KANSAS DROPS OUT OF CONFERENCE

PLACE OF RALLY TRANSFERRED TO MEMORIAL HALL

Teachers Association Will Occupy Coliseum; Rest Of Plans Remain.

COBS DISTRIBUTE CARDS

'Even That Score' Is Slogan Referring to 2 to 1 Pittsburgh Lead.

Because the Nebraska State Teachers association is using the coliseum Friday night the Pittsburgh rally will be held in Grant Memorial hall, Carl Hahn, chairman of the innocents rally committee announced yesterday.

All of the original plans for the pep session will be carried out, he declared. Featuring the program will be Leo Beck and his orchestra with pep talks by John Curtis, a prominent Cornhusker alumnus, and Coach D. X. Bible, whose proteges will battle the vaunted Pittsburgh eleven at Memorial stadium Saturday.

Cards Distributed.

Forewarners of the preparations for the Pittsburgh rally were in evidence yesterday when slogans were distributed to cars on the campus.

The cards, bearing the legend, "Pitt the Panthers," and "Watch Pitt Fall," were placed upon automobiles by members of Corn Cobs. Tags saying, "Now Stop Pitt" on one side and "Even That Score" on the other will be distributed today.

Pitt Leads 2 to 1.

The last exhortation refers to the fact that Pittsburgh holds a margin over Nebraska in victories by two to one.

A new Cornhusker pep song will also be introduced at the rally. The Corn Cobs will sing the new fight anthem, a copy of which will be published in The Daily Nebraskan of Friday morning.

Rally Starts at 7 p. m.

The rally begins at 7 o'clock Friday evening at 16th and R street, where the band will lead a procession of students to Grant Memorial hall. Bill McCleary will introduce the two speakers. It is possible that a member of the Pittsburgh delegation will also be on hand to speak.

Cheering will be led by Ralph Rodgers, head varsity cheer leader. He will be assisted by Harold and Howard Nelson.

AG FACULTY TO TALK TO STATE TEACHERS HERE

Three members of the home economics faculty at the agricultural college will appear on the program of the Nebraska State Teachers association meetings in Lincoln this week.

Miss Mary Mason, instructor in housing and equipment, and Mrs. Edna B. Snyder, research specialist, will speak Thursday on "Selection of Equipment for the Home and School." Miss Beas Steele, head of the design division, will discuss etchings Friday afternoon. Both programs will be held at the Bancroft school.

Meeting of Baptist Class Called Sunday

The university class of the First Baptist church at Fourteenth and W streets will meet from 12 to 12:30 o'clock Sunday. The class discussion will center around the subject "Concepts of God." This subject was presented by Dr. F. A. Staff, professor of English at the university, in his talk before the class the previous Sunday. The students will discuss their reactions to the subject.

ARTS CLUB DINNER IS SET FOR NOV. 6

The Arts club will hold a dinner meeting at 6 p. m. Nov. 6 in the china painting room of Morrill hall. Miss Paulkner will present an address on "Sketching in the Adirondacks." The chief business of the meeting will be the election of new members.

1928 Pitt-Husker Battle Scoreless Tie

Neither Team Able to Push Ball Across Goal, Records Show; Reb Russell, Clair Sloan, Blue Howell Are Leaders Nebraska's Attack.

The 1928 battle between Pittsburgh and Nebraska was a big disappointment to Husker followers although the game ended in a scoreless tie. Neither team was able to get any place with its running attack and the battle for the most part was waged in the middle of the field.

Pittsburgh had the Huskers backed up to their own goal line in the second quarter but Row-Oley a substitute half back, punted out of danger. Nebraska appeared to have the edge over the yellow shirts but their failure to display anything that even closely resembled a serial game cost them a chance to score. The Huskers did not attempt a single pass during the course of the afternoon.

Toby Uansa and Tom Parkinson led the Panther attack, their thrusts at the line nearly resulting in a Pitt victory.

