LELAND QUALIFIES STATEMENTS MADE IN OMAHA SPEECH

Sentiments Exaggerated He Claims; Deans Give Their Views.

OTHERS ARE CONSULTED

Consensus is That Students Not Devoid of Morals, Religious Beliefs.

By Cliff F. Sandahl.
The University of Nebraska is a playground!
That's the impression to be gained from a story appearing in the Thursday morning edition of the Omaha Bee-News, wherein Dr. Dean R. Leland, Presbyterian pastor here, is quoted as saying that "Hollywood notions of love, marriage, romance, happiness and a good time pervade the campus" before a group of Presbyterian pastors in Omaha.
Dr. Leland, however, maintains that he was somewhat misrepresented in the story that appeared. He stated that he made the utterance but that it was not the point that he was trying to put across.
"The newspaper article," he declared, "took the content of the speech instead of the context. I was trying to say that some of the students at Nebraska have lost sight of the spiritual side while in the whirl of outside activities."
When asked concerning their views on the newspaper story, the two deans who have supervision over the students and several of the student leaders themselves don't quite agree with the presentation.
"May Be Right"
They say that the accusation may be right in part but not when speaking of the student body as a whole or a large part thereof.
"I do not know exactly what Dr. Leland meant," declared Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs. "And I shouldn't like to express myself before talking it over with him."
However, I can say this: I am always for Nebraska students and will take their part whenever I see that they are in the right."
Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women, said it was true that a number of students indulge in social activities to the detriment of their scholastic and spiritual attainments, but that the greatest majority was this way would be making it too sweeping.
Practically the same sentiment was voiced by several of the student leaders on the Nebraska campus, interviewed following appearance of the article in the Omaha newspaper.
Not So Wicked.
Bill T. McCleery, Hastings, editor of The Daily Nebraskan, declared that in his opinion students are not as wicked as they are believed to be, although it is true that some "black sheep" are found among the pure ones.
Cornhuskers are not too bad or too good is the judgment of Bob Kelly, Nebraska City, president of the Student council and managing editor of The Nebraskan. The students may not be as bad as pictured in his belief, but still they aren't as spotless as others would have them to believe they are.
The only woman student leader to be quoted on the matter is Betty Wahlquist, Hastings, president of Tassels, women's pep society, and also member of Mortar Board, senior honorary for women.
Miss Wahlquist thinks that college students should be commended for their ability to enjoy good times with their studies. But these good times, she says, are on a higher plane than most outsiders give them credit for enjoying.
Exception to the Presbyterian pastor, as quoted in the Omaha newspaper, was also taken by Rev. Henry Erick, Lutheran student pastor, and C. D. Hayes, general secretary of the university Y. M. C. A.
Commends Students.
In his work, the Lutheran pastor reports that he has met with good co-operation from students of that faith.
"Students coming to the university reflect the training they have received at home," Rev. Erick stated. "The Lutheran church is known for the emphasis it places on religious training of its youth and I ascribe my success with the work among Lutheran students to the influence of the parental home and home church."
He said there are upwards of 500 students of Lutheran denomination at the University of Nebraska annually and it is generally true that at least 90 percent of these 500 take an active part in campus religious affairs.
C. D. Hayes, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has discovered with his contacts with young men of the university that it is not entirely due to indifference that students are dormant religiously but rather the cause is circumstantial.
This is what he says:
"On the surface it is true what Dr. Leland says about a lack of appreciation of spiritual values."

STUDENTS TRYING LUCK AT WRITING NEW PEP SONGS

Many students are working on new pep songs, according to Kenneth Gammill, chairman of the Innocents committee, which is sponsoring the pep song contest. A need has been felt for several new short songs to supplement the traditional Nebraska melodies, and the contest is held as an inspiration to anyone with talent for musical composition.
The contest committee particularly emphasizes the fact that plenty of time is essential for producing songs of merit, and desires contestants to begin work as early as possible. No definite date for turning in contributions has been set but will be shortly before the Kansas game on Nov. 8. The nature of the prizes to be given the writers of the accepted songs will be announced soon.

