CANDIDATES FOR BARB GROUP MAY FILE THIS WEEK

First Three Days Are Set Aside for Students' Nominations.

HONESTY IS GUARANTEED

Election Is Slated to Take Place at All-University Party, April 5.

BY POLITICUS.

Nonfraternity students at the University of Nebraska wishing places on the barb council must file with their identification cards at the student activities office in the coliseum on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday of this week, Alan G. Williams, barb leader, announced Saturday.

The election of new council members, with the previous filings serving as nominations, will take place at the next All-University party, scheduled for Saturday, April 5. The voting will be held the early part of the evening, being over by 10 o'clock in order that the regular events of the party may not be interfered with, the nonfraternity chairman declared.

Cards Necessary.

It will not be necessary for students to present identification cards at the door in order to gain entrance to the function, but before they can vote for future council members they must present their cards, it was stated specifically by Williams. Only nonfraternity students will be allowed to vote.

Despite the barbs' popular recognition for participation in campus politics, Williams maintains this election will be absolutely freed from any taint of political alignments or slates of any sort. That it will be conducted in a purely impartial manner was a point stressed by the barb captain. "To prevent any suggestion of suspicion or graft being connected with this election," asserts Williams, "we have made special provision for faculty supervision at the time when the ballots are counted—a form which is in accordance with the form used in national elections. We feel we owe the students this right regardless."

TIGERS SEW UP CHAMPIONSHIP OF SPRING CAMPAIGN

Cats Take 2-0 Decision in Saturday Battle From Panther Crew.

HI PRUCKA BREAKS ARM

Bears, Bulldogs Play to Scoreless Deadlock; Bishop Shows Up.

FINAL STANDINGS.

Team	W	L	T	Pct.
Tigers	2	0	1	1.000
Panthers	2	1	0	.667
Bears	0	2	0	.000
Bulldogs	0	2	1	.000

By ART MITCHELL.

Coaches Bill Day and Charley Black and their Tiger football machine had the championship of Nebraska's spring season safely tucked away Saturday, by virtue of a 2 to 0 win over the Panthers in a title tilt Saturday.

The two points came on a safety scored in the last quarter when Clary, Panther center, tossed a pass over Red Young's head as the Norfolk flash prepared to kick out from behind his own goal. Nearly half the Tiger line was on Young. The same catastrophe had been averted once before in the same quarter, when Young had picked up a weak pass from Clary and had run it out of danger.

Bears, Bulldogs Tie.

The other tilt of the day saw the Bears and Bulldogs fight to a scoreless tie, with the former holding the upper hand throughout most of the battle. The two games marked the end of the round-robin football tournament. Next Saturday, the Tigers and Bulldogs will be consolidated into one team, and will meet the Bears and the Panthers at 2 o'clock.

The Tiger-Panther engagement started out with the Panthers holding the "wind" advantage. Although they outclassed the Tigers in the early period, never once did they seriously threaten to cross the goal line. The second quarter was more or less a repetition of the first, and was marked only by the work of Claire Bishop, 165 pound guard of short stature, a Tiger substitute. Although he was far smaller than any other man in his side of the line, he measured more plays than any of them.

ADMINISTRATION IS PANNED BY RADICAL PAPER

Student Publications and Organizations Under Fire in Sheet.

'SWORD, FIRE' IS TITLE

Editor of Daily Nebraskan Is Characterized as 'Nincompoop.'

"With Fire and Sword," a two page eight and one-half by fourteen inch mimeographed publication, vituperously criticizing the administration, The Daily Nebraskan, The Cornhusker, the athletic board, the Innocents, the Student council, the Kosmet Klub, and the Interfraternity council, mysteriously made its appearance on the campus Friday morning.

The names of the editors of the newly born sheet were omitted from the masthead. The first edition was labeled, volume 1, number 1, but no other enlightenment was given as to when the next issue may be expected.

Distributed at Night.

Several copies of the publication were left at fraternity and sorority houses sometime after midnight Thursday and 2 o'clock Friday morning. Edgar Backus, first one to discover the paper, found several of the Delta Upsilon house shortly after 2 o'clock Friday morning.

