SPRIT BREAKS UP FRIDAY'S CLASSES

Unofficial Rallies Develop Into Miniature Riots When Students Invade City Campus Buildings Prior To Game With K-Aggies Saturday.

BOARD OF DEANS PROBES MORNING AFFAIR

Executives Ask Publication of Letter From Athletic Department; Thompson Refutes Report of Abolishing Innocents, Corn Cobs.

Responding to calls for pep for the Kansas Aggie-Nebraska football game of Saturday, University of Nebraska students conducted an all day rally Friday. Starting at 8 o'clock in the morning the rally gained momentum until it became a miniature riot, breaking up classes and interfering with the official business of the university during the forenoon.

Approximately 1,000 students are thought to have participated at one time or another in the affair. The day's activities were entirely without organization and as many as five distinct groups were making building to building tours at the same time.

Deans Have Meeting. Deans of the colleges, who had planned to meet Friday afternoon to discuss matters of summer school finance, investigated the uprising. No definite action was taken by the board of deans, although they asked for the publication of a letter from Herbert D. Gish, director of athletics, concerning the part taken by the athletic department in the rally.

Organized rallies will not be allowed to start until after 5 o'clock in the afternoon, hereafter, according to a letter sent by Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs, to all members of the faculty Saturday. This does not forbid singing in classes or between class periods.

Discounts Rumors. Rumors to the effect that classes would be held on Friday, Nov. 29, were discounted by Dean Thompson. He stated that the report concerning discontinuance of the innocents society, and the Corn Cobs was without foundation. The Friday matter, however, is still under investigation.

Spirit for the game at Manhattan Saturday has been fostered throughout the week by the athletic department and campus organizations, including the Innocents society, senior men's honorary, and Corn Cobs, men's pep organization. These three organs of the university deny responsibility for Friday's violent uproar on the city campus.

Small Groups Gather. Small groups congregated in front of social sciences Friday morning. From 8 to 9 o'clock shouts of "rally" filtered through the halls of social sciences, and at the close of 8 o'clock classes the throng gained in numbers. Many students were under the false impression that no classes would be held.

Shortly after 9 o'clock a large body of hilarious students poured out of the north door of social sciences and dashed in mass formation across the drill field. Andrews hall was invaded and nearly all classes were disrupted. Simultaneously with this beginning another riot parade was started at the law college with R. O. T. C. students taking the lead.

Buildings in Uproar. From that time until noon today nearly all buildings on the city campus were in an uproar. One glass door in social sciences was broken by the class-brothers. When doors were locked some students resorted to climbing through transoms to unlock them. At 11:50 o'clock notices appeared on several doors that classes were called off for the day.

The Davis coffee shop across from the campus on R street was the scene of collegiate sessions throughout the day. A six piece orchestra conducted an impromptu dance program, in which numerous entertainers took part. Pep talks were given during the day and until nearly 4 o'clock in the afternoon the "Moon" was jammed with hilarious university men and women.

Sentiment Opposes. Sentiment concerning the violation of university rules and interference with classes was mainly in opposition to the violent conduct. Approximately 20 percent of the student body were thought to be actively engaged in the riot, through some of these took part without actually favoring the actions of the rebel leaders.

"The students certainly worked up a lot of enthusiasm and I know it will have an effect on the team," stated Dana S. Bible, Nebraska's head football coach Friday. "It can't help but stir them up."

BIZAD STUDENTS ATTEND ANNUAL COLLEGE DINNER

More Than 100 Are Present At Banquet in Annex Cafe on Friday.

BLOOD IS TOASTMASTER

Speakers' Program Includes LeRossignol, Burnett, Brink, Arndt.

One hundred and twenty-five students attended the annual banquet of the business administration college, which was held at the Annex cafe Friday night. Bernard Wilson, chairman of the bizad executive board, presided at the affair, and introduced Prof. F. C. Blood, of the advertising and sales management department, who officiated as toastmaster.

Toasts were given by Dean J. E. LeRossignol, V. Z. Brink, of the department of accounting, and Karl M. Arndt, of the department of economics.

