

SENIOR SOCIETY FINISHES PLANS FOR HUGE RALLY

Football Squad With Staff Of Coaches Will Be At Pep Meeting.

FIRE STARTS AT 7:15

Bible, Gish and Schulte May Talk; Innocents Ask Visitors Also.

Plans for the biggest bonfire rally of the year to be held Friday night before the Nebraska-Oklahoma football game Saturday have been completed by the Innocents society according to Jack Elliott, member of the committee in charge.

The entire football squad of fifty-seven together with the coaching staff, and director of athletics will be present at the rally. Negotiations are also pending to have Captain Frank Crider, and President Bizzell, of Oklahoma university in attendance at the Cornhusker pep raiser.

Members of the Corn Cobs, girls pep organization, Tassels, male pep society, and the university band will take part in the pep display Friday night. The Corn Cobs have reported that they will build the biggest bonfire ever seen at any Nebraska rally.

Corncobs Build Fire. Members of the Corn Cobs, girls pep organization, Tassels, male pep society, and the university band will take part in the pep display Friday night.

Eldred "Bub" Larsen, president of the innocents society, will have charge. The tentative program will commence with the introduction of Coach Bible by Larson.

Farley Will Speak. Following Schulte's talk, Larson will introduce Captain George Farley, of the 1929 Cornhusker football team, who will say a few words about the game.

Prof. Clark E. Mickey, chairman of the department of civil engineering, was in Sioux City, Ia., this week, in conference with W. S. Gilman that city on matters pertaining to flood control. Friday, he was to meet with Colonel Spaulding and Major Young of the U. S. Army district engineer at Kansas City office.

Council Invites Dads To Saturday Events

The student council, representing the entire student body of the University of Nebraska, cordially welcomes the dads of university students to visit our school Saturday, Nov. 16. We sincerely hope that every dad will try to be with his son or daughter for the festivities of Dad's day and believe that it will bring a closer contact between the dads and the university.

Dads Day Is Tradition Dating Back To '22 When Nebraska Beat K-Aggies

On Saturday, Nov. 18, 1922, Coach Fred Dawson's Cornhuskers defeated Charlie Bachman's Kansas Aggies in the old Nebraska Aggies field. That game marked the beginning of the Dad's day which is now a tradition dating back to 1922 when Nebraska beat K-Aggies.

SONS INVITE DADS TO ATTEND GAME NEXT SATURDAY

Lincoln, Nebraska, Nov. 12, 1929.

Dear Dad: Don't take the shock too hard. Dad, but for once I'm not going to ask for any money. I suppose you are wondering whether it is worth the sacrifice and I sometimes wonder myself.

I've been down here at school only a few weeks, but gosh, it seems like years since I stuck my feet under the old dinner table. It's pretty tough sledding right now because we are having mid-semester exams. Everyone is "hitting the books" as they call it here, to get ready for those exams. I hope I can get some decent grades.

But what I wanted to write you principally for was to tell you about an annual event they are having here Saturday. All the fellows are inviting their dads down for Dad's day. The university has designated this day for the event.

At noon we can go to the big luncheon which is being given for the dads. There will be some real good speakers at this banquet and among them will be Governor Weaver. In the afternoon Nebraska is playing a football game with Oklahoma university. You know, Dad, you always did say you wanted to see the football team. And believe me, we've got a humdinger this year.

Oklahoma has a wonderful team too and it should be a great game. And don't forget Mother. Bring her along, too. She will enjoy the spectacle if not the game and we can have a good time all by ourselves in the evening.

I hope you can come because I don't want to be alone that day when everybody else is with his Dad. I have some dandy roommates and I know you would enjoy meeting them and their fathers for they will be down too.

Now, Dad, if by hook or crook, you and Mother can get in the car and come down Saturday, please do it. Your son, BILL.

PROWLER RANSACKS TEKE HOUSE MONDAY

Members Lose $40 To Thief Who Makes Haul Early In Morning.

Forty dollars in cash was lost by eight members of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity early Monday morning when an unknown prowler entered the house and ransacked four second floor rooms. No evidence was left to indicate who the thief might be, according to members of the fraternity.

