ELLIOTT WARNS FROSH TO KEEP MINDS CLEAN

Y.M.C.A. Speaker at Temple Urges Youth to Avoid Vile Influences.

150 ATTEND MEETING

"Show me how a man thinks and I will tell you how he will act in the crises of his life. Tell me with what he fills his mind and I will tell you how he will act in life's crises," said A. J. "Dad" Elliott in the second of his series of three meetings with freshmen men at the Temple theater last night.

"That is the first of the rules of human behavior," he declared. "And the second is that fire burns." "Dad" illustrated that if a man filled his life with vile and dirty thoughts his mind would undoubtedly be sluggish and refuse to act correctly in the crossroads of his life. Such a man would probably be a failure in an attempt to grapple with the real problems of life, he said.

Thoughts Affect Minds.

On the other hand a man who thought clean and lived clean would undoubtedly be prepared to win any fight he chose to enter. The thoughts and actions of life file themselves away into the subconscious mind and come forth either to help or hinder the individual, depending upon the type of those thoughts and actions, the speaker said.

He urged the freshmen present to choose their friends with care and to be careful in their associations.

"What a man is in college determines what he will be in life," "Dad" said. "If a man is a fighter and a winner in college he will undoubtedly be a fighter and winner in life according to 'Dad' Elliott.

Students Have Influence.

"Students carry back to their homes the worst things from college life, as a rule, instead of the finest as they should," Elliott declared. "Young people there copy these things then, and another bad influence for young people results," he added.

"Men should be the protectors of women," he said. "Dad" pointed out that too many men today lack the chivalry to see that the finest influence in a man's life is that of a good girl. He also said that the worst influence was that of a bad girl.

Recommends Books.

He urged every man present to acquaint himself with the facts of the intimate physical relations of life and to gain for themselves a cleaner and finer attitude toward women. He recommended a group of books to be read by fifty men were present at the meeting, over which Coburn Tomson, president of the university Y. M. C. A., presided.

REALIGNMENT OF CAMPUS FACTIONS SEEMS PROBABLE

Kappa Sigs Expected to Go Over to Blue Shirt Camp.

SIDES SELECT LEADERS Farm House Likely to Join Yellow Jackets; Now Independent.

BY POLITICUS.
As the campus political factions begin to swing into action for their year's work ahead of them, the possibilities of realignments become more and more apparent. Just now rumor has it that two fraternities, one a member of the yellow jackets and the other a former member of the blue shirts but now independent, may switch sides. Whether this is so could not be substantiated at this time, but the truth will evidently be out before the first elections this fall.

Election in Two Weeks.

And, incidentally, from present indications, the fall elections, when presidents of the four classes are chosen, will be held week after next. As is the custom in the past, the balloting day will at all events fall on a Tuesday, thereby making the date appear as Oct. 13.

This is all tentative as yet and will not be decided upon until the student council comes forth with its announcement. Bob Kelly, president of the council, has declared, however, that Oct. 13 (lucky day) may be the time.

Kappa Sigma, listed as one of the fraternities in question at this time. Because it is believed to have forsaken the yellow jacket cause in several of the recent elections, this group seems to be slated for the blue shirt camp.

No Positive Proof.

But as to anything else, no definite statement could be secured on this either from the fraternity itself or from the faction's president, Neal S. Gomon.

The other affair has a history to it. Last spring quite a stir was started when it was thought that Farm House, always true to the blue shirts, would sneak over to the yellow jackets.

The cause for this supposition was the fact that Farm House decided for once to run an independent candidate on the college of agriculture campus. Hence their present status may be said to be independent, altho Don Facka, former blue shirt faction representative from the Farm House, stated Wednesday that the fraternity would undoubtedly go back to its fold—the blue shirts.

Organizations Complete.

Both political parties have held their initial meetings for the year and already their organizations are beginning to tighten up. The yellow jackets elected their officers last spring while the blue shirts waited until this week to select their leaders.

Here are the yellow jacket "bosses": Neal S. Gomon, Norfolk, president; Bill Comstock, Omaha, vice president; and Maurice Akin, Fairmont, secretary treasurer. The blue shirts at their meeting this week have chosen the following to be their men of power:

Wally Frankfort, West Point, president; Boyd Von Seggern, West Point, vice president, and Dick Devereaux, Omaha, secretary treasurer.

And so the merry chase for the campus plums has begun. What the future holds for each of the groups no one knows, but at least hopes are running high.

