QUOTA FOR WEST POINT TRIP IS NOT YET RAISED

However, Subscriptions of Campus Organizations Boost Band Sum

REPORTS DUE AT ONCE

Members Give Radio Rally To Start Campaign for Trek to East

The $5,000 needed to send the R. O. T. C. band to West Point has not yet been realized, although reports early today indicated that subscriptions by campus organizations have boosted the fund considerably.

The total amount of Cornhusker script underwritten thus far by student groups is as yet unavailable, complete tabulations being incomplete at the present. It is hoped, however, that by tomorrow morning all fraternities, sororities and other campus organizations will have turned in the $50 subscriptions tentatively agreed upon by the Interfraternity Council.

Reports Are Requested

Groups which have not yet turned in their reports on the purchase of Cornhusker script to help send the R. O. T. C. band to West Point are requested to do so at once.

MCKINNON SAYS JAPAN IS RAPIDLY CHANGING

Y. W. C. A. Secretary Tells Of Eastern Civilization In Vespers Address

"Modern civilization is causing rapid changes in Japan today," stated Miss Clara McKinnon, Y. W. C. A. secretary from Japan, at West Point Tuesday evening.

Japan was a hermit nation for three hundred years during which time they developed a civilization of their own. Architecture and etiquette were highly advanced stages. Western civilization burst in on Japan's old feudal system. She started reorganizing and borrowed from Germany her military system, from France her railroad system, from Great Britain her governmental and constitutional systems, and from America, her educational system.

There is only one per cent illiteracy in Japan at the present time. Some factors in the educational system are still incomplete, because young men do not know whether to take a special or general course as a preparation to their living.

Girls Have Same Problems

The problems of the young school girls are much the same as the problems in this country. However, they come from different backgrounds and their home life is most difficult. During her early life a girl has to be loyal to her father, later loyal to her husband, and then to her sons. Here is a man's world and she devotes her life to the care of the men.

This results in her having little contact with the outside world, but at the same time she is developing an exquisite character. Some are entering into free marriages, that is, choosing one's own husband; the husband had previously been picked by her father and she had always been in submission to her family, so it is hard for her to break away from these old ties now.

Japanese do not look forward to marriage as American girls do; there is little or no romance in a Japanese marriage. In free marriage the couple chooses a go-between, usually the person who introduces them. This go-between gathers all the information he can find about the two parties.

Recreation Is Lacking

Lack of recreation tends to wreck more Japanese women's lives than any other factor. They never go to parties with their husbands, in fact, it used to be common for them to be confined to their homes.

Nebraska Co-Eds Have Chance of Life In Selection of Campus 'Sweetheart'

Boys! Men! Students! (and other persons who sing bass). The "Sweetheart of Nebraska," sequel to Tess of the Storm Country and Elinor Glyn's "It" may be sitting next to you in that favorite history or French class.

The "Sweetheart of Nebraska" is not one of the late McFadden publications, or a running mate to the worn out record in any Sig Chi house, but an honest to goodness girl, so popular with the local lads as to poll the highest vote in the coming election conducted by Kosmet Klub.

And another thing, as the chem professor would say, just because your candidate's ancestors were blondes is no reason why she comes from preferred stock. However there are no color restrictions. If a brunette can hold open house to the attentions of all the men carrying identification cards, and get acquainted in the usual sorority style, we might stick by the brunettes. Don't forget Solomon's old axiom, "gentlemen prefer blondes, but marry brunettes." Kosmet Klub overlooks no oppor-

Meeting of Corn Cobs Is Scheduled Tonight

Members of Corn Cob organization are asked to meet at the Acacia fraternity house, 1503 H, at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Several important matters will be taken up and as many Cobs as possible are urged to attend, according to Jack Elliott, president.

BASKETBALL TOURNEY BEGINS NEXT MONDAY

Inter-Fraternity Teams Will Open Initial Round of Play Nov. 19.

ENTRIES NEEDED FRIDAY

Plans are now completed for the inter-fraternity basketball tournament, starting Monday, November 19, at 7 o'clock in the Coliseum. The "A" class teams are scheduled to go into action at this time. Since one appearance with the "A" class team does not render a man ineligible for "B" class competition, it is expected that the first games will bring several combinations on the floor for each fraternity. However, after a man has played more than once with the "A" team, he cannot play in the second division. Play in the "B" class tournament will not start until Monday, November 24. "A" class entries must be in the athletic office by Friday evening, November 16. This will make possible the announcement of first round drawings in The Daily Nebraskan Sunday morning.

