PRICE FIVE CENTS.

SEATS FOR KLUB REVUE TO GO ON SALE TOMORROW

1,566 General Admissions
Will Be Offered at Sixty Cents.

MRS. KREMMER TO SING

Kosmets Conduct Complete
Rehearsal Last Night
in Coliseum.

General admission section consisting of 1,566 seats will be placed on sale for the Kosmet Klub Thanksgiving Morning revue Wednesday at 1 o'clock. A reserved section of 300 was offered for sale at noon Monday and sold out almost ten minutes after the box office opened.

Because of this and the large amount of interest seemingly manifested by the student body in the coming Turkey day show, members of Kosmet Klub predict a packed house for their 1930 production. General admission tickets will sell for sixty cents and entitle the bearer to a seat anywhere in the section of 1,566. Reserved seats were seventy-five cents.

Turner Aids Show.
An added feature has been secured for the show in the form of a presentation by Harriet Cruise Kemmer and Harold Turner. Mrs. Kemmer is known throughout Lincoln for her singing ability. She will give several numbers at the start of the Kosmet show, accompanied on the piano by Turner, who is an alumnus of Kosmet Klub.

The eight units of the show were put together for the first time in a rehearsal held in the coliseum last night. The entire show was put on, just as it will be Thanksgiving morning, with the presentation of Nebraska sweetheart at the last. A substitute for the sweetheart was used in practice so that her identity will not be known outside the club and the Student Council members who counted votes, until Thursday morning.

Club Members Satisfied.
Bits of retouching here and there, and dressing up of different parts of the production were taken care of at the rehearsal last night. The club timer reported the show finished in the time originally allotted for it and all members of the club expressed satisfaction with the first rehearsal. Two more practices will be held before the presentation Thursday—one to-night and a dress rehearsal Wednesday night.

Nebraska sweetheart has been notified of her election and has been instructed as to her duties on the morning of the show. A special closed car will be used to convey her from her home to the theater just before the presentation. Lincoln and Omaha newspapers will be furnished with her cut and carry them in their 1 o'clock editions on Thursday.

HOME EC FACULTY MAKES DIRECTORY OF ALL GRADUATES

A faculty committee is preparing a "Who's Who" of the home economics department at the college. All graduates will be listed in this directory with present address, occupation, and if married their husband's occupation and the names and ages of their children. The booklet will also contain a list of all persons who have been members of the home economics staff at the college, with their present address and occupation.

This directory, which will appear soon, is to be sent to all alumni of the department. Those on the faculty committee on its preparation are Mary Mason, Carolyn, Matilda Peters, and G. Carolyn Ruby. Evelyn Mettwer is designing the cover.

GRUMMANN WILL ADDRESS VESPERS

Prof. P. H. Grumann will speak at Vespers Tuesday evening, Nov. 25, at Ellen Smith hall, at 5 o'clock. Special music will be furnished by Marian and Mildred Hagenberger. Doris Heumann will be in charge of the meeting.

Who Is Honorary Colonel? Dopesters Make Guesses, Wild and Otherwise

Ten Days Remain Until Spotlight at Military Ball
Is Played on Chosen Coed; Only Four Persons
Know Identity of Lucky Girl.

By BILL MCGAFFIN.

Only ten days remain before the presentation of the honorary colonel at the Military Ball. And as each day passes, excitement over the honorary position grows just a little greater. Who will bear the honors of 1930? Who will be thrown in the spotlight on that glorious December evening, to lead the grand march with the cadet colonel?

The honorary colonel, herself, knows. But as usual she is keeping it a profound secret. Besides the honorary colonel, only three people know her identity. They are Col. W. H. Oury, commandant of the regiment, Prof. E. W. Lantz, Student Council supervisor, and Robert Kelly, president of the Student Council, who counted the votes. Therefore, only four people on this campus know who the colonel is—theoretically. But there are a large number who claim they have the "inside dope" and many others who probably have lit on the right girl by the simple processes of induction and deduction.

Coeds Will Exploit Attics in Search of Unusual Party Gowns

By SALLY PICKARD.

Haven't you ever wished you were some one else? Haven't you thought of another character you'd like to be or pictured yourself in another role, a fanciful role in which you were quite unlike yourself?

Perhaps you are the type that should have lived in the days of crinoline or lavender and old lace and worn hoop skirts or bustles. Or perhaps your imagination goes even farther back, and you can see yourself in the attire of an English court lady.

Are you, maybe, a shy little Puritan maiden at heart who will find the plain gray of a Puritan dress severely becoming? In contrast, are you a gypsy who likes bright pretty colors and the enchantment of gay trinkets?

Do you like to lose your formalities, turn Harlequin for a night? Does the soft white satin of Pierrette's costume suit your type and your mood? Or are you a person who likes the comedy of life and wants to be a part of it?

