INNOCENTS LAUNCH PEP SONG CONTEST

Short Compositions Wanted Which Can Be Sung At Brief Intervals.

Embryo composers at the University of Nebraska today were offered a chance to write short songs which may become an official part of Cornhuskerland cheering programs.

A contest will be started at once by a committee of the Innocents society, headed by Kenneth Gammill, to pick short, peppy songs to be sung at intervals during athletic contests of all kinds.

The new songs are desired by the Innocents society not to replace old songs, but rather to add to the number, "Nebraska is short on songs," Gammill said. "The Cornhusker, Fight, Fight, Fight, and There Is No Place Like Nebraska all are good songs, and are widely known, but they are too long to be sung at short intervals during games of any kind.

"What the society wants is a number of short compositions of only a few measures, songs with real pep, spirit, and enthusiasm. We want at least one song into which any athlete's name can be inserted. Songs of this type can be sung during time out and other short intervals in games that are not long enough for singing any of the present songs."

All those who wish to try their hand at writing songs can do so, the chairman said today. Manuscripts for judging in the contest can be given to him at the Cornhusker office any time.

Prizes to be offered in the contest will be announced soon in The Daily Nebraskan.

Oury Tells of Student Days Here When He Opened Campus Book Shop Now Regrets to Put Self Through

BY JACK ERICKSON.

High finance, independent journalism, and football, are some of the shining lights in the college memories of Colonel William H. Oury, who graduated from the university in 1897 and has now returned to act as head of the military department.

Colonel Oury worked his own way entirely through high school and university. After acting as chief mail distributor in charge of several Omaha newspaper routes he sold his interests and entered the University of Nebraska.

The first financial venture of Colonel Oury at this institution was a distinct success. Starting out on $500 of borrowed capital, (which he repaid in ten days), he procured a room in the basement of U hall and established the first cooperative book exchange shop on the campus.

Sold Stock. In attempting to secure further financial backing the new colonel issued a number of shares of gilt-edged stock at $25 each. For these he found only one purchaser,

Tassels Meet Every Day This Week at 5

At each meeting, University Players' ticket sales campaign will be discussed, and money checked in. It is important that every member be present at all meetings, the president said.

WESLEYAN DEAN IS TO ADDRESS FORUM AT NOON

Dr. H. C. Gossard, dean of men of Nebraska Wesleyan university, will address the World Forum on "Adjusting to College Life" in the Temple cafeteria at noon today.

BETTY WAHLQUIST IS CHOSEN TASSEL HEAD

Girls' Pep Group Prepares For Handling Players' Ticket Sales.

OLD OFFICER RESIGNS

The Tassels met at Ellen Smith hall Tuesday noon, electing Betty Wahlquist as president and Lucille Ledwith as vice president for the ensuing year. Sally Pickard, the past president, and Esther Gaylord, past vice president, were forced to resign, because of the regulations of the activity point system.

The plans for the University Players' season ticket campaign which starts Wednesday, were discussed. All Tassels will co-operate in the sales effort at the campaign booth at the Texas A. & M. game. Sorority representatives are responsible for the thorough canvassing of their respective houses and alumni, and each pair of representatives will be responsible for soliciting a fraternity house to which they have been assigned.

Further plans included meetings to be held every evening during the campaign at Ellen Smith hall between 5 and 6 o'clock.

Six plays will be presented this year instead of eight and the rates will be greatly reduced. Student tickets will be $2.00 and public tickets $4.00. Faculty members are entitled to student tickets, and the students and faculty of Lincoln schools have also been given the courtesy of these rates.

Arrangements were also made to serve at the all activities tea, Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at Ellen Smith hall, which is to be given under the auspices of A. W. S. board, Big Sister board, W. A. A., Y. W. C. A., and League of Women Voters.

NEW UNIFORMS FOR R. O. T. C. CADETS ARRIVE

R. O. T. C. drill cadets will no longer have to go through their paces in civilian togery. The new uniforms, which have been expected for nearly two weeks, have finally arrived and will be delivered to the military department today.

Fifteen hundred of the 1,700 suits which were ordered are now in the city and after Col. F. A. Kidwell, manager of the military department store, checks and sorts them out to military students.

The new uniforms are featured by black trousers, which require no leggings, blue lapped coats, and overseas caps. The old-typed flannel shirt, as was used last year, will again be used, although on special occasions the cadets may wear white shirts with their uniforms. Either high shoes or oxfords may be worn with the suits, provided they are tan.

Further announcements are forthcoming from Colonel Kidwell concerning the system he will follow in checking out the drill outfits. The usual deposit of $10 will be required of each cadet.

ELLIOTT ADVISES FROSH TO CLING TO THEIR IDEALS

Y.M.C.A. Worker Tells 100 Students That Only One Will Succeed.

ATTACKS FRATERNITIES

Warns Freshmen Against Falling Into Bad Group Habits.