The past, present, and probable future of the college of business administration was outlined by these speakers. Mr. Brink outlined the past from the viewpoint of a student, basing his speech on his experiences as an undergraduate in the college. Mr. Arndt outlined the present scope of the college from the viewpoint of a faculty member. Dean LeRossignol outlined his plans for the growth of the college and stated his aspirations for the future advance of the college in quality and size. The dean has been a member (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3.)

WORK ADVANCES FOR FACULTY AUTO SPACE

Parking Lot Will Be Large Enough for 75 Cars On Drill Field.

The parking space north of social sciences will be opened for faculty members use as soon as possible. The gravel has been unloaded and the work is progressing rapidly, though rains, snow and disagreeable weather have held up its completion.

There are spaces for seventy-five cars and 107 applications have been received to date. All of these applications will probably be granted because professors will be using the space at different times. There will be no charge for the parking. There will be no tags or stickers used in the checking.

Entrances to the parking spaces are on Twelfth and Fourteenth streets. The curb has been broken on Twelfth and a new driveway into the space provided. The old entrance to the drill field on Fourteenth street will be used, gravel connecting it with the parking space.

The large oak north of social sciences and in the parking space will be transplanted as soon as the ground has frozen sufficiently deep to keep earth around the roots.

DAIRY CLUB HAS MIXER ATTENDED BY 140 COUPLES

One hundred forty couples attended the Dairy club mixer held in the student activities building on Friday night. Those in charge of the affair were well pleased with the attendance.

Music was furnished by Herb Smith's orchestra. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hathaway and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nibler, of the department of dairy husbandry, and Dr. and Mrs. L. V. Skidmore of the department of animal pathology.

Athletic Department Tells of Plan

The University of Nebraska board of deans decided Friday that a letter written from the athletic department in regard to Friday's rallying should be published. This letter, written by H. D. Gish, director of athletics, explains the part taken by the department and its opinion of the student violence. Mr. Gish's letter appears below.

November 22, 1929.

To the Chancellor and the Board of Deans.

From the coaching and administrative staff of the department of intercollegiate athletics.

The coaching and administrative staff of the athletic department is in favor of a live interest in our contests upon the part of the whole school. This week we felt that the football team needed a tonic of a more intense interest from the campus. To that end it was suggested to the innocents and other leaders that between-class sings be organized and that an impromptu mass meeting be held for the team Thursday afternoon after 4 o'clock on the football field. This suggestion was entirely in keeping with the traditional practices in past years before big games.

We believe the Nebraska student body is the finest in the country.

Apparently somewhere the fine get-together and pull-together spirit of past years went wrong today. We regret this matter gravely, for it not only harms the scholastic activities of the university but it seriously harms the athletic interest.

We feel sure that the students realize this matter now, for we are doing everything possible upon our part to inform them of our viewpoint.

We believe that a closer cooperation between the students, the faculty and all of us will surely avoid a repetition of such an unsatisfactory occurrence in the future.

Very respectfully submitted,

The Athletic Staff

by H. D. Gish, director of athletics.

Thompson Explains Stand on Rally

Following investigation of Friday morning's disturbance of classes by student rallies, Dean T. J. Thompson issued a statement which has been mailed to all members of the university faculty. An exact copy of the faculty letter appears below.

November 23, 1929.

To the Faculty:

For your information. Please read to your classes if you deem it advisable.

This office has been asked to make a statement relative to the class disturbance Friday morning. On October 25 I sent a letter containing the following paragraph regarding rallies to every organization on the campus:

"Rallies are apparently a recognized institution in the University of Nebraska; however, they should not be conducted in such a way as to conflict with the safety of traffic on the streets. If they occur on the university campus, they should be conducted entirely between classes for when they continue into the class period they often seriously interfere with the proper conductance of the class and too often engender disgust on the part of the instructors toward the object of the rally. The university is very anxious to develop a fine, wholesome Nebraska spirit, but this can only be done when the rights and privileges of all are taken into account. Your cooperation is expected in this matter."

Unfortunately the recent rally outburst doubtless had its inception among those closely associated with athletics. This, I feel, was thoughtlessly done, but the net results are little different because of the fact.

