HUSKERS EXPECT CAPACITY CROWD FOR PITT GAME

Selleck Plans Erection of Wooden Bleachers to Accommodate Fans.

GOOD WEATHER VITAL Student Manager Predicts Thousands Will Be Turned Away.

New records for advance sale of football tickets are being set every day as a deluge of reservations for the Pittsburgh-Nebraska grid battle, Oct. 19, continues to pour into the office of John K. Selleck, the manager of student activities.

So far, more than 21,000 tickets have been turned over to fans from near and far. The number represents the greatest advance sale in the history of grid warfare on Memorial stadium field, according to John Selleck.

A sell out was confidently predicted today by Mr. Selleck. "With 21,000 of the 30,000 available seats already gone, and with reservations pouring in every day, it looks like that all available seats will be taken before the game starts," he said. "Even such teams as Notre Dame and Syracuse brought here in the past never produced the advance enthusiasm which has been accorded the Panther-Husker battle."

DEBATE COACH GETS TWENTY APPLICATIONS

Tryouts Will Be Held Oct. 17; Candidates Must Take Either Side.

More than twenty applications have been received by Dr. H. A. White, who is in charge of the debate schedule, for the tryouts, which will be held Thursday, Oct. 17. Dr. White wishes that all people intending to enter the tryouts hand their names into his office by Monday, Oct. 14.

The team chosen at these tryouts will meet the Oxford debate team from England November 21.

"Resolved, that the jury system is unnecessary in the administration of justice," will be the question discussed at the Oxford debate. The question adopted by Pi Kappa Delta, honorary debate organization, which has not yet been selected, will be used later in the season.

Dr. White hopes to use as many men as possible in the debates this year. The candidates for the team will be willing to debate either side of the question. "When the names have been collected they will be placed in a hat, from which they will be drawn one by one, and the names assigned upholding affirmative or negative sides in alternate order," Dr. White explained.

KOMENSKY KLUB PLANS MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT

The Komenksy Klub, the educational organization for Czech students at the university, will meet Friday, Oct. 11, at 8 o'clock in room 205 of the Temple building. The president, Miss Edyth Weichselbaum, will conduct the meeting.

New officers will be elected for the coming year and it is important that all old members be present. All other Czechs are welcome and if interested are especially invited to attend the meeting Friday.

Day Calls Meeting Of Corn Cobs for Tonight at 7 p. m.

A very important meeting of Corn Cobs will be held tonight at 7 o'clock sharp in the Temple auditorium. According to Stanley Day, president of the organization, it is of vital importance to every Corn Cob to be present promptly at 7 o'clock.

Discussion of the University Players' ticket sale and the proposed trip to Missouri will be discussed at the meeting.

Lack of Lights Breaks Into University Routine for Many Minutes Yesterday

Classes ceased, students shifted positions uneasily in order to rest better when all at once and without warning the lights went out Wednesday afternoon. Yesterday's foggy, rainy, cloudy day seemed increasingly dark from the inside. Those who were most unprepared took care to note meticulously that darkness enveloped them at exactly seven and three quarters minutes after 3 o'clock, central standard time. All lights on the campus were out.

It would be difficult, if interesting, to collect all the reasons that anyone might give for the apparent suspension of the Nebraska office suspension was directed upon disgruntled barb political candidates. Another believed that some mysterious rival had cut the wires in order to stop the wheels of the press and the ceaseless grinding of the reporter's typewriters.

A phone call was at last ventured. The University light and power development plant was called and the head electrician stated that the station furnishes only half of the light used on the campus while the rest was furnished by the Nebraska Light and Power company, wherefore the trouble lay in the lines of the latter company.

The discontinuance of the present interruption, he prophesied, would be realized in a few minutes. This proved to be true and the lights came on to their usual brilliance at exactly twelve minutes and fifty-four seconds after three. Student computers computed that the interruption had lasted five minutes and twenty-four seconds.

The head electrician at the university power plant apologized for the inadvertency of the municipal company and said that when the new plant would be finished the half and half power arrangement would cease resulting in regular flow of power about the campus, and consequently less rude awakenings of sleeping students.

DEAN URGES STUDENT SUPPORT OF PLAYERS

Thompson Says Ticket for Plays Would Benefit Buyer Greatly.

According to T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs, every student in the university would be greatly benefited by the purchase of a student season ticket to the University Players' productions, the tickets for which are being sold by the Corn Cobs, student pep organization.

Dean Thompson, at a meeting of the Corn Cobs last night, also said that the education of the students would be added to considerably by these plays. He also commended the Corn Cobs for their interest in the ticket sale.

