SOUTH DAKOTA U. GETS SPECIMENS

Slender spires of frost colored mineral, taken from the famous Carlsbad cavern of New Mexico, and sent to Dr. R. L. Slagle, president of the University of South Dakota by M. L. French, a student in the school of mines when Dr. Slagle was president of that institution, are now on exhibition at the university museum.

The minerals are lime formations of stalactite and stalagmite nature, according to W. H. Over, curator of the university museum.

Aged Tomahawk in Historical Society Rooms Would Be Effective for Frosh

Here's big news for fraternities who have found paddles to be ineffective—a new weapon has been discovered by a Nebraskan reporter which is guaranteed to reduce to submission even the most unruly. Its use would not even be out of place in the freshman-sophomore Olympics.

In fact, certain freshmen who have had the misfortune of being compelled to wear the green bonnets all fall have indicated a relish for the instrument. Fraternity mothers have already recommended it and take it as a cold fact, wandering romances had better come to their serene in suits of mail (postage stamps omitted).

Yes, you're wondering what it's all about so here it is.

No, the Phi Omega Pi's haven't developed a new type of sling shot. Simply another Indian tomahawk has been brought to light.

No foolin', it really is an interesting old relic, though, and if any of you are curious enough, you can find it in E. E. Blackman's office in the State Historical Society rooms.

It's an triquitos Indian steel tomahawk, having a blade four inches long with a sharp steel piece protruding six inches behind the blade, and is supposed to be two hundred and forty years old. And as its total weight is only three-fourths of a pound, it might be practical for replacing the nine pound army muskets.

The delicate white pencils of mineral were part of the more fragile and icicle-like stalactites which hung from the cavern where countless bats flying about add a weird aspect to the somewhat awesome shapes and forms in the halls and corridors of the cavern.

The Carlsbad cavern from which the specimens were taken is one of the most extensive caves in the country, according to Mr. Over.

TRIALS FOR DRAMATIC CLUB ARE ARRANGED

Men Only Wanted To Tryout At Temple This Evening At 7 O'clock

Dramatic club tryouts for men only will be held in the Dramatic club room at the Temple Thursday evening November 1, at 7 o'clock. Any student in the University is eligible for membership in the Dramatic club.

Fraternity houses have been called and a representative from each chapter is expected. Women are also permitted to join the club but a special drive is being instigated to get men interested in its activities.

The club is organized under the supervision of Ray Ramsay, Herbert Venne, and Prof. H. Alice Howell. Election of officers will take place at one of the earlier meetings.

Three Act Play Planned

Plans for the coming year include a three act play to be given during the early winter. Arrangements are also being made to hold a frolic for members of the club.

All university students are eligible to membership in the club regardless of the college in which they are registered. Dramatic credits are not a prerequisite for admittance. Membership is based greatly on ability.

'UNIVERSITIES PLAY POOR' STATES MUNRO

Harvard Professor Believes Colleges Get Money By Unfair Means

Boston, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Are American colleges and universities playing poor?

William B. Munro, professor of government at Harvard University, thinks and says so in an article published in the October issue of the Atlantic Monthly.

"College professors as a class," says Professor Munro, "are quick to see the mote in the other fellow's eye. They take the righteousness of their own institutions as self evident. In their courses on public finance, business organization, and accounting, they will dissect a municipal budget or a corporation balance sheet with caustic comments, forgetting that criticism, like charity, can sometimes make its best beginnings at home."

"Let me give an illustration. In the latest financial report of a certain American university there is a list of invested funds which constitute the endowment. It includes a block of General Electric common, nearly 16,000 shares, the value of which is given as $1. The actual value of that stock, as a matter of fact, is more than two million dollars."

Such methods, the professor declares, are necessary if the college is to go to its utmost and ask for more funds.

KRAUS ADDRESSES PHARMACY CLASS

While attending the meeting of the directors of summer sessions held at the University of Nebraska last week, Dr. E. H. Kraus, Dean of the College of Pharmacy and director of the summer school at the University of Michigan, addressed the students of the College of Pharmacy at a meeting on Thursday.

On Saturday morning Dean R. A. Lyman of the College of Pharmacy gave a breakfast at the Cornhusker hotel for the members of the faculty, in honor of Dr. Kraus.

CONRAD AND O'HENRY RECEIVE MOST CALLS

Books By Two Authors Are Called For Most At Library

The works of Conrad and O'Henry are the more popular among university students. That is the conclusion one may draw from the circulation of the fiction books at the main library according to Miss Glass, assistant librarian. Reference books which are drawn in spurts often run the highest in circulation.

The library workers can almost tell the assignments in some classes by the books that are drawn. There is always a rush for reference books about the time when term papers are due. There has been a noticeable trend among the students this year in getting their term papers done earlier according to Miss Glass.