WESLEY PLAYERS SEEKING RECRUITS FOR ORGANIZATION

Any student who is interested in religious dramatic work Wednesday was offered an opportunity of affiliating with the Wesley players Methodist dramatic organization.

"Due the large number of senior members who graduated last spring, we have openings in our membership ranks for several students," Miss Carolyn Cooper, president of the group, said today. "Anyone who is interested in this work and who has not attended the open meeting to be held by the organization next Wednesday night at 7 o'clock at the Wesley Foundation parsonage, 1417 R street."

A rush party was held recently for those interested and the students who attended this party have been asked to come to the open meeting. A number of one act plays in addition to several longer dramas are planned for this year.

TRIAL OF ORFIELD FEATURES SMOKER

Law Professor Convicted of Obstructing Learning by Rapid Talk.

H. W. BAIRD IS SPEAKER

Trial of Prof. Lester B. S. Orfield on the charge of malicious obstruction of learning by continued rapid talking in his classes and for failure to show proper school spirit by standing for the court of Lincoln, Frost, Jr., properly handcuffed by bailiff Robert Lecon. Witnesses, duly sworn by Judge Frost to tell "the truth, the whole truth, and anything you can get away with," were produced by the prosecution to prove that students were not permitted to take the instructor's notes, and that their inability to do so prevented their advancement of learning.

Swedish Girl Testifies

A Swedish girl friend, portrayed by Maynard Mills, was charged to have been brought by the defendant from Minnesota to Lincoln, and was introduced as a character witness. Hearsay testimony of coeds was further added to the state's attack. The blacked character of the professor, despite the insistence by the defense that he was but a "blue-eyed school boy."

Defense attorney John McKnight and Fred Rees brought witnesses to show that one student was able to take the instructor's notes, and brought forth the argument that a law professor should not be expected to recognize "The Cornhusker" from any other song. Tender orations by the attorneys, including a fantastic portrayal of the university by Attorney Sleom, and Judge Frost to direct a verdict of guilty, suspending sentence until the next meeting of the court.

Attorney Baird to Speak. H. W. Baird, Lincoln attorney, described changes that have developed in law and law college students within the past twenty years, telling how the day of outstanding "characters" noted for their distinctive characteristics has passed, and has been replaced by the era of better, but more uniform attorneys.

Included among the guests at the smoker were four members of the state supreme bench, Judge Lincoln Frost, Sr., and County Attorney Max Toyle. Guests and the speaker of the evening were introduced by Dean H. H. Foster.

Tap dancing and musical numbers were included in the evening's program.

PITT TO ENTERTAIN EDITORS

As the host of the editors and business managers of college newspapers from all sections of the country, the University of Pittsburgh will entertain the annual convention of the national college press association on Nov. 21 and 22.

Here Are Some of the Panthers the Huskers Will Face Saturday

PAUL COLLINS

The use of the huddle cheated Paul Collins, champion hog caller, out of a chance to play quarter and use his voice on the football field but Coach Jack Sutherland found a good place for him at end. Collins is from Sioux City, Ia., Josh Williams, halfback, outgained all other Panthers back in his sophomore year and will be a big threat when Pitt meets Nebraska. Charley Tully has been a member of the team for two years. He is a tackle.

JOSH WILLIAMS

PROF. M. G. SMITH DIES IN OKLAHOMA

Nebraska Professors Laud Ability As Student And Teacher.

News has come to members of the faculty that Professor Maurice Greer Smith, lately of the University of Oklahoma, died October 22 of typhoid fever after a three week's illness.

Mr. Smith first came to the University of Nebraska as an undergraduate student from the University of North Dakota in the year 1920 and enrolled in the college of Arts and Sciences. He very quickly attracted the attention of the faculty by his intense eagerness for and his brilliant record as a student.

Interested in Economics. He was particularly interested in economics, sociology, and anthropology, taking a great deal of work with Dean LeRossignol, professor of Economics, and Professor Webster, and Professor Hutton.

He took his degree of Bachelor of Arts in the year 1922, and the degree of Master of Arts in the year 1923. His master's thesis on "A Council Among the Plain Indians" was an important piece of original work.