Teams League Members

When the entries are received, all teams will be assigned to a league. There will be six or seven leagues depending upon the number of teams entering. Each team will play a round-robin schedule within its own league.

Winners of each league will play another round-robin schedule to determine the inter-fraternity championship. In the preliminary games, halves will be of fifteen minutes duration, with one game on the floor while the teams in the preceding game are taking their between-halves intermission. The games in the final round will be of regulation length.

FEATHER SALES WILL FEATURE PITT GAME

Corn Cobs, Band Members Are on Sales Staff for New Scheme

A gala display of feathers is expected to greet visitors at the Pittsburgh-Nebraska game on Saturday, when Cornhusker boosters will appear with these emblems adopted as a part of the campaign to raise the $5,000 necessary to send the R. O. T. C. band to West Point for the Army game.

Five thousand red feathers, stamped with a white "N" have been ordered, and will be sold by members of the band and Corn Cobs Saturday morning and afternoon. These novelty feathers were noticed by members of the coaching staff while attending the eastern games. They have attracted considerable attention there, appearing at several of the major games.

Frankforter Is Speaker At Omaha Engineers Club

Professor Frankforter of the department of chemistry spoke before the Omaha Engineers' club Wednesday. The subject of his talk was "The Production of Pure Iron." It was illustrated with moving pictures of operations in the plant of the American Rolling Mill Company of Middletown, Ohio.

Machine Guns Will Not Be Utilized This Fall

Capt. W. W. Parker, R. O. T. C. machine gun instructor, announced today that because of bad weather and worse roads machine guns will not be fired this fall. They will, however, be fired in the spring and laboratory work will go on as usual.

Large Staff Works

Kenneth G. Anderson, '29, Hastings, is editor of the magazine this year, and Raymond Murray, '31, Topeka, Kas., is the associate editor. Assisting the editors with the editorial work for this number were Elsie Brodkey, Warren Chiles, Lee Daniels, Marguerite Danielson, Virginia Faulkner, Robert W. Laing, Ann Rothenberg, Cliff F. Sandahl, Evelyn Simpson, Douglas H. Timmerman and Elmont Waite. James Pickering is manager of the art department and he was assisted by a staff composed of Helen Chase, Ray Crabtree, Margaret Ketting, A. C. Powell, Frank Roehl, H. D. Van Netta and Gay Williams. Stanley Day and John Lindbeck are assistant business managers.

New Rifle Gallery Will Open Early Next Week

New rifle gallery in Andrew's hall will probably not be opened until next week. The sergeant in charge of rifle marksmanship in the women's intra-mural, would like the different sort of rifle teams to come in groups instead of single. He requests that they come between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the range opens. The Daily Nebraskan will announce the date of opening.

Panthers Who Will Meet Nebraska Saturday

In the upper corner is Charles Edwards, Panther quarterback who will start in the Panther backfield against Nebraska Saturday. Edwards' generalship has been brilliant all season and he has a very capable understudy in the person of Eddie Baker, little but scrappy. In the center is Tom Parkinson, Pitt fullback, who has been out of the lineup for most of the season due to injuries. Parkinson will be thrown into the Panther backfield against the undefeated Huskers and Coach Jock Sutherland is figuring on the fast back to rip the Nebraska line to shreds.

Mike Getto is Pitt's foremost tackle and according to Coach Leo Scherer he is just plenty fast. Ray Montgomery plays either tackle or line.

TORCHLIGHT PARADE IS PLAN FOR FRIDAY

Negotiations Under Way For Pitt Student Manager To Be Present

WILL BEGIN AT SEVEN

A torchlight parade through the heart of the Lincoln business district will feature the rally Friday night prior to the Nebraska-Pittsburgh game. The rally will begin at 7 o'clock at the university Coliseum.

The Pittsburgh team will remain in Omaha Friday night but this will in no way put a damper on the plans for one of the greatest rallies in Nebraska football history. Nebraska officials are negotiating with Pittsburgh to permit one of the student managers traveling with the team to come on to Lincoln for the Friday night rally.

The rally at the Coliseum will consist of yells, songs and pep.