The Girls' Cornhusker party, Dec. 12 gives you a chance to be, not yourself, but the creature of your imagination. And you have ample opportunity during the vacation to search through the attic at home, to rummage through old trunks that perhaps hold great grandmother's loveliest gowns, or to make your own costume for the Girls' Cornhusker party. Don't forget to bring a costume back with you!

IOWA GIVES HEARTY WELCOME TO HUSKERS

Committee on Hand to Meet
Special Train, Arriving
An Hour Late.

By HOWARD ALLAWAY.

Iowa extended the greeting hand as to a prodigal returned home when it welcomed Nebraska students who made the trip to Iowa City for the first Iowa-Nebraska game in eleven years, Saturday.

When the special train pulled into Iowa City about an hour late at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, a committee was waiting at the station with a truck to haul the bags and instrument cases of the band to the Student Union building.

The Nebraska band marched through the town to the university where it was given a room for its use while there. A man was left to watch the instruments and baggage while the bandmen were sightseeing on the campus. In the evening entertainment was provided with two downtown varsity dances.

Burn Homecoming Structure.
Iowa, it seems, has a tradition sacred to its campus: that of the Homecoming monument—a year large mechanical structure built of ears of corn—burned each year following the final football game.

The Iowa City police department, on the other hand, objects very much to this practice of having a large bonfire on main street. The problem is to burn the monument in spite of the constant police guard.

One of the outstanding characteristics of the Iowa campus is the Student Union building and the attitude of all students toward it. It is neither the stronghold of the fraternity and sorority students nor of the non-Head students.

Used as Headquarters.
All fraternities and sororities get their mail there. There is an information department, an enormous lounge room, sun porches surrounding three sides, and a large cafeteria in the basement. A jazz orchestra at noon and a string trio at the dinner hour furnished music for the diners at the cafeteria.

The Student Union building, the field house and the dormitory were the outstanding buildings. The following unsolicited comment of a Nebraska coed on the return trip expresses the feeling Nebraska carried home from her first visit in many years from her sister school of the tall corn country: "Weren't they nice; I just can't imagine."

OLDFATHER SPEAKS ON ANCIENT ROME

Prof. C. H. Oldfather lectured on "Ancient Rome" in Morrill hall at 4:15 Sunday afternoon, before an audience of more than a hundred. He spoke of Rome the city as opposed to the empire, and showed slides of the great public buildings in the mistress city at the time of her greatest glory.

Actual photographs of the ruins were frequently shown in order to substantiate the restorations. Several slides were devoted to the building methods of the Romans, who were great users of concrete.

KIRSCH DISCUSSES EVOLUTION OF HOME

At a meeting of the Nebraska Art Guild in Morrill hall Wednesday evening Dwight Kirsch showed a series of lantern slides depicting the evolution of the home from early Egyptian days to the present. He also showed pictures of futuristic homes, rooms and furnishings.

Before Mr. Kirsch's illustrated lecture, Marjorie Shanafelt entertained with a group of harp selections and Grace Morton sang several numbers.

COLONEL OURY ISSUES BIDS TO MILITARY BALL

Representatives of State,
School, Omaha and
Lincoln Invited.

ALL STUDENTS ELIGIBLE

Commandant Says Everyone
Asked to Event; Formal
Dress Required.

Inaugurating a new idea in presenting the 1930 Military Ball, Friday, Dec. 5, Col. W. H. Oury last night announced the selection and invitation of patrons for the opening formal event. Representative Nebraskans from the state, university, Omaha and Lincoln chambers of commerce will be included in the list with prominent citizens of the city.

Governor and Mrs. A. J. Weaver head the list, followed by Governor-Elect and Mrs. Charles W. Bryan, Regent and Mrs. John R. Webster, Regent and Mrs. E. A. Burnett, Chancellor Emeritus and Mrs. Samuel Avery, Dean and Mrs. T. J. Thompson, Miss Amanda Heppner, Colonel and Mrs. Oscar Engler, Colonel and Mrs. C. J. Frankforter, Colonel and Mrs. Frank Eager, Colonel and Mrs. John G. Maher, State Senator and Mrs. Charles G. Warner, Miss Mae Pershing, Judge and Mrs. Charles A. Goss, Judge and Mrs. Claude S. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Sanderson, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Byrne.

In connection with the plans for the Military Ball, Colonel Oury announced that some misapprehension had been gained by university students regarding eligibility for attendance. He declared that all university students are invited to attend as well as townspeople. Formal wear will be required for those not attending in uniform.

GISH VETOES FROSH GAME WITH NORFOLK

Athletic Director Says It
Would Be Contrary to Big Six Rules.

Possibility of a post season game between Nebraska freshmen and Norfolk junior college vanished Monday when Herbert Gish, director of athletics refused the proposal because such a game would be contrary to conference rules.