Prominent on Campus. Mr. Smith occupied several positions in the University of Nebraska: first as assistant to Dean LeRossignol, then instructor in the department of economics, and later in the absence of Professor Hutton.

He was an excellent teacher and early gave promise of becoming a distinguished scholar in his chosen field, according to Dean LeRossignol.

After leaving the University of Nebraska, Mr. Smith received a fellowship in the Robert Brookings graduate school, Washington, D. C., where he continued his graduate work until he received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in the year 1927. In that year he was appointed assistant professor of Sociology and Anthropology in the University of Colorado, where he remained until the year 1929, when he was appointed professor in Anthropology at the University of Oklahoma.

Spent Summer With Indians. He was particularly interested in the primitive economics and spent most of last summer in the field among the Indians of Oklahoma. He was one of the most promising of the younger anthropologists in this country and his early death, according to Dean LeRossignol, is a distinct loss to the cause of scientific investigation in that field.

Dr. Smith was married in April, 1925 and they had one son, Paul. Both Dr. and Mrs. Smith were members of Phi Beta Kappa.

DRAWING CLASS RECENTLY VISITS LELAND RESIDENCE

Mrs. Dean R. Leland, wife of the Presbyterian university pastor, extended the courtesy of an inspection of her home to the class in elementary working drawings in the department of architecture. Explaining the trip, Instructor W. G. Hill, who took the students thru the house, said: "We think Mrs. Leland's house is one of the nicest in town, and it is so close to the campus that we wanted to inspect it." The firm of Davis and Wilson, architects of the residence, have furnished the department with a set of the working drawings. The Leland home, known as "Westminster house," is located at 233 North 14 street.

EXPERIENCED TALKERS REPRESENT NBRASKA

Earl Fishbaugh, Ted Fiedler To Debate With Creighton In Omaha Oct 31.

Nebraska's team which will debate Creighton university Oct. 31, at the Omaha Central high school auditorium, is composed of two members who have had considerable experience in intercollegiate debating.

Earl C. Fishbaugh, who first debated with Shenandoah, Ia., high school participated in debates with the University of Nebraska and later against Drake university.

Ted R. Fiedler, the other member of the Nebraska team, argued for Nebraska against Iowa State at Omaha; University of South Dakota at Lincoln; and Kansas university at Lincoln last year.

The question for debate, "The nation should adopt a poll tax to complete conscription except for such forces as are needed for police protection," is to be used for the benefit of members of the State Teachers' association, before whom it will be staged. This question was selected as the state question for high school debate from several by a vote of the members of the Nebraska high school debating league.

COEDS REFUSE DISCUSSION OF SMOKING AT OHIO

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—The coeds in the Ohio State university dormitories, Oxley, Mack and Nell halls have refused to commit themselves on the smoking question. Although W. S. G. A. ruled last year that the matter should be settled by vote in each hall, the freshmen women have not yet taken such a step.

It is probable, furthermore, that no vote will be taken at all this year unless there are complaints. The situation is in marked contrast to that of last year, for at that time two distinct factions were evident. The girls smoke in their rooms if they wish and, according to the presidents of the three halls, Marie P. Skodak, Ed-4; Ethel M. Winterhalter, A-4; and Alice A. May, Ed-3, the question will not be debated this year.

JOURNALISM DINNER TICKETS GO ON SALE

Annual Affair to Be Held at Annex Cafe; Theta Sigma Phi Is Sponsor.

WOMEN SELL TICKETS

Tickets for the annual school of journalism dinner to be held Thursday, Nov. 6 at the Annex cafe will go on sale this morning. It is customary for all members enrolled in the school to attend this dinner. Students from other colleges who are interested are also invited.

The idea employed in the arrangement of toasts is that of a new school newspaper of which Francis Holyoke, a present news editor of The Daily Nebraskan, will act as toast mistress, in editorial-chief. Various reporters working under her will give the after-dinner speeches.