Members of the university faculty received "With Fire and Sword" through the university mail. "The manifest purpose of the statement contained in the publication, 'is to cast light upon the many rank weeds that grow in that garden called the University of Nebraska. It is published from time to time by 'The Gadflies,' whose membership must necessarily remain unannounced, save that fraternity men." To the knowledge of the majority of university students this is the first evidence which has been manifested that such an order as the "gadflies" existed on the campus.

A. J. DUNLAP OFFERS EULOGY TO A. A. REED

Praises Head of Extension Department in Address Before W. C. T. U.

A. A. Reed, director of the university extension division, was highly eulogized recently in an address made before the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Omaha. The tribute was paid by A. J. Dunlap in connection with his plea for a municipal university in Omaha.

"What will your children and your grandchildren say twenty-five or thirty years from now, if they know that you did not rise to the occasion back in 1930, when the opportunity was here for you to be leaders in a movement to establish the great municipal university of Omaha?" Mr. Dunlap asked.

"I have in mind a man who for twenty-five years fought for the cause of education against great odds. That man is A. A. Reed, down at the University of Nebraska. He fought against great odds to establish accredited high schools in Nebraska. He had great opposition, and at times it appeared that he was pretty much alone in the fight. But accredited high schools have been established and they are now common in all the towns in the state. I saw Mr. Reed not long ago. His hair is white as snow today, and do you know what that man told me? He told me he was satisfied with his life, because he knows now that he has done something definite and positive in the cause of higher education. He knows that his life has not been in vain.

"The same opportunity faces you today. You have the opportunity today, every one of you, to make an individual campaign to help bring about the establishing of a municipal university for Omaha at the May 6 election."

'AUDIBLE LIGHT' IS SHOWN TO ENGINEERS

J. B. Taylor Demonstrates Possibilities of New 'Sensorium.'

"Audible Light" was the subject of the talk and demonstration given by John B. Taylor, consulting engineer of the General Electric company, at the special meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers held in Social Sciences auditorium Friday night.

For his demonstration he used a "narrow casting" station, as distinguished from a broadcasting station, from which transmitted a beam of light which was translated into sound. In the course of the demonstration the listeners heard the burning of a match, the sound of various types of flash lights and neon globes. The sound was made possible by the fluctuation of the light on a photoelectric cell.

Sound of Light?

In one of his demonstrations Mr. Taylor held a pocket flashlight containing a small dynamo operated by a chain in front of his light wave receiver. The light emitted by the lamp appeared to be steady, but when held in front of the photoelectric cell the audience was startled to hear a siren like sound much like that on a fire truck. A freshly lighted match causes explosive clicks much like static on a radio, but when the match had burned down onto the wood the speaker became silent.

Mr. Taylor gave many demonstrations with the "sensorium," an instrument which translates all human senses into sound with the exception of smell and taste. However, it has the power to pick up and register such things as magnetic fields and electric currents, which the body has no way of perceiving.

He was able to set up magnetic fluctuations which vibrated corresponding to the vibrations on a phonograph record. These magnetic vibrations were induced in a second coil and were translated into sound from the speaker. In another part of the experiment he talked into a transmitter and had the transmitter connected to a neon lamp in such a way that the waves were represented as fluctuations in the neon lamp.

The rays from this neon lamp were picked up by the sensorium at the other end of the room and were reproduced by the speaker. For the sense of touch a special attachment was put on the sensorium which could detect various types of surfaces.

HARRIET MONROE WILL SPEAK ON WESTERN POETRY

Will Be Honored Guest at University Convocation Thursday Morning.

IS EDITOR OF 'POETRY'

Visitor Scheduled to Be Entertained by Chi Delta Phi.

Miss Harriet Monroe of Chicago, poet, critic, and editor of Poetry, well known verse magazine, will speak on "Poets of the Middle West" at the Temple theater Thursday morning, April 3, at 11 o'clock.

Miss Monroe will be remembered by many of her poems, among which are "You and I," published in 1914, and "The Difference and Other Poems," published in 1924. As coeditor with Alice Corbin Henderson of The New Poetry she compiled in 1917 an exhaustive anthology of the younger and chiefly American poets.

"Poetry" Contributor.