With the exception of $1.75 belonging to William Lewis, all the money was taken from clothing in the rooms. Lewis' money was taken from a dresser. The robbery occurred sometime after 3 o'clock, according to fraternity members, since several of the men studied until that hour. Since the dormitory is on third floor, no noises were heard by anyone.

Rooms closest to the dormitory were not disturbed. Clothing in the four rooms which were robbed was torn off hangers and strewn about in a disheveled manner. Nothing downstairs was bothered, however. Members of the fraternity are certain the thief was someone outside the house. Both the front and side doors were unlocked. This is the first fraternity robbery to be reported to the police this year.

Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, today announces six new pledges of the fraternity. Newly elected men are Lowell Davis, Kenneth Gammill, Leon Larimer, Gene McKim, William Taylor and Elmont Waite. Initiation will be held around Dec. 1.

MORRILL HALL MOVIES PLEASE 500 CHILDREN

Marjorie Shanafelt Leads Regular Program as Sunday Feature. More than 500 children and adults attended the regular weekly program at Morrill hall last Sunday afternoon, according to Miss Marjorie Shanafelt, curator of visual education, who was in charge of the program.

LINCOLN HONORS WAR HEROES ON ARMISTICE DAY

Drum Corps Commemorates Dead; Student Cadets March in Parade.

CLASSES DO NOT MEET

R. O. T. C. Band Forms Part Of Unit; Tassels Carry Service Flag.

Beginning with the American Legion drum corps salute for Nebraska's war dead, given at Thirteenth and O streets at 11 a. m., and including an impressive parade in which the university R. O. T. C. unit took part and a pageant program presented by school children at the coliseum at 2:30 p. m., Lincoln Armistice day celebration plans reached their climax with the Armistice dance held at 8:30 Monday evening in the coliseum.

All university classes were excused for the afternoon to enable the students to take part in the observance exercises. Every R. O. T. C. student not properly excused was required to march in the patriotic parade, according to Col. F. F. Jewett, commandant of the cadet regiment.

Drum Corps Honors Dead. Opening the activities for the day, the American Legion drum corps marched to Thirteenth and O streets shortly before 11 a. m., fired a rifle salute and played taps in honor of the Nebraskans who gave their lives in the World War.

The big patriotic parade, formed in four divisions at Fifteenth and intersecting streets at 1 o'clock, moved westward on O street at 1:30. The entire cadet regiment and band formed a unit of the parade. First came the Tassels, women's honorary pep organization, formed in a hollow square and carrying a large service flag.

Next came the cadet colonel and his aides, followed by the university R. O. T. C. band and the cadets in column of platoons. Parade Passes Reviewing Stand. Led by Frank D. Eager, marshal of the day, and his aides, the parade moved west on O street past the reviewing stand in front of the coliseum.

PICTURE DEADLINE IS EXTENDED BY BAILEY

Students Have Additional Week for Securing Photographs.

Deadline for the taking of pictures for the 1930 Cornhusker has been extended to Saturday, Nov. 16, according to Arthur Bailey, editor of the annual. Every junior and senior as well as others who wish their picture in the yearbook must have their picture taken by then or make an appointment before then for a later date.

After Nov. 16, not only junior and senior but also fraternity and sorority sections will be closed. This is because the studios will be busy with the Christmas rush. Students who make their appointment before Saturday will be taken care of later on, however, if they are not photographed this week. Seven hundred more junior and senior pictures are required for the Cornhusker, according to Bailey. He said that only about half the usual number of upperclassmen have had their pictures taken so far.

Price Is Same. Bailey stated that some comment had been made about the price of junior and senior pictures in the Cornhusker. This has never been raised, however. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4.)

MORRILL HALL MOVIES PLEASE 500 CHILDREN

Marjorie Shanafelt Leads Regular Program as Sunday Feature. More than 500 children and adults attended the regular weekly program at Morrill hall last Sunday afternoon, according to Miss Marjorie Shanafelt, curator of visual education, who was in charge of the program.

The programs, starting at 2:45 o'clock for children and 4 o'clock for adults, were composed of a motion picture "People Who Live in the Arctic" and a lecture given by Miss Marjorie Shanafelt, "The Top of the World," dealing with life in the far north. F. G. Collins, assistant curator of the University of Nebraska museum, assisted by E. L. Bleu and Henry Reider, conducted lecture tours through the museum and galleries starting at 3 o'clock and continuing throughout the afternoon.

