Yesterday afternoon against the freshmen attempts to show off Oklahoma plays the varsity looked good. A heavy crew of first year boys, acknowledged as the best in years, had little or no luck against the varsity. When their turn came with the ball, Bible's men marched forward with ease and displayed a polished passing offense. The freshmen lineup was made up of: Kilbourne and Roswick, ends; Bishop and Austin, guards; Scoggin and O'Brien, tackles; Blackstone, center; and Norwood, Masterson, Overstreet and White in the backfield. White was forced to leave the scrimmage early because of a wrenched ankle.

Nebraska Not Worried.

The general opinion seems to be that Oklahoma is "easy meat." Statistics point otherwise. Last year's 13-13 tie found the Huskers hard put to hold their own. The one sided score of 46 to 6 in 1928 is misleading to those who do not know that the board at the half showed only 6 to 0 and that several snagged forward passes were responsible for the pretentious total. And last season Oklahoma freshmen defeated Nebraska's beginners 2-0.

It is early in the season for conference competition so that Saturday's tilt and the one in Ames a week later may determine the lay of the land for the whole season. An outstanding improvement is noticeable in Bible's camp since Texas A. & M. left its scalp here last Saturday. In spite of that, Oklahoma is worth plenty of consideration. Physically Bible's thirty-four men are o. k. with the exception of minor injuries that Hokuf and Rhea are carrying about with them.

The probable lineups:

Nebraska	Oklahoma
Hokuf	Ewing
Rhea	Fields (c)
Koster or Justice	Test
Ely	Young
Greenberg	H. Lee
Kroger or Broadstone	Herry
Prucka	Cherry
Mathis	Lewis
Rowley	Warren
Young	Mills
Frahm	Kirk

NEBRASKA and Texas A. & M. played a manly, courteous game of football with the Texans outdoing any set of gridiron cheerleaders I've ever seen.

Soft, drawing apologies for hard tackles, compliments and smiles at good plays by the opposition illuminated their play. Nebraska found the spirit infectious though new and replied in kind although perhaps not as naturally as the southerners.

Thus speaks Les Edmonds in the Topeka Capital. The spirit exhibited by both teams in this game was much different than that sometimes displayed on the field. Let's hope Nebraska can keep up the good work.

IT IS just as easy to gain a reputation as clean and hard fighting as it is to get one marked by the stigma of dirty play. Football necessarily involves a great deal of personal contact and men frequently lose their tempers.

The sad incident occurring during one of the Pittsburgh-Nebraska games is an illustration of what might happen during one hot headed moment. This one thing convinced several people that football was a sport that only rowdies play and should be ruled out of the colleges.

IT'S a start in the right direction. There is no reason on earth why Nebraska should not be known as a "manly, courteous team." The only thing that is holding them back is the fact that a few incidents are remembered while the praiseworthy things are forgotten.

If we all back the team and applaud their play—always demanding a team that plays "clean" football—there is no possibility that anything "dirty" will happen.

We have a coach who knows the meaning of southern hospitality and courtesy. Here's hoping his ideas are contagious.

THERE is evidently quite a bit going on in the Missouri camp. Coach Gwinn Henry was quite disgruntled with the showing of the Tigers against Colorado last week and is working the men until the wee small hours of the night in an attempt to polish up their team play.

Bad passing from center and lack of judgment, both on offense and defense, are given as the reasons for the Tiger defeat.

There is also the possibility that the Rocky Mountain conference put out some real football teams but this is hardly possible.

Be that as it may, it is highly probable that Missouri will send a team to Nebraska which is considerably better than the Tiger team that opened the season in Boulder.

NOW comes a report from California of a new disease. It might be called "putt-putt madness." At least, that's as good a name as any.

A Californian played on a pee-wee golf course. He missed a putt. He growled. He missed another putt. He became angry.

After the third successive miss he grabbed his putter and chased the other players from the course, then went out looking for more courses to conquer.

Just like Napoleon, he met his Waterloo in the form of a police officer and is now serving a fifteen day jail sentence. Take this as a warning.
