Grubb Tells of Potentialities For Dentists

Graduates From College Have Opportunities in Way of Income

CLINIC IS VALUABLE

Editor's note: The article following is the fifth of a series that will cover all the colleges of the University. The theme of the series is based upon the conditions in various fields that college graduates must face their first year out of school.

"Practically all of the students who go out from the College of Dentistry make a good living from the start," declared G. A. Grubb, dean of the college, in describing the possibilities for a young man upon graduating from that college. "There is not quite as much room at the top of the profession, however, as there is in medicine or law."

Dean Grubb does not think the recent graduates of the college start at the "bottom" and work up because of the fact that he makes his expenses and a good living from the start. His type of living is also higher than that of the uneducated.

"It would be hard to estimate the average salary of graduates of this college," declared Dean Grubb, "but their first year's income would have to be at least $3,000 in order to cover their expenses and provide a suitable living for them. Their income, thus, is large, enough to enable them to live in keeping with their profession."

"On the average, I would say that this profession is on par with medicine and law as far as income is concerned. Dentistry pays better than either medicine or law on the whole."

HEDGPETH WINS PRIZE FOR ADVERTISEMENT

Missouri Student Submits Best Layout in Mayer Brothers Contest

Jimmie Hedgpeth, Rock Port, Missouri, has been chosen as prize-winning contributor in the Mayer Brothers co. advertising contest conducted through the two divisions of Advertising 147. Hedgpeth's advertisement was chosen from a collection of ninety submitted by the students in the two divisions of the class.

First prize of $25.00 going to Hedgpeth and honorable mention to Paul Marti, Orville Lewis, Helen Lohmeier, and Clifford Smith, comprised the list of winners. Prof. F. C. Blood, instructor of the class, acted as judge.

Ad Runs Today.

The contest was conceived a short time ago by Mayer Brothers co. and Professor Blood. A field trip of the store was made in which the contestants were acquainted with all departments. The rules of the contest were generally simple. Rules for correct advertising were employed and the advertisements were specified for publication in The Daily Nebraskan. The prize-winning ad is running in this issue of the paper.

Hedgpeth incorporated collegiate appeal in his advertisement with the Kosmet Klub show which was playing in Lincoln at the time the contest was being conducted. The headline of the ad read, "Don't Be Silly." Items listed in the work were shirts and shoes.

Pupils From Schools Of State Pay Visit To University Grounds

Season for university visitors seems to have arrived from the number of people who have been visiting the Nebraska campus during the past couple of days. University officials report record breaking days on both Tuesday and Wednesday.

Thirteen high school seniors and Principal Werner from Carroll, Neb., chartered a bus and spent Tuesday visiting both of the university campuses. Also on Tuesday's visiting list were high school seniors from Douglas, Neb., and pupils from the Saunders grade school in Omaha.

Omaha Pupils Visit
Wednesday's visiting list was featured by sixty-two Dunwoody grade school pupils and their principal from Omaha. They made the trip to Lincoln in two chartered buses and spent all morning on the main campus and three hours of the afternoon on the Agricultural college campus. Others visiting the University on Wednesday were a small group of students from Palmyra, Neb., who spent most of their time in Morrill hall; and three carloads of Nebraska City seniors.

COUNTRYMAN FILING DAYS ARE SCHEDULED

Publication Head Announces Aspirants for Editor May Now Apply

PUT OUT FINAL ISSUE

Application for the editorship of the Cornhusker Countryman will be accepted until noon Saturday, May 15, it was announced yesterday by Prof. R. P. Crawford, chairman of the publication board. The term is now one semester for the editor. The other members of the staff are chosen for one year.

The last issue of the Countryman for the present semester was released this week, with the leading article by Merlin Matzke, assistant editor. He tells how the fertile surface soil of the rolling land of Nebraska is being washed away by sheet erosion. Donald Facka, assistant editor, has an article on the advantages of creep feeding, a new method of fattening calves.

Bollman Has Article
"Into A New Channel," by Harlan Bollman, '22, explains the change which was made from the old School of Agriculture to the new Farm Operators course. As a graduate of the School of Agriculture, he has been able to tell why there is no longer a need for a high school on the Ag campus.

Charles Both, a veteran of the world war, describes rural conditions in southern France under the heading, "The Country Side of France." Jay Peterson discusses the origin of dairy herd improvement work in Denmark in another feature article. Joseph King discusses the effects of vocational agriculture under the heading, "Smith-Hughes Boys Stay With Agriculture."