Mr. Gish said that the proposed game was impossible for several reasons, principally the ruling of the Big Six conference that prohibits games with non-collegiate teams.

Permission for the game would have required special action of the Nebraska faculty in addition to special action of the conference authorities, Gish stated.

In addition to the conference rule to the contrary, the rule allowing the freshmen only two games each year prevents scheduling the Norfolk game, since the freshmen have had their two games this year.

The game was proposed for Dec. 9, said Gish, and this would have dragged the season out to undue length, since the season will close Thanksgiving.

W. A. A. ISSUES CALL FOR FIFTY CANDY SELLERS

Fifty saleswomen are needed for the W. A. A. concession at the Kansas Aggie game on Thanksgiving day, to sell candy. Prizes will be offered to the highest saleswomen and women selling will receive free admittance to the game, according to Berniece Hoffman.

If any of the 100 women already signed to sell will be unable to, they should notify Berniece Hoffman, concession manager, immediately. New saleswomen should sign on the bulletin board in the lobby of the women's gymnasium.

Meisinger, center, top, recently was declared ineligible and his loss has been a blow to the team. In Nigro, Kansas State has one of the best ground gainers in the Big Six. From left to right, top: Price Swartz, fullback and halfback; Meisinger, halfback; Capt. Alex Nigro, halfback. Bottom row: Elden Auker, triple threat halfback; George Wiggins, fullback; Ray McMillin, quarterback.

REB RUSSELL MAKES ALL BIG TEN TEAM

Former Nebraska Quarter
Smashes Notre Dame
Line Saturday.

PLAYED HERE IN 1928

Reb Russell, former University of Nebraska star quarterback now playing for Northwestern has been placed by the United Press on its first team honorary Big Ten conference team according to an announcement made yesterday. Russell is placed at fullback.

Russell played a powerful game against Notre Dame although he failed to score. Notre Dame finished with a whirl of speed to score two touchdowns in the dying moments of the game after Russell had almost ripped the lighter Irish forward wall to shreds. Disheartening fumbles in Notre Dame territory prevented Northwestern from scoring.

Outstanding As Plunger.

This is what the United Press says of Russell: "Russell was out of two games because of ineligibility but was the outstanding line plunger of the Big Ten."

Nebraskans will remember Russell as quarterback on the Bearg powerhouse team of 1928. In the backfield with him were Clair Sloan, "Blue" Howell and George Farley. His greatest game for Nebraska was against Missouri when he plunged through the Tiger forward wall for long gains to put Nebraska in scoring position. On the first goalward march he reeled off gains of nineteen and thirteen yards but Howell made the touchdown from the Missouri 1-yard line.

Formerly of K-Aggies.

Before coming to Nebraska Russell played on the Kansas Aggie freshman team. His departure from Nebraska was caused by a scholastic muddle. He left school shortly after the football season which ended in the disastrous game with the Army at West Point.

Russell was the heaviest man to play in the Nebraska backfield in recent years, weighing in the neighborhood of 215 pounds. At Nebraska he was a pledge to Beta Theta Pi.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB WILL MEET FRIDAY

A program under the auspices of the Cosmopolitan club will be given at Temple building, room 203, on Friday, Nov. 28, at 8:30. The program will be conducted by the Filipino members of the club and will be composed of songs, musical numbers, speeches and dances, all in true Filipino style.

The public is cordially invited to attend and is promised an enjoyable evening's entertainment. Refreshments will be served at the end of the program.

Corsages Will Be Passe at Military Ball, Behn States

Winston J. Behn, cadet colonel, issued the following statement yesterday in regard to the Military Ball to be held at the coliseum Dec. 5.

To the students:

"Following the precedent set last year at the opening of the formal season, the military department wishes to announce that corsages will not be given for the military ball.

"In order to enable more basic students to attend the military ball, all first and second year men may wear their uniforms on that occasion if they so desire.

"All juniors in the R. O. T. C. will purchase their tickets for the ball at the office of the military department."

YEARBOOK READY TO ACCEPT CONTRACTS

Campus Organizations Must Arrange for Space With Ed Edmunds Soon.

Fraternities, sororities and other campus organizations may now make contract arrangements for space in the 1931 Cornhusker, according to Ed Edmunds, business manager.

Payment in full or definite plans of payment must be arranged before the pages for the organization will be inserted in the annual. For this reason it behooves all campus groups who desire the space in the yearbook to make their provisions as soon as possible.

The treasurers of the various honorary and professional groups are requested to make arrangements for space within the next two weeks. The rates are $20 per page or $28 for two pages. The $4 for group pictures is payable at the time of signing the contract, or definite arrangements for payment must be made with the business manager.

