

Senior Finds Men's Minds Waver Easily

Miss Woods Gives Facts Gained From Sociology Questionnaire

SEEKS UPSET ADAGE

(By Neal S. Gomon)

The changeability of a woman's mind has often been the subject of discussion since the time of Adam and Eve but in a research by Beale J. Woods, College of Arts and Sciences senior, it has been found that a man's mind is the most changeable.

With the aid of a questionnaire sent to one hundred and thirty students, one hundred of which were returned, Miss Woods has recently completed a study of the vocational choice of students. It was found that the number of men who had changed their mind as to the profession to which they intend offering themselves far exceeds that of women.

Numerous Replies

The questionnaire was sent to one hundred and thirty seniors and one hundred replies were received from students in the various colleges. Eight from the College of Agriculture, thirty-eight from the College of Arts and Sciences, nine from the College of Business Administration, three from the College of Dentistry, eight from the College of Engineering, eight from the College of Law, two from the College of Pharmacy and twenty-four from the Teachers College.

Agas of the women from whom replies were received ranged from 19 to 32 with the median at 21. The ages of the men were from 20 to 30 with the median at 22. Of these students thirty-four have chosen teaching as their life work, fourteen have chosen the various branches of business, eight, agricultural interests, five, social work, three, dentistry, and two, pharmacy.

Two have chosen nursing; two, journalism; two, writing; one, civil service; one, research in sociology; one, librarian's work; one, the stage; and seven are yet undecided or have no choice.

Not Chaps Off Block

The old Roman custom of "every son to his father's trade" has gone to the board in this modern age. Only fifteen percent of the students intend to follow in the footsteps of their parents. The women who are following their parents' vocation are all teachers. Among the men following their father's profession is a dentist, a lawyer, a pharmacist, a grocer and two farmers.

The choice of professions has been attributed to several things the most frequent being "interest." However, others chose their professions because of service, the influence of parents and relatives, and a small percentage said they had natural ability in their chosen field.

Others chose their vocations because of its remunerative possibilities while the opportunity of being independent of employers was the main attraction to others.

One who has chosen teaching gives this rather unique reason for her choice, "I graduate this spring and find myself not prepared to do anything else." Still another says,

MEN WILL SPEAK TO SCOUT HEADS

Faculty Members Are On Program for Executive Seminar Here

Four-day seminar of scout executives of Nebraska and western Iowa, sponsored by the University of Nebraska, will end with sessions on Friday and Saturday, April 26, 27. Two meetings were previously held here April 12 and 13. Speeches by members of the university faculty made up the large part of the program.

"Place of Scouting in Education" will be the topic of Charles Fordyce, professor of educational measurements and research, F. E. Hinzlik, professor of school administration, will talk on "Community Surveys—Why and How." W. E. Seacock, dean of the teachers college, R. D. Scott, professor of modern English drama, C. C. Weidemann, professor of history and principles of education, and A. A. Reed, director of the university extension division, will speak.

With Spring Young Man's Fancy Turns To Thoughts of Lilacs and Laziness

Lilac time! It's here or at least the lilacs are blooming. The plums, apricots, cherries and apples are also filling the air with the sweet fragrance of their blossoms. Nature has spread upon the ground a carpet of green and made the leaves yellow green. It's lilac time, cherry time and apple blossom time!

Laziness, that's what lilac time brings. Wistful glances cast toward the greensward longingly lingering upon the pink-tinted blossoms. Wishes conflicting with nouns, verbs and questions unanswered. Tennis balls cutting arc across a colorful horizon. Such is lilac time.

Gay parties in the colorful evenings are very much a part of spring when the lilacs bloom. Moonlight strolls and rides in the dust of the roads are a part too.

POLO GAME FEATURES ATTRACTIONS AT FAIR

Smith Brothers Will Meet Team From Fort Crook On May 4

SPENCE GETS PROGRAM

A polo game between the Smith Brothers Polo club of Omaha and a team from Fort Crook made up of army officers, will be the feature of the program at the Farmers Fair horse show program at the College of Agriculture May 4.

First Polo Game in Lincoln

"It will be the first polo game to be held in Lincoln and along with the other features of the horse show will furnish an elaborate afternoon of entertainment for horse lovers and those who are interested in a good exhibition of polo," stated Robin Spence, manager of the Farmers Fair, who arranged to bring the two polo teams to Lincoln.