NOVEMBER AWGWAN SALES TOTAL IS HIGH

Copies Humorous Magazine May Still Be Obtained In University Hall

Sales for the "Modernistic" number of the Awgwan, humorous magazine sponsored by the Nebraska chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, are reported to be brisk by the business manager, Charles Wahlquist, '29, Hastings. The November issue was released Monday of this week, at which time a number of copies were distributed. Other copies are still available and may be obtained at the Awgwan office in the basement of University hall.

Original Acts Featured

Other features of the intermission program include tap dancing with singing and dancing combined. The Ayres' seven-piece orchestra has been secured to furnish music for the dance, according to the committee in charge. The price of the tickets is one dollar per couple. Glen Reichenbach, '29, Lincoln, and Reinhold Hofferber, '29, Lincoln constitute the committee in charge of the sale of tickets.

Other committee members are Harold Taylor, '29, Ord and Elinor Paul '29, Lincoln, programs; Raymond Dein, '30, Powell, Morris Berwin, '29, Fairbury, and Kenneth Moore, '29, Stromsburg, checking; Harold Swenson, '29, Omaha, refreshments; Jessie Stearns, '29, Lincoln, dance; and Cliff F. Sandahl, '30, Genoa, publicity.

Lack of Topics Causes Feature Writers Sorrow

Amid the clatter and click of typewriters the feature story writer gets his assignment. "Write us a little feature on something," requests the managing editor. "Anything in particular?" queries the feature writer, nonchalantly, but with inner qualms of fear. He has been given orders like this before. "Oh, just anything—you know," comes back the managing editor, and the responsibility is transferred from his shoulders to those of the feature story writer. And what will he say when he reads a feature story on "just anything?"

In the first place, it is windy. But that has been commented upon time and again. Perhaps the dirt does blow off the drill field; everyone knows it. It's getting colder, and we fully expect it to rain or snow before morning. But it has rained before and it has snowed before. Nothing unusual or even interesting about that.

Midsemester examinations are being inflicted. There is a rather promising possibility. "According to the report," comments the freshman, "I am down in hours." These reports will be out before long, but you know that. Midsemester reports come out as regularly as The Daily Nebraskan, but are much more disappointing.

Topics Are Scarce

The racket is dying down in the "Rac" office now. Reporters are going home to dinner, but the feature writer is still there.

TICKETS FOR BIZAD FROLIC ARE ON SALE

Affair Is Scheduled for Friday at Chamber of Commerce Hall

Tickets for the annual Bizad Frolic, all-university dance sponsored by the College of Business Administration, went on sale yesterday morning and will continue to be sold until Friday noon, November 16. The affair is scheduled for Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce, Eleventh and P streets. The various committees, working under Douglas Timmerman, '30, Lincoln, general chairman, are laying extensive plans for the dance. Entertainment will be provided by "The Varsity Boys," Emerson S. Smith, '29, Lincoln, and Warren D. Chiles, '30, Lincoln, and W. Joyce Ayres, '30, Lincoln, and Amos Allen '30, Mitchell.

Pershing Rifles Will Meet At Nebraska Hall

Pershing Rifles will hold a meeting, for the purpose of regular drill, in Nebraska hall this evening at 5 o'clock. Those attending are requested to be in the official cadet uniform.

COUNCIL FORMULATES PROM SELECTION PLAN

Group Suggests Appointment Of Twelve Members to Handle Event

JUNIOR LEADER VOTES

A plan by which the Student Council would be given power to appoint a Junior-Senior Prom committee consisting of twelve juniors, six girls and six boys, to carry on the prom work for this year, was formulated by the Student Council at their regular meeting at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. This plan will be recommended to the faculty committee of student affairs for its approval.

Not more than one person from any one sorority or fraternity will be allowed on this committee, and only one-fourth, or three Junior-Senior Prom committee members are eligible. The president of the Junior class is to be a member with full power to vote.

This Junior-Senior Prom committee would organize and appoint its own committees and do its own work. In this way the twelve members plus the Junior president would elect their joint-chairman and other officers as they saw fit.

Report Is Adopted

The following is the report as it will be recommended to the faculty committee on student affairs:

Upon investigation of several plans, the committee proposed that the Student Council be given the power to appoint twelve applicants for the Junior-Senior Prom committee, consisting of six boys and six girls from the Junior class, one-fourth (or three) Student Council members of the Junior class being eligible.

There shall not be more than one person from any one sorority or fraternity, and non-fraternity people are eligible and desirable.

The committee of twelve shall determine the joint chairmanships.

