STUDENT COUNCIL HAS AFFILIATION AMBITION

N. S. F. A. Suspends Nebraska Group Two Years Ago.

FUNDS ARE ASSESSED.

With the appointment of a national affiliations committee at student council meeting Wednesday, first steps were taken towards bringing the local student council back into the National Student Federation of America. The organization is popularly known as the N. S. F. A.

The Nebraska Student council has been suspended from membership for the past two years because of nonpayment of dues. It is thought that the new levy on student activities assessed by the Board of Regents will make the reinstatement of the local council possible.

First Congress at Nebraska.
The federation has held national congresses for the five years of its existence. That of 1927 was held on the Nebraska campus, and the succeeding year at Columbia, Mo. This year the national meeting will convene at Atlanta, Ga.

Membership dues are assessed on the basis of enrollment, with a maximum tax of $100. Because of its large size, the University of Nebraska will probably have to pay the full amount.

Williams Heads Committee.
Miss Katherine Williams, vice-president of the student council, is chairman of the national affiliations committee, which will report on the matter to the council. She is assisted on the committee by Don MacLay, Minnie Nemescheck, Joe Hunt, and Esther Gaylord.

Although the N. S. F. A. has a membership of over two hundred student bodies and maintains a central office in New York City, work in its behalf has been voluntary to such an extent that the annual budget has never exceeded $5,000.

Its aim, summarized, is to promote co-operation, understanding and intelligent student opinion in and among the student bodies in its fold.

PLAYERS COMMENCE YEAR THURSDAY NIGHT

Dramatic Group Seeks New Members Interested in Religious Plays.

Every student interested in religious dramatic work is asked to leave their name, address and telephone number with either Ingeborg Nielsen, 425 University terrace, B3732 or at the Wesley Foundation Parsonage, 1417 R street, B3117 before Monday noon, Oct. 6. A party will be held Friday, Oct. 10 for those who signify their interest.

Other business transacted at the initial meeting of the year of Wesley Players last night was the appointment of a play committee including Russell Lindstog, chairman, Ellamae Mark, Harold Woods, Rev. Fawell and Carolyn Cooper. This committee will choose the major play to be presented this year as well as a number of one act plays. "St. Claudia" and "The Other Wise Man" will also be used.

The next meeting of this season will be held Oct. 8 at which time a new vice president, wardrobe mistress and historian will be chosen. Those elected to these offices have either not returned to school or have asked to be excused from this work.

W. A. A. MEMBERS SEEK SALESMEN FOR CONCESSIONS

More than seventy-five persons signed the first day to sell at the W. A. A. concessions at the football games. Two hundred salesmen will be used and will secure the entrance to all of the football games for the season free.

Numerous prizes are being offered for the high salesmen at each game and for the season.

Any persons interested may sign on the bulletin board in the women's gymnasium or may notify Berenice Hoffman.

STUDENTS RUSH TICKET SELLERS ON OPENING DAY

One-Fifth of University
People Apply for Football Seats.

DEADLINE IS SATURDAY
Outside Sales Are Heavy;
Indicate 15,000 for Opening Game.

Thursday was the busiest opening day in the history of the University of Nebraska, in regard to the sale of football season tickets, according to John Sellack, business manager of athletics. Approximately one-fifth of the students made their application for tickets on the opening day, while the greatest rush is anticipated for Saturday forenoon, as the student lottery sale will close promptly at 12 o'clock on Saturday the 27th.

Although the lottery sale will close at noon Saturday, student tickets will still be obtainable at the regular student prices, but they will not be for the best seats. Student prices at $9 for regular seats, and $9.50 for seats in the cheering section.

Systemized Last Year.
The system is the same as was used last year in the handling of student tickets, and is proving very satisfactory. Under the plan, the students who have seats in the cheering section will be expected to be present at every game, or see that the seat is occupied by another student. This will make the cheering more effective, and insure co-operation of all in the yelling section. Pupils who fail to follow the above rule will be forced to give up their seat for one in another section, or they may have their money refunded in return for their ticket which would let them attend the remainder of the games.

Outside ticket sales have also been very heavy, with numerous season tickets and single game tickets having been sold. Indications are that there will be between 15,000 and 16,000 persons in attendance at the first game of the year, Oct. 4, when the Cornhuskers will take on the Texas A. and M. team. The battles with Missouri and Pittsburg promise to be the best attended games of the year, unless the advance ticket sale cannot be used as an accurate barometer.

Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women, was hostess to all university women at a tea yesterday from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. at Ellen Smith hall. Members of Mortar Board, Big Sister Board, A. W. S. board, and members of Y. W. C. A. cabinet assisted in the dining rooms and also introduced the guests to one another.

The fireplaces in the court and drawing room were decorated with palms and ferns, while large baskets of fall flowers were the decorations in other parts of the hall. Bouquets of gold and cerise were used on the tea tables in both dining rooms.

Mrs. E. A. Burnett, Miss Elsie Ford Piper, assistant to Miss Heppner, Miss Gund and Miss Miskell, from the office of the dean of women. Miss Bernice Miller, new Y. W. C. A. secretary; and Mrs. Ayers, social hostess at Ellen Smith hall, were in the receiving line.

Members of Delta Omicron, musical sorority, a quartet under the direction of Mrs. Lenore Burkett Van Kirk, and Juanita McComb in a whistling number entertained the guests.

Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Farley, Mrs. Burgess, Mrs. Prouty, Mrs. Daniels, Mrs. Lowrie and Mrs. Woodburg served in the dining rooms, while Bernice Hoffman, Ellen Rathburn, Ruth Kier and Jean Whitney invited the girls in to the dining rooms.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP SYSTEM IS CHANGED

Nebraska's Quota May Drop
Or Increase With New Regulations.

Important changes in the method of choosing Rhodes scholars have been made operative beginning this year. Under the new plan it will be possible for any school to have two, one, or no Rhodes scholars in any one year instead of always getting a given portion of the quota of scholars from the district in which it is located.

The change, according to Dean J. D. Hicks, chairman of the university Rhodes scholarship committee, may work disadvantageously for Nebraska, since Nebraska will be put in competition with the larger schools of Minnesota and Iowa, while it has had heretofore a constant quota of two scholars every three years.

Country Divided.
Beginning this year, the forty-eight states will be divided into eight districts of six states each. There will be competition in every state every year. State committees will be allowed to nominate two men to appear before the district committee. District committees will select from the twelve candidates appearing before them the best four to represent their states at Oxford. A state may thus receive two scholarships or none, in accordance with the merits of its candidates.

Another important change has been made this year whereby Rhodes scholars will be allowed the option of spending their third year at Oxford or at any other university in the world, outside their native country. They will be further allowed the option of taking their third year immediately at the end of their first two or after a period of some year's work in the United States.

Stipend is 400 Pounds.
The stipend of a Rhodes scholar is fixed at 400 pounds a year. No restriction is placed upon a Rhodes scholar in the choice of studies.

Grouped with Nebraska in the Fifth district of the United States are Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas.

Students interested in competing for the Rhodes scholarships from Nebraska should secure a blank form from Dean J. D. Hicks, room 112 Social Science Hall.

The Nebraska Rhodes Scholarship committee consists of Dean J. D. Hicks, Dr. Samuel Avery, Prof. E. H. Harbo, Prof. M. H. Merrill, and Prof. C. H. Doldfather. This committee will pass on the applications from the university and make recommendations to the state committee. According to the scholarship rules, not more than five candidates should represent a given institution in the competition of a state.

FOOTBALL NUMBER OF ALUMNUS GOES TO STATE TODAY

The first issue of the football supplement, "The Nebraska Alumnus," will be mailed to Nebraska alumni today. The magazine contains an article giving a resume of the football season, pictures of Coach Dana X. Bible, the six seniors who will captain the games this year, the varsity squad, and the coaches, and a story on the Texas players.

Information as to how to get tickets for the games and a roster of the thirty-six men who are on the varsity squad are also included in the supplement. The succeeding eight issues will come out after each game and will contain a play by play description of the game for the benefit of the alumni who are too far from Lincoln to obtain any news of the game except the score.

Collins Plans Series Of Talks on Museums

A series of radio talks to be given by Professor Collins on museums is to begin next Thursday. These talks are to be broadcast over KFAB every Thursday morning at 9:35 and will last fifteen minutes. They should be of interest to many university students.

THE CORNHUSKER OATH

As a student entering the University of Nebraska, I subscribe to the following:
Recognition of an obligation to parents, friends, schools, and state for the sacrifice made and encouragement offered which enabled me to enter the University of Nebraska.

Desire to remain in the university with the firm intention to advance in scholarship and to cultivate those social activities which make for good citizenship.