The reporters include William McCleary, editor of the Nebraskan, who will cover Ellen Smith hall; Bob Kelly, managing editor of the school paper, who has the military department for his "beat"; Neal Gomon, Lincoln Star editor who will cover extension activities; Gen. Robb, Robb, director of the university news service and former Nebraskan editor who will deal with the school administration, and Cliff Sandahl, Omaha Bee sports writer and former Nebraskan editor who will cover the athletic department.

Mystery surrounds the identity of the last speaker on the program who is a "ghost writer" speaking for others, unknown to all. His name will not be disclosed until the dinner.

The hour of the affair is set at 6:30. Tickets, which cost sixty-five cents may be obtained from all members of Theta Sigma Phi and are also being sold at the journalism school and Daily Nebraskan offices.

Underclassmen in the school are especially urged to be present.

Banquet for Kappa Phi Alumni Planned Tonight

The Kappa Phi alumni will attend a dinner at the Wesley Foundation parsonage at 5:40 this evening. The event was planned so as to allow members who will be here for the State Teachers' convention to attend it. Reservations have been made for about forty members of the group.

ENGLISH DEBATERS LAUD STATE'S NEW CAPITOL BUILDING

Tuesday afternoon the English debaters, B. J. Grehan and D. Hope Elletson, were the guests of Gilbert H. Doane, university librarian, and J. Harris Gable, also of the library staff, on a tour of the Nebraska state capitol. In company with Alan Williams, a thorough investigation of the building was made.

Both of the Englishmen were enthusiastic in their praise, saying that the state capitol "compared more than favorably with buildings of similar purpose all over the world." Special interest was shown in the governor's private office. It was declared far superior in furnishings and arrangement to any of the executive offices in London.

BRYAN ESSAY PRIZE GIVEN TWICE BEFORE

Story in Sunday Paper Is Erroneous; Librarian Discovers Error.

Sunday's Nebraskan published a story stating that the William Jennings Bryan essay contest would be held for the first time which was erroneous.

According to J. Harris Gable of the university library the prize has been awarded twice before, once in 1908 when it was awarded to H. C. Robertson, and again in 1911 when it was awarded to James A. Cline.

Each annual catalogue of the university from 1897 bore out this statement. "For the best essay on the science of government is offered annually the income of $250, the gift of Hon. William Jennings Bryan."

To this paragraph, each year, was appended the information that no award had been made the year before, with the two exceptions mentioned above.

To supplement this information, the essays themselves are on file in the library. Robertson's essay of fourteen pages, is entitled: "Development of the System of Municipal Government Harmonize with the Spirit of American Institutions." Cline's essay bears the title: "The Nebraska Primary Law."

PAUL HARVEY IS ELECTED HEAD OF AG Y. M. COUNCIL

Paul Harvey, Agricultural college freshman, was elected head of the Ag Y. M. C. A. Freshman council at the last meeting of the group. The council will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the Ag Y rooms in Agricultural hall.

Professor Rosenquist is in charge of the meeting and will lead the group in the discussion of "Development of the System of Municipal Government Harmonize with the Spirit of American Institutions." The committee consists of Leonard Wenzel, Art Peterson, Gail Klingman, Willard Waldo, and Glen Humrick.

OFFICIALS DECLARE PLAYERS ELIGIBLE

Jayhawk Athletic Board Refuses to Censure Athletes Following Thorough Investigation; Action Indicates Voluntary Withdrawal.

THOMPSON EXPRESSES REGRET AT DECISION

Elimination of Big Six School Leaves Gap in Husker Schedule for Next Year; Gish Interprets Step as Indication of Trouble.

Voluntary withdrawal of the University of Kansas from the Big Six conference was the interpretation given by most observers in the valley circuit yesterday, to the refusal of the Kansas athletic board to declare any of its athletes ineligible.

Dean T. J. Thompson, faculty representative from Nebraska, expressed disappointment at the action of Kansas officials.

