The Time Has Come the Co-eds Say To Talk of Many Things

(And this isn't any fairy tale, or Story Book Ball)

THEY'RE ALL TALKING ABOUT Organdies—just as perky and piquant as they make them. Prints—both chiffon and crepe—positively capricious. Pastels—and you don't have to be a Beta sweetheart to wear these dusty pinks and dusty blues.

Call on Cadets. So the aesthetic dancers flashed a distress signal to R. O. T. C. headquarters and requested that a regiment, or at least a platoon, be detailed to organize an attack upon the feathered vertebrates. A member of the rifle team received the assignment and the otherwise harmless birds were soon dropping from their lofty perches. But this occurrence brings to light a similar incident which happened a year ago in the same building. That time, however, a freshman was detailed to do the bloody job. The story—a base, unfounded, unreliable bit of hearsay—goes on to relate how this freshman from the private ranks was given a box of fifty shells, a gun, and a few simple orders.

WOMEN'S BASEBALL TOURNAMENT CONTINUES

No Startling Upsets in First Week of Play For Title.

Women's intramural baseball continues in the round robin tournament this week. Games last week did not reveal any possible feminine contender for Babe Ruth's crown; even though women are in every field hotly contesting their equality to men even to the point of delving into the classics for evidence that Eve was created before Adam, but the King of the Swat does not yet have cause to resort to hair dye.

The games, for the most part, proved to be an endurance contest as to which team had the most patience. The team in the field got rather bored with only an occasional ball to chase, and the team up to bat, after the first fifty were walked in, got headaches from trying to see the bases as they walked around the diamond in the still dusk; of course, they took no chances on a technicality, such as not touching a base being cause for a forfeiture.

The schedule for the week follows. The only requirement for playing is crepe soled or low heeled shoes or sneakers.

Sharpshooters Answer Pleas for Protection From Pair of Pigeons

Pigeons appear to making more work for the military science department than even the dumbest of rookies in the freshman ranks.

Consider the episode which recently occurred in the girls' gym in Grant Memorial hall. Two pigeons had taken up their abode among the rafters set-backs and what-not with which carpenters prop up roofs of buildings such as Memorial hall.

Pigeons have little or no place in gymnasiums, much less girls' gymnasiums. Tennis balls were thrown at the birds, but the balls weren't big enough. Basketballs were too heavy.

Politics Above All. Politics plays a big part on the Purdue campus, dominating the choice of student leaders. The factions are "reasonably permanent in fraternities but, e. g. in sororities," the lines being drawn into traditional groups. Issues at election time are a rarity.

First Light Equipment Placed on Exhibition. Lamp sockets and wire from the first home that was ever wired for electric lights, are on display in the office of Dean O. J. Ferguson at the college of engineering. R. S. Mueller, '98, has sent the specimens. They were taken from the Charles F. Brush home in Cleveland, O., which was wired for electric lights in 1886.

OMAHANS CONTRIBUTE. Two pairs of mounted elk horns, one pair of caribou antlers and a pair of moose horns have been sent to the Morrill hall museum during the past week by Mrs. George R. Voss and son, George K. Voss, of Omaha. These have been pronounced very fine specimens by the museum officials.

"WILDCAT" NOTE DONATED. A "wildcat" bank note for five dollars, issued on the Brownville, Neb., bank and land company, and dated 1857, has been donated to the collection of the state historical society by C. J. Petter of St. Paul, Minn., during the past week. The certificate is well-preserved.

University Pastors to Talk During Holy Week

Holy week services will be observed during the coming week at the University Episcopal church, under the auspices of the federation of church workers. Talks will be given each evening at 5 o'clock, beginning Monday and ending Friday.

SUPERVISION OF PURDUE FACULTY IS VERY STRONG

regularly, the report showed. There is no compulsory church or chapel attendance in vogue at that school, but the churches of the city co-operate appreciably with university leaders in religious matters.

It is the Exponent editor's contention that students are no less religious than other people; in fact, he declares, "they are more sane about their beliefs." The possibility that students are any less church goers after leaving college and during college than before is likewise denied by the boiler-maker scrivener.

Although the percentage of regular drinkers at Purdue is highest of all, the matter of "indulging in intoxicants presents only a slight problem among men." 58 percent of the student body is included among the habituals, the editor states, while 29 percent are occasional and 20 percent teetotalers.

Coeds Stay Out Until 1:45. On open nights, supposedly meaning week end nights, coeds at Purdue do not have to be in their respective habitats until 1:45 a. m. On other nights, the reply shows, 10 o'clock is the deadline.

Greeks, Barbs Interdate. No marked caste distinction exists between Greeks and barbs at Purdue, says the editor, and there is no evidence of any cross pull between the two groups.

Rushes Don't Break Rates. Rushes can not do break rush rates promiscuously at the boiler-makers institution. The turmoil is held "about the second or third week of school" and the requirements and length of pledge-ship for initiation into sororities and fraternities rest with "different chapters," there being varying rules in this regard.

Student elections give little trouble. There is fraud occasionally, though, but the students are allowed to handle their own balloting. The only faculty supervision is "on board elections where they vote."

WOMEN SMOKERS PUNISHED. Forty-four of the 400 women students of Bucknell university may not walk on the campus or have dates for the next six months as a result of their admissions that they smoked in their rooms during the present year.

MARINES OFFER NEW COURSE IN AVIATION

Purpose of Training Term Is to Build Strong Air Reserve.

GIVE PILOT'S LICENSES

A course of instruction in aviation will be offered, starting about June 20, by the United States Marine Corps in conjunction with the United States Navy. Satisfactory completion of this course will enable the individual to pass the examination required for the issuing of a department of commerce transport pilot's license.

The purpose of this period of training is to build up a strong, efficient marine corps aviation reserve. The instruction will cover twenty-one months with periods divided as follows: Assignment to one of the training bases for flight elimination. This carries the student through the dual instruction stage and checks him for solo flying. Any students who fail to qualify are immediately placed on inactive duty and discharged.

Year's Active Duty. Third, one year's active duty with the rank, pay and allowance of a second lieutenant in the regular service. Students receive here a course of military indoctrination and advanced flight training.

During the first two periods, the student holds the rank of private first class with pay of $45 per month with transportation, board and lodging and clothing furnished. His status is that of a student officer during this period.

Only men of high standing, who are physically qualified, between the ages of 20 and 27, and who have received a four year college degree from a first class college or university are acceptable for this training.