Circulation, as a whole, has been slightly less this year than last although it is a little early in the year to tell. Freshmen have evinced a greater interest in asking questions this year than heretofore. The librarian Mr. G. H. Doane, invites them to do this in his freshman lecture talk.

Identification Cards Used

The identification card system has been a great help in the administration of the library. There have been fewer books lost this year and students have been getting into the habit of bringing in their books more promptly. Many students in previous years wrote fictitious names on the books or wrote the name of another student. This practice has been done away with entirely.

The upperclassmen have been inclined to complain, according to Miss Glass, but the freshmen have either accepted identification cards as a necessary evil or actually displayed them with pride. To put it in her words, "The freshmen have been lovely about it."

It is not the purpose of the system to prevent outsiders from getting books but rather to protect the students. When the library officials can identify a person they will issue him a book. Some people present their calling cards. One professor, who is teaching at Union College in College View, had an identification card which he had obtained in Geneva, Switzerland.

Absent Voters Slips Are Still Obtainable

Two days remain in which to secure the absent voters' slips. These slips, intended for the convenience of voters who are away from their home precinct during elections, may be obtained from the office of the county clerk. They must be filled out before a notary public and mailed to the county clerk in the voter's home county. A ballot is then returned to the absent voter.

If the voter fails to avail himself of this opportunity within two days, he will be unable to vote.

A regulation was passed at Oxford closing the athletics of the university to all men over twenty-three years of age. Cambridge rejected the measure.

Women's Athletic Association and Women's Ohio will sell football programs in the stadium before the next three games at Columbus, Ohio.

TEACHERS MEET FOR STATE CONVENTION

Four Thousand Instructors Have Registered for Annual Affair

Four thousand visitors were expected to have been registered in Lincoln last night—representatives to the meeting of the Nebraska State Teachers association from district number one. The opening program of the district meeting was held Wednesday afternoon in the Lincoln high school auditorium, and the second session was held at 8 o'clock. Dr. C. C. Weidemann of the Teachers college had charge of the program.

General sessions will be held at the University coliseum Thursday beginning at 8:45 a. m., and at 4 and 8 p. m. Friday there will be a general morning session at the coliseum, a business session at 1 p. m. at St. Paul church, and an evening concert for which Nina Morgana, coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company will be the artist, at the coliseum. The concert will be a courtesy program contributed by the Lincoln chamber of commerce.

The numerous sectional meetings will be held Thursday and Friday afternoons. The convention will close with the concert Friday evening.

Ames Will Have 4000 Balloons At Homecoming

AMES, Ia., Oct. 21.—Four thousand toy balloons will be released simultaneously with the kickoff at the annual homecoming football game here Saturday afternoon when Iowa State meets Oklahoma. The balloons are to be distributed free to students, who will be seated separately from the general public, according to a plan formulated by the Cardinal Guild, student governing body. Men and women will be seated in two sections at the center of the west stadium to obtain separate cheering sections.

Homecoming activities will be initiated Friday evening by a great homecoming party in the Memorial Union building. Robert MacKee, head of the music department, will act as master of ceremonies.

Decorations of organized houses will be judged Friday evening. Cups are to be awarded to winners in the decoration contest as well as to winners in the parade scheduled for 11 a. m. Saturday.

Advance reservations are indicative of one of the largest homecoming crowds in several years, according to Muri Ross, athletic business manager.

South Dakota Coyotes Are Preparing For Iowa

For the first time in a dozen years, the University of South Dakota Coyotes are preparing for a grid clash with their big brother institution in the adjoining state of Iowa. There is less confidence of victory now than there was in those earlier days when the Coyotes played on even terms with Minnesota, Michigan, Notre Dame and Nebraska.

All Set?

Here's the dope. All the Campus Crushers are gone—sold out—taken away. But don't cry, Percival, more will be in most any time. The first two hundred went big at the very nominal price of One and One-half Pigs. We must say that we are pleased, highly pleased at the reception "youse guys" have given them. Stand by, there'll be a hat for every man about tomorrow—maybe sooner.

We Knew a Fellow

That sold just plenty of these hats at a Big Ten school this fall. They're absolutely red hot, can't be beat. And do they look good—positively the snappiest, most original thing ever was.

Jay Hawk Meat

Will taste plenty nice down at that Lawrence place Saturday. Keep warm going down and at the game in a B & F Overcoat. We have selected this year a perfectly beautiful line featuring only the most attractive grays and blues—very, very smooth, fairly long, awfully good looking. Not bragging at all, but they really are just right. Prices are, as usual, sliced to a mere rock bottom sacrifice—we give them away for the insignificant sum of Thirty-five to Forty-five Dollars.

By the Way

The boy himself, Bob Bennett we mean, is coming over for the week-end. He's been knocking them cold at Iowa City with a men's shop just like ours. Give him a big hand, fellows. He'd sure like to see you all.
