NEW SYSTEM OF LETTER AWARDS IS UNDER FIRE

Announcement of Major and Minor N Grants Flayed By Athletes.

AGREE RULE IS GOOD But Present Enforcement Considered Unfair to Football Subs.

Announcement of a new system of major and minor awards to participants in varsity athletics Monday drew the fire of varsity football players, who criticized the announcement of the new rule on the grounds of expediency.

According to an official letter issued this morning by H. D. Gish, director of athletics, awards for varsity sports, starting with the present football season, will be of two sorts, major and minor letters. Major letters for football will be given only to those men who have played more than 100 minutes in three games, while a player who has been in any two games will be given a minor letter.

The new rule, according to five varsity squad members interviewed Monday, is a good one, but its issuance at the present time was regarded by all of them as unfair to the player who has seen more than forty-five minutes service in games this year, and who would have received a regular letter under the rule existing before the change.

Gish Changes. Still further ground for their feeling, according to the players interviewed, was the fact that Director Gish, in a talk at the University club before the season opened, said that some change was likely, but that if any were to be made for the present season, it would be announced before the first game. They were practically unanimous in their feeling that the change should not have been made for the present season.

"I think it is unfair to the man who has played forty-five minutes this year to deprive him of a regular varsity letter," Frank Prucka, Omaha, now playing his third year of football, said. "The rule in itself is good, but its issuance at this time may cause some hard feelings among those of the squad who have played just about enough to earn a regular letter under the old ruling."

Steve Hokuf Kicks. His sentiment was echoed by Steve Hokuf, end, playing his second year. "The man who has played enough minutes to get his letter and now sees that he won't get a regular award is likely to feel that there is some injustice some place," the giant Crete youth declared. "The rule is good, for"

LARGE CROWD OUT FOR DANCE CLASS

Turnout of 200 for First Meeting Beyond All Expectations.

The first of a series of five dancing lessons were given last Saturday night at 7:30 at the Armory. These lessons are in charge of the social committee of the Y. W. C. A. and sponsored by Misses Thoren and Wagner, faculty members of the department of Physical Education.

According to Miss Wagner, the affair was a great success. About 200 students were present, exceeding the number expected. The lessons are given every Saturday night at 7:30 and are open to both men and women. This is an opportunity for students to learn steps in ballroom dancing as well as the latest dance creations.

In order to prepare for the unexpected crowd, a meeting of the committee is called for Wednesday at Ellen Smith hall at 5:00 o'clock to reorganize the program to take care of everyone. Any student who would like to help in the instruction please be present at the meeting or see one of the sponsors. The student committee, headed by Blossom McDade, is composed of Marie Sokup, Harriet Regger, Esther Fuenning, Velma McCue, and Addath Pierce.

Activities, Study Claim Time of David Fellman, Rhodes Candidate

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of five articles dealing with the activities and scholastic history of the candidates for Nebraska Rhodes scholarship. The next article will appear in a later issue.

By ART WOLF. Participation in numerous campus activities, working for the acceptance of the proportional representation plan, and working toward his degrees have filled David Fellman's five years at the University of Nebraska. Fellman is one of the five Nebraska applicants for the Rhodes scholarship.

He is a political science major specializing in the field of political philosophy and theory. He received his A. B. degree in 1928 and his master's in 1929. At the present time he is working on his doctor's degree and is teaching several classes in the department. He matriculated in the university in 1925. Last year Fellman was elected

MORTAR BOARDS WILL ENTERTAIN MIZZOU CHAPTER

Members of Mortar Board will entertain the visiting chapter of Missouri Mortar Boards, both active and alumni at a luncheon Saturday noon at the Cornhusker hotel to celebrate Homecoming.

This is the annual Homecoming luncheon given by Mortar Board which heretofore has not included the visiting chapter members and will be done this year. Invitations have already been issued to all Mortar Board members of Missouri university at Columbia, Missouri. Both active and alumni members are expected to attend making the luncheon larger and more inclusive than any previous affair.

Helen McAnulty is in charge of arrangements. She has planned a decorative scheme of gold and silver, Mortar Board colors.

NEW LAYOUT PLANNED IN HUSKER YEARBOOK

Large Number of Pictures Needed, Editor of Annual Says.

After a special conference with Kansas City engravers over the week-end, Kenneth Gammill, editor of the Cornhusker, has announced that a new and original layout will be provided for pictures in the fraternity and sorority sections in the books this year while the junior and senior pictures will be provided with special borders.