Loyalty to the administration, faculty, traditions, and purposes of the university.

Purpose to enter classes and other work fully prepared and to give such attention as will insure satisfactory results, not failure.

Organization of time to be devoted to study, recreation, activities and rest, and the pursuit of this schedule with due diligence.

Finally, I will at all times censure and guide my conduct and work toward personal advancement, and safeguard the relation I hold to the welfare of the university and its service to the state.

Are On Program.

The class of 1934 was officially initiated into the university by the administration of the Cornhusker oath in the coliseum yesterday morning.

The innocents society was in charge of the functions along with the Mortar Boards. Bill McCleery, acting as master of ceremonies and presented the greetings of the society to the class. Other speakers of the morning were Chancellor Burnett, Dean Thompson, Dean Heppner, Miss Sarah Pickard, president of the Mortar Boards, Coach Bible, C. J. Frankforter, and Prof. R. D. Scott, whose privilege it was to administer the Cornhusker oath.

Addresses Impress Frosh.
The burden of the addresses and the purpose of the convocation was to impress upon the minds of the freshmen the nature of the Cornhusker spirit which has inspired Nebraska leadership in the past and will be essential to its maintenance in the future. McCleery defined the spirit as that which makes the university other than "just a group of buildings, a company of professors, and a stack of books." Chancellor Burnett stressed the gratitude due to parents and state for affording an ideal opportunity for learning. "There is no romance like that of achievement" was Dean Thompson's keynote in advising the students to study all humanity.

Dean Heppner conveyed special invitations to the women of the len Smith hall. The first of these, under the Dean's supervision, took place yesterday afternoon. The other will be from 4 to 6 p. m. next Thursday, and will be under the auspices of the presidents of the various women students organizations.

Bible Encourages Students.
Coach Bible praised the "will to do" which has characterized previous classes, and encouraged the new body to action.

Dr. Frankforter expounded the values of friendship and emphasis (Continued on Page 2.)

Society Staff Receives Instructions Thursday

Thirty-eight newly selected members of the society staff met on Thursday afternoon at the Daily Nebraskan to organize. Representatives from all of the Greek letter groups on the campus assembled. Any non-fraternity persons interested are urged to submit contributions at the office.

Berenice Hoffman, society editor, explained the kind of news wanted by the Daily Nebraskan and announced that the first column would appear on Sunday.

GISH SUPERVISES INITIAL TRIAL OF GRIDIRON COVER

The new gridiron cover was given its initial tryout Thursday afternoon, when Director of Athletics H. D. Gish and a crew of twenty frosh gridsters spread the new water proof canvas over the field.

The recently purchased grid awning is made in eight sections, each measuring ninety feet square, and weighing about 1200 pounds per unit. When spread out, the sections overlap, to give protection to the entire playing field. The awning will be taken up Friday morning and replaced again in the evening, unless threatening weather intervenes; which will occasion its remaining in position on the sod until Saturday's drill.

Nebraska university is the first school in the Big Six to invest in a field cover and protector, while a number of eastern schools are said to be using them. It will insure all football fans that the Nebraska games will be played under the best conditions, and that inclement weather will not hamper the Cornhuskers in the future gridiron conflicts.

INNOCENTS PLAN FOR THREE FALL RALLIES

Carl Hahn Heads Committee
In Charge Of Pep
Demonstrations.

CORN COBS WILL ASSIST

The three football rallies which have been planned for this fall's football season are to be orderly exhibitions of genuine Cornhusker spirit, according to Carl Hahn, chairman of the innocents society, which has complete charge of all football rallies.

Members of the innocents society have named as members of their rally committee, Carl Hahn, chairman, Don Carlson, Alan Williams, and Stanley Day. Under the present plans of that committee, rallies will be held on the eve of the Texas A. & M., the Pittsburg and the Missouri game.

Initial Rally Oct. 4.
The initial rally of the season, which will generate spirit for the opening game on Oct. 4, will be held partly indoors and partly outside. The pep demonstration will commence about 7 p. m. and last until Nebraska spirit reaches its ebb.

The rally before the inter-sectional tussle with Pitt is to be held entirely indoors. The innocents committee is working to secure the Armory for that event, and entertainment features are planned for the evening.

Big Rally for Missouri.
The big rally of the season is planned for the evening before the Homecoming grid battle with Missouri. Football enthusiasm will reach its peak at this time around a monstrous bonfire.