DELTA SIGMA PI TAKES IN FOUR INSTRUCTORS

Commerce Fraternity Now Boasts of Total of Five Educators.

NEXT INITIATION SOON

Delta Sigma Pi, professional bizad fraternity, claimed four faculty members Wednesday night when the four instructors who had been added to the teaching roster at the beginning of the fall term were instructed in the final rites of initiation.
The four men, C. O. Swazee, A. R. Mott, J. A. Cuneo and I. V. Snyder, attended a dinner given in their honor after the initiation. Each of them responded with a short speech.
Mr. Snyder is a Lincoln insurance man, who teaches two courses in insurance as a part time instructor. He is manager of the local branch of the Northwestern National Insurance company.
Invitations were issued to the four instructors by the fraternity soon after the beginning of the fall term, and the special initiation was immediately arranged. The regular initiation for undergraduate members will not be held until Nov. 1. Only sophomores and above are eligible for election.
Delta Sigma Pi also claims a fifth man who has been added to the teaching staff of the college of business administration. He is E. Ray McCartney, who comes to Nebraska as a graduate student and instructor from Wisconsin university and Southwestern college. He was an undergraduate member of the business fraternity at Wisconsin.
Mr. McCartney assisted in the initiation ceremonies Wednesday evening, and attended the dinner which followed.

UNIVERSITY PROBLEMS DISCUSSED AT FORUM

Faculty-Student Group Lays Plans for Fostering More Cooperation.

Faculty-student forum group which met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the alumni offices of the Temple, discussed many of the problems common to campus life and laid particular stress upon the problems which are acute at Nebraska.
The group attempted to ascertain the need for student and faculty co-operation and where it should best be placed. Different types of co-operation were discussed in the light of solving them by co-operation.
Those attending the meeting were Dean T. J. Thompson, Dr. C. H. Patterson, Dean O. J. Ferguson, C. D. Hayes, Miss Bernice Miller, new Y. W. C. A. secretary, Ray Ramsay, Miss Grace Spacht, Dr. E. L. Hinman, Prof. B. C. Hendricks, A. A. Reed, and Meredith Nelson.
The group made arrangements for another meeting in the near future and laid plans for one which is to be worked out by students interested in the project.
This meeting was one of a series of meetings going on in all parts of the country with an eye toward the national meeting of the Student-Faculty conference in Detroit, Dec. 27, and 31, 1930.

Vesper Choir Members Practice Monday at 5

Newly elected and old members of Vesper choir will practice at 5 o'clock on Monday afternoon in Ellen Smith hall under the direction of Aileen Neely, choir leader. Old members are asked to leave their names in Miss Bernice Miller's office before the date of practice if they wish to belong to the choir this year.

Illness Ends Teaching for Miss Julia Rider

Miss Julia Rider, Delta Gamma, who was teaching at Palisade, has been forced to return home because of illness. She will probably be unable to resume her teaching this semester. Miss Rider was May queen, president of Mortar Board and a Phi Beta Kappa at this university last year.

'JOURNEY'S END' IS PRAISED BY FACULTY GROUP

Next Players' Production Scores Much Favorable Sentiment.

DEAN HEPPNER AGREES

Dr. Hattie Plum Williams, Alice Howell, Others, State Views.

