Panthers Take 7 to 6 Game From Oakes' Outfit; Mathis Scores.

TIGERS-BEARS PLAY TIE

Long Makes Scoring Threat For Bears, But Tilt Remains Scoreless.

Coach Joe Lehman's and W. H. Browne's Panthers were ahead of the pack today in the race for the spring football championship of Nebraska's four-team league, by virtue of a 7 to 6 win over Coach Bunny Oakes' Bulldogs yesterday afternoon. In the other tilt of the day, the Tigers and the Bears struggled to an 0 to 0 tie.

The headship of the league will be at stake next week, when the Panthers meet the Tigers. So far neither team has lost a game, but the Panthers have won two while the Tigers have been victors only once. A win for either team would mean a big lead in the four team league.

Mathis Stars.

The Panther-Bulldog battle was featured by a thirty-eight yard dash by Chris Mathis, freshman star last fall, which netted the Panthers their only touchdown of the day. The long run came in the last play before the first half of the game ended. Red Young, varsity ace of last season, supplied the point which proved the determining one of the game.

The Bulldogs scored their touchdown when Jack Miller, another neophyte last fall, lugged the ball over the goal line in the third quarter on a five-yard plunge through the line. The ball had been put into position by a pass from Art Perry to Miller, who nabbed the oval out of the air to make the play good for 40 yards. Miller's try for point failed, and left the Panthers in possession of the long end of the score.

Miller Gets Away.

Neither team was able to add to its total score in the last quarter. Both resorted to passing near the end of the game. Miller again furnished most of the color. His run of fifteen yards off tackle was the longest of the period. "Red" Young of the Panthers prevented a possible Bulldog advance near the end of the game when he intercepted one of Perry's passes, just after one tossed to Packer. Bulldog half, had been completed for a nice gain.

Perry's tosses throughout the game were accurate, despite a heavy south wind. Miller's field generalship and running marked him as one of the classiest backs on the Bulldog club. Mathis likewise directed his team well. Staab, another yearling last fall, was a hard worker on defense.

The Tiger-Bear tilt offered little of a sensational nature, for neither team penetrated within its opponent's twenty yard zone. In the first quarter, Buster Long, galloping ghost of the spring gridiron, got off to some fair runs, one of which amounted to fifteen yards, but his efforts combined with those of his team-mates failed to advance the ball past the Tigers' twenty yard line. Louis Brown, freshman footballer, nipped the Tigers' only real opportunity when he intercepted one of Long's tosses.

Play Evenly.

The second quarter had even less color than the first. In the third stanza, the teams fought on even terms, with neither of them risking much by passes.

In the last period, both teams saw fit to open up with passes, but neither of them gained appreciably. The Tigers, who had the wind advantage, held possession of the ball a greater share of the time, but could do little against the defense offered by Ed Weir's Bears. The only long gain of the quarter came on a pass from Raugh to Brown which was good for twenty yards. The game ended with the ball in midfield.

Byrnes, right end for the Bears, and Hulbert, right guard on the same team, smeared more than their share of Tiger plays. Both men threw Tiger backs for losses more often than the Tigers would care to admit.

The Big Six Shooter

BY CLYDE SKOV

FACULTY representatives of Big Six schools have made an alteration in the rule pertaining to athletes coming from junior colleges to a school which is a member of the conference. Under the new plan, one year's participation in a junior college is to be completely overlooked. Two year's participation are to be considered equal to one year of Big Six competition. That much is clear. But the committee says that the rule is not retroactive. According to what we learned in political science or something like it, a retroactive law is one which condemns a person for committing an act which was not considered a crime before the retroactive law was passed, making the act a crime. Attempting to apply this same principle to the junior college rule, it appears that a junior college athlete who has had a couple years competition and has had them counted as two years varsity competition is going to remain stuck with those two years against him.

The new rule is a good one, but it is deferring its benefits just so long as there are athletes going to waste because their junior college competition is being counted against them. If the present rule is worthwhile, making it retroactive would be more worthwhile—maybe. We can't be expected to understand anything the higher powers do.

ONE OF the Nebraska athletes who may not be affected by the new ruling, according to the interpretation of the word "retroactive," is Cob Stansberry, of Norfolk. He has had one year of participation at Norfolk junior college. If our interpretation of the word in question holds, Stansberry will be considered as having had one year of Big Six competition. If it does not, and there are those who think it doesn't, the one year at Norfolk will be neglected, allowing Stansberry three years of athletics here.

THE DAILY NEBRASKAN is going to press under difficulties. An energetic janitor locked up U hall tighter than a jail while the staff was out eating, and it required some strong arm stuff to get back in. And it seems to be fashionable to get wounded. One staff member gets the basting taken out of a gash from association with a broken lamp shade, and the editor tries to emulate his example by slashing himself up with a scissors. But in spite of handicaps, the paper appears.

JOHN E. TAYLOR WILL GIVE TALK ON AUDIBLE LIGHT

An open meeting of the American institute of electrical engineers has been scheduled for Friday, March 28, in Social Sciences auditorium at 7:30 o'clock, at which John E. Taylor, consulting engineer for the General Electric company at Schenectady, N. Y., will speak on "Audible Light." Mr. Taylor is an outstanding scientist and engineer. Members of Nebraska chapters of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi have also been invited to attend this meeting.

LETTER AWARDS GRANTED TO 28 TEAM MEMBERS

Championship Sweaters Go To Swimming Team for Big Six Title.

8 WRESTLERS QUALIFY

Basketball Letters Go to 9 Men; Hutchins Gets Manager Reward.

Letter awards for basketball, wrestling and swimming, and freshmen numeral awards in basketball were announced Friday afternoon by the athletic department of the University. Eight athletes and the student manager in basketball, eight men in wrestling, and eleven men in swimming, qualified for the "Ns" while thirteen freshmen are to receive numeral sweaters.

The sweaters for the swimming team will be white, emblematic of the Big Six conference championship which the swimmers annexed two weeks ago. The basketball and wrestling sweaters will be scarlet, with white letters, as usual. Numeral sweaters will be similar to those given freshmen football players.

Basketball letters go to Selden Davey, Lincoln. Morris Fisher, Lincoln. Harvey Grace, Mascot. Stephen Hofuf, Crete. Clifford Jensen, Omaha. Adolph Lewandowski, Chicago. Don MacLay, Auburn. Willard Witte, Lincoln. Harlan Hutchins, Falls City, student manager.

Simic Letters.

Wrestling awards, as recommended by John Kellogg, go to eight men. Of these, only one was given special consideration. Adolph Simic, letterman from last year, was prevented from wrestling in some meets by class work, and consequently was unable to meet the full requirements. However, in view of the situation, he was awarded a letter.

Wrestling letters: Robert Hunt, Scottsbluff. Jack Kosowsky, Omaha. Earnest Margaret, Papillion. Van Rees, Pleasantville, Iowa. Leon Robertson, Basin, Wyo. Morris Skinner, Ainsworth. Irvin Weber, Norfolk. Adolph Simic, Oak.

Members of Coach Rudy Vogeler's championship swimming team to receive letters are: Salvatore Amato, Omaha. Porter Cannon, Lincoln. Howard Chaloupka, Omaha. James Dille, Omaha. Jackson Groat, Omaha. Marion Hestbeck, Ogallala. Frank Mookler, Omaha. Alfred Pattavina, Omaha. Kenneth Sutherland, Fremont. William Ungles, Lincoln.
