FIELD HOUSE IS MADE READY FOR HONOR DAY FETE

Amplifiers Are Installed, Part of Space Is Curtained Off.

BURNETT LIKES PROJECT

Chancellor Says Scheme of Recognition Splendid Thing.

With the installation of amplifiers in the university Coliseum and the curtaining off of the huge auditorium of the building to provide better acoustics for the audience, final preparations are being made for the second annual honors convocation to be held on the University of Nebraska campus Wednesday evening, April 30.

Parents of students honored for high scholarship have been notified and invited to be guests of the university this night as well as for Ivy day and other festivities occurring on following days.

Burnett Comments.

Chancellor E. A. Burnett, in commenting on the convocation yesterday stated, "I think the convocation is a splendid thing. The committee, headed by the same chairman as last year, Prof. W. C. Brenke, is working hard to make the event a success and I believe it should have the support of the entire student body."

In answer to the question, "Could anything more be done to make the convocation a greater success?" Chancellor Burnett replied, "No." He stated that he thought everything possible was being done and the only disadvantage to be coped with was a place for holding it. The armory used last year is too small and the Coliseum is too large, he said. A large crowd is expected but not one large enough to fill the mammoth auditorium of the Coliseum he stated. Steps are being taken to improve the Coliseum for Wednesday night by curtaining part of it off.

Other Buildings Suitable.

More ideal buildings for holding such a convocation could be found in Lincoln, declared the chancellor, but he added that it was hardly advisable to take such an affair away from the university campus.

ELEVEN STUDENTS DEPUTIZED POLICE FOR FARMERS FAIR

The agricultural campus will be well fortified district on next Saturday, the day of Farmers Fair, according to Arthur Danielson, who heads the police force. Eleven students have been deputized to aid in the maintenance of order on the grounds, and some plain clothes men of the Lincoln force will be on hand.

The eleven special police have been deputized by the county sheriff, Danielson said. Many of these will be mounted on horses.

GRUMANN SPEAKS TO LANGUAGE GROUP

Prof. Paul H. Grumann, director of the school of fine arts at the University of Nebraska, talked before a state convention of the Modern Language Association in Omaha, Friday afternoon. "Cultural Aspects of Modern Language Teaching" was the subject of his talk.

Yenne, Who Has Role of Horatio in 'Hamlet,' as a Child Directed Plays in Hayloft for Youthful Audiences

BY MOSELLE KLEEMAN

"I first became interested in 'Hamlet' in an English course under Prof. R. D. Scott when I was a student at the university and have always had a desire to play a part in it," declared Herbert Yenne, who will take the role of Horatio in the University Players' production of "Hamlet" which will be given at the Temple theater from May 2 to 10.

Mr. Yenne, who is an assistant professor of dramatics in the school of fine arts, first came to Nebraska as a student in 1916. Graduating in 1921 he immediately became a member of the teaching staff of the dramatics department and has been connected with it ever since. He has been a very active member of the University Players group and has had important roles in the previous Shakespearean productions.

Plays in Romeo and Juliet. Mr. Yenne played Romeo in "Romeo and Juliet"; Malcolm, the son of the king, in "Macbeth"; Sebastian in "Twelfth Night"; and the juvenile lead in "Winter's Night Tale."

"Horatio exemplifies true friendship," said Mr. Yenne in speaking of his role, "and is a very interesting character. He is Hamlet's only friend and while he doesn't say much he is always present lending his moral support. In the end Hamlet dies in his arms."

Jenks is interesting. "It is a pleasure, too, to work under Mr. Jenks. He proved to be an interesting first night of rehearsal that everyone stayed to the way and regardless of whether

AG PARADE DEPICTS NEBRASKA'S WEALTH

'Gold of Golden Rod State' Is Theme of Farmers Fair Procession.

