NEW DRILL FIELD PLANS ANNOUNCED

Chancellor Burnett Declares Parade Grounds To Be Ready For Use By 1931; Will Be Located South of University Heating Plant.

TO BE SLIGHTLY SMALLER THAN PRESENT AREA

Is Part of Project to Improve Appearance of Campus; Contemplate Building on Sight of Varsity Tennis Courts to Replace U Hall.

The days of the present central drill field are numbered. According to plans announced by Chancellor E. A. Burnett, the parade ground will be moved to a new location north of the Coliseum in 1931, which is as soon as the ground can be properly prepared.

The new drill field of slightly more than four acres is located north of the coliseum and south of the new heat and power plant. The space has been made possible by the purchase of a few additional lots and the grading of all the land adjacent to the new heating plant following its completion. The area will be seeded to blue grass this fall but will not be sufficiently mature to bear the wear of drilling companies until next fall, according to Chancellor Burnett.

The field itself will be slightly smaller than the present drill field, but is expected to be ample for drilling requirements. The field will be in an L shape, with the long leg running east and west from Twelfth street, eliminating the Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets and the base extending south. Military department officers have inspected the site and expressed satisfaction with the grounds.

When the drill field has been moved to the new location it will make possible the development of the south mall or quadrangle along the lines of the Memorial Hall. This development, in line with the general campus plan, will call for the seeding, landscaping and paving of streets in the area eliminating the dirt and dust of past years. The space just south of Bessey hall, now occupied by tennis courts, is reserved for a new classroom building to take the place of University hall.

When completed, this building will eliminate the buildings of the new mall between Twelfth and Fourteenth streets. Future expansion will provide an engineering building at the Twelfth street head of the mall and a new library at the Fifteenth street terminus.

Four new tennis courts will be ready for use next fall according to present plans. Immediately adjacent to those east of the coliseum. Work will probably be started this fall to prepare the ground and erect the wire netting.

FROSH BEDECK SELVES WITH GREEN HEADGEAR

Many Worn By Wednesday Night; Price Is Cut To Fifty Cents.

Appearance of bright green caps Tuesday morning following the opening of registration marked another renewal of the Nebraska tradition of freshmen wearing green caps. By Wednesday evening emerald topped youths had become numerous in and around university buildings.

The important change in the handling of green caps this year is the reduced price. It is said a better quality cap is being sold than was worn last year and it costs just half as much, 50 cents. The sale is again being handled by the Innocents society.

Tickets were sold at the end of the registration line Tuesday and Wednesday. The tickets may be exchanged at a downtown store for green caps. A green cap ticket booth will be stationed some place on the campus Thursday and Friday, for the convenience of first year men who were unable to secure tickets at the registration line, it was announced Wednesday by Bill McCleery, president of the Innocents.

Old Nebraska tradition rules were that freshmen should wear their green caps until the freshman-sophomore olympics. If the freshmen wore the olympics they were to continue wearing them until the first snow fell. The olympics have been abandoned but the cap wearing tradition remains.

Ag Y. M. C. A. Begins Year With Reception

Reception for men was held last night at 8 o'clock at the agricultural college by the branch of the Y. M. C. A. there. A large number of freshmen attended.

The Y. M. C. A. work at the agricultural campus gained so much headway last year that a full branch of the organization was organized there. Ted Menke, 31, of Conrad, is secretary of the work. The organization has been granted headquarters in 303 Agricultural hall.

BUILDING OF GIRLS DORMS IS DELAYED

Lack of Funds Before Next Legislative Session Holds Up Plans.

MAY START EXCAVATION

Construction plans on the new dormitories have been delayed because of the lack of sufficient funds to complete them before the next session of the legislature meets, according to a statement made by Chancellor E. A. Burnett Wednesday.

"The university has purchased the land necessary to erect the new buildings," he said. This land is located on the east side of Sixth street, including the land on which the Sigma Chi fraternity house now stands, and extends as far as the Kappa Kappa Gamma house.

A corporation to build the dormitory will be called into meeting soon to determine whether a contract may be let to put in the foundation this fall, or whether everything shall be delayed until the legislature meets.

