COUNCIL ORDERS BARB GROUP TO HOLD TO NAME

Non-Fraternity Organ Must Use Executive Board Title Given It.

HAVE UNTIL APRIL 22

If Cognomen Not Accepted Non-Greek Society Will Be Suspended.

Attempting to display its authority over campus organizations, the Student Council at its Wednesday session decreed that if the Barb group does not adhere to the change of name given it some time back, suspension of all activities of the nonfraternity group will be the result.

This was the ultimatum of the student governing body of the University of Nebraska, following the barbs' refusal to comply with the edict handed down by the former body as regards the proper name of the Barb organization which as the council has said, should be "Barb executive board."

To show the unaffiliated students that they mean business, the councilors have incorporated in their resolution passed unanimously Wednesday that the barbs be given until Tuesday, April 22, either to acquiesce with the student council's ruling or to introduce a new constitution.

Suspension Provided For.

"If no such compliance takes place within the time stipulated," states the resolution, "the Barb organization shall be suspended until such time as arrangements satisfactory to the Student Council shall be made."

In introducing the resolution, David Fellman, chairman of the committee on student organizations, which group has had charge of the proceedings with the Barb organization all along, brought out the fact that both the faculty committee and sub-committee were cognizant of what they were doing when they accepted the constitution of the barbs at an earlier date.

Charge Answered.

This was a direct answer to the charge hurled at the council and faculty committee by the nonfraternity leaders, who have said that due consideration of the matter was denied before proper legislation was taken.

That the barbs themselves had not been informed of the change, which was another charge made by Barb leaders, was refuted by Prof. E. W. Lantz, faculty adviser for the Student Council.

"I can vouch for the fact," said Professor Lantz, "that the Barb organization had been told that its name could not be accepted by the Student Council and that a change in the name was absolutely necessary before they could be officially recognized."

Rallies Question.

Another matter that was given final settlement, but which has been the object of much discussion and deliberation by students and faculty, is the way in which future pre-footbal game rallies shall be conducted.

SCARLET FEVER CASES TREATED AT INFIRMARY

Two cases of scarlet fever are being cared for in the university infirmary at present, according to Dr. Rufus A. Lyman, director of student health service. Dr. Lyman issued a warning Tuesday to students who have sore throat or fever, to come to the office of the department of Student Health for examination. A number of students have been exposed. Although these are the first cases of serious contagious disease to be reported by the infirmary since last winter, the infirmary is always busy caring for minor illnesses, there being four cases of mumps confined there at present.

COUNTRYMAN ISSUES 2,000 EXTRA COPIES

April Number, to Be Off Press Next Week, Is Biggest of Year.

PRIZE WINNERS LISTED

Two thousand extra copies of the Cornhusker Countryman, college of agriculture magazine, will be printed this month, according to the plans of Harold Marcott, editor. The April issue of the magazine will be off the press next week.

Emphasis in the forthcoming issue will be given to two of the year's greatest events in the college of agriculture, Marcott stated. These are the annual Feeders' Day which is to be held on April 18, and Farmers Fair which will be staged on May 3.

With a total of approximately 4,000 copies being printed and distributed this month, Marcott intimated that an attempt is being made to create more than ordinary interest in the college of agriculture among the crowds of visitors who will invade the campus on the days of these events. During Feeders' Day 1,000 copies will be distributed and the other 1,000 special copies will be used in a similar manner the day of the annual fair.

The magazine will contain 36 pages, according to the editor. It is an increase of 12 pages over previous issues this year.

Winners of the prize story contest, sponsored by the Cornhusker Countryman last month, will be announced in the April issue. The first, second and third prize stories will be published. Most of the remaining pages will be occupied by stories telling of Farmers Fair and Feeders Day.

NELSON PRESENTS TRAVELOGUE FOR SWEDISH SOCIETY

Rev. Carl O. Nelson of Oakland presented a travelogue on Sweden at a meeting of the Scandinavian club Monday evening, April 7 at the Temple as chief feature of the evening's program. Klemens Gustafson, president of the club, conducted the meeting.