The university through its administration and faculty, has always given athletics staunch support. To my own knowledge the faculty to a man has always been more than fair with individuals taking part on athletic teams. There are no actual or implied reasons why 15 percent of the student body should allow itself to get into such an abnormal psychological furor that it misses, abuses, and disrespectfully uses men who have spent long years in the service of the University of Nebraska. This affront is a shame and a disgrace upon the student body, for these faculty men have a far greater interest in the welfare of the institution than it is possible for an undergraduate to have, for it is their life, their strength, and their realm, and to many of them to trespass upon their privileges as instructors is to crush them. If intercollegiate athletics means this, the question naturally arises, is it worth the price?

Eighty percent of the student body have no interest in such rallies and I am sure that 50 percent of the students very much disapprove of them. The faculty—to a man, I believe, is convinced they are quite unnecessary between classes as a spirit builder. Suffice to say that from this time forward organized rallies must be dispensed with until after 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Classes may sing between class periods, but should an individual attempt to foment a class rally which disturbs classes he should be reported to the dean of his college and to this office. This matter has been placed before the spirit-building organizations of the student body and they have promised, and we expect, their fullest cooperation. Such actions as were had last Friday defeat their own purpose for they not only cast an unsavory atmosphere around the whole student body but also reflect discreditably upon athletics. This matter is still under investigation.

Yours truly,

T. J. Thompson,

dean of student affairs

TUESDAY STARTS MORNING REVUE'S SALE OF TICKETS

Kosmet Klub Sets Uniform Price of Fifty Cents For All Seats.

ENGAGE LIBERTY BOOTH

Theater Box Office Plans To Open for Business At 10 O'clock.

Advance ticket sale for the Kosmet Klub Thanksgiving Morning revue will start at the Liberty theater box office Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Tickets will be sold from 10 to 1 o'clock and from 2 to 4 o'clock on Tuesday and on Wednesday preceding the revue, according to James Musgrave, the business manager of Kosmet Klub. They will also be sold on Thursday morning from 8:15 to 8:45 o'clock when the show commences.

All seats will be reserved and will sell for fifty cents each. Indications are that tickets will go rapidly as several organizations have already made arrangements to buy blocks of seats. In former years the theater has always been sold out before the presentation of the show. Musgrave stated that from all appearances this year will not prove to be an exception.

Members of the cast will broadcast a half hour's program over KPAB Monday evening. They will also broadcast over the telephone radio system of the Program Service company Tuesday evening. On Monday evening broadcast will probably be from 9:30 to 10 o'clock. Exact time of the Tuesday broadcast has not been set.

STEAMLINE TO STATE HOUSE NEARS FINISH

Modern Engineering Method Takes Prominent Place In Construction.

Steamline to the state capitol building will be finished within a week and steam will be sent through it about Dec. 1, according to those who have supervised it. The steamline has been built under a new method of construction. The pipes are set on rollers placed every thirty feet, while every 300 feet there is what is called an expansion joint placed in a manhole. When the pipe becomes hot it expands and when it cools it contracts and the expansion joints allow for this movement with no damage to the pipe.

The tunnel through which this pipe goes has been tiled and connected with the sewer for drainage. The cement work has also been designed to allow for drainage. In this manner no water can seep through to the pipes and cause rust.

University power plant has been bricked to the first floor level and the heavy reinforced steel for the boilers is in place. Two turbine generators will arrive from Schenectady, N. Y., about the middle of December. The cooling tower foundations have been poured and work on this project will be finished rapidly.

The power plant building will be finished about the first of June. After all the machinery is in place the walls and roof will be completed.

DR. LOUISE POUND PLANS TO ATTEND ENGLISH MEETING

Dr. Louise Pound of the department of English goes to Kansas City on Nov. 28 for the meeting of the national council of English teachers. She will address the college section on Nov. 30. Her subject is "Past and Present Research in American English." She expects to spend a day at Lawrence, Kas., with Professor Margaret Lynn of the University of Kansas.

Dr. Oldfather Will Give Museum Speech

"Afoot through Palestine" will be the subject of the talk by Prof. C. H. Oldfather, chairman of the department of history, at the regular Sunday afternoon museum program for adults at 4 o'clock this Sunday. Miss Marjorie Shadwell will conduct the children's program at 2:45 o'clock, talking on "Noah's Ark" and showing a specially built film depicting animal life.

Safety in Early Part of Game Puts Scarlet in Lead; Line Driving Attack Slams Young Through For Touchdown in First Quarter.