"Journey's End," the first play to be presented by the University Players, has been favorably commented upon by those who have already seen the play.
Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women, saw it in New York and said, "The play is a gripping drama which depicts what war does to the characters of those who live; this play will certainly have an effect upon war sentiment in this country."
Dr. Hattie Plum Williams, head of the sociology department, was emphatic in her approval.
"Every citizen should see Journey's End because it will help in equilibrating his estimate of war," she stated.
"University people will find a particular interest in it because it depicts so clearly the effect of war upon men of the student class. It is stark and unrelieved; yet just when you think you cannot stand another minute, the audience is swept off in a gale of laughter at some well-timed rally."
The dramatic values of the play and its realism appealed to Miss H. Alice Howell, head of the dramatic department, who spent five months in France during the late war, working in a red cross hospital unit. Her duties were to feed and cheer up the wounded men who came into the hospital and were waiting for the busy doctors to attend to them.
"The play is not overdone but very realistic," she stated.
Dr. G. H. Doan, university librarian, gave as his opinion: "Journey's End" is the finest play that I have ever seen from both the standpoint of the way it was produced by the English company which I saw give it and the sentiment underlying the play. I should like to see it again and again."
"The stage play is much more vivid and dramatic than the movie," is the opinion of Dave Fellman and Zolney Lerner who both saw the stage play and the moving picture.
"Journey's End" played in New York for two years and six companies were sent on the road with the play. Unfortunately, it was rarely presented outside of the larger cities. Packed with intense drama and relieved with bits of excellent comedy, it presents a new side of war which is perhaps the most tragic, the most futile of all.

WILL SELECT DIRECTOR

Appointment of Howard Kirkpatrick as chairman of a committee of seven teachers to direct the administrative affairs of the University of Nebraska's new school of music was announced Thursday by Chancellor E. A. Burnet.
The school, which was purchased by the university a short time ago, will be operated as one of the fine arts group under the direction of Paul H. Grummam, director of the school of fine arts.
"It is felt that the university needs some time to become acquainted with the problems involved in the building up of this school and in making a suitable selection for director of the school of music," Chancellor E. A. Burnet said Thursday. "Six months or more may be necessary before any definite action is taken."
All of the business of the school of music and supervision of its taken over by the university when the deed to the property came into possession of the regents.

CHEMISTRY CLUB LAYS PLANS FOR MIXER SATURDAY

Plans for a faculty-grad-student mixer were formulated at the first meeting of Phi Lambda Upsilon, professional chemistry fraternity, held in Chemistry hall.
The mixer, which is to be a steak fry, will be held Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Lincoln Auto club park. A program committee has been appointed and at present is engaged in working out plans for the affair.

TESTING MACHINE ARRIVES FOR USE OF M. E. COLLEGE

The department of applied mechanics has announced the arrival of a new testing machine. The apparatus is now on a flat car to the north of Mechanic Arts hall, and will be installed in place some time today. It is of a new type operating on the principle of the hydraulic jack and is capable of exerting a force of 300,000 pounds in compression, and 60,000 pounds in tension.
It is also equipped with a set of scales designed to measure the exact load at any time. The dead weight of the machine as shipped from Philadelphia is 9,800 pounds, and it is so huge that several doorways will have to be widened to admit it. It will be used extensively for breaking concrete cylinders and represents an investment of about $5,500.

ENSEMBLE CLASS STAGES RECITAL AT CONVENTION

Thursday morning convocation featured a recital by the ensemble class under the direction of Herbert Gray. The class was divided into four groups, each presenting one number as follows:
Allegro, first quartet of Mozart by a quartet composed of Claire Heflin, first violin; Dorothy Pterson, second violin; Miriam Wolfe, cello, and Herbert Gray, viola.
Allegro movements from Sonata for two cellos; by Ruth Sibby and Miriam Wolfe.
Nocturne Boridine, played by the members of the same string quartet as in the first group.
Allegro from the first quartet of Mozart, played by Marvel McCormick, flute; Louise Norton, violin, Marjory Baty, cello, and Herbert Gray, viola.

Mortar Board Asks Aid of Sororities

Mortar Board today requested the co-operation of the sororities on the wearing of the green buttons. It is a tradition on the campus and the buttons should be worn by pledges throughout October. Sororities are urged to insist on their members wearing the buttons. They are neater and smaller this year. This tradition has been enforced for years and the only possible way to carry it on, is to have the co-operation of the older students, according to members of Mortar Board.

COPY FOR DIRECTORY IS SENT TO PRINTERS

Correction List Taken Down; Book to Go On Sale About Nov. 1.

