

BIBLE CHOOSES ED WEIR ON 1929 COACHING STAFF

Personnel of New Regime Includes Day, Leyman, Oakes, Rhodes

SCHULTE ASKED TO AID Former Line Tutor Will Act In Advisory Capacity For Gridsters

Coach Dana X. Bible, head Cornhusker football coach, has selected his 1929 gridiron coaching staff for the coming season. The announcement of the athletic department, Tuesday noon, the football staff remains much the same as it was for last year, one shift being made to permit a full-time athletic coach and another move bringing to the varsity squad a veteran Nebraskan who has served the University in grid and track sport.

Assistants to Coach Bible are as follows: Line coach—Bernard F. Oakes. End coach—Ed Weir. Reserve squad coach—William Day.

Backfield coach—John "Choppy" Rhodes. Assistant freshman coach—Capt. R. G. Leyman.

In addition to this staff of assistants who will direct the destinies of Cornhusker football during the next three years, Coach Bible has called in the services of Coach Henry "Indian" Schulte, former Nebraska line coach and head track coach.

"Schulte is valuable" "Henry Schulte is a very valuable man to use and we desire to make full use of his services in an advisory capacity. All meetings and practices of the team will be open to him and we will appreciate his suggestions and count upon him for valuable assistance in so far as possible."

PLAY TICKET SALES AUGUR LARGE CROWD

Lerner Reports Brisk Seat Demand for Dramatic Performances

CAST INCLUDES STARS

Ticket sales for "Arms and the Man" by George Bernard Shaw to be presented by University Players next week, have been progressing rapidly according to W. Zolley Lerner, business manager of the Players. Until late last night, the sales, as reported from Ross P. Curtice Music company, handlers of the tickets, were steady and pointed toward a large attendance for the week's performances.

As an incentive to University Players patrons, Mr. Lerner believes, Herbert Yenne and Gretchen Meyers are casted in the leading roles of "Arms and the Man." Character portrayals in the production will be taken by persons who have had experience in University Players productions previously. Margaret Masterson, Elwood Ramay, Joy Storm, Harlan Easton, and Irene Davies will take parts in the play.

"Arms and the Man" is not the type of play that many people are going to expect," stated Mr. Lerner. "Written by Shaw as a satire of love and war, it is bound to arouse much comment." Scenic effects have been designed by the stage art class under the direction of Prof. Dwight Kirsch. Mr. Kirsch, according to his previous plans, will erect a set of modernistic scenery that may be used for many scenes both interior and exterior.

INDIAN SILKS ARE MORRILL DISPLAY

Through the courtesy of the Art Center of New York, the School of Fine Arts has an interesting exhibition of Indian silk prints at Morrill hall, according to an announcement Monday evening from the office of Prof. Paul H. Grummann, director of the School of Fine Arts. These prints are of special interest because they are distinctly American in inspiration, conception and execution. They are modernistic in so far as modernism can be described as reflective of the spirit of the times.

The sources of the designs of these prints are extremely interesting. Some of them have been inspired by scenes from our great National parks, some from the American Indian and some, even from the playgrounds of the world—Catalina Island, Newport, Palm Beach, Havana, and Bermuda.

Second Term Classes Begin on February 4

Second semester classes will open at 9 o'clock on Monday, February 4. First semester examinations will be completed on Friday, February 1, giving no special intermission between semesters.

One Whistle in California Cuts Nebraska Razz

"People do not dare razz Nebraska out here because there are too many of us. All we have to do is whistle and we have half of California on our side." So states a letter from a Nebraska alumnus in California. The alumni are greatly scattered, however, according to P. C. "Jesse" James, the writer.

Among Nebraska alumni he has met since residing in California are Dorothy Wilson of the Hollywood Technical Arts studio; Dewey Klunke, who is employed with the Standard Oil company at Long Beach; and Russell Milham, Los Angeles lawyer.

