HOUSE INCREASES WEAVER'S BUDGET

Amount Is Raised $662,500 by House Finance Ways And Means Committee Over Governor's January Appropriation

HALF OF INCREASE IS FOR HEATING PLANT

College of Medicine Is Benefited Considerably by Changes Effected in Legislature During Tuesday Session at Capitol

An increase of $662,500 over the amount recommended by Governor Weaver in his budget in January for the University of Nebraska was included in the appropriation bill which was reported out of the House finance ways and means committee Tuesday morning. The huge appropriation bill automatically became the special order of business and was taken up by the House in committee of the whole.

Half of the increase added by the finance committee is for the University's share of the joint heating and lighting plant, amounting to $321,250. The total maintenance fund is raised by the finance committee to $4,650,000 as compared with $3,987,500 recommended by Governor Weaver. The maintenance fund for the present biennium amounted to $3,500,000.

College of Medicine Benefits

The College of Medicine at Omaha benefited considerably by the changes effected by the finance committee. The governor's recommendation of $250,000 for that college was raised to $300,000 and made to read "College of Medicine maintenance fund." The maintenance expense of the College of Medicine proper, aside from the hospital which is a charitable organization, is placed upon the general maintenance fund of the University. This will take up some of the increase that the committee granted to the University. An item of $40,000 for equipment at the College of Medicine was added to appropriation bill.

Agricultural Extension Is Granted

An increase of $82,000 on a specific item recommended by Governor Weaver. The department of conservation and survey is also granted a $10,000 increase over the governor's figures.

No Money for New Buildings

No appropriations for new buildings on the University's campus are included in the appropriation measure as brought on the floor of the House by the finance committee. Governor Weaver recommended $100,000 be allowed the University to purchase lands adjacent to the University campus and $80,000 for the construction of the first unit of a dormitory system. The finance committee cut this total of $180,000 to $100,000 and recommended that it be used only for the purchase of land.

The University Is Given a New Function

by the appropriation measure which transfers the inspection of high schools from the state superintendent to the University. The appropriation of $20,000 for this work is subtracted from the state superintendent's office appropriation and added to the University's budget.

Increase Eight Million

A total of forty million dollars are included in the appropriations bills reported out by the finance committee, making an increase of about eight million. Approximately four million of this is accounted for in the gasoline tax increase of two cents.

Other Institutions of Higher Learning

supported by the state did not fare so well as the University. Governor Weaver recommended $45,000 for building for each of the four state normal schools but the finance committee eliminated all of these except $25,000 for enlarging a heating plant at Wayne. An allowance of $10,000 for equipment in the Peru science building is granted in the finance bill.

Chairman Harry Essam of the committee

hoped to get the bill through the committee of the whole by Wednesday if possible and hasten the closing of session.

MRS. GREEN SPEAKS AT VESPER SERVICE

Mrs. Roy Green will conduct the last of a series of discussions dealing with problems which the college girl will confront in home making. She will give her talk this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall, "Relation in the Home" is the phase of the subject to be taken up at this meeting.

Arbor Day Now Honored Throughout Nation Was Started By Nebraska Man

Bill Introduced January 4, 1872 By Sterling Morton At Annual Convention of Nebraska State Board

(By Miriam Greenberger)

In the annual convention of the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture, held in Lincoln January 4, 1872, J. Sterling Morton introduced a bill proposing the first Arbor day. The bill was unanimously adopted and the first Arbor day was set for April 10. In this way the first Arbor day, or the day set aside for the planting of trees, was established. This innovation, started in Nebraska, by a native son of Nebraska has spread to almost every state of the Union.

It was only the beginning. To induce people to plant trees a special premium was offered to the agricultural society planting the largest number of trees, and a farm library consisting of 325

PLANS ARE STARTED FOR PHARMACY WEEK

Leslie Downie Is Chairman Of Executive Committee For Annual Event

Preparations for Pharmacy Week are being carried on with increasing rapidity as the time for the event, May 1-4, draws near. The executive committee will hold a conference sometime this week with Prof. J. B. Burt, faculty member who is supervising the work.

Leslie E. Downie is chairman of the executive committee, and Richard Wlna, J. Paul McKenzie, Clyde J. Wilderson and Ruby Chandler are additional members.

Committee on programs for Pharmacy Night, under the chairmanship of James Stone, sophomore, is actively engaged in soliciting advertising material for the booklets to be distributed to viewers of the exhibits. It is an annual custom for local drug firms to purchase space in these programs, and the number of advertisements attests to the generous cooperation of local druggists.

