The sorority colors of double brown and the crescent moon were the keynote of the decorations. The sorority flower, pink carnation, was also used. Messages from the founders of Pi chapter were read during the dinner and the pledges, in a clever skit, portrayed the four founders of the sorority in its founding at Syracuse, N. Y., in 1874.

CLASSES WATCH OVER BONFIRE MATERIALS

gallons of crude oil from the Phillips Petroleum company which will add to the height of flames.

To fill the structure much more waste is needed than was anticipated. Williams has asked that every student give his support in helping to obtain material for the fire. He says, "If every student would bring with him a box every time he came to school we would very soon have a sufficient amount." Nearly every business has offered to contribute to the bonfire so students who desire to follow Williams suggestion will have no trouble in obtaining such.

Only Students Admitted.
The drill field will be roped off permitting only students to be on the field. This is being done for outsiders are claimed only to quell spirit and enthusiasm rather than add to it.

Williams claimed that with the cooperation of the entire student body this blaze, the feature of the rally, will be so huge that it will be shown throughout the United States. Pathe News has arranged for the news reels to be made of it.

STUDENTS VOICE OPINIONS ABOUT COUNCIL'S POWER

serted, "students are allowed complete self-government with absolutely no interference from faculty authorities. I sincerely believe that Nebraska students are as well qualified as those at Stanford to govern themselves and they should be given this freedom by a faculty grant of power to the Student Council."

Council Needs Authority.

Betty Washquist, president of the Tassel and member of the A. W. S. board gives an opinion which matches that of the majority of students interviewed.

"It is unreasonable," she said, "to have a governing body such as the Student Council if they have no power to govern. They should certainly be given authority to do more than merely recommend measures to the faculty because ordinarily the need for action has passed before the faculty committee does anything. I should like to see the council granted a much more comprehensive set of powers with the provision that they not be allowed to meddle with affairs which rightfully rest with the A. W. S. board."

Ag Student Sentiment.

Boyd Von Seggern, chairman of the Ag executive board and Student Council representative, is wholeheartedly for increased student control, which rests ultimately with the Student Council.

"The popular sentiment among students on the agricultural college campus," Von Seggern indicated, "is that the faculty should grant student much more self-expression than they have at present. Under present conditions the student council can do no more than make recommendations which are usually disregarded. My belief is that the student council should be given final power in affairs of student government."

Jane Youngson's Opinion.

Jane Youngson, sophomore member of the A. W. S. board and Tassel, believes that student control voiced through the student council is a good thing as long as that council, with its present male majority, does not interfere with the women.

"Certainly the student council should have more power than the mere privilege of making recommendations," declared Miss Youngson. "They should be given control over many of the existing disciplinary measures and should be allowed to regulate eligibility. Their power should cease, however, when it comes to the matter of regulating those things which concern the women only. At that point I believe the A. W. S. board should enter in."

Present Conditions Laughable.

Alan Williams, chairman of the bar council and a member of the Innocents society advocates more power for the student council and a greater student voice in making student regulations.

"It is perfectly evident that the council in its present conditions is nothing more than a laudable gesture at student authority," indicated Williams. "Unless the council is given some original jurisdiction, especially in such matters as relate to student discipline and eligibility I can see little justification for its existence."

Majority Agree.

Kay Williams, vice president of the A. W. S. board and members of Mortar board voiced an opinion similar to that given by the majority of students interviewed.

"I believe that the student council is perfectly capable of governing the actions of the students and I believe that its abilities should be recognized. It is only logical to say, however, that there should be a certain amount of faculty supervision over the council's actions for it too often happens that student bodies which are suddenly given original power take undue advantage of it. For this reason I believe that the scope of the student council's power should be considerably broadened but this broadening should be a gradual process and not a sudden change," she asserted.

Secretary Expresses Opinion.

Minnie Nemecheck, student council secretary and member of Mortar board is another advocate of more freedom for the students in making regulations pertaining to them.

"I believe that the student council should be given increased authority over matters of student organizations and eligibility rules. Questions of discipline should rest with the faculty, however, because it seems to me that discipline problems which usually concern individual students should go to authorities with more mature judgement."