R. O. T. C. BAND TO LEAD

Consisting of eighteen trucks and having as its theme "The Gold of the Goldenrod State," a parade will go down O street from the college of agriculture campus to downtown Lincoln, on May 3, inaugurating Farmers Fair of 1930. Plans for the parade are complete, Emory Fahney, '31, Curtis, announced. Fahney heads the parade executive committee.

On fifteen of the trucks, floats will be built. Another truck will carry a clown band, while still another will carry a male quartet. The eighteenth float will carry the girls' pep club of the college.

Features Corn and Alfalfa.

Leading this half mile parade will be the R. O. T. C. band which will be piloted by a corps of motorcycle police.

The first float will be "King Corn" and the second float will be his queen "Alfalfa." "The little pig that went to market," "Bo Peep and her sheep," and "Our College," are other floats that follow in the procession.

Farm Products Depicted.
Ten of the next floats will depict agricultural products of Nebraska. Each float will be separate and distinct, but will bear relationship to the others.

A six horse tandem hitch will also follow in the procession. This hitch is owned by the Omaha Union stock yards and will perform in the horse show during the afternoon of the fair.

Taking her throne on the last float in the parade, will be the "Goddess of Agriculture." She is chosen as the outstanding senior girl in the college of agriculture by girls in the home economics department. Her identity is kept a secret until the day of the parade. Last year, Helen Suchy, of Omaha, was selected as goddess.

Educational Parade.

"It will be possible for people watching the parade for a few minutes to learn more about their state than they would be able to state from a book of statistics in several hours," Fahney remarked.

Paige Hall, '30, of Curtis, is assistant manager of the parade.

They had finished their parts or not. Mr. Jenks has brought an impuse and enthusiasm which I think has been an inspiration to all the members of the cast."

When asked how he came to enter the field of the drama, Mr. Yenne laughed. "I've always liked the stage and since I was a mere child have acted in and directed plays. I can remember the first play I ever directed. It was 'The Bird's Christmas Carol' and was given in the hayloft of our barn."

Select Audiences.
"The audience was very select. I was to have the privilege of witnessing the performance with some many pips. They were very appreciative, too, even though costumes and setting were only those that the attic could supply."

Mr. Yenne stated that he is especially interested in the response that they have received from high schools in the various parts of the state. Numerous English classes have written in to reserve seats for "Hamlet." "They are not going to be disappointed either," he added, "because under Mr. Jenks' direction it will move along rapidly and will abound with action and life."

CURTISS SLATED FOR FRATERNITY BANQUET, MAY 8

Railway Commissioner Will Address Greeks At Annual Event.

LARSON IS TO PRESIDE

Hainer Scholarship Cup to Be Awarded; Tickets Go On Sale Wednesday.

John E. Curtiss, member of the Nebraska state railway commission, has been secured to address the annual Interfraternity banquet to be held in the Cornhusker ballroom May 8, according to an announcement made yesterday by Dick Devereaux, chairman of the event.

The Interfraternity council, as usual, is handling the arrangements for the scholarship gathering, and every effort is being made to complete a full and interesting program for the affair, according to Devereaux.

Among the special guests who will attend the function are Chancellor E. A. Burnett, Dean T. J. Thompson, W. C. Harper, Dana X. Bibb, Henry F. Schulte, L. F. Seaton, and the three sponsors of the Interfraternity council, Prof. E. F. Schramm, Dr. Raymond Pool and Prof. C. J. Frankforter.

Larson for Toastmaster

Eldred Larson, president of the Innocents society, has been selected to act as toastmaster. Music will be furnished by Beck's orchestra, and Harriet Cruise Kemmer will offer several special numbers. She will be accompanied by Harold Turner.

The feature of the event, as usual, will be the annual awarding of the Hainer scholarship cup which goes each year to the national fraternity with the highest scholastic average. For the past two years, Sigma Alpha Mu has won the coveted honor. In addition to the cup, fourteen plaques will be given to the ranking fraternities for scholarship. The basis for these awards is the lowest number of hours failed, incomplete and conditioned in the various organizations.

