House Parties Hold Sway Though Students O-G to Manhattan

Despite the general exodus for Manhattan this week end a number of house parties have been scheduled. The all university party, sponsored by the Barb council, will be the big event for all students.

Snow Covered Party at Theta House.

Pledges of Kappa Alpha Theta will entertain for active members of the sorority at the chapter house Saturday evening. Silver white and light blue will be the colors used in the decorations to supplement the snow covered floors. Snow balls and snow hats will be given as favors to the guests. Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lantz and Mrs. Inez Sargent will serve as chaperons.

Tri Delt Pledges Give Shadow Party.

Honoring the active members of the group pledges of Delta Delta Delta will give a house party on Friday evening. The shadow motif will be used in the decorations, and shadows will be the theme of many of the dance selections. Grace Cathan will sing "Blue Shadows" and other popular pieces. Mrs. Laura Farley and Dr. Winona M. Perry will be the chaperons. Phi Kaps Feature Hard Times.

Phi Kaps pledges will be hosts at the hard times party at the chapter house Friday evening. Guests will attend the party in costume of an appropriate nature. Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Kidwell and Mr. and Mrs. B. Sweeney.

Mixer Sponsored by Dairy Club.

Members of the Dairy club will have charge of the mixer at the student activities building on the campus of the college of agriculture Friday evening. The mixer

FREE SOUP WILL BE PREPARED AT NOON TUESDAY

Free soup will be served Tuesday noon at Ellen Smith hall for all girls who eat their lunches on the campus. Afterward there will be dancing and a social hour. All girls who bring their lunches are cordially invited.

The Y. W. C. A. is putting the kitchen in Ellen Smith hall at the disposal of all who wish to use it during the noon hour. Coffee will be made and the girls may use the building as they like after lunch.

CROWD OF 1,200 HEARS NEBRASKA.

To this argument, the Oxford team answered through Mr. Diplock that if there is corruption in the present system as admitted by the Nebraskans there is certainly a need for thorough reorganization. "If such is the case," he stated, "it is foolish to spend time worrying over the twelve mice in the jury box. What is needed is a cleanup, not with a feather duster, but a cleanup in truly American manner, the Hoover way, with a vacuum cleaner."

Hunt Pleads Democracy. In his argument for the negative Mr. Hunt brought out the point that substitution of a judge for the jury system of justice would permit the decision of one man to hang a man in the case of a trial for murder. Public opinion, according to this speaker's belief, has too powerful an influence upon the attitude of the judge to make safe and practical the adoption of such a method of justice.

"Juries are not qualified for the duties imposed upon them," contended Mr. MacKenna for the affirmative. "The average jury is composed of men both ignorant and unsuccessful. Were this not so the members would have found some excuse for getting off the jury. The judge, on the other hand, has had from ten to twenty years of experience. He knows a lying witness at sight from the mere fact that during his early training as a lawyer he has himself put dozens and dozens of them upon the stand."

Upholding the jury system, Alan Williams declared that the twelve men thereon represent as many different stratas of life and thus are best able to render justice properly. Individual prejudices in such a group, he said, tend to equalize each other.

Speaking in a similar vein, Frank Morrison stated that the greatest asset of the jury system is that the fact that the men are always in touch with other men and that after trying the individual case at hand they go back to mingle in ordinary life. "The big difficulty with the judge," emphasized Evert Hunt, "is the well known fact that the more a man studies a problem, the more he is convinced he is right and the other man is wrong."

Mr. Diplock and Mr. Hunt each appeared twice, at first for ten minutes, and finally for a rejoinder of five minutes length. The other four debaters spoke once for fifteen minutes each. One-half hour was allowed the audience for questions, comments, and criticisms of the speakers and their arguments.

MURRAY ORDERS 1,500 COPIES OF AWGWAN

Increased Demand for Last Issue Causes Larger Number Printed.

SIGMA DELTA CHI AIDS

Fifteen hundred copies of the November Awgwan will be released at 8 o'clock this morning, according to the editor of the magazine. This is an increase of 500 over the number printed last month.

Seven hundred of the amount will be sold by members of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity. The remaining 800 will be sold to individual subscribers, fraternities and sororities, and will be used for advertising. Members of Sigma Delta Chi will maintain booths in front of social sciences, the "Moon," Teachers college, Andrews hall, and the main library, according to Harl Anderson, director of sales. Price per copy will be ten cents.

Cover page, drawn by Ruth Haley, will depict the formal idea in black and white. This idea will be used throughout the whole magazine, in anticipation of the approaching Military hall which will officially open Nebraska's formal season.

"What it means to hang a fraternity pin, origin and custom" by an anonymous author will be one of the book's features this month. There will also be a poetry page and the usual short jokes. Dean Hokanson, Roger Robinson, Lowell Davis, Don Carlson, Betty Wahlquist, Gene Allen, Norman Gallagher, Robert Kelly and many others have contributed editorial matter for the magazine.

Phil Warner, art editor, directed the art staff of Ruth Haley, Katherine Ashford, Paul Benson, Bill Beecham, Frank Roehl and Dale Swanson in producing some very good work for this issue, according to the Awgwan editor.