Mrs. Nancy Foreman Dickey, instructor in dramatics announced last night the results of tryouts held by Wesley Players, national dramatic organization, at the Emmanuel Methodist church Sunday afternoon.

The three act drama "A Sacrifice Once Offered," which has to do with the trial and crucifixion of Christ, includes Miss Carolyn Cooper as Calpurnia, wife of Pontius Pilate, played by Russell Lindskog. These two young people also have the leading parts in the other three act play being given by this organization, "St. Claudia." Other parts to be taken are:

Cast of Characters.
Children of Pontius Pilate: Julius, Oliver Kibben; Antonius, Lloyd Watt; Virginius, Ingeborg Nielsen.

Nathan, Anna's messenger, George Schmidt.
Leontias, the centurion, Norman Peters.

A one act playlet will also be presented this year in Lincoln churches only. The play is called "Barabbas" and deals with the life of this man after his release was demanded and completed by the mob instead of Christ's. He then returned to his thievery but the influence of the Master is too great and he becomes a true Christian. The main role is carried by Lee Scott. Simon is played by Francis Brandt while Beryl Klahn carries the role of Mary of Magdala and Delbert Reed appears as Toras.

OHIO FRATERNITIES HAVE HIGH AVERAGE

National Interfraternity Conference Sponsors High Standing.

COLUMBUS, O.,—After examining the 1929-1930 fraternity scholarship reports of Ohio university Aivan E. Duerr, chairman of the committee on scholarship of the national fraternity conference, sent a letter of congratulation to J. J. Milligan, assistant dean of men. He said in part: "Your fraternity average is the best of any of the institutions which have a large number of fraternities, and naturally has a marked influence on the general fraternity average of the country."

Greek Averages Gain.

"There has been a real gain in fraternity averages in most of our institutions. I am hoping that the fraternity average of the entire country is for the first time going to be better than the all-men's average."

The national interfraternity conference is composed of representatives of sixty-nine national fraternities and meets once a year at Thanksgiving in New York. It maintains fifteen standing committees, which work throughout the year on fraternity problems, and it publishes annually "The Interfraternity Conference Yearbook."

College Fraternity Editors' Association.

The college fraternity editors' association, publishing the Fraternity Editor, meets with it.

Chart Drawn Up.
A chart of social fraternity scholarship at Ohio State over the period 1925-1930 has been drawn up by Milligan. The point average increase drawing the conference's praise goes from 2.00 in 1925 to 2.25 in 1930.

Milligan attributes the increase to higher standards set by the fraternities themselves, in many cases higher than those required by the university. Headquarters of national fraternities have been constantly stressing scholarship excellence.

Sidmouth Observer: "We don't print any such stuff as that!" said the editor loftily as he handed back the poem.

"Well, you needn't be so haughty about it!" retorted the poet. "You're not the only one who won't print it."

SWIMMERS REPORT FOR FIRST WORKOUT

Six Letter Men Are Among Fourteen Entering Pool Tuesday.

N. U. TEAM IS CHAMPION

Fourteen men reported to Coach Rudy Voegeler yesterday afternoon for the first varsity swimming practice of the season. Men were Amato, Dewell, Elliott, Neitzel, Oddo, Patsirina, Powell, Sutherland, Watkins, Whitworth and Wolther.

Cannon, Gairm, Krause, Mixson, Perry and Smiley are expected to start working out soon. Several freshmen have also been working out regularly, including Easterday, Carle, Barnes, Criss, Kozalka, Vold, Ferguson and Mayhew.

Nebraska won first in the Big Six swimming meet last year which was held at Kansas City. The schedule for this year is not yet complete but present indications point toward a much more difficult season and the team will have to improve noticeably if they are to have the same success they had last season. Lack of a suitable pool for workout and dual meets is one of the biggest handicaps the team has to overcome, most of the work being done in the Y. M. C. A. pool.

With six of his letter men back, Coach Voegeler has the nucleus of a winning team. Men who lettered last year and will be back in competition the coming season are: Amato, springs; Hesthick, distances; Patsirina, breast stroke; Cannon, back stroke; Sutherland, diving and sprints and Groat, diving and sprints.

