

TEXANS WILL START FOR LINCOLN TODAY

Contest Will Renew Rivalry Between Bible and His Successor.

ILL AGGIES RECUPERATE

COLLEGE STATION, Texas.—Thirty Texas Aggie gridiron warriors and their coaches, backed by seventy-five pieces of the A. and M. band and about 300 fans from the southwest, will entrain Thursday afternoon for Lincoln where the Aggies will meet the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers in an inter-sectional gridiron classic at the Cornhusker stadium Saturday.

The meeting will mark the renewal of gridiron rivalry between two coaches whose teams until last year had been meeting every fall for five years, Madison Bell, head coach of the Aggies and former coach of T. C. U. Horard Frogs, and Dana X. Bible, Nebraska mentor who until last year was coach of the Texas Aggies.

Bell Hard To Beat.

It was while Bell was mentor of the Horned Frogs and Bible of the Aggies that the coaching feud began, and though Bible in that time produced two championship teams, his gridsters were able to score only one victory over the Bellmen.

The lone Aggie victory came in 1924, the year of the first meeting of the two coaches, when T. C. U. was trounced, 28-0, and in the four succeeding years the best the Biblemen could do was play a pair of tie games with the Frogs.

The Frogs won two games, in 1925, 3-0, and in 1928, 6-0, while the two tied contests were in 1926, 13-13, and 1927, 0-0. The conference championships were won by A. and M. in 1925 and 1927. It will be interesting to note whether the "jinx" Bell was formerly said to hold over Bible will remain in force with both coaches in new locations.

Entire Team Coming.

Their final practice before entraining coming Wednesday, the Aggies will leave the special train which will carry them to Lincoln, at Corsicana for a brief workout and signal drill, closing their preparation for the game at that time. Though early in the week Captain Floy, fullback; Byrom Magrill, tackle; Charlie Malone, end and Willis Nolan, center, were slightly under the weather as the result of a flu attack following their victory of Saturday, they were all back with the team on Tuesday.

and the entire squad will be available for the trip.

Though Coach Bell will probably not announce a definite starting lineup until just a few moments before the game, it is likely that there will be only one or two changes in the lineup which started the Southwestern game. This would give the Aggies an eleven which averages about 175 pounds to the man at the start of the game. The Cornhusker lineup will probably show an average ten pounds heavier to the man.