DR. OLDFATHER IS SPEAKER AT MUSEUM SUNDAY

Dr. C. H. Oldfather of the University of Nebraska history department will lecture on the subject of "Asyria" at the weekly program for adults in Morrill hall auditorium next Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m.

The children's program next Saturday morning at 10:30 will be composed of a lecture by Miss Marjorie Shannfelt on "Noses" which will deal with the different types of animal's noses, and three short motion picture films of jungle animal life.

GEOLOGY GRADUATE LECTURES CLASSES

Kenneth Simmons, graduate of the University of Nebraska department of geology, lectured before Prof. E. F. Schramm's oil class last Tuesday evening. Mr. Simmons is a geologist for the Roxana Petroleum corporation at Evansville, Ind. He expects to remain in Lincoln for two weeks.

Studen t Directory Is Out; Bashful Men Can Get Dates Now

By the Office Post.

At last! The directory is out. After waiting for over two long months to get that certain girl's phone number, we being too bashful to ask her for it personally, the book of all information has arrived. Now that we have the telephone number what are we going to do with it? Ye writer has overspent his allowance for six weeks already, and these Nebraska coeds won't walk. Nuf sed.

The first names in the student section to greet you are Aabel,

Lloyd H. and Aarni, John C. while Zutter, Gladys A., and Zumwinkel, Essie M., did you farewell. As usual the names are not in absolute alphabetical order, but that doesn't bother us "collegh men," we have more time than money, by a long ways. That will be a new pastime for the "cakes" in front of or in Social Sciences. They can get up a game of "find your name" with other members of their fraternity or with their lady loves. This new game will keep the members of the opposite sex from fighting with each other between classes, which I imagine is getting tiresome, it being the ninth or tenth week in school.

All in a day's work for telephone men. A specimen of construction work in the Bell System is the new catenary span carrying telephone wires across the Gila River, Arizona. The "natural" obstacle is no longer an obstacle while there are telephone men to find a way through it or over it. This is but one example in a general expansion program. Others are such widely varied projects as linking New York to Atlanta by cable, erecting 200 telephone buildings in 1929, developing a $15,000,000 factory at Baltimore. The telephone habit is growing apace, and the Bell System will continue to keep a step ahead of the needs of the nation. BELL SYSTEM A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones. LOVELL, STUDENT COUNCILLOR, WILL VISIT UNIVERSITY

Gilbert Lovell, of New York City, student councillor of the Presbyterian board of education will arrive in Lincoln from the University of Colorado Saturday evening. Mr. Lovell is a vocational expert. He has been visiting at the University of Colorado and other colleges in the west. He will address student groups in the three Presbyterian churches of the city on Sunday. He expects to interview about twenty-five or thirty students on vocational guidance on Monday and Tuesday. While in Lincoln he will be the guest of Dean R. Leland, Presbyterian student pastor, at 333 North Fourteenth street.

Agronomy Specialist Visits Ag Department

C. R. Ahlson, former extension specialist in agronomy at the University of Idaho, visited the department on the agricultural campus yesterday. Mr. Ahlson is at present connected with the Chippman Chemical company of Boise, Idaho. Mr. Ahlson has done considerable research work in willing perennial weeds with chlorates.

STUDENTS STAGE RALLIES DESPITE FREEZING COLD

Shulte Comments.

"You yell like you meant it," Schulte declared. "Sing 'There is No Place Like Nebraska,' and start the rally right." He also paid tribute to the coaching abilities of Dana X. Bible, whom he described as a man followed all year by hard luck, and one who fought the breaks all the time. "Injuries have often left serious holes in the Cornhusker machine," he said, "but Bible never quit." A snake dance down O street wound up the evening's program, after all football players who could be had been made to address the crowd. Informal rallies will be the rule all day today, and the entire week's process of keying up the spirit of the team will be climaxed at huge bonfire rally on the drill field tonight at 7:15. All members of the coaching staff and the team will be on hand at the bonfire celebration.

MEAT JUDGES PLACE AT NATIONAL MEET

(Continued from Page One) individually and sixth on beef. He was also the high man on the Nebraska team placing seventh in the competition. Englehorn ranked fourth on pork and eighth on lamb to excess judging and was eighth in the individual competition. The women's team was made up of Nellie Trendle, Alliance; Myrtle Greenland, Clifton, Kansas; Emma Michelsen, Columbus, with Annie Brackett of Lincoln as alternate. W. J. Loeffel, coach, was assisted by Miss May Mackintosh. Mrs. Louis Hall, the undefeated meat judge of the country last year, also assisted the team prior to the contest. Nellie Trendle was third high ranking individual girl in the judging of all meats, while Myrtle Greenland ranked fifth and Emma Michelsen sixth in the individual competition. The girls identified twenty-five cuts of meat, gave the two best methods of preparing each cut and judged two classes of beef, two classes of pork and one class of lamb.

No Sqawks!

Our popular price customers have never given Red Krause's boys the social ignominy nor do they sit up half the night telling wide-eyed friends what a sorry creep-joint the Lindell is. And so to apologize for the crowd—we can't help it if every college Joe and his gal decide to come just when you want to get in. Maybe quarter wickets won't run but our hand boys know their poodles. Those steps you get in the corner are just as good as those in the center rush and the music is just as not nobody wears funny costumes and everybody is friendly. It's all a good Coltsch dance should be and comes off.