Other features of the horse show will be the inter-society riding contest, the coed balloon races, and exhibition of Lincoln's best riding and jumping horses. The art of jumping will be demonstrated by horses from the Capital City Riding Academy and horses from the cavalry unit at Fort Crook.

Another big attraction which will

STAFF PREPARES FOR FINAL AWGWAN COPY

Many Contribute Cartoons To 'Bye Bye' Number Of Fun Magazine

Deadline for all copy for the "Bye, Bye" number of the Awgwan has been set for Saturday, April 27, according to the editor, Douglas Timmerman. Poetry and prose concerning graduating personages is especially welcome for the final issue of the year.

A full page cartoon of well-known seniors has been prepared by Florence Seward and will be one of the features of the issue. A three color front page drawn by Archie Powell has been selected by the staff for the May number cover. Copy has already reached the office from Warren Chiles, Paul Gallup, LaSelle Gilman, Neal Gomon, Bob Kelly, Robert Lakin, Gordon Larson, Wendell Mellor, Roger Robinson and Elmont Waite. Bill McCleery will contribute another feature article the title of which has not yet been announced.

Cartoons have been submitted by Robert Bundy, LaSelle Gilman, Roger Robinson, and Frank Roehl. An unusually large number of cartoons will be used for this number and anyone interested is urged to submit drawings.

REGISTRATION DATES FOR NEXT TERM ARE SET

May 6 to 11 Are Designated By Officials for Early Enrollments

FOLLOW USUAL METHOD

Students Merely Sign Up for Courses Now; Fees Will Be Paid Later

Early registration dates have been set for Monday to Saturday noon, May 6 to 11, according to an announcement made from the registrar's office yesterday. This applies only to students now in school. New students will register next September.

Usual procedure of registration will be followed. Students will get their credit books from the registrar's office and take them to their advisors. They will leave their application blank and a statement of outside activities with the dean of their college who will approve their courses.

Pay Fees Early

A statement of fees will be mailed each student before August 15, 1929, and they must be paid before September 6, 1929, in order to avoid a late registration fee. Those not receiving a statement of fees should notify the finance office before August 20, 1929. Registration is not complete until fees are paid.

The registrar's office has requested that every student give his summer address and also that the finance secretary's office be notified in case of any change of address. Registration schedules may be obtained at the registrar's office the latter part of next week. Students who do not register by Saturday noon, May 11, will be charged a late registration fee.

According to the registrar, the early registration for students aids in the compilation of the class assignments, gives the office an estimation of the number of students for the following semester, and clears-up registration for everyone except the incoming new students.

HOME EC COEDS WORK ON PAGEANT FOR FAIR

Women Will Produce 'Day At Nottingham' as Large Outdoor Fete

"A Day At Nottingham" is the name given to the pageant that is being given by about eighty of the Home Economics women at the Farmers Fair which is being held at the College of Agriculture campus on Saturday, May 4.

This pageant is taken from the "Tales of Robin Hood" and was composed by Miss Bess Steele and Dr. Marjorie Clark, members of the Home Economics faculty. They have adapted it from the original story.

The story of the pageant opens as day dawns in Nottingham, England, in the twelfth century. Everyone is happy and the shepherds and milkmaids go about their work, dancing and singing as they go. The following scenes show the "Nottingham Fair," twilight, and evening in the town. The last scene ends with a group of outlaws being brought in by a crowd, who seem to be very angry. The king appears and the outlaws are pardoned. The mood of the crowd changes and everyone becomes light hearted and friendly again.

Women are working on the pageant rehearsals under Dorothy Norris, student chairman of the committee. Caroline Ruby of the clothing department is the faculty chairman. Other Home Economics students who are in charge of the various phases of the pageant production are: Margory Thompson, Mildred Hawley, Major Lowe, Hettie Bailey, Mrs. Liebeck, and Eva Statts.

'ISOTOPE' IS SUBJECT OF COLLOQUIUM TALK

Chemical Society Plans a Series of Discussions On Varied Topics

"Isotopy" is the topic up for discussion at Colloquium, chemical society, this evening in Chemistry hall. Carl Jensen will lead in the discussion of the topic after which there will be an election of officers.

An isotope, it may be explained, is a form of an element having a different atomic weight but identical chemical properties. Not all elements have isotopes.

SENATE, HOUSE DIFFER ON FINANCE QUESTION

Multi-Million Dollar Bill On Appropriations Is Still Delayed

WEAVER GIVES SANCTION

Nebraska's $40,000,000 appropriation bill was still locked tight in the hands of the conference committee from the house and the senate Monday and there appeared little likelihood that the committee would soon agree on it. Included in this measure is the University's appropriation amounting to almost $5,000,000.

