cil should hold the same place in our various fraternities that Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and other clubs hold to the various business firms represented by their mem-bership. Perhaps this is not putting it strong enough and some might say that the Interfraternity council has even bigger possibil-lies, if carried out. There are enough similarities so that the idea of organizing it like the luncheon clubs ought to be considered. Their successful plan of operation might be adapted to our organization. The thought along this lin would be to have regular weekly noon day meetings to which each go and if advisable have his lunch paid by his chapter. This would insure attendance. Others might come as visitors. Under such a plan either self government or the present scheme would I believe, be effective. There are many arguments in favor of both plans as I see it. Regular meetings like this would as others have stated increase interest and effectiveness. Such weekly luncheons would per-haps best be held on Monday so that new problems and questions