Editorial comment urges the establishment of a regular press service for the purpose of furnishing The Daily Nebraskan with news of events on the Ag campus. A meeting of the Countryman staff will be held at Home Economics hall this evening at 6:15 o'clock according to Nelson Jodon, editor.

RIFLES POSTPONE MEET.

Perishing Rifles will not hold a meeting today because of the R. O. T. C. parade. The election of officers will take place next Tuesday at 5 o'clock in Nebraska hall. A banquet will follow at the Lindell hotel with the inspecting officers of the corps area as honor guests.

SCHULTE PICKS THIRTY-ONE FOR TRACK CONTEST

Coach Entrains Tonight For Iowa With Aspirants For Cinder Glory

PLAN TO ADD TWO MORE

Number of Husker Entrants Indicates Mentor Aims To Score High

Thirty-one wearers of the Scarlet and Cream with Coach Henry F. Schulte, trainer "Doc" McClean and student manager Harold Miller will board their special pullman this evening for Ames and the scheduled Big Six track and field championships, to be run off at the Iowa State abode Friday and Saturday. Announcement of the personnel to make the trip was made Thursday with the selection of two men yet waiting the final word of the Nebraska mentor.

Captain Campbell, Wyatt, Mays, Easter, Eller, Nestor, Lowe, Fleming, Lamson, Arganbright, Thompson, Bevard, Witte, Osdian, Renbrook, Faytinger, Ashburn, Rowley, Tomson, Young, Griswold, Janulewicz, Dexter, True, Dick Krause, Griffin and Etherton have already been listed with the selection of the two remaining men to be made from Don Krause, Garvey, Wendt and Currier.

The notice of Coach Schulte that he would carry a large squad to Ames would indicate that he hopes to pick up all possible points to add to the total of the Huskers in the final reckoning for the coveted championships. Easter, Eller, Lowe

FORMER HUSKER GRID STAR DIES WEDNESDAY

Flippin Succumbs To Long Attack of Illness at Stromsburg Home

Dr. G. A. Flippin, Cornhusker football star of the early nineties, died in Stromsburg early Wednesday morning after an illness of about five months. He suffered from an attack of flu which later developed into heart disease.

Doctor Flippin was sixty-one years old and practiced medicine for over twenty-five years in the central part of the state. He was a graduate of the University. While studying at the University of Nebraska in the early nineties Doctor Flippin, a negro, gained prominence as one of the first great Cornhusker football players. He was a powerful, plunging halfback. One season, he was elected captain of the team but did not return to school to serve in that capacity.

Dr. Herbert C. Koch, professor of secondary education, gave the commencement address at the Loop City high school last night.

Women Find Health in Raking Leaves From Lawns of University

Health, that inevitable substance that keeps the coeds on time for their 8 o'clocks, does not evolve from 12:30 dates, eating reducing toast or calory-balanced lunches, but from exercise. Daily exercise like washing your own clothes is taboo, but the exercise as prescribed by the department of physical education seems to keep the young women of Cornhuskerland full of "win, vigor and vitality."

For there, yes, over by Administration building, the coeds labor daily raking the dead leaves from the grass, not in preparation for O'Connell's or a picnic, but the lvy day exercise. Dressed in the regulation uniform invented by the feminine authorities on "how to dress for women's sports," with U of N sweatshirts pulled over their starched white middie, several coeds beautify the Nebraska campus daily, while adding to their own health.

As the fair sex do not receive demerits for lack of attendance in gym classes, only one solution can be given for their diligence—their longing to be home loving young women, rake the front lawn for their husbands.

WESLEY PLAYERS WILL CLOSE SEASON SUNDAY

Methodist Dramatic Society Prepares to Wind Up Work of Year

MEMBERS PLAN PICNIC

Concluding public activities for the present season, Wesley Players, national Methodist dramatic organization, will present "The Other Wise Man," Henry Van Dyke's religious drama in three scenes, at Trinity Methodist church, Lincoln, Sunday evening, May 19.

This will be the first occasion since Easter that the group has made a local appearance. Recent out-of-town trips with this play, and with "The Rock," have made to Hastings, Friend and Aurora. Harold Woods, retiring president, plays the lead part in "The Other Wise Man."

A Wesley Players picnic to Herkey's park, Crete, has been scheduled for Friday evening. This is an annual affair sponsored by the society, and it is expected that about thirty-five members and their friends will attend. Organization plans for next year's program are now being formulated. It is hoped that enough of the members will remain in town during the summer that it will be possible to prepare a short play for presentation at the Ep-