BEAUMONT GIVES COEDS ADVICE IN A.W.S. PROGRAM

Manager of Tea Room Says Girls Need Not Teach Home Economics

ENDORSES PERSONALITY

Vocational Speaker Thinks Many Fields Open to Modern Woman

"The time has come when girls with home economics training need not choose teaching unless they want to," said Gladys Beaumont, manager of the Miller & Paine tea room, at the noon Vesper services in the Home Economics building yesterday. "Personality in My Job" was the subject covered by Miss Beaumont, in one of the series of vocational programs sponsored by the A. W. S. board.

Miss Beaumont believes that the successful business woman must have a pleasing personality combined with mental capacity, humor, tact, sympathy, courtesy, common sense, and ability to overcome obstacles and to co-operate with fellow workers are essentials for success in the business world. The sum total of all one's assets mean personality, as it is defined by Miss Beaumont.

Fields Open to Women

There are many fields open to women with home economics training in the modern business world. Women are supplanting men as managers of tea rooms and dining rooms for civic organizations such as chamber of commerce and commercial club. Some of the larger universities are instituting a plan which offers an unusual opportunity for home economics students. Miss Beaumont explained this plan in which students supervised the planning of meals and the buying of materials for a group of sorority houses.

To be successful, Miss Beaumont feels that one must be able to put all of his book knowledge into practice. She suggested a summer at work in a girls' camp as an excellent opportunity for putting into practice the theoretical training received in home economics. A semester spent at work as a waitress.

Kosmet Klub to Hit Road During Spring Vacation

Next week the all-male cast of Kosmet Klub's spring musical comedy, "Don't Be Silly," goes on the road. Already problems are beginning to present themselves insistently before the members of the Klub.

In the first place the cast must be fed. That, incidentally, is considered one of the main disadvantages of having shows in which all parts are taken by men. However, those who have fed the demure, coy, alluring coeds know the folly of any such assumption.

Reducing is one of the crazes of the day. Whether the demand for slim figures has been brought about by narrow doors on automobiles or something else is not known. At any rate the large girl is said to feel about as conspicuous as a bald spot.

Many Boyish Figures

"Don't Be Silly" has a show full of boyish figures, which will probably add to its charm. The choruses, in rehearsal, resemble any good news reel of a follies practice on some Broadway roof. Some cynics have complained that when the chorus "girls" kick up their feet it hides their faces.

Perhaps this is true, but men do not realize the advantages of large feet. No wonder the modern wife is beginning to have the say-so in her home, for men's feet are getting smaller, and when Mr. Husband puts his foot down on a not thing, his wife says it doesn't cover the territory.

There are just a few of the high points that characterize the all-male musical comedy. After thinking it over it seems ridiculous to think that a man who knows as much about musical comedies as Ziegfeld does should keep on having girls in his revue!

RECITALIST GIVES TEMPLE PROGRAM

Sydney Thompson Appears Under Auspices of Players

Comedy and drama were included in the recital given last night at the Temple theatre by Sydney Thompson, internationally known recitalist, whose appearance was sponsored by the University Players. The program included classical poetry and original short plays, given in costume.

Miss Thompson, who is Nebraska from California, gave a series of recitals in the larger cities, in the past few years she has appeared in Hawaii, Japan, China, England and France. The program given last night included many of the numbers given before an audience of five hundred Japanese in Kyoto, Japan.

R. O. T. C. Band Makes First Official Outdoor Appearance at Cadet Parade

Group of Musicians Is Busy Organization on Campus, Playing For All School Events Throughout Year

Making its first public appearance since the close of the winter concert season, the University R. O. T. C. band headed the cadet regiment in its first review of the year yesterday.

The band, under the direction of Prof. W. T. Quick, numbers ninety this semester. For the past few weeks it has been drilling outdoors, in preparation for the spring reviews and parades.

Band Is Busy Group

The band is perhaps the busiest organization on the campus, for it has duties to perform every week throughout the year. During the football season the cadet musicians must drill three afternoons each week.

They must play and march at every home football and basketball game. When the football season is over, the band liberates for the winter in the Temple, rehearsing for the coming concert season, and emerging once a week to play for home basketball games. Last winter the bandmen presented three public concerts.

Spring may mean flowers and romance for many, but for the R. O. T. C. band it only means that it is time to put away the music racks and concert folders, and report for a hot, dusty hour's drill every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at five o'clock. This lasts until school is out.

Besides basketball and football games, and concerts, the band is expected to put in its appearance at every rally, pep meeting and similar student gatherings throughout the year, as well as to broadcast rallies over the University radio station.