Ticket Sales

Tickets for the banquet will go on sale Wednesday morning, and may be obtained from members of the Interfraternity council. They will be distributed at the regular meeting of the council tonight, at which time the price of the tickets will be determined.

According to Devereaux, the Cornhusker ballroom was secured for the event at much extra cost and inconvenience to the Interfraternity council, but it was thought that the banquet could be most successfully staged at the hotel.

Grumann, Gertrude Moore, Kirsch Attend Artist's Gathering.

Prof. Paul H. Grumann, director of the school of fine arts; Dwight Kirsch, assistant professor of drawing and painting; and Gertrude Moore, assistant professor in the school of fine arts, took prominent parts in the meetings of the third regional convention of the American Federation of Arts held in Santa Fe, N. M., April 16, 17 and 18.

As regional secretary, Professor Grumann arranged the entire program and made all arrangements for the meetings. Grumann instigated the plan of regional conventions, the first having been held in Lincoln in 1927. He presented "Western Problems" at the opening session of the convention.

Miss Moore spoke before the general convention on "Interesting the Public in Art." She expressed belief that the American student must be interested in the study of true art if he is to really know and appreciate it.

The conference enabled art lovers of the middle west to convene and see the work being done today. Special emphasis in several discussions was placed on the contributions of the Pueblo Indians to the art of America.

Engineers Start Off Gala Week Wednesday At Temple Gathering

Engineers' week will start tomorrow morning with a specially arranged convocation program to be given in the Temple auditorium at 11 o'clock. W. Murray Mathews and his stage band will be featured in the program, playing the "theme song" of the week.

Speakers for the convocation will be Dean O. J. Ferguson, of the college of engineering, Prof. C. J. Frankforter, of the department of chemistry, and Prof. P. F. Keim, civil engineering.

State Engineer Robert L. Cochran will speak at the banquet Friday evening, instead of Roy E. Cochran, as was previously announced.

The "theme song" is a new idea in the plans for Engineers' week. Composed by members of the college, it will be sung to the tune of the Rangers' Song, from Rio Rita.

STUDENT BOARD CONTROLS SPORT AT WASHINGTON

Undergraduates Hire and Fire Coaches; It's A Fair Body.

NO CLASH WITH FACULTY

Midnight Is Closing Hour For Week End Nights; 10:15 on Others.

BY POLITICUS.

The fate of athletic officials at the State College of Washington, Pullman, Wash., lies in the hands of the students.

In his reply to The Daily Nebraskan's query regarding conditions on the Pacific coast campus, George Starlund, editor of the Washington State Evergreen, says there is a student athletic board at his school that "has graduate representation and faculty representation but the students are usually dominant."

The board, he says, acts on the hiring and firing of coaches, and "it is a fair body."

Students Rule.

As a general rule, the Cougar students run their own government without any interference on the part of the faculty. Very seldom, the report reveals, if at all, does the faculty even advise the students unless asked by the latter.

"We have no record of a clash between students and faculty," Starlund writes. "Although the paper is under faculty supervision, I have never been censored or put on the carpet. I am responsible and allowed to choose what I wish to say."

Underclass women at Washington State must be in their sorority houses on week nights at 7:30. Junior and senior women can remain out until 10:15, providing they are at "the library studying and not on dates." Week end nights are closed at midnight and Sunday nights at 9:30.

Greeks Control Parties.

Practically all of the parties at his school, the Evergreen editor has indicated, begin at 8:30 and end at 11:30 p. m.

All the college parties are dominated by the fraternity groups. The reason for this, he states, is probably accounted for by the numerous functions given by the Greek letter organizations. Despite this, the editor can see no social distinction between barb and Greek.

Though fraternities are not governed by any rushing rules, competing organizations are very cordial during rush week at Washington State. There is no interfraternity council, but the sororities are banded together in a panhellenic group which regulates rushing for them.