Other features of the program were musical selections by Ruth Nelson, pianist, and Hildegarde Person, contralto; the reading of one of Gustav Fröding's humorous poems by Ralph Pearson, and the singing of Swedish songs by the club in unison. The last monthly meeting of the year will be held early in May. A program of unusual interest is being planned.

FINAL SHOWING DRAMA WILL BE STAGED TONIGHT

'The Little Clay Cart' to Be Given Last Time This Evening.

PRESENTED IN TEMPLE

University Players Offer Hindu Play Written by King Shudraka.

Final showing of "The Little Clay Cart" will be given by the University Players at the Temple Theater this evening.

The play which is Hindu drama is attributed to a former ruler of India, King Shudraka, and has been translated into English by Arthur William Ryder. The leading characters fall into the traditional classification of hero, heroine, and villain. The role of the hero, a Brahman merchant, who, because of his virtue and generosity has lost all his wealth, is played by Jere Mickel.

Thirza Fay makes a very charming heroine as Vasantasena, a courtesan who falls in love with Charudatta, the good Brahman merchant. Harion G. Easton as Sansthanaka, the brother-in-law of the king turns out to be an excellent villain. His queer lisp and apparent stupidity causes the audience to forgive his gross cruelty when he attempts to kill the lovely Vasantasena who has spurned his love and then blame the murder on the innocent Charudatta.

Comedy Situations.

W. Zolney Lerner as Shavrilaka, a Brahman in love with Madanika, Vasantasena's maid, is directly related.

OMAHA ENGINEERS WILL BE HOST TO EIGHTY STUDENTS

American Society of Mechanical Engineers and American Institute of Electrical Engineers will attend a joint meeting as guests of the Omaha engineers at the University club in Omaha Tuesday, April 15.

During the morning the group will be the guests of the Nebraska Power company for inspection of their new equipment. They will remain here for lunch. In the evening the local branches will present a program for the Omaha engineers.

The afternoon will be spent in visiting various industrial concerns depending on the interest of the students. Eighty students are planning to make the trip.

MRS. WHEELER TO SPEAK TO LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Mrs. H. H. Wheeler will describe the struggle for women's suffrage at an informal talk before the University League of Women Voters on Thursday at 4 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall. She will describe the Women's Rights convention in 1848 when the principle was laid down.

The newly elected officers will be introduced and announcements will be made by the discussion leaders.

BENGTSON PRINTS REVIEW OF STORY BY FRANZ TERMER

The Geographical Review for April, 1930 contains a review and criticism by Dr. Nels A. Bengtson of an article written by Franz Termer in a Hamburg, Germany publication. The article by Herr Termer refers to previous publications of Prof. Bengtson and describes the system of terraces in Guatemala as being the same as the terraces found by Prof. Bengtson in Honduras.

The publication was written entirely in German and had to be translated by Prof. Bengtson. The name of the article is "Narrations Concerning Journeys in Central America."

GEOLOGISTS INSPECT ARBUCKLE MOUNTAINS

Nebraska Students Study Formations on Field Trip in Oklahoma.

SCHRAMM ACCOMPANIES

Accompanied by Prof. E. F. Schramm, twenty geology students of the university motored to Oklahoma on a field trip last Wednesday, returning Sunday. During the time they were gone they studied formations in the Arbuckle mountains and were entertained at a banquet in Oklahoma City on Saturday night, given in their honor by former graduates of the geology department at the University of Nebraska.

On the way down they visited the oil field in McPherson county, Kansas, the Valley-Center field north of Wichita, the Tonkawa field in Kay county, Oklahoma, the new Blackwell field, and the Oklahoma City oil field.

Arbuckle Mountain Trip.

Saturday the group left for the Arbuckle mountains in south-central Oklahoma where they studied geological formations from the newest to the oldest forms. They found some remarkable studies in the folding and faulting of rocks, and also visited the famous fossil beds in that district.