SALES DRIVE FOR DAILY NEBRASKAN GETS UNDER WAY

Those Registering In Field House Are First To Be Canvassed.

TO GIVE AWAY COPIES

Free Papers May Be Had At Book Stores For Few Initial Issues.

A sales campaign for subscriptions to The Daily Nebraskan got under way during registration as members of the business staff canvassed students entering and leaving the coliseum.

The campaign thus begun will be continued by the business staff as they visit offices in all of the buildings about the campus, soliciting subscriptions from the instructors and others employed there.

In case any instructor or person is missed, Charles Lawlor, acting business manager, wished it emphasized that subscriptions may be obtained at either Long's or the Co-Op book stores, and at The Daily Nebraskan office in the basement of University hall. A booth may also be established in Social Science hall for a few days.

Subscriptions are $2.00 per year or $1.25 a semester, or if mailed are $3.00 per year or $1.75 a semester. Book subscriptions will be distributed to fraternity and sorority houses, and those not desiring their paper mailed to them may obtain it each morning at either Long's or the Co-Op for a short time, free copies will be issued, but soon a regular man will be in charge of the distribution from each of the book stores. When this goes into effect there will be only enough copies published to take care of the paid subscriptions.

DEAN SAYS MANY HAVE ROOMS TO RENT STUDENTS

"An unusually large number of persons want to take in students as roomers this year," Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs, said Wednesday. He added that the number of rooms available did not exceed the needs of the students. The dean declared that there was a tendency toward lower rates.

E. C. Henthorn, who inspected the rooms which were placed on the university's approved list, said that he believed better rooms would be offered to students than have ever been offered before and that he thought students could find exactly the kind of a room they wanted by "hopping around a little."

Welcoming the Freshman Class.

By Chancellor E. A. Burnett.

The faculty is happy to greet the 1600 or 1500 new students who have been registering in the University of Nebraska this week. We are interested in every one of you. If you have problems in which you need help go to your advisors, or the dean of your college for advice.

The days ahead of you will be busy, interesting days. Your class work begins today, do not put it off until some later time. The University furnishes you a place and opportunity for work but it is not responsible for your success or failure in scholarship. That responsibility is upon you.

Many things have been arranged for your comfort and convenience. Advisors have been provided in every college to assist those who find their studies difficult. The dean of student affairs and the dean of women maintain bureaus to assist you in finding employment should you need it.

The dispensary in Pharmacy hall and the Agricultural college student health office have physicians whom you may consult. The student health service also maintains a hospital available to you almost without cost. If you need such assistance consult Dean R. A. Lyman of the college of pharmacy.

The dean of the college in which you are registered keeps office hours each day which are open to you. The office of the chancellor is open to every student whose needs can not be cared for otherwise.

The University of Nebraska is here to give you the facilities for a good education. It expects every man to be a gentleman and every woman to live up to high ideals. It has few rules, but some requirements that are necessary. They are made to assist you and are not difficult to observe.

We wish you a happy and a prosperous year with us.

FIND FEWER JOBS OPEN TO STUDENTS

Same Number Seeking Work As in Other Years, Director Says.

The number of students seeking part time employment is about the same as other years, according to E. C. Henthorn, university employment secretary, with less part time employment available.

Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs said that Mr. Henthorn made an informal call to all of the Lincoln business firms and homes, which might be considered as possible sources of employment, and asked the firms to give students employment if they could do so without throwing their regular employees out of work. He added that Mr. Henthorn was given a more cordial reception than he had sometimes received, and that the list of possible positions was larger than usual.

Hope For More Work.

Dean Thompson said that some calls were being received for student help and that he believed that more would be received as business conditions picked up. Cards asking Lincoln business houses to give students employment if they have it available, will be mailed out the first part of next week, according to Dean Thompson, as there are six thousand students who could use part time employment.

A new system for filing information about students desiring work has been worked out by Mr. Henthorn. Each student fills out a folder and card, regarding the kind of work he wishes, a statement of his qualifications, recommendations, references, and the like. A record of the positions secured is kept by Mr. Henthorn.

Club Not Acting.