It's going to be pretty tough on the world, if the world's got to depend on a bunch like you, because only one of you is going to amount to anything," A. J. "Dad" Elliott, Y. M. C. A. worker and all-western end 25 years ago when playing on Northwestern university's football team, told a group of a hundred freshmen in the Temple theater last night, quoting statistics to prove that out of every hundred university men only one was ever heard of outside his own community after graduation.

"Playing the Game in College" was the subject of this first of a series of talks which Mr. Elliott will give to the freshmen boys this week. Mr. Elliott, who was introduced by Dean T. J. Thompson as the one man in America who probably knows the present student problems best, laid the emphasis of his talk last night in the danger to the freshmen from falling into the group mould and letting the change upon coming to college destroy the ideals that they have brought with them.

Warns Against Crowd. "Don't let anybody 'poo' hoo' your ideals. If you want to be forgotten by your God, just go along with the crowd. God pity the man who gives up his ideals, or his relations with the church because he is afraid of being razzed by the fellows in the house," he told the freshmen.

Mr. Elliott warned the freshmen of the rapid changes that come with college life. "The group," he warned, "is the single force most apt to strangle the ideals of the first year men."

SATURDAY GAME NETS MONEY FOR BAND TRIP

$1,018 Added to Fund for Journey to Jayhawk Stronghold.

The 5,000 persons who attended last Saturday's football skirmish between the Husker yearlings and the varsity contributed $1,018 to the fund which is to be used in sending the Nebraska band to the Kansas gridiron fray.

The twenty-five cent admissions which were charged the spectators of the week end contest amount to a sizeable supply of cash to be added to the band fund. Numerous methods have been used to swell the size of the band money larder but this plan worked out exceptionally well, according to those in charge of the idea. Last year red feathers were sold but the authorities are not decided as to whether they shall have a repetition of this.

The Kansas trip is the journey toward which the university music makers are pointing this fall but the ultimate goal of their money making efforts is the intersection fray with Pittsburgh next fall. By a careful apportionment of band funds this year and with a good attendance at next fall's freshman-varsity clash it is hoped that the band will be able to make a trip with the team to the Smoky City next year.

The athletic department contributes toward one band trip each year from its own funds but extra contributions will be needed before the bandsters can make the long trip next fall.

FIRST PRODUCTION IS 'JOURNEY'S END'

The University Players Will Present Famous War Play Oct. 20.

CAST NOT YET CHOSEN

"Journey's End," by R. C. Sheriff, will be the first production presented by the University Players this year from Oct. 20 to 25. The play was first produced in London by Maurice Brown and has been remarkably successful.

The universal appeal of "Journey's End" has made it possible to produce this play all over the world. Seventy different companies have presented it to the people in Jamaica, New Zealand, Copenhagen, Warsaw, Budapest, Wrangell Island (off Siberia), New York and most of the leading cities in Europe and America not mentioned.

Maurice Brown's success as a producer has been phenomenal. Interested in the theater all his life, he came to the United States from England in 1912 to lecture to American audiences on the drama and literature, but he soon wearied of this and directed his energies toward starting the American Little Theater Movement.

Studies Under Producer.

Miss H. Alice Howell, director of the dramatic department, studied with Maurice Brown five years ago at Carmel-by-the-Sea. About two years later, Mr. Brown had to send to England for enough money to buy a ticket home in the steerage. Arriving in London, he did not have enough money for car fare home and had to walk part of the way.

Shortly after his arrival in England, he witnessed an amateur production of "Journey's End," and obtained the production rights for it before he left the theater. Since that time Maurice Brown is a familiar name in theatrical circles. Mr. Brown has distinguished himself as a producer and as an actor. He is an authority on stage lighting and has made many innovations in this field of theatrical work.

GROUPS ASKED AID IN GREEN CAP COERCION

Greek and Barb Councils, Corn Cobs, N Club Help Enforcement.

ORDERS STILL TAKEN

Frosh May Ditch Headgear After Missouri Fray if Nebraska Wins.

Fostering a move to encourage the wearing of green caps by freshmen the Innocents society is enlisting the aid of the Barb Council, the Interfraternity council, the Corn Cobs and the N club, according to an announcement made Tuesday by Bill McCleery.

Members of these organizations and the groups they represent will be asked to assist in the effort of the Innocents to preserve the green cap tradition.

Orders are being taken this week at the Daily Nebraskan office and at the Cornhusker office for additional green caps. The original supply has been entirely sold out and new students will have an opportunity up to Saturday to put in their orders. The order will be sent in Monday and caps will be made available at Ben Simons.

Game Determines.

The result of the traditional battle between Missouri and Nebraska in football on November will determine when the frosh may discard their green headgear. If Nebraska wins they can discard them immediately but if the Tigers are victorious they must wait until Thanksgiving or until the first snow falls.

Stanley Day, former president of the Corn Cobs, presented a plan for helping to preserve the green cap tradition at a meeting of his organization last night. Alan Williams, president of the Barb council will make a special appeal to nonfraternity students.

Any compulsion in the matter of wearing green caps, McCleery said, will have to be the work of the Interfraternity council and the N club. Fred Graus as president of the Greek federation will urge (Continued on Page 3.)