Copy for the 1930-1931 student directory is now going to the printers, according to Edwin Faulkner, editor of this year's publication. All lists which have been posted for correction will be taken down Friday evening. The alphabetical lists of students and faculty have been posted for the past two weeks.
Proof will be read by the telephone company some time next week and telephone numbers will be rechecked for accuracy. The list by towns is being compiled now from the list sent in by the registrar.
All advertising for the book has been sold and all copy is in. The staff hopes to have the directory ready for sale by Nov. 1. The distribution will be the same as in previous years. Book stores and booths on the campus will take care of the sale of the books with William Comstock in charge.
The directory this year will be along the same lines as last year. Alphabetical lists of all students with their addresses and phone numbers, fraternity and sorority lists, lists by home towns, faculty lists, and a campus directory will make up the book.

Three Tons of Team, Fifteen Pounds Per Man of Equipment, Visit Sooners

BY LEONARD KONKLIN.
Thirty-four hungry, broad-shouldered Cornhuskers, seven trunks, three coaches, a senior manager, two doctors, and ten other individuals were boosted aboard a southbound Burlington train at 1:40 yesterday afternoon.
There is a lot more to placing eleven men in football uniform on the field at Norman for the kickoff Saturday than is generally realized.
Football players have to be fed well. Bible's men worked out for an hour at noon yesterday and ate en route. When they reached the train after a strenuous energy absorbing exercise they wanted food at once. And unless they got it, the upholstering, suitcases, even the silverware itself was not safe.
Strong husky men like those thirty-four want dinner three times a day. A typical breakfast—fruit, cereal, milk eggs and ham or small steaks. The lunches are dinners and the dinners are banquets. So much for the menu.
Someone asked Manager Bitters what his duties are on trips.
"Everything from assistant errand boy up to policeman" he explained and that includes checking out equipment, planning packing and transportation, ringing the dinner bell and guarding university property with my life."
Prays For Dry Weather.
In foreign territory the manager always prays for no rain. If the field is wet, he must put mud cleats on every pair of shoes and that is work. On this trip the white jerseys had to be taken because Oklahoma's colors are red.

Blair Says It's Apt to Stay Hot; Perhaps Weather Man Bet on Cards And Is Taking Out His Spite Now

"The chances are pretty good that today may be the last day of the warm weather," said Meteorologist T. A. Blair, yesterday, when a reporter attempted to ascertain the reason for the warm weather. Perhaps it is because old man weather was betting on the Cardinals to win the World Series, and finding that Connie Mack outsmarted him, intends to take his spite out on the whole country.
However, he may relent, and it is entirely possible that we will have another warm spell, before October, 1930, passes into history. This of course, would not be so good for football, but on the other hand it would not be so bad for certain other types of recreation.
Not A Record Breaker.
Many students who had hoped to tell their grandchildren of the warm October back in 1930, will have to change their plans. This weather is not unusual. We are having one of the nice warm spells more or less frequent in any part of October," said Mr. Blair, "and while it is considerably above the normal, it is not especially remarkable."
A check over the complete set of records kept by the weather bureau revealed that a temperature of 83 recorded on Oct. 3, has been the highest for this year, but in 1928 a temperature of 81 was recorded. The records dating back forty-three years, give the highest temperature ever recorded in October as 82, so it may be seen that (Continued on Page 3.)

Society Reporters Urged Contribute

All society reporters wishing to retain their membership on the staff must submit contributions at the society desk in the Daily Nebraskan office before Saturday at 12 o'clock. Several representatives have failed to report since the formation of the staff.
Non-fraternity persons are urged to submit contributions to the department, according to Berenice Hoffman, society editor. The column is meant to be representative and welcomes all contributions.

NEBRASKANS ATTEND JOINT Y CONFERENCE

Five Leave for Lawrence Where Fall Meeting Will Take Place.

