page 2.)

'No Smoking' Placards Are Distributed

"No smoking" signs, displayed by order of the Nebraska state fire marshal, were distributed about campus buildings yesterday to lessen the risk of fire about the University. Considerable comment has been voiced recently, by both student and faculty members, about the fire hazard being increased greatly by smoking in university buildings.

All halls and rooms of campus buildings bear the placards. A good many people about the University seem to regard the prohibition rather lightly, but the ruling is put into effect by the posting of the notices, so violators are liable, according to announcement. University people have been warned, at least, to refrain from smoking in the buildings, the janitors have done their duty, officials declare.

N Book Staff Adopts Several New Systems

Lee Rankin Will Be Editor-in-Chief Audrey Beales Associate Editor Of 1928-29 Handbook

A new plan of distributing the N handbooks next year has been adopted by the staff in charge of the publication. Under this new plan the books will be placed on sale in more prominent places than heretofore and will be also offered for a lower price. As has been customary in the past they will be given to all new students.

N handbooks contain the calendar for all pre-scheduled events of the year, accompanied by space for memoranda. Greetings to the freshmen from the presidents of the two Christian associations which sponsor the book, a history of the University of Nebraska, descriptions of athletics and publications and the names of the prominent participants in each; and membership in innocents and Mortar Board are included in the contents.

Contata Is Feature

A feature of the program will be the presentation of the cantata "Dronheim". The story of the cantata is as follows: King Olaf and his warriors are gathered at Dronheim at their annual Yuletide feast. During the three days feasting, Halfred the Scald is commanded to sing a song. The Scald, taking his harp, sang unto them the story of Christ.

Upon hearing the story King Olaf challenges Halfred to accept Thor's hammer or Christ's cross. Halfred accepts the challenge and chooses Christ and his cross. The Scald's brave story so moves to king and Bersecks that they accept the challenge of Christ's cross and sing "Washael to the Lord". (Continued on Page 4.)
