MY DIARY

Dec. 6.—Finally got down to work today. Batted 7:50 in Morning. Three out of four questions asked. I asked two of the Prof. and he hedged on both. Hedging is quite an art. The magic words are, "On the other hand." Saw Joan for a minute. She's quite a little bear these days. Have you heard Al Johnson sing "Sonny Boy"? He sings it at Chicken Little Inn. And the other song he sings, Oh, Mama. A gang of us were out there all evening. I sure had a good time. Tommy paid the bill and Pete furnished the nickels.

Sigma Upsilon Chapter Calls Meeting Friday

A meeting of the Sigma Upsilon chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national literary fraternity, will be held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, December 7, at Dr. L. C. Wimberly's office, room 121, Andrews hall.

According to the president of the organization, Dean Hammond, several important matters will be taken up and a full attendance is desired.

be light, full of rhythm and easy to learn. About $175 will be given to the winners of the second section.

As example of good songs of which the committee approves are the Iowa Corn song, "There is No Place Like Nebraska," "Omaha," and other songs of the same type.

In urging the students of the University to compete for the prizes, the Junior Chamber of Commerce feels sure that many good lyrics and tunes will be submitted by the students, according to Charles F. Adams, secretary of the committee in charge of the contest. Students are expected to submit better songs than the other contestants because of their closer connection with the types of songs desired.

Eligibility Rules Made.

The following rules have been made up for the contestants to follow. There will be no restrictions on eligibility. A person may submit as many songs as he desires. Any person who wants to submit a completed song at once—lyric and tune combined—may do so, but he must enter the composition in the first section of the contest. It is also stipulated that the words and the music are to be original. Copies of the rules of the contest may be obtained from Mr. Dwight F. Bedell, secretary of the Junior division, at his office in the Chamber of Commerce building.

MILITARY BALL STARTS AT 8:30 FRIDAY EVE.

mediately after the ball, the films will be sent out on the circuit and one will be kept in Lincoln for the Saturday night showing at the Lincoln theater.

Decorations for the ball are secret. Cadet Colonel John Trout and Jimmie Pickering have been working on the plans for many weeks and have developed the scheme. The two chairmen have revealed nothing to the public as to what the decorations will consist. The Coliseum will be dressed up in accordance with the military motif but that is as far as the information goes. Thursday evening, more than fifty men from the junior section of the cadet officers were working on the decoration plans. By Friday afternoon, the Coliseum will be completed for the first formal dance of the season on the Nebraska campus and to usher in the formal season. More than $500 will be spent for decoration alone.

The guest list for the Military Ball is printed elsewhere in The Nebraskan and includes many notables from all over the state.

PRINCETON SCIENCE HALL IS DESTROYED

Building for Department Goes Up in Flames in Spite of Efforts

Princeton, N. J.—(IP)—With a loss running into hundreds of thousands of dollars, the building housing the School of Science at Princeton university was entirely destroyed by fire last week.

All of the general chemical lecture equipment, including specimens, cabinets, maps and charts of molecular structure and chemical processes were destroyed, along with the notes made by a number of chemistry students. One student who had been preparing special chemicals for the past year in preparation for his experiment lost his apparatus and chemicals.

Dean A. M. Green, of the School of Engineering, and the faculty of the university officially thanked the students for their aid in saving many other valuable items in the building. The blaze took place in the middle of the night.

Workman Will Not Be Nebraska Grid Coach

Ames, Iowa, Dec. 6.—"I have no intention of leaving Iowa State college," Noel Workman, head football coach here, declared today. Rumor had named Workman as a possible successor to Ernest Bearg, who has resigned as head coach at Nebraska.

T. N. Mutsch, director of athletics at Iowa State, added his dissent to the rumor to that of Workman. "Iowa State will keep Coach Workman indefinitely," he said. "His work is liked, he is liked and what is more he likes us. We have no intention of letting him go."

Workman is serving his third year as head football and baseball coach here.

Utah Spanish Professor Incurs Anger of Filipino

Salt Lake City.—(IP)—According to an authentic report, one of the professors of Spanish of the University of Utah referred to a dish loved by Filipinos as "rotten eggs." Several Filipino students on the campus immediately wrote to the Utah Chronicle, student newspaper, suggesting that Senor Lago was not a competent person to be a professor in the state university. The dish, they said, is a specially prepared delicacy and is relished by even the royalty on the islands.

The newspaper replied that Senor Lago should modify his statement and refer to this "delicacy" as "embryonic chickens," or the "chickens on the half shell."

Texas Student Mistakes Deadly Poison For Salt

Austin, Texas.—(IP)—Mistaking poison for salt, and pouring it on an apple he was eating, Kenneth M. Hall, freshman at the University of Texas, died on his way to the hospital. Hall had brought the poison from the science lab to his room for experimental purposes, and had warned his roommate of its deadly qualities.

Lafayette Grad Is Aid to Bobby Jones In Match

Easton, Pa.—(Intercollegiate Press and The Lafayette)—Ellery D. Manley, Lafayette, '09, has been nominated for a Carnegie medal for the most valuable golf assist during the past year at the Brae Burn Golf Club. This fact was made known in an editorial which appeared recently in the Boston Herald.

It happened that the famous Bobby Jones, scintillating Atlanta golf artist, was playing a match on the Brae Burn course and his opponent, after struggling gamely to offset Jones' early lead in the match, rejoiced when he saw Jones' hard-hit drive for the seventh hole of the second eighteen head for the woods.

Manley, our hero, had scrambled up an embankment for a better view of the game, when Jones' drive approached at terrific speed, struck him behind the ear, and bounded 60 feet on the fairway, in perfect position for Jones' next shot. Jones promptly seized the opportunity and walked forward to win the hole.

Manley collapsed and was taken to the hospital.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—(IP)—The University of Michigan now has over 200 students studying to become aeronautical engineers. You can be a Key Man later, too

The world confers its key positions on many men. It must. There is more than enough important work to be done.

Here is the man with the bent for machinery; he is building a career for himself as a designer of ingenious almost-human automatic machinery for making the nation's telephones. Here is the analytical man with the mind for figures; he is discovering for himself and for industry what miracles lie waiting to be found in unexplored statistics. Here too is the born leader; delving deeply into personnel relations to emerge with the solution for a vital management problem.

In the processes of telephone making, many a broad general qualification is being shaped into a highly specialized and highly important "key" quality.