WHITE TO DEFEND NO DECISION PLAN IN DEBATE RULES

During the annual meeting of the National Association of Teachers of Speech in Chicago December 29 to 31, Prof. H. A. Waite of the department of English will participate in a debate on the subject of abolishing debate judges. He will advocate the no-decision debate.

Because of much disagreement over methods of judging debates there is a nation-wide movement being carried on for uniform methods and for the abolition of judges entirely. At the December meeting of the teachers of speech two teams of two professors each will argue the matter. A general discussion which may lead to formal action will follow.

Miss Dunn Addresses Child Welfare Staff

Catherine M. Dunn, instructor in social case work in the university department of sociology, spoke on "Record Keeping as an Efficiency Measure in Social Case Work" before the staff of the child welfare of the Lincoln schools last Wednesday afternoon.

Indian Pottery Brought To Historical Society

Specimens of Indian pottery and implements found south of Ashland were brought to the Nebraska State Historical society last week by L. R. Karlson of Lincoln who recently spent considerable time investigating an Indian camp site in that vicinity.

NEW SYSTEM OF LETTER AWARDS TO BE DEFERRED

Plan of Giving Major and
Minor 'N's' Will Not Be Used This Season.

GISH SCHEDULES GAMES

Three Open Dates Left in 1931 Lineup; Dartmouth
Not to Play Huskers.

New system of football letter awards in which major and minor letters will be given will not go into effect this season. It was announced yesterday by H. D. Gish, athletic director. The new system will be used, however, for other varsity sports this year.

Considerable opposition developed among members of this year's team to the ruling when it was announced after the season was half over. Under the new system a man must play 100 minutes in varsity games to win a major "N" and 45 minutes to win a minor "N". The present requirements which will apply this year are for 45 minutes in two games for an "N".

Squad Favors Deferral.
Gish talked to members of the football squad at a meeting before regular practice Monday evening. The sentiment was almost unanimous to defer the ruling until the 1931 grid season. This decision will enable a large number of the squad to win major letters this season.

Meantime Gish is busy trying to round out a football schedule for Nebraska next season. The expulsion of Kansas from the Big Six conference leaves three open dates on the Cornhusker schedule for next year, according to Gish who has just returned from a tour through the east attempting to schedule games with prominent teams there.

The Pitt game at Pittsburgh on Thanksgiving day is the only inter-sectional contest on the schedule at the present time, while Pitt and Iowa universities are the only two games scheduled outside the remaining Big Six circle.

1931 Schedule.
The following is the schedule as far as has been completed now:
Oct. 3, Open.
Oct. 10, Oklahoma at Lincoln.
Oct. 17, Open.
Oct. 24, Open.
Oct. 31, Missouri at Columbia.
Nov. 7, Iowa university at Lincoln.
Nov. 14, Kansas Aggies at Manhattan.
Nov. 21, Iowa State at Lincoln.
Thanksgiving day, Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh.

There is nothing definite on the string for the remaining open dates as yet. Possibly only two more games will be added to the schedule, leaving one mid-season break in the schedule, stated Gish.

Dartmouth is definitely out of the 1931 schedule, said Gish, but there is a possibility, merely a possibility, for games at some future date.

No Contests With Kansas.
As matters now stand, Gish advised, Kansas is out of the Big Six. However, the statement that "unless conference authorities change their decision" Nebraska will not play the expelled school, carried the hint that everything had not yet been settled.

Nebraska will not meet the Kansas school this year in any sports except basketball and wrestling, said Gish. The Big Six ruling cuts out track, baseball and tennis from the competition with Kansas this year.

Palladian Literary Society, Founded In 1871, Caused Big Frat-Barb Fight In 1884-5; Greeks Barred Since Then

By ART WOLF.

Beginnings of the differences between Greeks and non-affiliated students at the University of Nebraska can be traced to the great Frat-Barb fight in the school year of 1884-85, according to T. F. A. Williams, '92, a Lincoln lawyer. Mr. Williams was a member of Palladian literary society, in which that fight was started.

In years previous several Greek letter organizations had sprung up on the campus and had caused cliques to be formed within Palladian. The society, therefore, voted to exclude all Greeks from their organization, and from that day to this have refused membership to any who are affiliated with a social fraternity.

Johnson Aids Movements.
According to Mr. Williams, W. E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson was one of the chief instigators of that move and one of the chief workers in accomplishing it. Johnson was a Nebraska man for three years, from 1882 to 1885. He later became famous because of the part he played in the successful campaign for prohibition.

Perhaps no organization on the campus has had so colorful a career as Palladian literary society. It is the oldest student organization on the campus, having been organized in October, 1871, just a month after the University of Nebraska opened its doors.

During the first few years of its existence, Palladian was the center of social affairs on the campus, and the political center of non-affiliated students. Palladian and Union are the only two societies which withstood the test of time in those early years. Adelpian and Delian were both begun in the late seventies, but have long (Continued on Page 3.)