The Corn Cobs and Tassels, campus pep clubs, will work with the innocents in the conduct of the rallies which will be held this fall. For the big rallies the committee in charge plans to have the interest center about the two teams and their coaches. Also they plan to have the coaches and team captains (Continued on Page 2.)

President Reed asserted that forty-three civil engineers have already joined the society and many more were expected to sign up before the membership campaign comes to a close.

All members are requested to watch the Daily Nebraskan for notice of any social affairs sponsored by the society.

EDNA B. SNYDER ISSUES KEROSENE STOVE BULLETINS

Results of a research project carried out by Mrs. Edna B. Snyder of the home economics department have been published in a bulletin "A Study of Kerosene Stoves" and in less technical form in a circular "Selection and Management of Kerosene Stoves."

Mrs. Snyder is now working on a laundry study to determine the efficiency of various types of washing machines. The results of this study, done in cooperation with the agricultural engineering department, will be published within a few months, the laboratory work being already completed.

Some of the factors considered in this research study are length of time of washing period, the size of the washing, or load, and the temperature of the water.

DISCUSSION OVER ATHLETES ARISES FROM EDITORIAL

Contributor Accuses School

EDITOR UPHOLDS J. K. H.

Lamson and Coach Attack
McCleery's Policy By Articles.

Are University of Nebraska athletes given preference over others when it comes to securing student jobs in Lincoln?

This seems to be the paramount question these days, with The Daily Nebraskan taking the initiative after J. K. H., a student opinionator in the Morning Mail column of a few days ago, stated that the university has gone into "the athlete proselyting game."

Coach D. X. Bible, head mentor of the Cornhusker football squad, and Willis B. Lamson, a writer in today's Morning Mail, can't quite see things the way that The Nebraskan editor, Bill T. McCleery, has set things forth thus far.

The coach reiterates what he declared in Thursday's student opinion that all "jobs are open for investigation" and that "no job" is created, but we have found work for worthy students' aside from the athletically inclined.

In his dissertation today Lamson, a star trackster classed by students in general as one of the "higher type," takes issue with the editor's ideas on athlete's jobs.

"What about all of the jobs on the campus that athletes at other schools usually get?" inquires Lamson. "Do you see any athlete getting jobs from the university itself? I guess not. If the athletic department wants jobs for their athletes they know better than to ask around the campus for them."

And now this morning McCleery asks of the track man: How about some statistics on the matter of athletic intelligence? This is being asked because of denial on the part of Lamson as to McCleery's assertion concerning the scholarship of the sportsman.

ENROLLMENT AT AG COLLEGE INCREASES

Men Outnumber Women;
Registration Shows
Steady Gain.

Student enrollment at the agricultural college increased thirty-six for the first semester over the same period last year, according to unofficial figures given out from Dean Burr's office at the college today. There were 612 students enrolled for the first semester last year and 648 this year.

In giving out the total enrollment, it was pointed out at the dean's office that the figures did not eliminate those who registered last spring but failed to pay their fees this fall. When official figures are given out, the enrollment may be cut a few.

Boy students outnumbered the girls at the agricultural college, there being 376 enrolled for the first semester while 272 girls were registered. The freshmen boys' class of 118 was considered larger than last year's. There were fifty-three freshmen girls enrolled this year, according to the unofficial count.

Only twice in the past twenty years has the enrollment at the college decreased in successive years. With an enrollment of 247 in 1910 it has increased until last year for both semesters and summer school it increased to 750. The two years that the enrollment failed to increase were in 1924-25 and 1925-26. This was probably due to poor crop conditions over the state at the time.

Kiener to Address Palladian Meeting

All university students are invited to an open meeting of the Palladian literary society, to be held at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, Sept. 27, in the Palladian hall, in the Temple. A program of several numbers by a string trio, and a lantern slide talk on the Swiss Alps, by Walter Kiener, will last from 8:15 until 10 o'clock.

Dean J. D. Hicks, of the Arts and Sciences college, announces that a number of tuition scholarships are still available for students above the grade of freshman in the college of Arts and Sciences. Worthy students who are dependent in whole or in part on their own resources are given precedence over all others. Application blanks may be obtained in the office of Dean T. J. Thompson or in the office of Dean J. D. Hicks. Applications are to be submitted in person to Prof. J. E. Weaver, Bessey hall