Others are Oscar Bauman, employed in the title department of a Hollywood trust company; F. B. Millson, forced by a minor operation to withdraw from business; and Jim Schuyler, engaged in the real estate business.

FROSH COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

Freshman council will meet this evening at 7:15 o'clock in the Temple "Y" rooms. The program will include a discussion of common campus problems and their solution.

The council has just completed a series of discussions on the subject "Science and Religion", and will next take up every day student problems.

Another feature of Wednesday's meeting will be a discussion of University after a semester's work, as compared to their impressions last September when they first entered.

REGISTRATION TALLY INDICATES INCREASE

Enrollments on Tuesday Outnumber Those of Previous Day

Registrations Tuesday, for the second semester of the 1928-1929 school year, showed a decided increase over the previous day, but the total number of registrants still lagged behind that at the same stage for last semester. Heads of departments are inclined to believe that this indicates a heavy registration during the closing days of the allotted period, which ends Friday noon, January 19.

Dean A. L. Candy of the college of Arts and Sciences reports 224 students registered Tuesday, bringing the total so far to 359. At the same stage a year ago there were 425 students registered in this college. Dean Candy expressed disappointment at the results of the first two days of registration.

Many Bizads Register Dean J. E. LeRoussignol of the College of Business Administration reports 102 students registered Tuesday, making a total of 150 for the first two days. This is thought to be more than the number registered at the same time a year ago.

Prof. R. E. Cochran reports 64 students registered in the pre-law department up to Tuesday evening. He believes this equals or better registration for the previous semester. Gayle C. Walker of the School of Journalism had registered approximately 50 students during the first two days, about two-thirds of them on Tuesday. He is pleased with the results of the registration so far.

PROF. WERNER CITES KEYS TO HAPPINESS

Seven Clues to Making Life Useful Enumerated by Vespers Speaker

"There are seven keys in the storehouse of happiness," stated Prof. H. O. Werner, of his talk before the Vespers Tuesday evening at Ellen Smith hall. "Life is a series of intense activities and twenty-four hours a day of worthwhile living will solve the problem of leisure time. Everyone has two things, time and life and we should use these to make our lives more useful."

The first key of happiness is the appreciation of inheritance; people are inclined to take too much for granted, but they owe something to the past and should recognize the significance of it, he stated. Noble aspirations and fine ideals make up the second key. One must contribute spiritual qualities to the world to be remembered. The third key is to recreate and improve the body. Very few people live to old age, in fact only eleven out of every hundred reach the age of sixty-five. Disease, worry, and hurry are the three causes of an early death and a bad life.

As the fourth key Professor Werner stressed the cultivation of the intellect. "Intellect is something that must be an intense activity during the waking hours," he asserted. "Seek beauty as the fifth key in the storehouse of happiness. Men of affairs put emphasis on

Banquet Speaker

Dr. A. V. Hunter, Methodist district superintendent, who will address students at all Methodist banquets, Thursday evening.

DR. HUNTER HEADS SPEAKING PROGRAM

District Overseer Has Been Chosen to Give Main Banquet Talk

An attendance of one hundred and seventy-five students is estimated for the All-Methodist student banquet according to the number of ticket sales, in the opinion of the Rev. W. C. Fawell, Methodist student pastor, Tuesday evening. The banquet is to be held in Grace Methodist church, Thursday evening, January 17, beginning at 6 o'clock.

This function, which is one of the most elaborate planned for Methodist students this year, is being sponsored by Kappa Phi and Phi Tau Theta. Tickets for the dinner are being sold at fifty cents a plate, and may still be obtained at the Wesley Foundation, at 1417 R street.

Dr. A. V. Hunter, district superintendent of the Hastings area, will head the speaking program for the evening. Dr. Hunter is well known throughout the state as a speaker before young people's groups. Toasts will be given by representatives of the various Methodist organizations on the campus.

Committees looking after decorations and such details are now finishing up their work. The dinner will be prepared and served by the ladies of the Grace M. E. church.