"The makeup which has been arranged for pictures in the fraternity and sorority sections will require a large number of photos from each organization," the yearbook editor said.

Reports from Hauck's and Townsend's studios indicate that there has been a material increase in the number of student photographic sittings over the week-end.

Only Short Time Left. With only eleven days left before the studios will be closed to all students who want pictures in the Cornhusker, the yearbook staff is continuing to call for appointments. Special emphasis is being laid upon the junior and senior sections in order that everyone may be notified in plenty of time before the sections are closed.

"We have had fair co-operation from the student body," Gammill asserted, "but there are still a large number of students who have failed to have photographs taken. We are confident, however, that these will be taken care of before the Nov. 25 time limit approaches."

No Complicated Arrangements. There is no complicated arrangement involved in making studio appointments, according to the yearbook editorial staff. Ordinarily, all that is necessary is to appear at the studio in a spare moment and the student will be photographed within five or ten minutes' time.

Recent announcements from the photographers say that fraternity and sorority pictures, as well as those for the junior and senior sections, must be in before Nov. 25.

to the Student council from the graduate college and was appointed chairman of the committee on student organizations. In that capacity he, together with the committee, evolved the plan of proportional representation and the control of the three factions on the campus.

It was his initiative and drive which finally resulted in the student body passing on the plan which is now in use for the election of members of the Student council. The plan provides for representation for all of the three factions in proportion to the votes cast.

HOUSE DISPLAY EXPENSES MUST BE IN BY FRIDAY

Deadline for Submitting Accounts to Kennedy Set for Noon.

JUDGING IN EVENING

Fraternities who expect to enter the Homecoming house decoration contest this year are required to submit an itemized account of their expenditures to George Kennedy at the Alpha Tau Omega house before Friday noon. If this account is not entered by this time, the fraternity will not be considered by the judges.

The judging will take place at 7 o'clock Friday evening, and according to Kennedy, the houses will be judged not so much on the lavishness of the decoration as on the uniqueness and originality of the idea and design. No house is allowed to spend more than $25 on their design.

The judges are Prof. Harry Cunningham of the architectural engineering college, Ray Ramsey, secretary of the Alumni association, and Mrs. Ellery Davis, former Nebraska student, wife of a prominent Lincoln architect.

Winners of last year's competition were the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and the Alpha Theta Chi fraternity. Winners of this year's competition will be announced in the Daily Nebraskan as soon as the report is made by the judges.

Rhea Finds Tooth Missing in Check Up After K.U. Mix

Hughie Rhea, giant Husker tackle, had to have a looking glass to discover what caused that great empty feeling he had after the Kansas game.

Hugh came from the game, worn and weary. As he took his shower, he realized that something was missing. Upon investigating, he found that sometime during the fury of the tilt some Jayhawk athlete had kicked out one of his teeth.

The husky lad plans to have the vacant hole filled sometime this week. Monday he expressed the fervent hope that the Missouri Tigers would refrain from kicking him in the mouth this weekend.

CANES ARE LATEST IN FRESHMEN DRESS

New Tradition Foisted on Pledges to Block and Bridle Club.

BY BOYD VON SEGGERN. First it is green caps, then overalls and aprons, and now members of Block and Bridle, honorary animal husbandry society on the college of agriculture campus, are compelling their pledges to carry canes. Green caps are the university tradition and denim and gingham effects were in honor of Farmers formal of last week.

It is a new tradition, so the Block and Bridle men proclaim. Fourteen junior men, consequently, are tucking walking sticks under their arms until they become initiated Tuesday night. Each pledge, moreover, must have ample supplies of tobacco on his person, in the form of cigarettes and rough cut.

Initiation will be held in the judging pavilion tonight, Merle White, president of the club, stated. Plans for carrying out the new tradition will be further discussed following the ceremonies.

Present plans are to provide each member of the club with a cane as an emblem of the society, the canes to be kept by the members as they graduate. The canes will be black and will have the figure of either a bull's head or the head of a hog as a handle.

Regiment Officers Will Ride Horses in Today's Parade

On your steeds, you men, and be off! This is the newest command for R. O. T. C. officers at the University of Nebraska, who are gradually shaping themselves for the "big parade" to be put on as a part of the annual Lincoln observance of Armistice Day Tuesday.