GLEE CLUB DEFERS KANSAS CITY TRIP

Smith Announces Tentative Date in Latter Part Of January

According to information obtained from Emerson Smith, '29, Lincoln, late yesterday afternoon, the University Glee club trip to Kansas City during Thanksgiving vacation has been postponed.

Smith, business manager of the club, said the reason for postponing the trip was an overabundance of singing and musical entertainments in Kansas City at that time. It is thought the club will receive a better reception at a later date and so plans have been made for appearing at the organization between semesters, probably in the latter part of January.

The club, however, will appear in Omaha, December 12, under the auspices of the Ad-Sell club. This is the first appearance the University Glee club has made in Omaha for a number of years.

University Junior Is Hurt In Iowa Hunting Accident

John Reed, junior in the College of Business Administration and member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity was the victim of a weekend hunting accident while visiting at his home near Sidney, Ia.

While hunting near his home his shotgun was accidentally discharged, injuring his left hand so badly that the amputation of three fingers was necessary. He was taken to an Omaha hospital, where he is improving rapidly. He is expected back at the university late this week.

Bolos, Machetes, and Lantakas Are Included In Pershing Filipino Set

"¡Xabaro!" yelled the Filipino, meaning in good old United States, "Ah, ha! I have you in my power" (to be said gutturally), and he drew from his scabbard his trusty bolo and another good man went wrong.

Well, maybe not, but at any rate, the knives in the Pershing Filipino collection enable any normal college student who's able to get by his professors when he hasn't his lesson to formulate in his mind some such story.

The farmers, it seems, carried knives in wooden scabbards called Machetes which were about 20 inches long which they used to cut brush. The warrior used a bolo, a longer sharp pointed instrument; the executioner used a long curved dagger, so wicked looking that the person must have died long before his head left his body. There are 12 of these beheading swords and all of them have wooden hilts with patterned fiber decoration.

Curved Weapons Included

Besides these, there are included in the collection now on display

GRIDSTERS SEE HARD PRACTICE DRILL FOR PITT

Bearg Trains Men in Every Art of Pigskin Game For Next Foe

EXPECT AERIAL ATTACK

Panthers Have Won Three Mud Battles; Show Plenty Speed

Long hours of strenuous practice were spent last night on the sod as Coach Ernest Bearg and his Nebraska coaching staff prepared the undefeated Cornhusker football team for the hardest battle on the 1928 schedule—the Panther game Saturday in Memorial stadium at field. Tumbling, placekicking, running attack, passing and every department of the pigskin game was in for a great amount of working over as the day of the Pitt game draws near.

The Husker "powerhouse" has plenty of work to do between now and 2:30 Saturday afternoon when the two eleven line up for the all-important inter-sectional game. Nebraska, as usual, will have the weight advantage on the Pitt eleven, but weight will mean very little for the east-west game this week for Coach Jock Sutherland.

JONES LECTURES ON PROBLEMS OF NEGRO

Cornell Graduate Says Race Question Untouched in Last Campaign

"The Negro's Opportunity Today" was very intelligently discussed in a lecture by Eugene Kinckle Jones, social worker, in Social Science auditorium last night. Jones is a graduate of Cornell university and executive secretary of the National Urban League with headquarters in New York City.

"During the recent political campaign in the United States neither of the two candidates for presidency touched upon race relations in the country," said Jones. Then, continuing, "Is there a problem of race relations?" To answer his question he quoted Grover Cleveland, who, a number of years ago, said the most important problem in the country at that time was that of race relations.

"The Negro race is the group in America which plays the most important part in their race relations problem," according to Jones. "Previous to this time, the North has maintained that the negro must have his rights. Lately, however, the southern idea of negro suppression has become prevalent," he said.

African Solution Unworthy

"Africa is certainly not the place for the negro problem to be worked out," said Jones as he described the negro conditions there. Jones pointed out the facts that the negro race is a healthy race and an industrial race. He said that the negro is not inferior simply because of his color and that environment determines the mental factors of a people.

In Jones' opinion, many negroes have inferiority complexes because of what they have to go through. He thinks further progress of the race is based upon the capacity of individuals.

Negroes Problem Slowly Solved

"America is being regarded by the rest of the world today as a great experimental country," said Jones. "Are we equal to the responsibility placed upon us?" he asked. Then he said he thought the race relations problem would gradually be worked out by an exchange of professorships between northern and southern universities, by the coming together of black and white people, and by the black and white youth of today.

Jones had spoken on race problems at the annual state conference for social work in Omaha Tuesday.