Y. W. MEETINGS OPEN WITH COPPOCK DINNER

Well-Planned Program Will Feature Affair Today At Ellen Smith

A most attractive menu, a delightful musical program, dancing, and brief talks are features of the Grace Coppock dinner to be held in Ellen Smith hall, Thursday, January 17, at six o'clock. All university women are urged to purchase the tickets for the event immediately.

Members of the staff have tickets for sale, or they may be purchased at the Y. W. C. A. office in Ellen Smith hall. This dinner is the first of a series of meetings, purposing to acquaint Nebraska women students with the work of Grace Coppock in China.

An alumna of this university, Miss Coppock began work for the uplift of the Chinese women which has been carried on since her death. Yearly the Nebraska Y. W. C. A. stages a drive for funds to assist in this work, begun by Grace Coppock. Maurine Drayton, chairman of the committee in charge,

RAMSAY RESIGNS AS MEMBER OF FACULTY STAFF

Dramatics Instructor Leaves University Position for Radio Interests

VACANCY IS UNFILLED Howell, Lerner Temporarily Assume Tasks Prior to Official Action

Ray Ramsay, instructor in the department of dramatics and business manager of the University Players, announced last night that he had submitted his resignation from the faculty of the University. He gave no motive for his departure from the university except that his business interests were now confined to announcing at the Nebraska Bulk Auto company radio station, KFAB.

As yet no one has been appointed to the position of business manager of the Players, although W. Zolley Lerner, senior in the school of fine arts is holding the position at the time pending official action. Miss H. Alice Howell, head of the department of dramatics, will take charge of Mr. Ramsay's classes, assisted by Pauline Gellatly.

Assumed Duties in 1924 Mr. Ramsay entered the university as an instructor in the department of dramatics in 1924, and received a B. A. degree from the university in 1926. His previous university training had been taken at the University of Missouri. For the past several seasons his affiliation with the University Players, Ramsay has appeared in leading roles in every conceivable type of play calling for masculine characters.

His recent successes have been "The Spider" and "Lillian." Mr. Ramsay's work in the Players' productions has been noted because of his character portrayals.

For the past two football seasons, Ramsay has been at the microphone.

Officials Plan Continuance of Heating Trench

The embattlements rising on the campus are to be continued to other fields according to Laurence F. Seaton, operating superintendent of the University. What price education?

Superintendent Seaton states that the tunnel, excavation or parapet will be extended west along the south side of the drill field, entering the north side of Social Sciences. Mr. Seaton states that this latter excavation will be somewhat smaller; perhaps it may be possible to do a Lindbergh over it.

The tunnel was originally intended to be finished on February 1, but due to cold weather it may not be completed until late in February or early in March. Deterioration of the former conduit pipes which were laid between Social Sciences and Teachers' college, and across drill field, made necessary the new heat tunnels.

According to Mr. Seaton the tunnel

J. K. SELLECK, Secretary Student Publication Board.

Teachers College Offers Many Services to Nebraska Schools

Lectures, Agency Work and Surveys Assist Outstate Instructors; Department Is in Constant Touch

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles devoted to the contracts of a few of the various departments of the University of Nebraska with outstate Nebraska, covering some of the phases of service carried on by the departments, without losing sight of the fact that training of the youth is the primary objective of the University.

(By Edgar Backus)

Four distinct activities are sponsored by the Teachers College of the University of Nebraska in their service to the state as a whole. These services are offered as supplementary to the work in the training of teachers and superintendents. Dr. W. Sealock, dean of the Teachers college explains, since the teaching of students is the first consideration of the University.

The first line of activity which the department engages in is the giving of lectures by members of the faculty. A constant demand is received for speakers at meetings of state commercial clubs, Rotary, Kiwanis, and Lions clubs, Parent-Teacher associations, institutes and state teachers district meetings. The demand for commencement speakers in the spring is always far greater than the ex-

UNIVERSITY FINANCES IS FORUM TALK TOPIC

Chancellor Will Speak About Problems Facing School Authorities

Chancellor E. A. Burnett will speak on "Facts About University Finances" at the regular World Forum luncheon this noon, at the Nebraskan hotel. The chancellor's talk will show the students some of the financial problems which the University must face. It will show why the increased appropriations are necessary, and what they will mean.