For the first time in a number of years, the campus army officers, from the colonel down to the battalion leaders will have a chance to use those weighty spurs on their boots—because they are all to be mounted on horses.

To some of the officers the experience will be new but to one, Major Alan G. Williams, Lincoln, it will be an old, old custom. Here's the reason: Last week when Williams learned of the forthcoming "mounted parade" he immediately got busy, chartered a horse and indulged in daily and sometimes semi-daily horseback riding practices—all by himself. And now, he believes, he will be able to show the public how easy it is to ride a horse.

The entire R. O. T. C. in the university will take part in the day's festivities, which are held in collaboration with the local American Legion post.

Grumann Speaks Prof. Paul H. Grumann, director of the school of fine arts, spoke in Fremont last Monday. He addressed the Fremont Woman's club on the subject, "Art in the Home."

Junior Men Plan Guard Bonfire on Wednesday Night

All junior men last night were requested by Steve Hokuf, junior class president, to aid in guarding the homecoming bonfire Wednesday night.

At a junior meeting last evening, it was voted that the juniors start at 9 o'clock Wednesday to guard the fire from possible conflagration by students or others. It is hoped that at least 100 junior men will report for the all night vigil.

Plans were made for a committee to collect funds Wednesday night to provide a lunch for those who will guard the fire.

REGIMENT WILL MARCH THROUGH LINCOLN TODAY

Parade is Observance by University of World War Armistice.

LEADERS TO BE MOUNTED

At 12:45 today, 1,900 cadets will assemble on the parade ground preparatory to the R. O. T. C. Armistice Day parade through downtown Lincoln, according to an order issued by Col. H. W. Oury of the military department. The university service flag will be carried by selected members of the cadet regiment and the R. O. T. C. band and Pershing Rifles will form in separate companies.

All classes for Tuesday afternoon have been closed and all activity heads have been directed to schedule no conflicting meetings for the day.

After the regular downtown parade in joint assemblage with the American Legion and other military organizations the university regiment will return to the parade grounds for a Regimental parade, according to the military department order.

Behn Issues Notice. The following notice was issued yesterday by Cadet Colonel Behn: All R. O. T. C. officers and basic men are required to wear white shirts for the Armistice Day parade, Tuesday, Nov. 11.

For the first time in several years field and staff officers of the R. O. T. C. regiment will be mounted for the parade. This feature has been made possible through provisions made with Pratt's Riding Academy which is furnishing horses for the occasion.

The parade will start south on Fifteenth street to O. West on O to Ninth, North on Ninth to P. East on P to Fourteenth and back to the parade ground for the regimental drill display.

The following units of the regiment are included in the official parade order: Regimental headquarters, university service flag, the R. O. T. C. band, Pershing Rifles, headquarters company, first battalion, second battalion, and third battalion. The Armistice Day parade event is the only formal parade of the first semester.

Dr. Miguel Basoco, assistant professor in mathematics, will speak to Phi Mu Epsilon 7:30 p. m. Thursday, Nov. 13, in Social Science 107. He will speak on "Gauss's Solution of the Biquadratic." This is an interesting method as it is related to the geometry of systems of conics in analytic geometry. All students interested are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

KANSAS DEBATERS TO MEET GERMAN TEAM ON DEC. 4

LAWRENCE, Kas.—Two students representing the National Union of German students will meet two members of the University of Kansas debate squad, Dec. 4. The question will be, "Resolved: That the foreign indictment of American culture is justified." The debate will be held in Fraser theater at the University of Kansas. According to Professor E. C. Buehler, university debate coach, the debate will be conducted according to the German debate system which differs from both English and the American methods. The Germans do not have a formal rebuttal, but are permitted to interrupt their opponents at any time during the main speech to ask questions. The visiting speakers will have an interpreter to explain any phrases which may be strange to them. The German debaters will also summarize their talks briefly in German for the benefit of those persons in the audience who may understand the language.

GIANT BONFIRE FOR RALLY BEING BUILT

Pyre Guarded to Prevent Its Burning Before Scheduled Time.

A gigantic bonfire, forty feet across at the bottom and over fifty feet high, will be the feature of the pep rally on the drill field, Friday night at 7 o'clock. The bonfire rally, a traditional event at Nebraska, will be held before the homecoming game.

