

Freshmen Gridders On Edge For Tiger Battle LENGTHY SESSION ENDS PREPARATION

Rhodes Spends Practice Period in Perfecting Plays; Backfield Made Up of Roby, Miller, Dunn And Mathis Sees Most Service.

RESERVE MATERIAL IN LINE APPEARS LACKING

Passing Features Workout With Mathis Doing Stellar Service at Snagging; Dunn Runs From Punt Formation Making Good Yardage.

Choppy Rhodes and his crew of freshmen footballers went through a snappy workout yesterday, with the temperature a trifle above freezing. The practice started early and closed with the shadows growing long, when the men finally went in for their rubdowns and showers. Eli showed some ingenuity when he showed up for practice with the usual regalia plus a pair of gloves.

Most of the practice was spent in perfecting plays, with the freshman second team on the receiving end. The plays were working consistently for long gains. The backfield was composed of Roby, Miller, Dunn and Mathis, but Staab, Penney and Barnes saw service. The line started with Nesmith and Durkee ends, Fogerty and Eli tackles, Witt and C. Hubert guards, and Ossowski center. Good Reserves Available.

Martin was back in the lineup at end, after a short vacation due to illness. He will see service Saturday, because he is adept at pulling down passes. For the most part, Choppy will not have as good reserve material as he thought he was going to have, but they will be good enough. Besides his regular line he will have Martin, D. Hulbert, Swanson and Christian ends; Woodward, Nettsman and Allison tackles; Farmer and Harmon guards, and Leffel and Sandahl centers.

Passing plays were very much in evidence yesterday, but it was so cold that the men had difficulty in catching the ball. Mathis seemed to be having the most success at completing the pass plays. Several times he carried the ball past the secondary on passes. Dunn was pulling some of Clair Sloan's stuff, when he took the ball on a punt formation and then ran with it.

Miller Goes Well.

Jack Miller of Omaha carried the ball on quick opening plays or several long gains. He has more class than any of the others when it comes to backing up the line. Many times the second team line opened good holes, and Miller charged in to stop the man carrying the ball for no gain.

Evidently Choppy holds a lot of respect for the passing game and nearly half an hour was spent in perfecting the defense for passes. The system is well worked out, as it appeared that there were no visual spots in logical territory for the reception of passes. The center calls the plays as he expects them, and the men shift to their positions. Even the guards drop back in order to cover up the passing territory.

Cold Aids Practice.

The few spectators that braved the cold to watch the practice could not decide whether it was the cold or the thoughts of the game that made the men move happily. Regardless of the weather, the men were showing plenty of fight. Everybody seemed to be playing with vigor, and that makes for real football.

Head line coach, Captain Lehman has assembled one real line, and no one knows it better than the second team. They charge hard and fast, with plenty of action. Captain Lehman had them practice what the Nebraska team did against the Kansas team last Saturday, that is to get under the opposing line. The "submarine" charge is what this type of defensive play is commonly called. Osowski was getting down so low, that most of the men had at least one footprint left on his back.

Hard practice will be terminated today, when the freshmen varsity mixes with the seconds. All of the men are on a fine edge now, and all it takes now is a short rounding off process. The coaches are satisfied that the men are just about at their peak.

The athletic department is expecting a fairly good sized crowd to be on hand, as it is printing programs for the game. Selleck estimates the crowd at fifteen thousand.

Gish Hopes to Book Big Inter-sectional Game For Next Season

Another day of rest was on the program for Coach Dana Bible's Cornhusker gridiron warriors Wednesday as the Husker coach lets the injury jinx out of the ranks of the Scarlet. Thursday afternoon on Memorial stadium and will find the Huskers going through their first intensive workout since the Kansas battle. Coach Bible has been giving his charges a series of skull session and play formations that will be inaugurated against the Sooners from Norman in next week's game at Lincoln.

Don't forget the chance to display your ability with the paddle at the paddle tennis tournament next week. This is really a worth while game. You can be a tennis expert playing ping pong efficiently or swing the paddle after two games of paddle tennis. Two girls compose a team and all teams must be handed in to the office by Friday—his is the absolute dead line take heed!

Intra-Mural representatives: Break over and come to the meeting tonight at 7:15. Hire a taxi if you can't rate a ride or live more than seven miles out. Any way, bring your bright and shining presence to the meeting. There'll be enough doing to keep you awake. The W. A. A. executive board is also holding a meeting to discuss various ways and means and because it's about time for one anyway. W. A. A. executives should try desperately to attend Thursday at 3 o'clock.

Aha! Something new discovered on the window sill in the entrance (turn left as you enter) of the gym. No cause for excitement, so calm down. Just a little added decoration along with the rest of those flaming posters in the way of a blue box with a slit in the top. Just to show that the department is big-hearted and hates to see us poor unsuspecting students gyped out of any credit, they've installed this box for Intra-Mural practice credits. After you've spent time and energy for an hour, cheer up and sign this slip all made out by the side of the box and push it in. But remember, you have to be pretty smart to fool this gym department, so no monkey business. But see for yourself!

Everyone had a big time at the sport board meeting last night and finally put forth the following schedule for the next few month's Intra-Mural program:

Speedball—topster tournament, first week in December.

Bowling—practice, December 20, tournament January 7-25.

Nebraska Ball.

Exams and Rest.

Basketball—topster tournament March 3-7.

Indoor Golf—unknown, undecided.

K. U. YEARLINGS PRACTICE HARD FOR KAGGIE TILT

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 7.—A freshman football squad of 42 members was announced today by Coach Hinshaw, in preparation for the K. U.—K. S. A. C. freshman game here next Saturday.

Under new rules of the Big Six, each school is allowed to schedule two games for its freshmen. K. U.'s second game is with Missouri at Columbia Nov. 16.

Freshmen have been practicing all fall under the direction of Coach Hinshaw, working on formations of their own, and on occasion doing scrimmage duty against the varsity.

Big Six regulations cover the scholastic eligibility of contestants in inter-scholastic games, and prevent students transferring from one school to another from competing.