Liquor No Problem.
The length of pledgeship, as at Nebraska, is one semester. Stories on pledges, as well as fraternity and sorority parties, are carried in the campus newspaper with impunity.

Concerning drinking at Pullman, the quill pusher seems to be devoid of any knowledge as to its problem.

RIFLES CANDIDATES MAY TRY OUT TODAY

Honorary Military Group Schedules Tests for Basic Cadets.

All students wishing to try out for Pershing Rifles are requested to be at the drill field between 5 and 6 o'clock on Tuesday, April 29, where the event is scheduled to be held. In case of inclement weather, this event will be held in Nebraska hall. All students in the basic course are eligible for this final tryout.

Only fifteen new men will be pledged following the tryout due to the size of the company. Only one day is being allowed for the competition instead of the customary three days, according to Stanley Day, company commander.

Students will be judged entirely on their ability to execute the manual. "Men will be chosen according to their quickness and accuracy in handling the rifle," stated Capt. R. G. Lehman, captain of the company.

Seventeen Clubs Are Entered for Greek Sing Fest

Seventeen fraternities have thus far entered the Interfraternity sing, to open the program Ivy day. Further entries or withdrawals may be made by calling Bill McCleery at The Daily Nebraskan office, or by leaving the notice at the Kosmet Klub rooms.

The fraternities entered are as follows:
Alpha Sigma Phi, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Nu, Phi Gamma Delta, Kappa Sigma, Theta Chi, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Kappa Psi, Delta Upsilon, Delta Upsilon, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Epsilon, Alpha Theta Chi, Delta Phi Gamma, Pi Kappa Alpha, Pi Kappa Phi and Phi Delta Theta.

ENGINEERS WEEK IS TO BEGIN TOMORROW

Eighteenth Annual Festival Includes Field Day, Open House.

BANQUET IS SCHEDULED

Engineers at the University of Nebraska will hold their eighteenth annual Engineer's week between April 30 and May 2, during which time their classes will be excused to permit celebration.

With Russel Lindskog, Lincoln, in charge, activities for the gala week will start at 11 a. m. Wednesday, April 30 with a pep rally and convocation at the Temple. After a 12:15 lunch at Antelope park the field day features will start, including interdepartment tournaments, tug of wars, golf and tennis tournaments. Lincoln business men have donated prizes to be awarded to the winners in the previous named events. Field day activities are in charge of Robert A. House, North Platte.

Engineers Night.

Thursday, May 1, will be featured by Engineers night and open house, when all engineering buildings will be open with characteristic displays. Various exhibits and demonstrations have been arranged by the several departments of the engineering college and they will be shown that night.

Chairman of the department displays are: Chemical engineers, Howard Hubbard, Elyria, O.; civil engineers, Harold Aitken; electrical engineers, Herbert Kimberly; Lincoln; agricultural engineers, Charles Green, Alvo; architectural engineers, Victor Nielson; mechanical engineers, R. R. Wickwire, North Platte; geologists, C. B. Schultz, Red Cloud.

Bessemer Convert.

A model Bessemer converter, which will show the method of changing iron to steel, known as the campus structure is being built by the agricultural and chemical engineers in charge of Howard Hubbard and Francis Yung.

Engineers banquet will take place at the Lincoln hotel, at 6 p. m. Friday, May 2, with Russel Lindskog as toastmaster. The "Sledge," a musical engineering scandal sheet, will be distributed between courses. Main speaker of the evening is R. L. Cochran, Nebraska state engineer. Following his speech various awards of the Sigma Tau picture will be displayed. At the same time the Ne-

Telephone Multiwriters, Neon Sign Making, Singing Arc and Many Other Phenomena Will Be Shown to Public

Telephone typewriters that can be made to typewrite messages a hundred different places at once will be a leading feature of the electrical engineering display on Engineers' night, Thursday, May 1. After a punch transmitter tape has been made, on a special built typewriter with a standard keyboard, the tape is run through a transmitting typewriter and talking pictures. The effect of filtration on quality of music will be shown by cutting out various notes or high notes are eliminated will be demonstrated. Inverted speech will be a feature of this department. High tones will be emitted as low tones and low tones as high tones. The sound emitted is not recognizable but if the sound is sent into the mouthpiece the original word is plainly heard.

