Announcement was made Wednesday by Elton Fee, chairman of the Military Ball that the program Friday night would be broadcast over KFAB. The program will go on the air at 10 o'clock and continue until the last dance of the evening.

Presentation of the new Honorary Colonel will be broadcast to the listeners and the advance information on the ball will be sent out through the cadet officers in charge of the ball, the radio party was made possible for those in the state who had signified their desire of listening in on the Military Ball.

Nebraska March, the new Nebraska march written by John Philip Sousa, will be played for the grand march which will take place at 10:15 o'clock. The new march made its first appearance at the Pittsburgh-Nebraska game and it will be one of the features on the program for the Military Ball. After the new Honorary Colonel is presented and the new cameras finish grinding out their pictures, the colonel will say a few words over the radio before the grand march is started.

Novel Decorations Planned

This morning the mammoth decoration plan will get under way. More than fifty men from the military department will work in shifts all day and late into the night to dress the Coliseum up in its Military Ball costume. Jimmie Picketing and Cadet Colonel John Trout, who are in charge of the decoration, will spend two days in getting the Coliseum ready for the big event and Nebraska's twentieth annual Military Ball. One shift of men from the junior section of cadet officers will start work tonight and expect to have things finished by Friday morning.

Tickets for the ball are going fast, according to Cadet Captain William Metzger, who has charge of the sale. "Only a few are left unless there are some that are unsold in the fraternity houses," stated Metzger yesterday. Calls for tickets yesterday were heavy and late evening only a few remained in the office.

For one month the committee in charge of the Military Ball has worked on the plans of the big event and Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock is the culmination of the committee's work and the opening of the formal season on the Nebraska campus.

PLAYERS WILL GIVE DRAMA THIRD TIME

Wesley Group Plays 'Other Wise Man' at Elm Park Church December 9

Wesley Players, Methodist dramatic organization, will make their last appearance in Lincoln before the Christmas holidays at Elm Park Methodist church, Sunday evening, December 9. They will present for the third time this season, "The Other Wise Man." Dr. Henry Van Dyke's religious play in four acts, dramatized from his own well-known book bearing the same title.

The group gave this play in November at Paul's M. E. church and at First Methodist church, University Place. About thirty-five hundred people witnessed these two presentations of the drama.

The play is particularly appropriate for the Christmas season as it centers about the time of the search of Arianah, the Other Wise Man, in trying to find him.

Wesley Players will produce this drama at First Methodist church, Omaha, on Sunday evening, December 16. This will be the first out-of-town trip made by the players this season.

During the Christmas holidays, the group will make a trip to western Nebraska, where "The Other Wise Man" and "The Rock," three religious dramas produced by the organization in seventeen eastern Nebraska churches last year, will be given a number of times. North Platte and Curtis have been definitely arranged for as part of the itinerary of this holiday tour. McCook, Cambridge, and Holdrege are other towns where the players will probably present one of the two plays during this trip.

The plot of the play has to do with a physician, Ragatzky, the part played by Zolney Lerner, who treats the crippled girl for her affliction, although he has been ostracized by the practicing physicians, for want of a degree. The feminine lead is played by Cornelia Ayres, who portrays the part