"I sincerely regret their action and hope it is not final," he told The Daily Nebraskan. "I believe that Kansas officials intend to investigate their athletic situation more fully later."

Failure Will Cause Break. Failure to do that, Dean Thompson admitted, will not only cause the Jayhawk institution to sever relations with Big Six schools but will lead it to further difficulties.

Jim Bausch and the rest of the players under question were given an official whitewash by an announcement made Wednesday by Chancellor Lindley, chairman of the Kansas athletic board.

Officials Exonerate Athletes. Faculty representatives in meeting last Saturday announced that the other five schools in the Big Six conference will refuse to schedule further athletic contests until Kansas "cleans house." An investigation was immediately begun and the result was a complete exoneration by Kansas officials.

This is the Kansas statement: "With the evidence as collected and presented, the University of Kansas athletic board feels not justified in declaring any of the present football squad ineligible." It was announced that this decision was unanimous but no comment was made by board members.

Elimination of Kansas from the conference leaves a gap in the Cornhusker home football schedule for next year, according to H. D. Gish, director of athletics. "We are building our home schedule around the Kansas and Iowa games," he said. "If Kansas is out of the conference we will need another headline home attraction."

Coaches Not Involved. The action of conference in suspending Kansas was taken by the faculty representatives and not by the athletic directors or coaches, according to Gish.

"No doubt there is something radically wrong at Kansas and the faculty representatives would not have taken that action," was his comment.

University Pastor and Students Give Program

Rev. W. C. Fawell, Methodist university pastor, accompanied by Quinn Lotzpeich, Lloyd Watt, and John W. Eberly, drove to Arlington Wednesday evening to furnish program numbers for the all community church night services, which are a monthly event at the Methodist church of that city.

Vocal and instrumental music were furnished by the group, and the Rev. Fawell delivered an address on the subject, "Facing the Elements."

Sigma Lambda Holds Meeting on Tuesday

Sigma Lambda, honorary arts sorority, met Tuesday evening from 7 to 8 in the modeling room of Morrill hall. The affair was the monthly craft meeting, which alternates every two weeks with the monthly business meeting.

CREIGHTON PLANS WELCOME

Three thousand alumni are expected in Omaha to help celebrate 1930 homecoming at Creighton university.

Dad's Day This Year Is Ninth Annual Event; First Was Held Nov. 18, 1922

Nov. 1 this year will be Dad's day for more reasons than one. It is indeed appropriate, as some one has said, to have Dad's day on the first day of the month, but the first of November this year will see the dads of Cornhusker lads and lassies coming into their own.

Every University of Nebraska dad has been invited to attend the annual Dad's day on the occasion of the Pittsburgh-Nebraska football clash next Saturday. Mortar Boards and innocents are planning a luncheon for those dads at the chamber of commerce at noon. Dads will be the guests of honor of the university on that day.

is Annual Event. Since Nov. 18, 1922, Dad's day has been an annual tradition at the University of Nebraska. On that day Nebraska honored the dads at the Nebraska-Kansas Aggie game.

A special section of the stands was reserved for parents and sons, and a huge banquet was held at noon. Gov. S. R. McKelvie, Chancellor Avery, Mayor Frank Zehrung, Coach Fred Dawson, Capt. "Chick" Hartley, and Chauncey Nelson, president of the innocents, addressed the assembled dads and students at the luncheon. In the evening a military carnival was held in the armory. Dads were sent invitations by all the fraternities.

Saw Notre Dame Play. The second Dad's day was held on Nov. 10, 1923, at the Notre Dame-Nebraska game. Fraternities entertained for the dads and a banquet was held in Memorial hall at noon. After the banquet the dads and students proceeded to the new stadium and witnessed the game from special sections for dads and sons. George F. Bishop of York, a Nebraska graduate, was the principal speaker at the banquet.

The chamber of commerce was the scene of the Dad's day banquet on Oct. 29, 1927. Three hundred and thirty-five dads and sons attended the affair and a number were turned away because of lack of preparation for so many crowded. Marie Jones presided.