At noon, on Saturday, they held a big barbecue which was attended by delegates from twenty-five universities who were on the field trip in charge of Dr. C. E. Decker of the University of Oklahoma.

Saturday Night Banquet.

Former graduates of the geology department of this institution gave a banquet in honor of the student visitors and Professor Schramm on Saturday night where discussions of conditions in the geology department at this institution were held. Allan Reiff, '29, served as toastmaster and assisted him were Dr. A. L. Lugin, '29, '25, Clark Kelly, W. K. Miller, and Edward Rumsey, '28.

Alumni Present.

Alumni present at this banquet were:

Calvin T. Moore, '15, consulting geologist, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Edward Rumsey, '28, geologist, Producers & Refiners corporation, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Lloyd A. Woodward, '27, geologist, Sinclair Oil & Gas company, Enid, Oklahoma; Jerry E. Upp, '29, assistant chief paleontologist, Pure Oil company, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Harold O. Smedley, '28, geologist, Sinclair Oil & Gas company, Tulsa, Oklahoma; W. Vernon Hess, '29, (Continued on Page 4.)

JOHNS HOPKINS FRATERNITIES ARE DOMINANT

News-Letter Editor Claims Greeks Have Upper Hand In Activities.

POLITICAL COMBINATIONS

'Local' Societies Form in Factions Against 'Big Nationals.'

By POLITICUS.

Fraternities at Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, Md., have the upperhand in campus and social activities, the editor of the Johns Hopkins News-Letter has shown in his letter to The Daily Nebraskan, following the latter's inquiry as to conditions on the eastern campus.

There seems to be a caste distinction between Greeks and non-Greeks, he says, that is quite noticeable, yet is not so potent in effect. Fraternities, however, dominate and control the all college parties that are held there.

Fraternity Factions.

That all is not well among the Greeks is indicated by the Baltimore school's editor, who states that the problem of fraternities is "combination of locals against big nationals." In a political way, the organizations are not very steadfast in their alignments, the factions being "transitory."

The extent to which Greek letter societies participate in politics is in making "alliances only to secure elections or alliances only to secure consolidated voting on personalities." There is politics in the Johns Hopkins elections, "but no fraud," the political aspect being "important, but not as bad as at most colleges."

No Coeds.

FARMERS FAIR RALLY WILL BE HELD THURSDAY

A rally for Farmers fair will be held Thursday evening at the college of agriculture. It was announced by members of the promotion committee for this annual event which will be staged May 3. The rally will take place in Ag hall at 7 o'clock.

Songs and yells will be the order of the evening, and the heads of the various committees will be called on to give reports. Accordion music will be given by Richard Foch, '30, and other entertainment has been arranged, according to the announcement.

Plans Are Completed For Inspection Tour

Nearly all arrangements for the engineer's inspection trip, to be taken during spring vacation, have been made and the names of the men turned in. The final meeting of the group will be held in Mechanical Engineering 206 at 5 o'clock, Monday, April 14.

The program with the complete itinerary and the lists of names, classified by departments, was sent to the printers yesterday. Eighty students will make the trip.

'FANNY CROSBY' WHITE'S SUBJECT, CHURCH DINNER

Prof. H. A. White gave a lecture at the Trinity M. E. church Wednesday evening, entitled "Fanny Crosby, the Writer of Hymns."

Special tribute was paid to Miss Crosby's character, he having known her personally. He commented upon her cheerful, quiet philosophy in spite of the affliction of blindness. Miss Crosby wrote about 8,000 hymns and about 1,000 have been set to music.

This was the ninth dinner in a series of dinners held at Trinity church every Wednesday evening during the loyalty campaign.

SUB-COMMITTEES FOR INNOVATION NAMED

Goman Announces Additional Groups to Prepare for Journalism Day.

