

MILITARY BALL TICKETS GO ON SALE THURSDAY

Twentieth Annual Formal
Dance Will Be Given
December 7.

PLANS ARE COMPLETED
Novel Ideas in Decorations
And Grand March Are Worked Out

Tickets for the twentieth military ball will go on sale Thursday evening according to Elton Fee, general chairman of the ball. The tickets will be three dollars and only a limited amount will be put on sale. The sale of tickets will be handled by the junior and senior men in the military department and representatives from each fraternity will be given tickets to handle in the Greek letter organizations.

William Mentzer has been placed in charge of the ticket sale and has not made any definite announcement in regard to how late the tickets will remain on sale and whether or not they will be sold at the door the night of the formal. The military ball opens the formal season on the Nebraska campus Friday evening, December 7, and is one of the older traditions at Nebraska.

For the past twenty years at Nebraska, the military ball has been one of the annual social events on the campus. Each year it opens the formal season at the university and is looked forward to with a great deal of anticipation.

Many Novelties in Decorations
Decorations for the formal affair are being handled by John Troun, cadet colonel of the R. O. T. C. regiment. Troun has worked out a scheme with Jimmie Pickering, campus artist, that is declared to be the best in recent years. Novel ideas for entertainment and the decoration plan have been planned and are underway. The military scheme will be carried out throughout the decoration plans under the direction of Trout and Pickering.

The grand march is one of the headlines on the important campus social event. Many novelties are in order for this and suggestions and ideas were obtained from military schools throughout the country. The grand march, which is led by the new honorary colonel will be easily different from preceding years.

Pickering is working on a novel idea of presenting the honorary colonel which is the initial feature

NEBRASKA DEBATING TEAM MEETS SYDNEY

International Debate Takes Place Tuesday; Large
Crowd Expected

Final preparations are being made for the debate with Sydney, Australia, on next Tuesday evening, according to the announcement of Prof. H. A. White, Nebraska debate coach. Since a large number of students are expected from neighboring high schools, it is planned to begin the exercises at 7:45 o'clock, beginning this early. The plans will give more time for the audience forum and questions after the debate, which is a feature of such contests in recent years in many of the larger universities.

When the Cambridge team appeared in Lincoln last year, many persons in the audience were ready to discuss the subject of the evening but the shortness of time limited the number of speeches. This time each person speaking from the floor will be allowed only two or three minutes, and the timekeepers will ring the bell, so that others may have a fair chance to speak.

Both teams will be expected to answer relevant questions that are asked by members of the audience. If one team does not like the reply given by the opponents, a member of that team may have a chance to answer the original question. Questions

Priscilla and John Use Winnebago Canoe for Transportation to Dance

Priscilla and John (but I do not refer to the New England miss who initiated the "speak for yourself" phrase that has since been such a ladies' weapon for getting breach of promise evidence) had a bid to the first governor's ball at Bellevue, Neb.

Priscilla was, of course, all a-flutter weeks ahead, and she spent hours wondering if anyone's dress would be any more attractive than hers. Finally the great night came. John came in from the fields, washed up in the watering trough which was a Winnebago Indian canoe carved from a tree and brought from Wisconsin sometime in 1888 when its owner moved to Nebraska. The owner, having no use for it here in the land of "sky blue water" only muddy water, had abandoned it, and as John put it, "it made a right good trough."

After much excitement, Priscilla went to her hair-covered trunk

Reports Will Be Out by End of This Week

Notices to delinquents will be sent out by the end of the week, according to announcement from the office of T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs. No definite idea of the number of delinquents can be determined until all reports are ready.

NEBRASKA TEAM COPS FIRST AT ROYAL SHOW

Meat Judging Squad Places
At Top in Identification
And Judging

GEMING IS HIGH SCORER

A team of girls representing the University of Nebraska won a sweeping victory in the Meats Identification and Judging contest at the American Royal Livestock Show at Kansas City, according to word received at the College of Agriculture Wednesday. They scored 503 out of a possible 3,000.

Louise Geming, Carnes, Winne Powell, Hardy, and Marjory Thompson of Billings, Mont., were the three members of the team. Myrtle Greenland, Clifton, Kansas, was alternate on the team.