Campus Opinion Divides About Evenly On Athletics' and Cardinals' Chances

Forsaking books and classrooms baseball enthusiasts about the campus flocked to various places about the city where radios enabled them to follow the fortunes of the St. Louis Cardinals as they played the first game of the 1930 world series at Shibe park, Philadelphia, Wednesday afternoon. It was the Athletic's day, the score reading 9 to 5.

While Athletics won the opening game Cardinals backers refused to be down hearted, and there seem to be plenty of fans still pulling for the western organization. Opinion about the campus seems to be fairly evenly divided as to which team will win the final game.

AGGIE COACHES AND CAPTAIN.

The three men pictured above are the leaders of the Texas Aggies, who will pry the lid off the gridiron season when they clash with the Husker grid machine Saturday afternoon in Memorial stadium. Floyd is the only letterman in the backfield, being one of the outstanding men in the conference last year.

NUBBINS CHALK UP SCORE; USE AGGIES' LINEUP

Day's Squad Tries Southern Formation and Make Touchdown.

BACKFIELD LOOKS GOOD

Combination of Stansberry, Perry, Rowley, Morrow Suits Crowd.

By LEONARD CONKLIN.
Bill Day's Nubbin team threw Texas formations, both offensive and defensive, at the varsity squad in scrimmage last evening as a sample of some of the antics the Southern Farmers may be expected to uncover Saturday afternoon.

Plays Look Good.

Those Texas plays as exhibited by Day's men did not look bad. Wayne Bly of Beaver City galloped about fifty yards after receiving the varsity kickoff deep in his own territory. Bly looked good on several plays around end and through the line also.

Koster and Byrnes were put in the varsity line and the first string Huskers mused up a big variety of attempts to gain before the Nubbins, who were allowed to keep the ball continuously regardless of downs, were able to put across a touchdown.

Then against a new group of Day's proteges the varsity began an offensive, and Frahm, Prucka, Young, and Mathis took turns plunging and passing down the field for large gains. Another combination of Stansberry, Perry, Rowley, and Morrow in the number one backfield showed off to the satisfaction of the audience.

AG CLUB MEETS TO RAISE SCHOOL SPIRIT

Farm Group Points Out Need Of Stressing Student Cooperation.

The necessity of creating greater spirit on the college of agriculture campus was stressed in the opening meeting of Ag club in Dairy hall Wednesday night. Verdon Peterson, vice president, took charge in the absence of Dick Cole, new president of the organization.

Spirit is already higher on the campus than last year, it was pointed out during last night's session, but it was believed that the idea of student cooperation should be encouraged to a still greater extent. This was the point about which much of the discussion centered, it was said.

That the drive among freshmen for membership in Ag club was the principle point coming up for discussion was made known by Peterson. The date for initiation was set for next Wednesday night, October 8, at 7:00.

Increase Expected.

With increased enrollment of freshmen men in the college it is believed that the ranks of the club will be swelled considerably.

The drive for membership will be coupled with a subscription drive for the Cornhusker Countrymen, a campus magazine sponsored by Ag club.

Committee appointed are as follows: program committee, Art Mauch, chairman; Emory Fahney, assistant chairman; Clarence Clover and Harlan Bollman, Refreshment committee; George Schmid, chairman; Cliff Jorgenson and Delphin Nash.

250 TEXANS EXPECTED

Burnett Will Lead Tour to Ag Campus and State Capitol.

More cars are needed for the tour of Lincoln planned as part of the program by the Innocents society for welcoming Texas A. and M. to Nebraska Friday. Don Carlson in charge of the reception said yesterday.

"Stickers for the 100 cars in the reception are in the hands of members of the Corn Cobs and Innocents, but a check of the number of students who have signified their intention of giving their services has not been made as yet. There is no limit to the number of cars that can be used in the reception. At least 250 visiting Texans are expected and we don't know whether we have twenty-five cars or 100," Carlson said.

Ask Students Co-operation.

"We sincerely wish the students and faculty members to co-operate with the university and the Innocents society in turning out in full force for the reception. All those who have not offered the services of their cars for Friday and wish to do so should see any member of the Innocents society or the Corn Cobs," Carlson states.

The Innocents, Corn Cobs, Tassels and R. O. T. C band will meet the visitors at the Missouri Pacific station at 1:40, with the band playing the Texas school song.

The visiting Texans with their band will parade through downtown Lincoln and to the coliseum escorted by the Nebraska R. O. T. C. band. The cars to be used in the tour which will immediately follow the parade will be waiting in front of the coliseum.

All men of the college are invited to attend. Admission is free, and refreshments will consist of pie, coffee and cigarettes.