C. D. Hayes general secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., Wendell Groth, Meredith Nelson, Lucille Ledwith, and Evelyn Adler left this morning for Lawrence, Kansas, where they will attend the annual fall meeting of the executive committee of the Rocky Mountain field council of the Student division of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.
Wendell Groth is chairman of the Y. M. C. A. field council this year and Miss Ledwith is assistant chairman of the Y. W. C. A. conference. She is also the editor of the Rocky Mountain regional news letter. Miss Adler is in charge of the industrial work of the Y. W. C. A. council.
The meetings are to be held in Broadview Inn from Oct. 10 to 12. One of the main things in the business of the conference is the discussion of the Estes Student conference. The Y. W. C. A. conferences are being held separately but some of the sessions will be joint sessions.

WESLEY PLAYERS PLAN PARTY FOR RUSHING GUESTS

Twenty-two invitations have been issued for the annual rush party to be given by Wesley players, national dramatic organization, tonight at 8 o'clock at the Wesley Foundation parsonage 1417 R street.
The rooms will be decorated in the players' colors, black and gold. The program will consist of several skits to be given by active members of the chapter, a reading by Russell Lindskog, and a saxophone duet by Harold Bates and William Richardson, accompanied by Miss Ingeborg Nielsen at the piano. At the close of the program refreshments will be served.

DATE OF DEBATE WITH BRITISHERS STILL UNSETTLED

The date for the debate between the University of Nebraska, represented by Alan G. Williams and Lloyd Pospisil, and the team from England, although originally set for Oct. 24, is still unsettled. An attempt is being made by Prof. H. A. White, debate coach, to have the date changed to Tuesday, Oct. 28, or possibly Monday, Oct. 27.
The English team has scheduled a debate with Hastings college for the twenty-seventh and Professor White hopes to arrange to have the team in Lincoln the following evening. A reply to his telegram to them is expected today.

HUMOR SHEET'S RETURN SOUGHT BY JOURNALISTS

Sigma Delta Chi Votes to Petition Pub Board For Awgwan.
THREE STIPULATIONS
1,000 Subscription List, Enough Advertising, Staff Prospects.
Motion to petition the student publication board for return of the Awgwan, University of Nebraska comic sheet, was unanimously carried at a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, at a meeting at the Alpha Theta Chi house last night.
The petition will be accompanied by certain provision which members of Sigma Delta Chi think would insure the success of the Awgwan, if returned. The organization has decided that before the Awgwan is reinstated there should be a subscription list of a thousand, enough advertising to finance two issues, and enough staff material to furnish the publication board a good choice in selecting editor, business manager, and others of the staff. These three items are thought to be necessary to insure the all around success of the Awgwan, providing it is brought back.
Committee Appointed.
A committee made up of Elmont Waite, chairman, Maurice Akin, Lowell Davis, and Bill McGaffin was appointed at last night's meeting to further investigate the Awgwan. The committee will have the idea of furnishing concrete financial facts to the publication board for the Awgwan's return. The committee plans to look through back files of the Awgwan and ascertain the average cost of producing the magazine.
If Sigma Delta Chi obtains a thousand subscribers to the Awgwan, it secures sufficient advertising to finance two issues, and if it procures enough material to furnish choice of a good staff, will the student publication board grant the return of the Awgwan." is the petition which will be presented to the publication board by Sigma Delta Chi.
If the publication board approves the petition, Sigma Delta Chi has voted to carry out the provisions in it. This would mean the return of the Awgwan.
The petition will be presented at the earliest meeting of the publication board.
Further Business.
Further business transacted at last night's meeting included a discussion of individual members furnishing material for "Tales of the Cornhuskers" official football program. The project was dropped by an unanimous vote of the body.
A committee consisting of Edgar Backus, Leonard Conklin, and Don Packa to act as general utility group for the high school journalism convention to be held here late in October was appointed.
New members were discussed and also the possibility of giving a Gridiron banquet later in the year similar to that staged at other schools. The banquet, although the title might be misleading, is not of a football nature and would not interfere with the annual Cornhusker banquet. Gene Robb was appointed to investigate the matter.
Next meeting of Sigma Delta Chi will be held at the Theta Chi house next Thursday evening.

DAIRY JUDGING TEAM GOES TO ST. LOUIS

Three Members, Alternate, Attend National Show; Have Won Honors.