Miss Geming placed first as an individual; Miss Powell, second; and Mrs. Thompson, fourth in the contest. The team was first both in meat identification and meat judging. In meat identification they placed second, third and fifth, and in judging first, second and third.

Training is in evidence
In one half of the contest the girls were required to identify the twenty-five different cuts of meat in twenty-five minutes. They also had to tell from which wholesale cut the retail cut came and give the two best ways of preparing the meat for the table. When it is considered that the average housewife knows but five or six cuts of meat, it will be realized how much training the girls had in preparation for the contest.

The other half of the contest was to place first, second, third and fourth; two classes of beef cuts.

NEBRASKA MEN WILL ELECT POPULAR GIRL

Kosmet Klub's Thanksgiving
Show Presents Nebraska
Sweetheart

Although no nominations will be made for the "Sweetheart of Nebraska," which the men students of the university will elect Friday, November 23, evidences of campaigning for the honored position by various co-ed combines were reported Wednesday at headquarters of Kosmet Klub.

Because of the many honors which will be conferred upon the co-ed which the masculine vote of the university will choose as the most popular co-ed, various means of acquiring the greatest number of ballots are being devised by feminine students seeking the coveted position. The exact nature of the political scheming could not be learned but will probably be brought out after the balloting.

Until the victorious co-ed makes her appearance as queen of King Kosmet's court in "King Kosmet's Royal Revue," to be staged at the Orpheum Thanksgiving morning, the identity of the "Sweetheart of Nebraska" will remain a mystery.

Rowan Miller's Lincoln theatre "Ark" will be parked in front of Social Sciences building from 9:00 a. m. until 4 p. m. Friday. This will be the scene of the election, which will probably be supervised by a university official. All male students of the university are eligible to vote. Lynne Twine, president of Kosmet Klub, declared, and balloting will be done by signature only.

The voter will write the name of his choice on the ballot which will be issued when he comes to the "Ark" to vote. The "choice" may be any regularly registered co-ed of any college of the university.

Kosmet Klub members declare that the election of the most popular co-ed will be an annual affair which they hope to establish as a tradition of the university.

Large Number Are Registered For Gym Work

Physical education classes in the Coliseum are growing larger each year. The total class enrollment in all branches of men's gymnasium work is over 1,300. This figure includes more than fifty men who do not receive credit for their work.

Athletic coaching classes include a total of 174 students, and practice classes have 782 members. Practically all branches of physical education work are taught by the physical education department.

Physical education for women is also very important at the University of Nebraska. A total of 2,036 women students are enrolled in the various classes. This makes 3,344 university students enrolled in the classes of physical education for men or women.

NEBRASKA RECEIVES HONORABLE MENTION

Sigma Delta Chi Places in Efficiency Contest at Conclave

(By Munro Kezer)
Evanston, Ill., Nov. 21—Nebraska's chapter of Sigma Delta Chi was given honorable mention today in the chapter efficiency contest of the professional journalism fraternity's fourteenth annual convention.

This placed Nebraska as one of the eleven ranking chapters for their work since last year's conclave at Kansas University. The Awgwan, Sigma Delta Chi humorous publication, was commended at the convention as being the best of the humor magazines presented to the publications officers of Sigma Delta Chi during the past year.

The report which complimented the Awgwan was especially on its taste, its art, and its make-up. It was presented by Franklin M. Rech, assistant editor of the American Boy and first vice president of Sigma Delta Chi.

Oregon State won the chapter efficiency contest with Iowa State second, Colorado, North Dakota, and Indiana universities followed in that order.

Nebraska was one of the six chapters which received honorable mention. There were forty chapters represented in the contest, which opened at Northwestern university Monday and closed Wednesday.

HUSKERS TAKE LAST WORKOUT ON HOME FIELD

Coach Bearg Sends His Men
Through Final Session
Before Trip

ARMY'S FINAL GAME

Cadet Eleven Is in Great
Shape for East-West
Game Saturday

A short workout and a hurried trip to the Burlington station were the headlines on the program as the mighty Nebraska Cornhuskers spent their last evening at home. Coach Ernest E. Bearg, head football mentor at Nebraska has rounded his team of huskies into top condition for the big inter-sectional battle with the Army Cadets on Michie Stadium field at West Point this Saturday. Meeting the Army eleven is the big inter-sectional tilt on the 1928 Husker schedule and to turn it into a win will complete a most successful season on the Cornhusker gridiron.