TENTATIVE DATE MAY 8

Members of the sub-committees for Journalism day were announced Wednesday afternoon by Neal S. Goman, general chairman. Additional committees will be named during the coming week as final plans begin to formulate. Members of the committees have been requested to meet in University hall 106 at 10 o'clock Saturday morning to discuss arrangements for the first annual journalistic function.

William T. McCleery and Sally Pickard were named by Goman to serve on the program committee. It is the plan of the general chairman to give a short program in the morning at which time Theta Sigma Phi and Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternities for women and men, respectively, will present skits depicting journalistic life.

Afternoon at Crete.

The transportation committee includes Cliff Sandahl and Kenneth Gammil which will provide ways and means to reach the picnic grounds. Although no definite spot has been picked, Goman said that the afternoon festivities will probably be held at Crete. Eugene Robb and Lester Schick have been placed in charge of arrangements for the Journalism day parade which will start the day.

Dorothy Sylvia has been selected to be chairman of the food committee. She will be assisted by Helen Day and Eugene Robb. Arrangements for picnic entertainment will be in the hands of Earl Anderson and Robert Kelly, with Kelly as chairman of the committee.

May 8 has been set as the tentative date for Journalism day. It has been planned to hold a parade in the morning, a short program following and a luncheon. Following luncheon the school of journalism students will leave for the picnic grounds yet to be selected.

Dow to Teach at Kansas State Summer Session

Mr. C. L. Dow who is taking his master of Arts degree this spring at the University of Nebraska is to have charge of geography in the Kansas State Teachers college at Emporia during the coming summer while the regular professor is on a leave of absence.

STUDENT GROUP NAMES DATE FOR SPRING ELECTION

Council Meets Wednesday; Decides on May 13 for Balloting.

HOLDOVERS ARE CHOSEN

Miss Nemechek, McCleery, Kelly, Miss Williams Selected.

Official recognition of three political factions, election of hold-over members of the Student Council, and setting of the date for the spring elections comprised part of the business accomplished at the regular meeting of the Student Council Wednesday evening.

With but little deliberation over the matters at stake, the council succeeded in settling once and for all these three matters. The sanction of the political parties was the result of a resolution introduced at the last meeting which appears in full at the close of this article.

Holdovers Elected.

Holdover members selected to serve on the council next year from this year's membership are Miss Nemechek, Bill McCleery, Robert Kelly and Katherine Williams. The officers of next year's council will be selected from this group at a later date.

It was decided at this time that the spring elections, when members of next year's council, members of the student publication board and other selective positions, are to be selected, shall be held on Tuesday, May 13. As is the rule of the governing body, all filings for the various offices must be in the student activities office in the coliseum not later than the Friday previous to the election day.

Different Manner of Filing.

The manner in which students will file and the manner in which the council is to be elected will be different from that of other years with the inauguration of the proportional plan and the official recognition of political parties.

Individuals may file for positions as before with the exception of those who are affiliated with any one of the three factions, when the groups themselves will have charge of the filings. This is done so that independents as well as the party members may strive for positions.

Fellman Resolution.

The resolution, introduced by the committee on student organizations, of which David Fellman is chairman, reads:

"With regard to the coming spring elections, and the recognition of party alignments, in accordance with the principles of the plan of proportional representation which the student body recently adopted, your committee makes the following recommendations:

"1. In view of the recognized strength and solidity of the organization, which the blue shirt, yellow jacket and barb factions, possess they should be privileged, from the outset to file complete lists of candidates for the various offices to be filled.

"(1) Provided that they submit to the student council through its president, a petition for recognition, which shall include an outline of their plan of organization including the names of their officers and the scope of membership, and

"(2) Provided further, that provisions are made by each faction for a fair caucus, in which the candidates are nominated.

"2. Any other new faction will be recognized if it can show:

"(1) That it has a petition of organization with the bona fide signatures of at least 300 regularly enrolled students.

"(2) That it has a definite and permanent plan of organization.

"(3) That it has made provisions for a fair caucus.

"(4) That it can demonstrate to the Student Council that it is not organized for frivolous reasons.
