School of Fine Arts Director Explains Field

Professor Grumann Says Music, Drama, Art Have Future

TEACHING PAYS WELL

Editor's note: The article following is the eleventh of a series that will cover all the colleges of the University. The theme of the series is based upon the conditions in various fields that college graduates must face their first year out of school.

"Music, drawing and dramatics, professions included in the School of Fine Arts, are just coming into their own," declared Prof. Paul H. Grumann, director of the School of Fine Arts, when interviewed concerning the possibilities of a graduate of that school.

"The teaching of music in both schools and private institutions is a very lucrative practice and besides this, the musical field is greatly enlarged because of the motion picture industry. Practically every music house in the country has an organ and many of our graduates are employed in such positions."

Professor Grumann stated that one graduate of his school was drawing a salary of over $10,000 a year at the present time as organist in a theater in Buffalo, N. Y. He stated that the photograph and radio, instead of diminishing the demand for musicians, have in-

SUMMER SESSION HAS SPECIAL INSTRUCTION

Institution Offers Work To Qualify Teachers of Agriculture

ADD TWO-WEEK COURSE

Special work in elementary agriculture for rural schools, planned to meet the needs of teachers of agriculture, will be offered during the summer session. The regular course extends throughout the session, but a special short course of two weeks will also be given. A. W. Medlar and Bert Cooper will be in charge of this work.

The class work will include a study of the plants and animals of economic importance, soils and fertilizer, common weeds, and animal pests. Mr. Cooper will take up a method of teaching "vitalizing agriculture," which proceeds from the known to the unknown, connecting the two in the simplest and most logical fashion.

Perry G. Holden, in charge of the agricultural extension work for the International Harvester company of Chicago, was credited with the inauguration of the method by Mr. Cooper. The system has been known for the past three or four years and was tried out in the University last year, according to Mr. Medlar, who explained the plan in this way:

Explains New Plan
"Suppose the instructor in an agriculture course begins with the construction of a chicken feeder. The child will know what it is, and will have some idea of its construction. The instructor will take up in detail its capacity, construction, and working principle.

"From this beginning the class will proceed to discuss lumber measurements, learning to think in terms of board feet. Then the field may widen, and include the way in which the lumber was secured. Lumber camps and lumbermen will provide interesting material for classroom talk. At every point in the progress of the laboratory project the classroom field will widen, and the general knowledge of the pupil will be greatly increased.

SUMMER SCHOOL CHANGES TIME IN COACHES COURSE

Two-Weeks Term Starts On June 12 to Benefit Experienced Men

HUSKER MENTORS TEACH

Bible Is Scheduled for Grid Instruction; Schulte Handles Track

Athletic coaching courses given in the summer school term of nine weeks will be different from those of former years. In past years the coaching classes have been conducted only in the first of the two six-week summer terms. With the one nine-week term a new system has been devised.

A two-weeks course from June 12 to 25 has been arranged for those already engaged in athletic coaching during the regular school year and for those with experience. This short course will be held the first two weeks of the summer session.

The short session will interfere very little with the regular summer work of those who wish to attend. For those enrolled in the regular summer school a six-weeks course is intended. To care for varying degrees of experience, sections will be arranged. Registrants in the two-weeks course are expected to attend all of these classes.

Bible Will Instruct
Dana X. Bible will instruct in football coaching throughout the short course and the first two weeks of the regular six-weeks term. Coach Bible brings a remarkable record from his thirteen years of coaching at Texas A. & M. college. His teams in the last eleven years have won five Southwestern conference championships and have been runner-up once.

Bernard T. Oakes, regular assistant in football, will be an instructor in the summer terms. Nebraska lines coached by Oakes are well known for their strength. Coach Oakes is a graduate of the Illinois four-year coaching school. After two years of successful

Summer Term Registration Begins Monday After Commencement

NINE WEEKS OF SCHOOL

University Senate Responds To Demands of Students And Instructors

Class schedules for the summer session will be available at the registrar's office next week, and bulletins of the session may be obtained there now. It was announced yesterday. Registration will begin on Monday following commencement, and close Tuesday at 5 o'clock.

In response to the demand from instructors and students the University Senate approved a change from two six-week sessions plan used in the past, to a single nine-weeks session. This change makes it possible for the regular students in attendance during the long session, as well as those who attend the summer session only, to carry the regular courses and complete them in the summer work.

Organization of the summer session will be such as to make it equal to that of the regular session. This makes it possible for students to continue their regular work without interruption, either with the regular staff of instructors or with some of the distinguished educators from other institutions.

RUSSIAN COMMENTS ON NATION'S FUTURE

Mozer States Successful Reconstruction Will Be Modern

MUST WIN RECOGNITION

(By Marjorie Gould)

"Russia is passing through a period of economic reconstruction and her future will depend upon the success with which she introduces modern industrial methods and wins the economic recognition of the United States and other countries," stated Antoine Mozer, senior in the University when questioned regarding the Russian political situation.

Mr. Mozer has been in the United States about six years. He left Russia after the civil war in 1921 had thrown the young people out into the streets in a state of unemployment. He succeeded in getting a place on a ship used by the League of Nations to transfer war prisoners and left the country without the permission of the government. He did not leave for political reasons, for he had served in the army and might remain in Russia without any trouble. However, he did not agree with the policy of the government.

"Until 1921 the policy of the government was very rigid," explained Mr. Mozer, "and this can be explained by war conditions when antagonisms between the two sections, Bolsheviks and Anti-Bolsheviks, was very great. Better understanding came, however, when Poland attempted to restore the boundaries of 1793. This aroused patriotic sentiment, and regardless of political affiliations the people affiliated, some temporarily, with

Kappa Psi's Nab Prowlers With Help of Clubs

Luncheon clubs, golf clubs, and Indian clubs, in fact just clubs, bricks and baseball bats aided a few members of Kappa Psi, pharmaceutical fraternity, to capture two prowlers last night in the backyard of the fraternity house at 1225 R street.

The future drugstore operators further developing their sense of hearing to detect the sound of boys swiping candy from the counter displays, heard a rumbling noise in the backyard around their collegiate caps.

Emerging from their reverent domicile several lads surrounded the two men, much in the same manner as one of these "ring around Rosie" games, while one of the men called the police. Hence two men rest in the city dormitories pending investigation.

HOFFMAN IS AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP FOR ART

Senior Receives Money to Provide for Training At Institute

Melvin Hoffman, '29, Fort Collins, Colo., has been awarded a scholarship fund of $500 to be used for instruction at the Art Institute in Chicago. He will receive his certificate in fine arts from the University of Nebraska this spring.

He is considered to have shown exceptional talent for drawing and painting. Three or four of his paintings, including several portraits and one of tulips, are now hung in a student exhibit in Morrill hall.

The fund awarded to Mr. Hoffman was established by the late Mrs. Anna Morey of Hastings, who served as state chairman of work for the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs for many years and in other ways furthered interest in art work. Conditions of the gift require that it go to a graduate of the university School of Fine Arts to be used in study at the Chicago institute.