The Army eleven closes its season with the Cornhuskers Saturday and Coach "Biff" Jones, Army coach, has worked his team unceasingly all through this week in preparation for the battle with Nebraska. The Husker-Cadet game is also the big game on the West Point schedule and the stadium at the eastern school has been sold out over a week for the big inter-sectional battle and requests still continue to pour in for tickets to the game. Interest in the east has aroused to a considerable height for the coming battle and New York sport writers are conceding neither team an edge in the game.

Nebraska will enter the East West game with a powerful line driving, smashing, aggressive eleven, while the Army eleven will present a light and fast team. In

EDITOR ISSUES CALL FOR HUMOROUS COPY

Yuletide Number Will Make
First Appearance on December 10

A final call for short jokes, poems, and cartoons for the "Holiday" number of the Awgwan which will appear on the campus December 10, was made Wednesday afternoon by Kenneth G. Anderson, editor. The deadline for all contributions is November 25.

The business staff has obtained a greater amount of advertising this month which will enable the editor to publish a larger magazine than usual. Because of this, additional material for the December issue is needed.

Anderson suggests that contributors use the Christmas or New Year's motif or something pertaining to the military ball which will be a December event. The issue will soon go to press and all contributors are urged to turn in their manuscripts immediately.

ILLINOIS OPENS
JAYHAWKER CARD

A football game with the University of Illinois at Urbana will open the Jayhawker schedule for 1929, according to agreement just signed by Dr. F. C. Allen, director of athletics at the University of Kansas. The game will be played October 5, three weeks after the official opening of the football practice season.

This will be the fourth contest between Kansas and Illinois. In 1922, when McCook field was first opened at the University of Kansas, the Jayhawkers defeated a team from Illinois, 26 to 4. Twice later, in 1916 and 1917, the Illini won, 39 to 0 and 23 to 0.

The second game of the season, October 12, will be at Lawrence, and will be "Bill Hargiss" day. Hargiss came to the University of Kansas last spring from the Kansas State Teachers' college of Emporia and the contest that day will be with the Teachers' college. Selected players of Hargiss' team of the past will be guests of honor.

The rest of the Kansas schedule: October 19—Kansas State Agricultural college here. October 26—Iowa State at Ames. November 2—University of Nebraska at Lincoln. November 9—University of Oklahoma at Norman.

November 16—Open date (for a non-conference game). November 23—University of Missouri at Lawrence.

Heating of Campus Buildings Requires Mile of Pipe in Underground Network

Central Plant Provides Steam Through Various Lines: Regents Plan to Advocate Modern System

Approximately a mile of tunnel is required for heating of buildings on the Nebraska campus. These tunnels form a network under the ground and contain steam pipes varying from two inches to eight inches in diameter.

The central heating plant provides steam for every building. There are three main tunnels leading away from the plant with branch lines leading off to the buildings. There are, in addition, high pressure steam lines to the Temple. The other main line heats which are served by this line are Chemistry hall, Bessey hall, Andrews hall, Morrill hall, Teachers College and Social Sciences.

Another main line heats the older part of the campus, including Brace laboratory, the Library, Law building, University hall, Administration building, Pharmacy hall, Grant Memorial hall, Nebraska hall and the Temple. The other main line heats both the east and west stands of the Memorial stadium.

Tunnels Have Brick Floors
These tunnels have brick floors with concrete sides and top. They are seven by eight or four by five feet in dimensions, thus permitting a man to walk through them. In fact, that is very necessary because they go through them periodically to clean out the steam traps. Some of the steam condenses in going through the pipes and the pipes

HUGE SEND-OFF RALLY STARTS TEAM TO ARMY

Student Pep Session Is Last
Message to Cornhuskers
Before Cadet Game

BAND LEADS ROOTERS

Squad Members Make Short
Talks Before Special
Pulls Out

Twenty-five hundred shouting football fans gave the Cornhusker "powerhouse" a great send-off yesterday afternoon as the scarlet pulled away for the Cadet game at West Point Saturday.

The Cornhusker Special, with the team, the University of Nebraska band, members of the coaching staff and football enthusiasts pulled out of the Burlington station at 4:40 as twenty-five hundred students stood with bared heads and sang "The Cornhusker."