She has contributed a number of critical articles to Poetry and other magazines. Some of these appear in her latest book "Poets and Their Art." As the editor of Poetry Miss Monroe has received a great deal of recognition. In "Poets and Their Art" she gives an account of the establishment of the publication.

On her return from a trip around the world in 1911, her chief occupation was that of art critic on The Chicago Tribune. Struck by the fact that the arts of painting, sculpture and architecture were constantly encouraged by prizes, scholarships, and endowments, she became convinced that the desperate situation of poetry at that time was largely due to the fact that it alone was left to shift for itself.

The idea of starting a magazine which would serve as the organ of this neglected art came to her as a means of helping to remedy the situation. During the following year she devoted her spare time to the quest of interesting enough venturesome spirits to

FIRST ENTRIES FOR K. U. RELAYS ARRIVE

Wisconsin, Washington Mail First Applications to Annual Carnival.

BADGER HAS STRENGTH

LAWRENCE, Kas.—Entry blanks neatly filled out for the Kansas relays are ranked equally with the first relays as harbingers of spring at the University of Kansas.

And spring surely has arrived on Mount Oread for the first entries for the eighth annual holding of the Kansas games here, April 19, have arrived at the athletic office.

The University of Wisconsin at Washington university of St. Louis entries in the mail together qualified as the first received for this middle western sports carnival.

Both of these Badgers, however, will find plenty of stiff competition in these events, though they undoubtedly will be making much better marks by the time of their outdoor appearance here. All six relay races are entered by Wisconsin.

Coach J. E. Davis of Washington university has entered nine men, listing them for competition in the 100 yard dash, 120 yard high hurdles, running high jump, running broad jump, pole vault, and medley relay. Huskies Place in Several Events at Southern Track Meets.

SCHULTE IS REFEREE

Weight Men, Relay Teams Show Up Well; Shuttle Event Omitted.

Competing against the greatest track stars the middleweight and southwest have to offer, the University of Nebraska track men made a creditable showing in the Texas and Southern Methodist relays this weekend. Outstanding was the work of Coburn Thompson, flashy broad jumper, who took first place in his favorite event at both meets.

Coach Henry Schulte acted in a dual capacity at the relays. He was referee of the relays and coached his Scarlet and Cream track and field men. The wanted Nebraska shuttle relay team did not get to compete as a team because that event was not included in either of the meets.

Aside from Tomson who took first at both meets the Cornhuskers who placed at Dallas were Guy Craig, third in the broadjump; Hugh Rhea, third in the shot put; Steve Hokuf, fourth in the discus; Elmer Faytinger, third in the javelin.

The Husker four-mile relay team annexed a second place and the two-mile team took third.

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Austin, Tex., March 30—Coburn Tomson, Nebraska broad jumper, led his team in annexing points at the Texas university relays on Friday, with a first place in his event, scoring on a leap of 23 feet 3 1-4 inches.

RALLY COMMITTEE ADOPTS PREVIOUS RECOMMENDATION

Rally Supervision Goes to Student Committee With Possible Adviser.

WANT STUDENT BACKING

Student Council Will Pass On Plan Before Senate Consideration.

Last week's plan of the joint rally committee received official sanction of that group at its session held Saturday morning in Social Sciences 202. The new system calls for a committee composed entirely of students with the possibility of a faculty member as an adviser to have complete and full charge of pre-football game demonstrations of spirit.

Upon receipt of approval by this committee, the recommendation will go to the Student Council, where the voice of the student body is expected to be given. From the student group the bill will go to the university senate for final passage.

Referring to the plan submitted to the Student Council, Dr. C. H. Oldfather, chairman of the faculty committee, remarked: "We want to be certain that this plan has the hearty approval of the students, for we don't want them to feel that the faculty is putting any pressure on them."

To Student Council.

The professor also stated that it was the faculty's wish to have the student body feel that it had a part in the initiation of the plan and that the rally committee merely worked out the idea in the students' behalf. According to Dr. Oldfather there was little discussion at Saturday's meeting, most of the time being given to a final consideration of the plan before submission to the Student Council. The plan, in short, stipulates that the official rally committee be comprised of students selected from and by the members of Corn Cobs, Innocents, Student Council, Tassels, and department of intercollegiate athletics. That a faculty sponsor might be chosen was thought advisable by the joint deliberating group.