GEOGRAPHY STUDENTS MAKE LINCOLN TOURS

Residential and Business Sections Inspected by 250 Pupils.

In a series of excursions through the business and residential sections of Lincoln, classes in Geography 61 and 71 have held their laboratory sessions in busses learning the general geography of the territory surrounding Lincoln. About two hundred and fifty students will make the trips which started Monday and will continue through Saturday.

"The purpose of the trip," stated Prof. N. A. Bengtson, head of the geography department, "is to let the students interpret the adjustment of Lincoln's wholesale section, retail district, and the private residential districts in their relationships to the broad features of geographical environment."

See Types of Rocks.

The trip is mostly within the city limits of Lincoln. The students see several classes of granite and basalt rock and observe the relation between drainage and land form. The use of low lands for transportation routes and for park purposes is emphasized.

This method of instruction has been in use in the geography classes at the university for several years, and it is now being adopted in other institutions. The department believes that the best way to learn beginning geography is to learn and appreciate some of the local features and build up a basis for comparison with distant areas.

Teachers Go Along.

Each bus is accompanied by an instructor who lectures to the students.

"The students are expected to recognize various forms of land in this vicinity and to see the use that man is making of the land," Professor Bengtson added. "The students see things as they really are, rather than read about them in books."

Campus Cop Regler Joins City Police Force as Night Motorcycle Officer; Says Students Are Well Behaved

BY CLIFF F. SANDAHL.

The "campus cop" is no longer a campus cop! Beginning Wednesday night at 7 o'clock, Officer L. C. Regler, for the past two years guiding star of the campus inhabitants at the University of Nebraska, will assume the position of night motorcycle officer for the Lincoln police force, according to announcement made Tuesday by Acting Chief Walter Anderson.

"Reg." as the officer has come to be known by faculty and students alike, will join four other men added to the city police as a part of the program of the new "higher ups" of the department, Commissioner Don L. Love and Acting Chief Anderson. He is an experienced cyclist and will devote his time hereafter to the outlying districts of the city rather than the territory immediately surrounding the university buildings.

Guarded Campus Two Years. Although Regler has been under the supervision of the city police department, he has been hired and has been held responsible to the university authorities. He assumed his position on the campus first as night watchman two years ago

GRANT MEMORIAL WILL BE SCENE OF FIRST RALLY

Coaches Expected to Talk; First Appearance of New Yell Kings.

INNOCENTS TAKE CHARGE

Band Will Lead Parade to Hotel For Welcome to Texas Opponents.

Nebraska's first rally of the year will get under way at 7 o'clock Friday evening at Grant Memorial hall. It was announced today by Carl Hahn, member of the Innocents society in charge of rallies.

The rally will be part of a reception for visitors and the football team from Texas A. & M. college, Nebraska's opponent on the gridiron. Included in the rally will be an organ pep concert, a march to the Lincoln hotel, and speeches by various officials of the two schools.

Butler Plays Medley.

The program at the rally will be opened by a medley of college songs to be played by Edward Butler, youngest member of the American Organists guild, who has studied under Milton Charles and other famous teachers. Following the medley, Butler will play Nebraska and Texas A. & M. songs. A short pep talk will be given there, followed by yells for the Nebraska football team and coaches, who will be at the armory.

The R. O. T. C. band will lead the parade from the armory through the downtown districts to the Lincoln hotel, where the Texas A. & M. team and coaches are staying. After yells and a few numbers by the band, the crowd will be addressed by Coach D. X. Bible of Nebraska and Matty Bell, Texas A. & M. mentor. T. O. PARKING PROBLEM IS BECOMING QUANDARY

30 and 40 Students Tagged Daily for Usurping Faculty's Space.

Between thirty and forty students are receiving tags every day for parking in reserved faculty spaces or in other forbidden places about the campus, according to L. C. Regler, campus patrolman. "I hate to tag students," said Mr. Regler, "but a case there isn't enough room for them to park anywhere near the campus. Something will certainly have to be done about the situation. There will either have to be some place found for students to park, or else, in my opinion, students living within a certain radius of the campus will have to be forbidden to drive to school."

Operating superintendent L. F. Seaton has no plans for relieving the situation. "Nothing can be done," he claims, "unless the university purchases some ground for parking purposes."

Drive from Campus Spaces.

Students have been parking along the south fence of the stadium but are now being tagged for parking there because of the fire hazard involved should fire department engines need to come through the street there. Cars were cleared out of the small space north of University hall for the same reason, and considerable fire hazard remains in allowing cars to park between the stadium and the chemistry building, according to Mr. Seaton. Although several of the students who have been tagged are second offenders, as yet noon have been fined for this September and for the past year has been on day duty. "I wish with regret that the officer must leave, he says, as he has become somewhat attached to the university surroundings. The same feeling is true among the students and faculty who have come to know Regler, as shown by the statement of his employer, L. F. Seaton, operating superintendent of the university.

Seaton Makes Statement.

"Officer Regler has done a great service to the university during his two years with us. His work in connection with the elimination of the campus prowler was beyond reproach, as one instance, and he (Continued on Page 3.)