Headed by the band, the Corn Cobs, the Tassels, and two companies of the R. O. T. C. unit the student body marched from Social Sciences through the downtown section to the station. As the parade neared the station, pandemonium broke loose and cheer upon cheer arose from the students.

Dox Leads Yells.
"Chick" Dox, yell king, who will make the trip to West Point to lead some three thousand Nebraskans in the Cornhusker cheers, led the assemblage in Nebraska songs and cheers.

The Nebraska band of fifty pieces, which will make the trip, played almost continuously until the train was ready to pull out. The band had two Pullman's, a day coach and a chair car.

Co-Captain Elmer Holm was called to the observation car for a short speech. "I don't know how this game is going to come out but we are going to be in there fighting all the time and fighting hard," said Co-Captain Holm.

McMullen Makes Talk.
Dan McMullen was called to the platform and announced that Nebraska had already beaten one team from New York and that the team was now going back to get the mule. "Mac" was followed by "Dutch" Witte, who said that he was going back and help Dan get the mule and ride him.

Coach Bearg and Co-Captain Howell were called for but were not located in time to give the crowd a chance to hear them.

Attached to the rear end of the observation car was an electrically heated sign of scarlet and orange bearing the words "U of N. Cornhuskers." Each car and pullman was equipped with cards placed in the windows with Nebraska written on them.

NEW RIFLE GALLERY IS OPEN IN ANDREWS

Fall Practice Shooting for Team Members Starts
Immediately

Lieutenant Colonel F. F. Jewett, head of the Military Science department, announced that the new rifle range in Andrews hall will open today. The varsity team will begin practice immediately.

Colonel Jewett hopes the range can be used as much as possible this winter both for practice and match shooting. Chasney Hager, captain of the varsity rifle team, is now on his way to West Point with the band so he will not be able to be present at the first team practice.

Martha Brinknerhoff is in charge of the women's intra mural rifle marksmanship announced that the girls will start firing everyday next week between 7 and 4:30 o'clock. The sergeant from the R. O. T. C. in charge desires that at this preliminary practice the girls report in groups. After next week they can practice any time between 8 and 5 o'clock.

Over fifty girls have had instruction in fighting, positions, and trigger squeezing preparatory to their

The special arrived at Chicago at 7:30 this morning for a short stop, but neither the team nor the band left the train. The train is scheduled to arrive at Albion, Michigan at 1:30 this afternoon. The players will workout on the Albion college sod, and the band will drill at the same time, on the Albion campus.

After leaving Albion at 4:15, the Nebraska team and group will make only one stop before arriving at West Point. A fifteen minute stop will be made at Detroit, but here as in Chicago, none of the members had time to leave the special train.

Red Hair and Football Prowess Will Attempt to Stop Nebraska Saturday

Sports writers are advancing arguments for the theory that red hair and football ability go hand in hand. They point to "Red" Grange and "Red" Cagle. They set forth volumes of praise for those two gentlemen and finally come out with the revelation that both have red hair.

Perhaps there is something to the theory. It can scarcely be denied that the two "Reds" are among the outstanding pluckin' conveyors of all time. For two years in succession "Red" Grange was chosen for all-American honors. Few people can be found who assert that he was undervalued. Few people can be found who deny that "Red" Cagle is a certain candidate for all-American halfback this year.

If the theory is acceptable, Nebraska supporters can only hope that the parallelism between red hair, football ability, and Nebraska experiences with red headed galloping ghosts is complete. If Nebraska does to Cagle what it did to Grange two years in succession, the game is safe in the Frigidaire.

Stepped Grange in 1924. It will be remembered that in the fall of 1924, "Red" Grange and his company of assistants arrived in Lincoln to do battle with the Huskers. Grange brought all of his ability with him, but was unable to use it. He was practically smothered whenever he was given the ball. Once or twice he managed to wiggle away for good gains, just to show people that he could if he was given a chance. However, his chances were so limited that he left the field scoreless. His teammates managed to save the day, and the Illini won, 9-6.

In 1925 the Huskers journeyed to Urbana. Again they stopped Grange, holding him scoreless. For the first time in his career, Grange was held scoreless on his home field. Nebraska won that game, 14-0.