The Lincoln Lions club, which formerly made a campaign every fall to assist students in finding work, has done nothing of this kind this year, according to J. K. Selleck, manager of student activities and a member of the club. Last year the university employment bureau obtained steady jobs for 140 students. Three hundred and eighty-four students applied to the employment bureau for work, and 286 steady and part time jobs were obtained. This, however, does not include all of the students who were employed as many students got jobs without any aid from the bureau. Mr. Henthorn estimated Wednesday that about two hundred students had applied to the bureau for help.

AUDITORIUM OPENS FOLLOWING REPAIRS

The auditorium ballroom has reopened after having been closed for extensive repairs and alterations during the summer months. Dances are being held on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights during the winter, and the management is catering to university students on Friday and Saturday evenings.

One of the latest innovations is the modern fountain and sandwich shop that is being installed in connection with the hall. The decorator at modernistic design and provide attractive surroundings for Lincoln's newest ballroom.

NEW RULES ARE CARRIED OUT IN FALL RUSH WEEK

Fraternities Observe Plans Drawn Up By Council To Insure Fairness.

THOUGHT SUCCESSFUL

Better Feeling Claimed To Exist Among Groups As Result of Idea.

For the purposes of eliminating "cut throat" unfair methods, to give rushers a chance to look over the situation and to give fraternities a chance to see their rushees, fraternity rushing was carried on this fall under the close watch of the Interfraternity council which body branched a brand new set of thirteen rules with numerous listed penalties to be enforced on violators of the new laws.

This is greatly contrary to the system used last year which carried only one restriction, according to Wray Russell, chairman of the council rushing committee, and that was naming of the time for beginning of rush week. Outside of that, said Russell, no penalties were placed on any fraternities than to insure a more fair deal for everyone concerned.

Features of New Rules.

Among the features of the new rules were that every date for the first two days must be kept by the rusher unless some unavoidable circumstances prevented. The penalty for this violation was denial of the right to pledge for the first semester. Responsibility for keeping the dates was placed on rusher. A complete copy of his dates had to be sent in to the Interfraternity council office by the rusher. Rushes could not have more than one date with one fraternity for the first two days. The pledge button could not be displayed until the third day. Penalties were given for inducing conflicting dates were to be held liable.

Plans Successful.

Members of the council who worked on the rules are pleased over the success of the system as it turned out. "This is the first year," said Russell, "that fraternities have ever brought rushers to their next date at a different fraternity. Fraternities that formerly rushed men up to their houses and treated them in various other unfair ways to get them to pledge did not do that this year as far as we can tell. Fraternities were courteous to both the rusher and fellow fraternities."

It is still too early to tell how many complaints and violations there will be. We are very well satisfied with the way the fraternities co-operated with the council. Due to the fact that the system is new many rushers didn't file their dates until the last minute.

Accurate Filing System.

Russell said this is the first time fraternities have been able to call up the council office and locate the dates of previous years. "Someone was in the office in 'U' hall during all of rush week and, through a filing system, accurate check was kept of men being rushed."

General feeling among fraternities, said Russell, seems to be that this is the most successful system ever used on the Nebraska campus. Russell believes a better feeling now exists among fraternities than has ever before.

An unofficial list of the new pledges will be printed in the Sunday Nebraskan. This is unofficial because some of the men may be forced out on charges from different organizations. A judiciary (Continued on Page 7.)

UNIVERSITY'S NEW $700,000 HEATING PLANT OPERATING

The new $700,000 power plant which supplies heat for the university buildings on the downtown campus and for the state capitol building is in operation. It is the newest building of importance on the campus.

Approximately 500 kilowatts are necessary to furnish heat for ordinary conditions, but the plant is capable of generating 3,000 kilowatts if necessary. Two millions pounds of steam are supplied every day, but only about 850,000 pounds will be used each day at the present time.

According to engineers this amount of heat would supply 700 homes efficiently, or a city of from 2,500 to 3,000 population.

Subscriptions price for The Daily Nebraskan is $2.00 a year and $1.25 a semester.

The Daily Nebraskan is published by the student publication board which contains both students and faculty members.