M'MILLAN SKIRTS RIGHT END FOR SCORE

Kansas Comes Back in Second Half With Exhibition of Passes, Ending With Counter; McBride Shows Spectacular Playing at Manhattan.

BY JACK ELLIOTT.

Memorial stadium, Manhattan, Kas.—Nebraska's Cornhusker football team kept its Big Six football slate clean by downing Coach "Bo" McMillan's Kansas Aggie Wildcats 10 to 6 in a spectacular game played on the frozen sod of Memorial stadium at Manhattan Saturday afternoon.

With a powerful line driving attack, Nebraska drove over in the opening quarter for its only touchdown, with "Red" Young lunging the ball.

Score Comes Early.

The first score of the game came in the early minutes of play when Nebraska forced the Aggie eleven back to its goal line and Cronkite's attempted punt from behind his goal line was blocked by the Husker linemen. The last score of the clash came in the final minutes of the game when the McMillan crew was striving desperately to overcome the lead of the foremost team in the Big Six conference. Weller was sent into the game after Nebraska had pushed the Aggie team back to its 15-yard line and a 15-yard penalty for tripping placed the ball on the goal line with Weller downing the ball behind the line for a second safety and two points for Nebraska.

A powerful passing attack by the Kansas State eleven in the fourth quarter netted the Purple eleven a great amount of yardage and several times broke up the Husker line.

The Aggie backs were to carry the ball across the line.

Aggie Make Fight. Coming back on the field in the second half, it was evident that the Aggies were going to make a great fight for the title of Big Six champions and conquerors of Nebraska. A series of forward passes which netted long gains for the Aggie eleven brought the oval to the 4-yard line.

The field generalship of Ray McMillan, Aggie quarterback, came into play in the forward passing attack launched by Kansas State and the nephew of the Aggie coach figured in on the majority of the forward flips. With the ball on the 4-yard line, McMillan called for a play through right tackle with himself carrying the oval. He hit the right side of the Husker line and crashed over for the white marker for the only Aggie score. Wigger's attempted kick for the extra point was wide.

McBride Stars. The spectacular work of Clark "Bud" McBride, Husker halfback, was one of the most outstanding features of the game. McBride's driving work in hitting the Aggie line, his sensational work at breaking up and intercepting passes was the necessary spark in the Husker attack that brought the second conference defeat to Coach "Bo" McMillan's Kansas State eleven. "Red" Young and Captain George Farley were the two other outstanding jugglers in the Nebraska backfield and both accounted for a great amount of Cornhusker yardage while the punting work of Young in the opening quarter drove the Aggie eleven deep within its territory and accounted for the first Aggie safety and Husker touchdown.

In the line the play of Raymond Richards, Husker tackle who was missing from the Oklahoma game with a broken nose, was outstanding, with the big Nebraska line-man smearing Aggie plays time after time, until the Purple backs gave up the idea of hitting the Nebraska line and resorted to the aerial game.

Three Cogs Holed. Richards, Dutch Koster and Felber Mansum were the three cogs in the Cornhusker line that made it next to impossible to make gains through that wall.

A strong wind which blew down from the north during the entire afternoon of play made punting against it a difficult feat to perform. Nebraska displayed its field generalship and football manliness by punting during the quarters in which they had the wind at their backs and drove the Aggies back to their goal line on numerous occasions.

Rowley Inserted. Claude Rowley was inserted into the Cornhusker lineup late in the opening half and displayed his punting ability for the few remaining minutes of the half. "Lew" Lewandowski, another Husker guard who has been out of the game for some weeks, was inserted at the wing position for "Buck" Morgan late in the final half.

The game opened with Tackwell kicking off for the Aggie eleven. His kick went to the Nebraska 20 yard line where McBride

MUSEUM PLACES ON DISPLAY TWO ANIMAL MODELS

Two small one-sixth size models of a gorilla and an African wart hog, have been added to the Morrill hall collection. The gorilla model will be placed beside the skull of the gorilla in the evolution of man case. The model of a hippopotamus, one-sixth size, will also be on display soon. To this Sunday, Miss Marjorie Shadwell will conduct the children's program at 2:45 o'clock, talking on "Noah's Ark" and showing a specially built film depicting animal life.