Singing Arc.
Singing arc is one of the most interesting things in the electric power laboratory. An arc light is made to make a number of musical notes. Another feature of the department is a tin can motor. A plain tomato can on a bearing between some electro-magnets is made to run as an ordinary inductive motor. A coffee pot that never runs dry will be an added attraction. A continuous stream of coffee will be poured from the small pot during the entire evening and it will still be full of coffee.

Neon Sign Made.
A representative from the Nebraska Neon Sign company will make different types of signs and will demonstrate the bending of the glass tubes into the letters. Different colored signs will be shown and a large number of fancy signs will be on display.

Communications laboratory will give an audible light demonstration and will show the use of the photo-electric cell in picking up light vibrations as used now in

TRADITIONAL IVY DAY FETE WILL OCCUR THURSDAY

Greek Sing at 9 A. M. Marks Opening of the Annual Festivities.

MAY QUEEN TO APPEAR

Identity of Girl and All Attendants Is Being Kept Secret.

Ivy Day, the traditional spring event at Nebraska, will begin at 9 o'clock Thursday, May 1, with the annual interfraternity sing. Approximately fifteen fraternities will compete for the cup which is awarded to the winner of the sing.

Following the song competition the procession which precedes the crowning of the May Queen, will begin. It is expected that the daisy chain, carried by two representatives of each of the lower classes from all organized houses, will begin its procession about 10:30. All senior women, dressed in white, will carry the ivy chain and stand in front of the bearers of the daisy chain in the circle about the lawn where the throne of the May Queen is placed. During this procession the traditional Ivy chant will be sung by a chorus of representative women.

Identity Secret.
Two pages guessed the white suits will announce the approach of the May Queen and her attendants. The identity of both the pages, the attendants and the May Queen and maid of honor is kept secret until their presentation. The May Queen and her maid of honor were elected by popular vote of both the junior and senior women earlier in the year. The attendants are chosen by the active chapter of Mortar Board from the representative girls in all classes.

After the queen has been crowned the annual ceremony of the planting of the ivy will take place, the presidents of the junior and senior classes being the principals in this part of the program. The last part of the morning's entertainment will be the May pole dance, a feature of the program which has been omitted for several years, but will be revived again this year. Sue Hall, a member of Mortar Board, has coached the group of ten physical education majors who will take part in the May pole dance.

The afternoon's events will consist of the intersorority sing, the Ivy day oration, the masking of the Mortar Boards and the tapping of the Innocents for next year.

BENGTSON WILL ADDRESS CLUB ON SCANDINAVIA

Prof. Nels Bengtson, chairman of the department of geography, will present an illustrated lecture on Scandinavia for the Scandinavian club at its final meeting of the year next Monday, evening May 5, at 8 o'clock in Morrill hall auditorium. Mrs. C. E. Backstrom, pianist, and Paul Toren, tenor, will render selections of Scandinavian music.

Carl Hedeon, Swedish instructor in the university, will read a wireless message from King Gustaf V of Sweden. The message expresses his majesty's appreciation to the Scandinavian club for its cablegram of condolence on the occasion of the death of the late queen of Sweden. Klenns Gustafson, president of the club, will preside.

OCTET TO SING FOR IVY DAY CEREMONIES

Members of the university girls' octet directed by Hermann Decker, instructor in music, will sing the official Mortar Board song Thursday afternoon during the making of the newly elected Mortar Board members by senior members of the organization.