In the year 1929-30 The Daily Nebraskan had approximately 3,000 subscribers.

LATEST FIGURES SHOW 200 GAIN

Last Year's Results Topped by Enrollment Wednesday; 4,900 Are Listed Against 4,700 of 1929; Estimate 350 Not In Yet.

TOTAL NUMBER MAY NOT BE ANY GREATER

Possibility That Fewer Students Left for Thursday Than on Previous Occasions; Would Bring Lead Down; Continue This Morning.

Contrary to expectations, reports from L. E. Gunderson, finance secretary, Wednesday night showed registration to be running 200 ahead of last year. Mr. Gunderson said, however, that the total may not be more than last year, because it is thought there are fewer students left to register today than were left over to Thursday last year.

The totals released Wednesday night were 4,900 students including preregistrants and those registering Tuesday and Wednesday against 4,700 for last year. It was estimated that there are 350 to register today. Registration will continue in the coliseum this morning for students not registered Wednesday. Delay at the assignment committee caused by closing of the coliseum after 3 o'clock, The Nebraskan office is in the basement of University hall. No previous experience is required of staff members.

The number of students returning to school this year, as shown by the preregistration, is approximately 100 more than last year, but it is expected that the number of new students in school may be slightly less. The complete final totals will probably be obtainable some time Thursday afternoon.

The number registering before Sept. 3 this year was 2,551, as compared with 2,450 for last year. Monday 1,189 students were registered, while for Monday last year the number was only 1,027. Increased efficiency in handling the registration of new students during the first day accounts for the increase over last year, which was shown at the close of registration Monday.

Students who registered last spring and have paid their fees may complete their registration in room 209 Social Science hall. Almost all the preregistrants had done this at the close of registration Wednesday. Students wishing to change their registration may see their advisors today and arrange for subjects to be dropped or added.

The completion of registration this morning and the work of changing schedules will cut into the normal beginning of classes today and school will not get fully underway until tomorrow.

NEBRASKAN RESUMES PUBLICATION TODAY
Change Necessary In Staff; LeRoy Jack Injured In Auto Crash.

LAWLOR IS APPOINTED

In company with the first day of fall university the first Daily Nebraskan of the 1930 volume makes its appearance on the newsstand today. An eight column, eight page newspaper including all the features of last year constitutes the first edition of the official student publication.

With the exception of one change, the staff appointed by the student publication board last spring will edit the paper this semester. LeRoy Jack, appointed business manager at the close of school last year, was unable to begin work because of an accident in the latter part of the summer. Charles Lawlor, 31, Lincoln, has been named acting business manager in Jack's absence.

Bradford Makes Statement.
A statement signed by H. C. Bradford, chairman of the student publication board, reads as follows: "We regret very much the accident in which LeRoy Jack was gravely injured and which has kept him from resuming work at the university the first of the semester. We extend to him our sincerest wishes for a speedy recovery."

Jack who is a senior in business administration from Tekamah has been in the hospital in Omaha ever since the accident. Besides his appointment of Nebraska business manager, he is member of Kappa, Omaha; Art Mitchell, Huron, S. D.; Rex Wagner, Burwell, and Bill McGaffin, Polk, are news editors. Guy Craig is sports editor. Jack Thompson, Lincoln, is an assistant on the business staff, and so is H. Norman Gallaher, Bassett.

Campaign On.
An intensive subscription campaign is being staged by the business staff. Subscriptions were sold to many of the freshmen as they returned to campus.

One sorority and four fraternities are in new quarters as a result of changes made during the summer months.

Phi Mu sorority has moved into a new home of Old English architecture at 1520 R street valued at $45,000. Complete new furnishings throughout have been installed which add to the interior. This organization was formerly situated at 720 South Sixteenth street.

Members of Delta Sigma Lambda, formerly living at 2740 K street, are getting settled in a new $50,000 home at 1425 R street. The house is of old English style in architecture. New furnishings are being installed throughout.

Theta Chi has moved from its old quarters at 1901 E street to the former Phi Mu house at 720 South Sixteenth. The house has been redecorated both inside and outside, and several new furnishings add to its comforts.