WILL BE GONE A WEEK

Nebraska's dairy judging team left Wednesday night for the National Dairy show to be held at St. Louis beginning Saturday. The team will be gone for nearly a week, according to R. F. Morgan, coach of the team.
Team members are Jesse Bilyeu, Albin; John McClean, Fremont; and Fred Meredith, St. Edward. Russell Hughes is alternate. Coaches R. F. Morgan and C. W. Nibler accompanied the team.
At the judging contests at Waterloo, Ia., last week Bilyeu led the Nebraska team in honors and placed sixth highest among all individual contestants. McClean placed in the class judging.
Pleased with the results the team gave last week in placing the various classes, Coach Morgan predicted a favorable outcome at the national show. Thirty teams from all parts of the United States and Canada will compete at St. Louis.

MARJORY SPELTS IS NEW OFFICER OF BIZAD GROUP

The Girls Commercial club, a bizad organization, held its first meeting of the year in Ellen Smith hall, Oct. 8.
Marjory Spelts was elected to succeed Beas McClellan as secretary and Mildred Meyerson was elected in place of Florence Short.
The other officers are Florence Anderson, president; Dorothy McCall, vice president; Evelyn Robinson, corresponding secretary.

ENROLLMENT IS 331 IN 27 NIGHT CLASSES

Business English Course Is Largest; Fourteen New Subjects Scheduled.

Preliminary registration figures for the University of Nebraska's night school classes give a total of 331 pupils enrolled in twenty-seven courses. These figures are not final, as registration will continue for another week.
The class in Business English, taught by Professor Wesesen, has the largest registration so far, with thirty-five pupils enrolled. High in enrollment is the class in interior decoration, with Professor Kirsch as instructor. This class is new among courses in the night school, being opened for the first time this fall.
Courses Dropped.
Three courses which were offered in night classes last year have been dropped from the curricula this fall. They are classes in Analytical Geometry, Business Law, and Spanish. Classes in Boy Scout leadership and agricultural credit may be dropped when the enrollment for the school is completed.
Twenty-eight students have enrolled for two history courses: Civil War, under Mr. Cochran, and American History to 1929, under Miss Lyman. Fifty-one pupils have registered for instruction in the Modern Novel, English Composition, and the Short Story and Short Story Writing. Twenty-six have enrolled for the class in Accounting under Mr. Cole.
Several new classes have been added to the list of courses offered in night school. They are: The American Short Story, Business Management of Schools, Business Psychology, Descriptive Geometry, Illustrated History, Interior Decoration, Land Economics, Lip Reading, Personal Hygiene, Psychology, Secondary Education, Statistical Methods, Standardized Testing, and Trigonometry.

SIXTY TRY OUT FOR RIFLES IN INITIAL COMPET

Approximately sixty men turned out for the season's initial Fershing Rifles tryouts, held Thursday evening on the drill field under the supervision of military officers.
The men were divided into the groups of seven, each group under the inspection of a captain or a sergeant. Commands from the manual of arms were administered and mistakes in responding to these commands were counted as black marks against the individuals.
Another set of tryouts will be held tonight for those who were unable to participate Thursday. Forty men are to be chosen in the final selection which will be made by members of Fershing Rifles society by ballot.

Elmora Miller Talks On Church Activities

"Lincoln Churches, Peace Societies, and Clubs," was the subject of a short talk given by Miss Elmora Miller, religious secretary of Trinity Methodist church, at a meeting of the efficiency in government group at Ellen Smith hall Thursday evening. The group is a part of the League of Women Voters.
About thirty-five girls were present at the meeting which was led by Leone Ketterer. She discussed civil service reforms and commissions with the group. Refreshments were served during the meeting.

Must Check Names.

Students whose names begin with Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, Y and Z are asked to check the student directory lists which are posted on Social Sciences building bulletin board.

Factions Will Meet Tuesday to Nominate

Both major fraternity factions have announced caucus meetings to elect candidates for class officers on Tuesday night.
The Blue Shirts will meet at the Sigma Phi Sigma house and the Yellow Jackets at the Phi Kappa Psi house.