The object of the next few World Forum meetings, which will be on university problems, is to make it possible for the student to become better acquainted with the workings and the problems that must be faced by the university officials. Because finances are most necessary and of current interest now, this subject has been chosen first.

Large Number Expected

The World Forum committee composed of Julia Hider and Robert Venner, has planned three series of World Forum talks this year. The first was on national political problems; the second on international problems; and now the series will be on everyday university problems. Several meetings will be taken up with this group of talks.

The World Forum luncheon costs thirty-five cents if tickets are obtained by 5 o'clock the Tuesday before the meeting. Forty cents is charged at the door Wednesday. The luncheon starts promptly at 12 o'clock, and the program is over in time for 1 o'clock classes.

World Forum luncheons have been well attended so far this year, and much interest has been shown in the topics discussed. The committee expects even a larger number of students at the meeting tomorrow to hear the chancellor, and learn more about the financial problems that the University of Nebraska must solve.

Mechanical Engineers Plan Important Meeting

An important meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening in room 107 M. E. building. The new tentative engineering council will be discussed and voted upon. Ted Gugler will talk on his recent trip to New York.

Joint Prom Chairmen Are To Be Selected

There will be a meeting of the Junior-Senior Prom committee at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of electing joint chairmen. Clair Sloan, junior class president, will preside at the meeting.

CO-ED FOLLIES SKITS RECEIVED

All skits for Co-ed Follies which will be presented at the Temple theater Friday, February 8, were submitted to the committee of the A. W. S. board Monday, Jan. 14. Announcement of those groups or individuals whose skits have been accepted will probably be made early next week so that definite work on the skits may begin.

Co-ed Follies is a traditional affair sponsored each year by the A. W. S. board. Prizes are offered for the three best skits, judgment of their worth being reserved until after the performance. MaryBall is chairman of the Co-ed Follies committee this year.

COUNCIL EXECUTIVES RULE OUT ELECTION

Names of Junior Officers Are Withheld Pending Investigation

What purported to be an election of minor officers of the junior class Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock was declared invalid an hour later by the executive committee of the Student Council pending an investigation of the election by the entire council at its regular weekly meeting this afternoon.

Question as to the validity of the election hinges, according to Eldred C. Larson, president of the Student Council, on whether adequate notice was given the junior class of the meeting. Names of the men chosen for office by the eighteen juniors assembled in Social Sciences auditorium Tuesday were ordered withheld by the council's executives until after the investigation. The Student Council will meet in the Temple at 5 o'clock this afternoon when the matter will be considered.

Reporter Brings Statement

First news of the meeting to reach The Daily Nebraskan came a few minutes before 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. A reporter a few minutes later brought back a statement from Clair Sloan, junior class president, announcing the election of a vice-president, secretary, and treasurer for the class. No announcement of the meeting had appeared in The Daily Nebraskan previous to the meeting.

An attempt on the part of The Nebraskan to authenticate the story led to the action of the Student Council's executive committee which held up the election results until the matter could be examined. Clair Sloan, junior class president, stated that he had delivered a notice of the meeting to The Nebraskan office Saturday afternoon. No trace of the notice was found. It had not appeared in Sunday's or Tuesday's issues of The Nebraskan. Failure to secure the publication of the notice was believed by the council's officers sufficient to justify an investigation.

BAND MEMBERS NAME FRATERNITY OFFICERS

Larimer, Ayres and Robb Are Elected to Head Gamma Lambda

Gamma Lambda, national honor band fraternity, held its annual election on Wednesday, January 9, at a dinner given in the central Y. M. C. A.