Mockler, star back stroke man and Chaloupka, star breast stroke man are both lost to the team this year as are Dille, distance man and Young, a sprinter.

HILL PROFESSOR TO RELEASE BOOK SOON

Author Has Written Survey Of Student Opinion on Various Subjects.

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.—An investigation having been conducted by a Hill professor of student attitudes on various campus problems, including such topics as coeducation, cribbing, the double standard, and student-teacher relations, a book covering the results will be published in the next few weeks. The tentative title of the volume is "Student Attitudes—A Report of the Syracuse University Reaction Study of May, 1928."

Dr. Floyd H. Allport, internationally known professor of social and political psychology is editing the book in conjunction with Dr. S. Daniel Katz and Miss Margaret Babcock, the latter two of whom compiled the data for the volume for their doctor's and master's theses respectively. Students in seven colleges, including liberal arts, business administration, fine arts, engineering, graduate school, home economics and forestry, were included in the survey.

4,200 Furnish Material.
Material was obtained from approximately 4,200 students in all. They were presented with a detailed questionnaire, stating the various attitudes with which the subject in question might be regarded. All answers were made in the form of checks, no opportunity was being given for identification by handwriting.

The purpose of the survey was three fold: to give administrative aid as to student habits and trends through the general information secured; to study student psychology; and to contribute to the scientific problem of measuring public opinion.

Contains Twenty Chapters.

Although there have been many studies published recently on the subject of college students' attitudes, the author considers this investigation to be the most comprehensive to be conducted and to be handled statistically.

The survey, which treats fifty-six varied topics, concerned with student activities, religious problems, fraternity and sorority standards, and snobbery as well as those mentioned above, includes from seventy to eighty tables showing the many shades of opinion, and is organized into twenty chapters.

"Women in my opinion, are different now from what they used to be."
"How's that?"
"There's my daughter, for instance—she's taking up the law, whereas her mother always lays it down."—Border Cities Star.

The Benchwarmer

THE new ruling of the athletic department with regard to the awarding of letters has drawn quite a bit of criticism from squad members.

This criticism seems to be based on the fact that the department is placing the rule in effect at the wrong time. The contents of the ruling has not been questioned in any way as it is generally admitted by the athletes that the requirements have not been placed too high for the major letter and the athlete who slaves on the "scrubs" should be given some recognition.

The big trouble seems to be in the fact that Director Gish told squad members that if any changes were made they would be announced before the first game. This is the first notice the athletes have had of the change and the action has raised a storm of protest in the ranks. It doesn't seem quite fair to the men who started the season under the assumption that they were working for their "N" under the rule as it stood early this fall.

PEOPLE in the east might be quite surprised to see Coach Gwinn Henry's pupils in action, due to the noticeable improvement the Tigers have made in the past few weeks. After Missouri had lost to the New York university team, several sports writers came forth with the statement to the Missouri-New York game were cheated out of close to $3. It was said that the game might have been worth a quarter but no more.

When the Missourians invaded New York they had a green, inexperienced team which might have been influenced to some extent by stage fright. But the Tiger team that will come to Lincoln this week end will no doubt give the customers their money's worth.

Gwinn Henry and his staff have really developed a team down at Columbia, although it has taken them nearly half a season to hit their stride.

BUSTER LONG, the Merry Mustang

Long, however, has the appearance of having a "chev" all the time. His right jaw is puffed as the result of infection which set in when one of his teeth was jarred loose. In addition to this, Long also has a few bruises but nothing serious enough to keep him out of Saturday's fracas.

JAMES BAUSCH of Kansas has dashed to earth in the Kansas Memorial stadium. Last spring, while competing in the Kansas relays which are held in this stadium, Bausch was considered a certain winner in the shot put. Hugh Rhea came out of the con-stant from Nebraska and won the event, much to the dismay of Bausch.

Last Saturday Bausch was held back as long as possible but Coach Hargiss finally sent him into the game to bring home the bacon. Once again this same Rhea, with the assistance of Kreizinger, Frahm, Greenberg, Ely and so on down the list, checked the insurance salesman and ruined his plans.

The Kansas ace might think that his home field is a "jinx" if such things keep on happening.