Welcome, Dads.

Dad's day unites father and son in close fellowship at Nebraska. It advocates harmonious understanding and fifty-fifty cooperation between father and son that they by the long pull together may accomplish 100 percent results at the university. It unites homes and school on a program of personal and institutional accomplishment.

Dad's day is one of our best traditions. Its purposes are far reaching and helpful to all concerned. The sons and daughters at Nebraska say: Dads, "you all" are welcome to your University. Our great educational home; We greet you heartily!

KLUB ANNUNCES SKITS APPEARING IN ANNUAL REVUE

Kosmet Committee Picks Five Acts and Eight Curtain Skits.

HIRE BECK'S ORCHESTRA

Eighteen Different Events Are Presented in Show Tryouts.

Five acts and eight curtain skits which will compose Kosmet Klub's Thanksgiving Morning revue were announced by the club's reviewing committee Monday. This committee consisted of Carl Hahn, Don Kelley, William McCleery and Joyce Ayres.

The acts selected are to be staged by Alpha Omicron Pi, Kappa Alpha Theta and Sigma Nu, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Beta Theta Pi and Alpha Tau Omega, and Delta Delta Delta and Delta Tau Delta. The curtain skits which were chosen are to be given by Phi Mu, Delta Zeta, Harriet Cruise Kemmer and Harold Turner, Frank Serman and Lyle DeMoss, Grace Kathman, Roger Robinson and Maxine Mathers, Alpha Theta Chi, and the University Dramatic club.

Leo Beck's orchestra has also been engaged to play for the morning show. Nine acts and nine curtain skits were submitted by different organizations and individuals from which the reviewing committee selected the morning revue. The committee stated that they devoted much time and deliberation to the choosing of acts and skits. Since the high quality exhibited by all material made it difficult to differentiate between any of it.

COOPERATIVES WILL PICK BUYER TONIGHT

Elliott Calls Meeting of Representatives for Organization.

The next meeting of the Fraternal Co-operative association will be held this evening at 7:15 p. m. in room 9 of Morrill hall. All applications for membership in this association must be in by this time. James Elliott, Sigma Phi Epsilon has been chosen to preside.

Athletic Department Will Be Host For Varsity Footballers

Dads of members of the varsity football squad will be special guests of the athletic department at the Nebraska-Oklahoma game Saturday and will occupy seats in one of the front row boxes in the east stand. In order to be properly identified as football players' dads they will wear arm bands. This section will constitute one of the loyal Cornhusker rooting sections. They will also be guests at the Chamber of Commerce noon luncheon sponsored by the Innocents society.

YEARBOOK DRIVE COMES TO END; CONTEST CLOSES

E. Edmonds Wins Second Cornhusker Campaign In Two Years.

TASSELS IS HIGH GROUP

Number of Books Sold Is Unknown But Fails to Please Kennedy.

Edwin Edmonds, '31, Sumner, was announced Monday as individual winner of the Cornhusker sales campaign. Announcement was made by George Kennedy, business manager of the annual, after a close check of the record made by each contestant in the campaign.

Tassels, girls pep society, won first place among the organizations competing in the contest. Frank Gue, '31, Crawford, won second individual place; Norman Willey, '32, Lincoln and Morton Richards, '31, Omaha, tied for third place; and Donald Facka, '31, Hershey, was winner of fourth place.

Edmonds is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity and won the sales campaign last year, also. He will be awarded a prize of $100 worth of clothing at a leading Lincoln clothing store. The Tassels will be given a cash prize of fifty dollars. No prizes were awarded other than first in the contest. According to Kennedy, Edna Schick, '30, St. Louis, Mo., Elizabeth Reimers, '32, Grand Island, and Sally Packard, '31, Omaha, were the outstanding sellers in the Tassels campaign. Miss Schick is a member of Alpha Xi Delta, while Miss Reimers belongs to Delta Gamma and Miss Packard is affiliated with Pi Beta Phi.