The newly-elected officers are: Leon D. Larimer, '30, Lincoln president; W. Joyce Ayres, '30, Lincoln, vice-president; Eugene Robb, '30, Lincoln, secretary-treasurer. According to Larimer, new pledges will be elected soon and initiated during the second semester.

Nebraska's chapter is the Alpha of Gamma Lambda. This fraternity sponsored the campaign for sending the band to West Point.

An informal party will be held Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall for members of freshman commission groups and other interested freshmen. The program will be varied, consisting of music, reading and dancing, under the direction of a freshman committee.

Tickets, which must be obtained by Thursday, are available at Ellen Smith hall. They are given to any regular member of a freshman commission group, but a charge of ten cents will be made to cover the cost of refreshments for anyone who is not a member of any group.

HUSKERS TRIM SOUTH DAKOTA IN BASKET TILT

Northerners Hoop Prey to Scarlet Football by 46-28 Count

MACLAY TAKES HONORS Elongated Nebraska Center Garner Highest Total Of Field Goals

Nebraska resumed its winning streak last night at the Coliseum, taking South Dakota for a 46 to 28 trimming. The Huskers showed improvement from the Missouri tangle, the offense having smoothed up a bit while the defensive game showed few weaknesses as in the Saturday night clash.

MacLay for Nebraska was easily the star for evening, accounting for fourteen points and playing a nice floor game. The lanky Auburn lad showed more promise in this game than at any other time in the season. He was particularly adept in tipping the ball thru the hoop from the board.

Root Leads Offense Root furnished most of the fireworks for the visitors, being high point man for his team, and leading the offense most of the time. Altogether he was an interesting one for the audience, it was not an especially brilliant exhibition of basketball. Both quints were guilty of some ragged playing, but there were flashes of brilliance at times which kept the contest from being a drab.

The South Dakota boys showed a peculiar type of basket shooting. They appeared to have a sort of underhand shot, which is not seen in collegiate play much.

Witte furnished most of the offensive strength for the Huskers during the first half. Fisher did not seem to be able to get along with the referee during this period, getting the penalty twice in quick succession. He was replaced by Grace.

FLING FLAYS ENTIRE SYSTEM OF GRADING

History Professor Registers Opposition to Nebraskan Posting Plan

OTHER OPINIONS VOICED

Dr. F. M. Fling, professor of European history, is very much opposed to the whole system of grading, according to a statement made by him yesterday. In the first place he thinks there is too much emphasis laid on grades. Dr. Fling contends that a student knows whether he is doing good work by the amount of time he puts in on his course and by what he is getting out of it.

Dr. Fling also prefers a grading system in which the class is grouped according to the caliber of work. He explained that that was the system used in the university up to a few years ago. The two principal reasons it was abolished, he said, were that numerical grades were more convenient for determining Phi Beta Kappa percentages and that the United States government asked for grades of scientific students who wished to enter government employment.

Has No Complaints Although he does not give out the semester grades except to the registrar, Dr. Fling says that he has no complaints from students wanting their grades. He cannot see any object in adopting The Daily Nebraskan proposal and thinks it is raising a trivial point.

"The plan is neither original nor unique," he said. "The conscientious student is more concerned about what kind of daily work he is doing than what his grade will be."

There has been no uniform practice of giving out grades in the department of geography according to E. S. Anderson and E. E. Lackey, instructors in that department. They agreed, however, that students are entitled to know their grades and that it is not a matter of general public information.

Students Are Encouraged Whenever it is possible students in the geography department are encouraged to come and get their grades. It is believed that it enables the instructors to become better acquainted with the students.

Prof. G. D. Sweezey, of the department of astronomy, gives out the semester grade on the final examination paper. He has small

Four Graduates May Reserve Photo Space

Four more seniors may have their pictures taken for the senior section of the 1929 Cornhusker, according to William Mentzer, Jr., editor. The first four seniors to report to Towsend's studio may have their pictures taken for the senior section.