According to Alan Williams, chairman of the Innocent's committee in charge of the rally, the blaze will be the biggest ever attempted in the history of the school. Erection of the structure began yesterday when five poles, contributed by the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company, were erected and several truckloads of boxes and paper were put on the field as a foundation for the fire.

Railroad ties will be used for the understructure so as to give the fire plenty of draft. The center pole is fifty feet high and is guyed to the four outside poles by strong wires. It is topped by a block and tackle which will be used to pull boxes and barrels to the top of the stack.

Crude Oil. A campaign of the downtown business and industrial section has been made by a Corn Cob committee under Eddie Faulkner and almost every Lincoln firm is contributing to the bonfire. Alan Williams has secured 500 gallons of crude oil from the Phillips Petroleum company, to be used in making a bigger blaze.

Williams is asking members of the various classes that it will not be set fire to as has been done in the past. The Freshmen class headed by Bill Weir, president, watched over the structure last

Nebraskans Enjoy Hospitality, Admire School Spirit of K. U.; Student Councils Have Control

BY BOB KELLY.

The 1,500 or more Nebraska students who journeyed to Lawrence last week end, in addition to seeing a clean, hard-fought football game between ancient rivals, enjoyed a glimpse of college life on Mt. Oread.

An amazingly beautiful campus, magnificent fraternity and sorority homes and a school spirit not entirely identified with football, were characteristics of the University of Kansas especially noted by Nebraskans. Cornhusker students were one in their praise of Jayhawk hospitality. A number of institutions and traditions existing on the Nebraska campus also exist at Kansas although somewhat modified. Self-Government. The Jayhawkers have a men's student council comparable, perhaps, to the student council at Nebraska but certainly not similar to it. Student self government is a reality at the institution which overlooks the beautiful Kaw valley. The men's student council and

SEGREGATION OF MEN AND WOMEN ON TRIP FAILURE

Students Refuse to Give Up Seats in Order to Stay Separated.

NO DISORDER CHARGED

Faculty Sponsors Praise Conduct of All Train Occupants.

Plans of faculty sponsors to segregate men and women students on the excursion train returning from Lawrence Saturday night failed dismally. Long before the departure time of the special coeds found seats in all of the coaches and refused to move to the back of the train in the coaches reserved for women.

Lack of sufficient seating space on the train added to the confusion caused by efforts to segregate women to the back of the train. Many coeds refused to leave their seats unless they were assured seats in the women's sections. For the first hour of the trip the train was a veritable bedlam of confusion but order was restored with both men and women students in every car.

After the first half hour no attempt was made to force coeds to the rear of the train.

Dean Harper Approves. "I was very well satisfied with the trip," said Dean Harper, assistant dean of student affairs, yesterday concerning the conduct of the students on the K. U. special train Saturday. "I have made every trip since 1924," he said, "and have never been on one that was any better."

Mr. Harper said that the apparent more crowded condition on the return trip was probably due to the fact that going down there were always many in the aisles and parading from one car to another, while on the return trip most of the students settled down to sleep.

As to the segregation of the men and women, Mr. Harper said that the scarcity of seats on the return trip made it practically impossible to carry out the plan.

Students Only. In the opinion of the dean the exclusion of outsiders from the train on the Kansas trip helped much in fostering better behavior on the train. In other years, when the trip was not under university supervision, students got much blame for things done by outsiders who made the trip, since the train was run by the railroad company and open to anyone wishing to make the trip.

Faculty sponsors were unanimous in praising the behavior of Nebraska students on the trip to Kansas. There were approximately 700 students on the return trip including the football team which enjoyed a restful trip in two Pullman cars. The spirit evidenced on the trip to Lawrence was noticeably lacking on the return journey to Lincoln.

ENGINEERS TO ATTEND BARBEQUE WEDNESDAY

Annual Affair Will Be Held in Coliseum; Lindskog Is Toastmaster.

Arrangements have been practically completed for the engineers' barbecue which will be held in the Coliseum Wednesday night at 6 o'clock. The affair will be held under the stage, where a ring will be put up. Two wrestling matches and two boxing bouts will feature entertainment of the evening.

Dean O. J. Ferguson will address the gathering and Russell Lindskog will act as master of ceremonies. Barbecued sandwiches and other food necessary to make a meal will be served at 6, just before the entertainment begins. Tickets have been on sale for the last few days. Advance reports indicate that many will attend the affair, according to Marvin Von Seggern, chairman of the committee.