Kennedy stated that all the sales books were not turned in so the definite number of year books sold is not yet known. He said that while he was not pleased with results of the campaign they were as well as could be expected under the circumstances. He announced that he was planning a novel sales drive for a later date.

TWO FOOTBALL MEN RECEIVE INJURIES

Peterson and Broadstone Are Hurt as Tackle Dummy Falls.

Ardean Peterson and Marion Broadstone, Cornhusker football players, were badly hurt Monday night on the practice gridiron at the north end of the stadium when heavy eight-by-eight supports of a tackling dummy fell on them. Broadstone was slightly bruised. Peterson, more seriously injured, sustained severe back bruises possible injury to his spine, and crush injuries to his chest.

Rushed to the Lincoln General hospital in Castle, Roper and Matthews' ambulance, X-rays were taken to determine extent of the men's injuries. Peterson, suffering from shock, was confined to his room at the hospital until late Monday night when he was able to be taken to the X-ray room.

Peterson Out for Season. Broadstone was expected to be in school today and was to be released from the hospital early Tuesday morning. He will be able to play Saturday. Peterson, however, will not be out for some time and, according to attending physicians, will not be able to suit up the rest of the season. Peterson (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2.)

INNOCENTS MAIL OUT INVITATIONS TO DADS

Five thousand invitations to Nebraska dads are being mailed out by the Innocents society. Gordon Larson is chairman of the committee in charge of arranging for the event.

All of the invitations will be mailed by Wednesday. Freshmen from the various fraternities are aiding the committee in sending them. A copy of the letter follows: Dear Dads: Saturday, Nov. 16, the day of the Nebraska-Oklahoma football game, has been selected for the 1929 Dad's day and this communication to you is a most urgent invitation to spend that day with your son or daughter at the University of Nebraska. If you are a true Cornhusker father you will not want to miss this one day set aside for you. The university believes that some such relationship between you and your young folks is mutually beneficial. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5.)

DAUGHTERS ASK DADS TO ATTEND OKLAHOMA TRILT

Lincoln, Nebraska, Nov. 12, 1929.

Dearest Dad: No, I don't want a new dress, and I have finally decided that my last winter's coonskin will do me another year, but I was just thinking of—oh, lots of things and so I decided to dash off a few monosyllables, "Yes ma'am" and "no ma'am," that I appreciate the chance to rattle off at length.

Oh, I tell you, Dad, I appreciate lots of things about you now, things I used to think your virtues now are virtues when contrasted with the same things I have to contend with down here. For instance, I used to raise a rumpus when you told me that two o'clock was too late for me to get in, but you're an angel, Dad, compared with these house mothers who take away your dates for a whole week-end if you're only ten minutes later than the limit, 12:15.

But as to my immediate reason for writing, (and I can see you say "Now it's coming"), I want to see you and Mother in the worst way and the most wonderful opportunity for accomplishing that and at the same time seeing some of the real university activities I'm interested in has arisen, and really, you just must take advantage of it.

Saturday is designated as University Dad's day, and the whole gang are expecting their dads down here for the Oklahoma game which is to follow a luncheon given in the honor of the dads. You've always said I didn't know anything about football, but if you'll only come down here, you'll find that I can argue on any technicality of the game; though I won't say how intelligently.

Wire me immediately if you can come, and tell Mother to bring some cake and candy along with her. I'll be seeing you soon—you see I take it for granted—and until then and always, I am Your loving daughter, MARY.

DELEGATES ANNOUNCE CONFERENCE DATES

Y. W.-Y. M. Groups Make Plans for Annual Estes Meet.

Dates for the Rocky Mountain field student Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. conference will be June 6 to 16 this year, it was announced today by C. D. Hayes, secretary of the student Y. M. C. A. organization on the campus.

The dates were set at a series of meetings held in Lincoln Saturday and Sunday, which were attended by twenty-two representatives of Nebraska universities and colleges, and a few out of state delegates. It was planned at the meeting here to secure four or five principal speakers for the conference, in addition to a number of guest group leaders and occasional speakers. Mr. Hayes and Miss Erma Appleby of the university Y. W. C. A. were named as joint chairmen of the committee.