The dean said that in the past considerable difficulty has been caused by the fact that freshmen in the university have always found it hard to get out of the various fraternity houses during study hours for the plays. He said that university rules absolutely do not stand in the way of freshmen going out in the evening. The issue is left up to the individual fraternities and sororities. Dean Thompson suggested that each fraternity and sorority put aside one night for every play and have all of its members purchased tickets for that night.

At a checkup last evening it was found that the faculty of the geography department of the university was one hundred percent in the purchase of tickets for the University Players' productions. Every single member of this department purchased a ticket for the plays. "It would be very fine if every department in the school could boast of such a record," said Stanley Day, president of the Corn Cobs, upon hearing of this achievement.

PLANS SHAPING FOR ANNUAL HOMECOMING

Alumni Association Making Final Arrangements For Ceremony.

Definite plans concerning homecoming preparations will not be issued until next week," declared Eldred Larson, president of Innocents, "but from all indications the decorations promise to be more representative than heretofore.

Innocents who are in charge of the decorating of sorority and fraternity houses will advance the next week. The alumni association is conducting, for the most part, the actual homecoming ceremonies. Plans for a nation-wide appeal to the "old grads" has already begun.

Associated women students are selling special "N" homecoming stamps to students and graduates. Members of the organization are canvassing sororities, fraternities and the downtown district in the sales campaign.

Decorations for homecoming will be of the "Welcome Jayhawk" theme as Kansas university will be guests at the Cornhusker stronghold. Coach Bill Hargis, of the Jayhawk aggregation is bringing his rejuvenated squad to Lincoln with an earnest desire to "beat Nebraska" according to the opinions of many sports writers.

RHODES SCHOLAR APPLICANTS MUST MEET WITH HICKS

Prof. J. D. Hicks urgently requests that all applicants for Rhodes scholarships from University of Nebraska make appointments with him for personal interviews. Interviews will be held by appointment after 2 p. m., Monday, Oct. 14.

Applications will be received in the office of Prof. Hicks on the first floor of social sciences hall until noon, Oct. 12. The number of applications for one of the five recommendations allotted the university has been unusually small, according to Prof. Hicks.

FELLMAN PLANS REPRESENTATION BY PROPORTION

Student Council Committee Presents Scheme to Modify Election.

TO VOTE PARTY TICKET Each 100 Votes Cast Would Elect One Candidate of Faction Slate.

Nonfraternity members on the Student council is the object of a report made to the council Wednesday by its committee on student organizations. The recommendation was drawn up in incomplete form by the committee of which David Fellman is chairman. Fellman was unable to be present at the meeting and the report was made by Helen McChesney, another member of the committee.

The plan would have members elected to the Student council by a system of proportional representation, each faction, yellow jacket, blue shirt, and nonfraternity getting representation on the council in proportion to the strength of its cast.

Each faction would nominate its candidate. Students in casting their ballots, would vote only for their faction. According to Fellman's plan a faction would elect one council member for every 100 votes cast for it.

Due to the fact that Fellman was unable to be present at the meeting the proposal was laid aside until the next meeting when it can be more fully explained by him. It was discussed considerably at Wednesday's meeting.

The University of Nebraska will probably have a new men's semi-social fraternity if the constitution presented by the Concordia fraternity to the Student council Wednesday is accepted. Concordia is a

Organizations Plan Special Program; Will Hold Three Parties.

Though the party is under the control and supervision of the two Christian organizations all students of the university are cordially invited. Chaperons at the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Parmalee. Eskimo Holds Peculiar Conception of Mortality; Spirits Play Queer Game

Indoor football has been in vogue for a long time and now comes an introduction to night football. But say—ever hear of sky football? Dr. W. R. Strong, University of Nebraska ethnologist, has been telling his class in primitive religion all about it. The game, it seems, is quite a limited affair in that each of the participants must have died to be eligible, but nevertheless it has some noteworthy compensations.

The Eskimo conception of the two spheres of immortality after death involves a gloomy world under the sea depths and another happy one in the sky, says Dr. Strong, who has lived among various tribes of the Arctic Eskimo. In the joyful world of the sky, games are a major part of the amusements. Thereby hangs the tale of a celestial puntabout. The ball is a walrus skull, which is kicked about (a la soccer) by the Swezey Announces Dates When Students May Study Stars.

Prof. G. D. Swezey of the department of astronomy announced Wednesday that the observatory will be open to the public from 7 to 10 p. m. on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month during the school year.