The refusal of the house to concur in the senate amendments to the big bill was not due to the addition of $100,000 to the University fund. This was made known Monday by Harry Keam, chairman of the finance committee, who intimated that the house refused to concur in the amendments because the senate would not agree to the road program of the lower house. The road bill has lain idle in the hands of a senate committee and the house members are growing anxious about it.

Weaver Approves Increase

Governor Weaver is reported to have been not too well pleased with the changes effected in the appropriation bill. However he has given his sanction to the University increases including the $315,000 for a heating plant. It is unlikely that he will object to the $100,000 tacked on by the senate for dormitories inasmuch as he recommended $80,000 for that purpose himself.

CONTRALTO SINGS TO MANY ON LAST TOUR

Schumann-Heink to Appear in Lincoln on National Farewell Trip

HAS HISTORIC RECORD

Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink will present her farewell concert to Lincoln in the university Coliseum on Wednesday evening, May 1, at 8:15 o'clock, under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion. The renowned contralto will come to Lincoln from Hastings, where she is to present a concert on the Monday preceding her appearance here.

Lincoln is one of the many cities which the famous singer will visit this spring. She has been singing in many of the cities of the south, being first in the Rio Grande valley, and then coming north to Oklahoma City and Texarkana, Oklahoma. In both of these cities she and her entourage have been received by large audiences.

Receives Much Praise An excerpt from the Daily Oklahoman of Oklahoma City, reads as follows: "Three generations, possibly four, were represented in an audience which filled the house. There were gray hairs, who recalled hearing the remarkable contralto and telling their children about her, more than thirty or forty years ago."

"And these same children told their children and it seemed Wednesday night as if the little ones, the middle-aged and oldsters gathered together."

FARMERS' FAIR BOARD CALLS CONVOCATION

Student Body on College Of Agriculture Campus Will Assemble

Students of the College of Agriculture will meet at a Farmers' Fair convocation to be held in Ag hall this evening at 7:15 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to make announcements concerning the plans for the fair, May 4, and to report the progress already made in preparing for all committee chairmen to be given in regard to the work of the committee. All plans for parade floats will be due as well as bills of materials required. Exhibits committees will also submit plans and material bills.

Frolik Manages Promotion

"The main purpose of the convocation is to get an idea of the work already done and yet to be done and to keep the organization of committees working together so that nothing will have been overlooked on the day of the fair," stated Elvin Frolik promotion manager for the 1929 Fair.

"In view of the fact that the day of the fair is less than two weeks away, it is very important that the fair board have a conception of the work to be done," he concluded.

Series of Defeats Puts Nebraska in Lowly Place

Because of Nebraska's series of three defeats this far in the Big Six baseball race, the Scarlet and Cream team has been forced to resign its position in the relative standing. Missouri, having won two games from Nebraska, heads the list, with Oklahoma second, with one win and one defeat chalked up in the records.

'DON'T BE SILLY' RETURNS FROM FIVE-DAY TOUR

Kosmet Musical Comedy Back From Trip Plans Lincoln Showing

BOX OFFICES OPEN SOON

Tickets for Male-Cast Play Go on Sale Tomorrow At Special Price

After successfully completing its 1929 state tour, Kosmet Klub has returned to Lincoln with its "Don't Be Silly" company to draft final plans for the local presentations. The all-male cast musical comedy will appear at the Liberty theater, April 26 and 27.

Definite announcement from the Klub states that tickets will go on sale at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. It is being planned to provide temporary box offices on both the city and agricultural campuses as well as the regular box office at the Liberty theater.

With the enthusiasm expressed toward the production out in the state, Kosmet is confident that the student body and citizens of Lincoln will be pleased with the show. Kosmet Klub believes that "Don't Be Silly" is the best all-male cast musical comedy they have ever produced and are supported in this belief by the many encouraging comments expressed by audiences in the five towns in which the show played.

High Praise Out-State

Thursday's issue of the Holdrege Citizen praised the various principals in the cast and, quoting an extract from the paper, "the pony chorus was a clever contribution to the show, and its appearances were greatly enjoyed. Although the spirit ceremonial was novel and different, the centipede dance was undoubtedly the climax of the chorus presentations when the enormous green monster wriggled and crept about the stage to the strains of a ponderous dance. "Altogether, the Kosmet Klub ac-

4. "The new system of high school examinations."
5. The dormitory system of the University."
Members may invite fellow faculty members to attend the meeting.