The general plan of the conference as outlined at the meeting here included a half hour worship period each morning, followed by the platform meetings, and a quest of the speakers will talk. An informal hour in which students may talk with leaders will follow the platform meetings, and a quest group hour will be held each day. Another platform hour will conform the morning. Afternoons will be spent in conferences with leaders and in recreation. Evening programs will vary from day to day.

The sessions at the conference in June will attract in the neighborhood of 500 persons, Mr. Hayes said. They will come from a number of western states.

CHANCELLOR HAS RACK INSTALLED FOR BULLETINS

A bulletin rack has been erected in the registrar's office and contains copies of all the bulletins issued from the chancellor's office for the past year. The contents are free to any who are interested.

The bulletins from all schools and colleges of the university are still issued by members of the registrar's office force, and may be obtained by asking at any of the windows in that office.

Dads Are Welcomed to Lincoln

The city of Lincoln will again be honored on the occasion of the annual celebration of Dad's day, Saturday, November 16, by the presence of hundreds of dads whose sons or daughters, or both, are attending the university. In behalf of the citizens of Lincoln the chamber of commerce extends most cordial greetings and best wishes for a pleasurable day. It is a glorious sentiment augmented by a wholesome spirit of good will that seeks in this way to pay honor to Nebraska dads for the sacrifices we know many of them make that their children may be privileged to attend the university.

UNIVERSITY LAYS PLANS FOR DAD'S DAY FESTIVITIES

City Chamber of Commerce Will Be Setting for Annual Lunch.

WEAVER IS ON PROGRAM

Fraternal Groups Arrange Entertainments for Saturday.

Dads of the university students will be the guests of the University of Nebraska and the city of Lincoln Saturday, Nov. 16, the date of the gridiron battle between Coach Bible's Cornhuskers and Coach Schick's Oklahoma Sooners from the football game in the afternoon the dads will be guest at a dinner of other functions planned for them.

Chief among these is the luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce sponsored by the Innocents society. Speakers on the program at the noon luncheon are Governor Arthur J. Weaver, Chancellor E. A. Burnett, Dean T. J. Thompson, Henry F. Schulte and R. E. Campbell, president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

Annual Luncheon Planned. The noon luncheon is an annual event for Nebraska dads. The Innocents' committee wants it emphasized that the affair is for fathers and daughters as well as for fathers and sons. Cornhusker pep will prevail aided by student pep leaders. Tickets for the event, which are on sale at the College book store as well as at fraternity houses, cost sixty-five cents. Fraternities and sororities have been requested to have their entertainments for the dads in the evening.

Arrangements have been made for students to exchange seat in the cheering section in order to sit with their dads. Dads of members of the varsity football squad will be special guests of the athletic department at the game. They will also be guests at the noon luncheon.

Besides the Chamber of Commerce luncheon many fraternities and sororities are planning entertainments for the dads Saturday. The Dad's day idea will be featured in the stunts for the Nebraska-Oklahoma game in the afternoon.

Approximately 5,000 invitations have been mailed out by the Innocents society to fathers of the university students. In addition special appeal is being made to 67 students to write their dads and give them a personal invitation. The Dad's day tradition at the university started in 1922 when the Nebraska-Kansas Aggie game was set aside as a special day for dads. Each year since then one of the season's football classics has been set aside for it. Last year it was the Nebraska-Syracuse game, which was viewed by thousands of dads.

STUDIO DEADLINE RUSHES TIME FOR ANNUAL PHOTOS

With the Cornhusker staff announcement that the deadline for having pictures taken for the year book has been advanced until Saturday noon, Nov. 16, the following sororities and fraternities are informed that they must have their pictures taken before the deadline or they will be unable to secure sittings because of the Christmas rush at the studios:

Phi Mu, Sigma Kappa, Zeta Tau Alpha, Sigma Alpha Mu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Xi Phi at Townsend's, Phi Omega Pi, Sigma Delta Tau, Theta Phi Alpha, Pi Kappa Phi, Sigma Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Theta Chi, Theta Xi and Zeta Beta Tau are scheduled for Haucks.

Headquarters Will Announce Sponsors

The names of the coeds who will act as company sponsors will be made known sometime this week, according to military headquarters. They have already been selected by the student officers and are now being checked for scholastic eligibility.