ROOTERS STAGE LARGE RALLY IN SPITE OF RAIN

Band Parades to Station at Head of Crowd Bearing Sign.

FARLEY TALKS TO BODY

Coach and Other Members Of Team Respond to Cries of Crowd.

A dismal rain failed to dampen the enthusiasm of Nebraska rooters who gathered 700 strong to give the football team a rousing send-off as it began its journey eastward to meet Syracuse Saturday. Assembling in front of Social Sciences hall, the band paraded to the Rock Island station followed by the rooters. A large sign bearing the slogan, "Crush the Orange," was carried in the parade. After the crowd arrived at the station, Robert (Mike) Charters, head cheer leader, led them in several cheers.

In response to cries of "We want Farley," the Nebraska captain emerged from the car and addressed the crowd. He said that the team was out to win and promised that "the boys will bring home the bacon."

Coach Dana X. Bible was the next to speak. "The boys who are going to play the game are all Nebraskans," he said. "And you all know that when a Nebraska man enters a game he conducts himself in such a manner that no regrets are felt afterward."

Several other members of the squad spoke. Willard Witte stated that in the first place he hoped that he would get to play and that in the second place he hoped that Nebraska would be victorious. "Red" Young was sure that Nebraska was going to win and Claire Sloan promised that they would "give 'em hell."

WHITFORD SUCCEEDS WILLIAMS IN POLITICS

Expresses Disappointment in Election; Plans More Activity.

Although disappointed with the barb winning Tuesday's election, W. Gerald Whitford, unofficial general of the nonfraternity forces, expressed his plan of continued political activity in an interview Wednesday afternoon.

"I'll continue my work—or try to," explained Whitford. "I'm not trying to assume any leadership in the affair or shut anybody out," he continued.

Whitford was active at the polls Tuesday and is conceded to be the barb boss since the retirement of Alan Williams, organizer and promoter of non-Greek politics on the University of Nebraska campus. Questioned concerning the possibility of a split in the barb faction, Whitford denied knowledge of such a condition.

Reminded that the Student council would consider the constitution of the Barb council at its meeting Wednesday evening, Whitford expressed indifference toward that body.

Squeaky Chair Robs University Students Of Small Fortune

A comfortable fortune has been wasted since the beginning of this semester in the Social Sciences library.

At one of the tables there is a chair that squeaks and squeaks and squeaks. It squeaks when its occupant crosses his legs. It squeaks when he uncrosses them. It squeaks when he writes and it squeaks when he smiles or nods to the girl friend.

This squeaking annoys not a little all students and would be students gathered round. According to the observation of a Daily Nebraskan there are forty people sitting within annoying distance of this chair during average study sessions in Social Sciences hall library.

Counting eight hours a day, and five days a week, this squeaky chair interrupts 1,600 study hours a week. Let us say that the squeaking noise detracts 50 percent from study, that would mean that 800 hours are lost every week because there is a squeaky chair in Social Sciences hall library.

Henry Ford once made the statement that every hour that the average college student spent at study would be worth ten dollars in actual cash during later life. This chair, then, is costing the student body of the University of Nebraska $8,000 a week, or $24,000 a year. A school started three weeks ago.

PASSION PLAY WILL BE PRESENTED HERE

Religious Drama Comes to Lincoln Sponsored by American Legion.

ORIGIN IS IN GERMANY

The Passion play, a spoken drama depicting the life of Christ, is to be presented at the University of Nebraska coliseum Oct. 17 to 20, under the auspices of the American Legion. From 150 to 200 students from the university school of music are to sing in the production.

In 1284 the inhabitants of Freiburg, Germany, first presented the Passion play. Since then it has been given periodically in Germany, as well as in nearly every city in Europe, and yearly thousands of people from all over the world travel to Freiburg to hear this company in this play.

Colossal Production. The production is colossal with hundreds of people participating. A thousand of the most beautiful costumes, camels, and a donkey. Scene blends into scene without a pause, and the genius of the stagecraft is a marvel.

Adolf Fassnacht, the world famous Christ portrayer and Elsa Fassnacht who portrays the role of Mary Magdalene, as well as the entire company of original players will make their appearance in the performances to be given in Lincoln next week.

First American Tour.

This company is on its first American tour and has played while in the United States in such places as the hippodrome in New York city and the great Krug park bowl at St. Joseph, Mo. At St. Louis more than 80,000 people attended the performance.

The play is introduced by a prologue showing Adam and Eve in the garden, and their yield to temptation. A tableau of the glorification of the cross follows. The Passion drama of Christ closes with the resurrection, and the singing of "Hallelujah Chorus," from the "Messiah."