Watkins Believes Many Trees Will Be Planted

That an extensive campaign for the beautification of Nebraska through the planting of trees is under way, was a point stressed by Clayton W. Watkins, extension forester of the College of Agriculture, in a talk before the agricultural committee at the Lincoln chamber of commerce Monday noon.

"Nebraska citizens will plant 5,000,000 trees this coming year," he said. The extension department is now sending out these trees to residents of rural communities. Speaking of this phase of the work, Mr. Watkins said that the department was merely carrying out what was advocated by J. Sterling Morton, Dr. Charles Bessey, and Robert Furnas.

Well, Here's Hilda

Warren Chiles, who has the comedy lead as the maid "Hilda" in the Kosmet Klub spring show, "Don't Be Silly," which is appearing Friday and Saturday nights of this week at the Liberty theater. Tickets for these performances will go on sale at the theater and on both campuses on Wednesday morning.

University Faculty Men's club will give an informal dinner at 6:30 o'clock this evening at the University club honoring Dr. L. A. Sherman in view of the fact that he will close his active administration and teaching work in the University this spring.

Like Sleigh Parties, 'Y' World Forum Meetings Adjourn Until Next Year

(By Elmont Waite) World Forums for the current school year, are no more! This series of luncheon talks on everything from "A" to "Xenophon" will begin anew next October, but until then the seekers for culture must take their Wednesday luncheons where they may find them.

This year five different series of talks were given at the World Forum meetings, by professors, missionaries, traveling lecturers, secretaries, doctors and business men.

PLAYERS SCORE WITH DRAMA OF 'YE OLDE TYME'

University Cast Opens Week Run With Shakesperian Comedy Offering

GELLATLY PLAYS LEAD

New Instructor Stars in Presentation; Howell Directs Show

As the final production of the season, University Players presented the initial performance of "Mid-Summer Night's Dream" in the Temple theater last night. Pauline Gellatly, an instructor in the school of dramatics, and Harlan G. Easton, '29, Havelock, played the leading parts of the drama. W. Zolley Lerner, business manager of the Players was also cast in one of the principal roles.

Miss Gellatly is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. Easton is an officer in the cadet regiment and a member of the R. O. T. C. band. Lerner is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity.

In the leading role Miss Gellatly portrayed the part of "Puck," a fairy sprite and although her part was a difficult one she carried it in a capable manner. Easton's part was that of "Bottom the Weaver," conceded an ignorant but lovable. He portrayed the part with fitting dramatization. Lerner's part was that of Egeus, father of Hermia who was portrayed by Edna Charlton. George Hoyt, well known to Lincoln play-goers, represented Duke Theseus, in love with Hippolyta. Kathryn Ruege played that role.

Many Carry Roles

Walter Voigt played the part of Lysander, in love with Hermia. Elwood Ramsay played the part of Helena who eventually becomes the sweetheart of Lysander. Richard Page represented Philostrate; Harold Woods, Quince; Robert Reade, Snug; Earl Fredericksen, Flute; Joy Storm, Snout and Edwin Quinn, Starveling.

SCIENTIFIC MAGAZINE ACCLAIMS PROFESSOR

National Publication Praises Work of Doctor Weaver In Observation

Dr. John E. Weaver, professor of plant ecology in the University of Nebraska, has brought to light an array of new and vital facts before an astonished world, according to James R. Lowell in the May issue of Science and Invention. An article entitled "New Study of Plant Roots" deals with Doctor Weaver's discovery of surprising facts in the bosom of mother earth.

While libraries have been filled with volumes concerning every angle of the aerial growth of plants, little research has been done on root systems.

One of the most important discoveries by Doctor Weaver is that root systems are active in nutrient and water absorption up to a depth of six to eight feet in most cultivated crops, including our common garden vegetables. The roots of many other crops are active from a depth of ten to twenty feet. The roots which run laterally from the stem of the cucumber or vine crops may extend farther than twenty feet each way, accounting for the failure of such plants to thrive when planted closely together.

Extensive Observations

Observations were made last year on muskmelons and watermelons which had a lateral spread of roots amounting to more than forty feet, and the roots of the morning-glory found on the Eastern Colorado plains were found to be well developed at a depth of twenty-two feet. Doctor Weaver estimated that the roots went down twice that distance. This morning-glory has a tap root closely resembling the sweet potato and which is so large that it is used for fence posts on the prairie ranches and farms.

A corn plant is found to send its roots nine feet downward into
