(Continued from Page 1.) proud. Her honor is one with duties attached to it and one which will not be forgotten over night. Parades, reviews, and other military functions must be attended by the honorary colonel and always in full uniform. Her name will go down in university history.

Go Down in History.

Honorary colonels of former years are still remembered and discussed about the campus. For instance, everyone remembers Maxine Mathers, Pi Beta Phi, who held the honor last year. Previous to that was Ruth Baker, an Alpha Phi, in 1928. In 1927, Laura Margaret Raines, Kappa Alpha Theta, held the honor. Marie Bowden, Alpha Omicron Pi, was colonel in 1926.

INCOME OF $556 EACH MADE BY DENVERITES

71 Percent of Students at Municipal U. Have Part or Full Time Jobs.

DENVER, Colo.—The average student at the University of Denver earns an annual income of $556, according to a recent survey made by the business administration department of that school. The survey covered in the report was made for the year ending in June, 1930, and was published in pamphlet form in October, 1930. The statistical research department of the school of commerce, accounts and finance managed the work which was extended to all departments of the university.

Seventy-one percent of the students at that Rocky Mountain conference school have either part time or full time employment. This figure was obtained by questioning 100 percent of the students at registration time. The figures stating the amount of money earned by each student were obtained by a questionnaire which was distributed among a representative 50 percent of the students.

Report Made.

The report further states, "Approximately $513,000 were earned by 922 students of the university during the school year 1929-1930, or an average of $556 per student. The average amount earned by sixty-two attending the city college was $1297; commerce students earned $745 on an average; and 505 students of the colleges of liberal arts and engineering received only $363 per student. The relatively large averages in the city college and in the school of commerce may be accounted for, in part at least, by the fact that many of these people have full time employment with the public schools or with business firms. On the other hand many of those enrolled in the liberal arts and engineering schools are working only part time and at odd jobs."

COEDS AT JOHNS HOPKINS AID IN FIGHTING COLDS

Nineteen coeds at Johns Hopkins university are the most recent heroines of the attack of medical science on the common cold. These college women, who were subjected to colds with which they were experimentally infected aided materially in a discovery of the fact that the common cold infection is transmitted by a filterable virus. Drs. Perrin H. Long and James A. Doull of the Johns Hopkins university medical school carried on the experiments. The results obtained by the physicians are important steps toward the conquest of the disease which is prevalent in the fall and winter, but further research will be necessary before a prophylactic can be given to sufferers. The findings of the experiment verify earlier investigations which showed that the common cold is an infectious disease carried from one person to the next by something in the nasal secretion of people with colds.

GOPHERS TAKE ISSUE WITH DETROIT PAPER

Minnesotians Resent Being Called 'Dumb Swedes' and Other Names.

Student opinion at the University of Minnesota is aroused over a sports writup in the Detroit Times written by Leo Macdonell in which the Gophers are called "Dumb Swedes" and in which the Gopher style of football is ridiculed. He also called the Minnesotans "Herring Cheevers" up at the head of the Mississippi.

Editor Riled.

The editor of the Minnesota Daily directs his editorial shafts at the journalistic practices of the Detroit Times. He objects to such phrases as this: "Minnesota had chances to score, but as usual, muffed them." Further: "Brookmeyer and Clarence Munn, who did the punting for Minnesota, were the outstanding performers for the Herring Cheevers at the head of the Mississippi." declares the Minnesota Daily. "In journeying to Ann Arbor, did anticipate a courteous and a friendly spirit born of the two colleges' long association in athletic events. There is not the slightest doubt that it received fully as much as it expected from Michigan and Michigan students. But the attitude of the Detroit Times in regard to Minnesota is one which is at this writing difficult to understand."

Nebraskans will sympathize with the complaint of the Minnesota Daily. Sport writups in national publications and important newspapers indicate that Nebraska will not live down its "big and dumb" tradition.

A sports writer for a Pittsburgh paper commented on the Cornhusker style of play in that fashion in 1927 when Pittsburgh defeated Nebraska 21 to 13. The Kansas City Star last year after the Missouri game said the Cornhuskers were "bigger and dumber than ever."

WESTERNERS SEVER WITH COLLEGE HUMOR

Comics Association Breaks Relations Because Does Not Truly Represent.

PALO ALTO, Calif.—Because it felt that the College Humor is not truly representative of college life, the Western Association of College Comics severed relations with the magazine at its annual convention which closed Saturday in Los Angeles. This action, taken by unanimous vote is scheduled to go into effect with the next issue of each member magazine. Hitherto the magazine has had exclusive reprint rights to all matter appearing in most of the Coast humorous publications, but it is claimed that it misrepresents its advertising coverage in the college field and hinders the college comics associated with it.

Based on Past History.

The convention basing its action on the history of past unsatisfactory relations followed a precedent set by other leading college magazines. Chaparral broke relations with College Humor in 1928 as did Washington Columns and the Harvard Lampoon. Although representatives of College Humor were not present at the meeting, Editor H. M. Swanson sent a telegram requesting cooperation for another year. It was recommended by the convention that its action be taken under advisement by the Middlewestern, Eastern and Southern associations of college comics for action at their meetings to be held later this year.

Cut and Dried Methods Kill Vitality In Students Says Rollins President

"To make the process of learning as vital to young people as the quest for a news story is to a good reporter, or as intensely gripping as football to the members of the college team, is the Rollins idea of education. It is not a new idea. Every real teacher since time began has had the same desire. It is only the method of achieving the end which is different at Rollins college."

Thus does Hamilton Holt, Rollins president, begin his article in the Nation for Oct. 8, 1930, and what he has to say seems of vital importance to college students, faculty members and officials.

Mechanical System.
President Holt maintains that the present methods of teaching and the qualification of teachers make it difficult for a student to find anything "vital" in the process of learning. The use of lecture periods, recitation periods, and the examination systems make education something "cut and dried." Teachers are selected for their knowledge alone, without consideration of how well they can get along with students. Thus bored professors give uninteresting lectures to students who "are satisfied merely to sit and take notes."

SEXES SEGREGATED ON MINNESOTA GRID TRIP

Record Breaking Crowd Attends Wisconsin Game From St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—The largest student migration to an out-of-town game was forecast for Saturday's game with Wisconsin at Madison by ticket officials here yesterday. More than 4,000 tickets to the game already have been sold and the total sales to Minnesota students are expected to run close to 4,000.

Women students who plan to attend the game must register in the office of the dean of women, and all coeds who are going by rail will be asked to make reservations on the official student trains. Men's cars will be in the front part of each train, with lounge and club cars in the center. Women's cars will be in the rear portion of the train.

Have Chaperones.

University chaperones will be provided for each car both going and returning to Minneapolis. Club cars and lounge cars will be part of the standard equipment of the special trains. There is to be a radio in each of the cars as well as an electric phonograph in the club cars. A bridge tournament may be held on the trip to take the place of dancing that has been barred by officials following accidents in dance cars in former years. All coeds who are planning to drive by car to the game must register with the dean of women, also. It was announced yesterday. The names of all people in the party as well as the chaperones must be registered, according to the instructions.

PALLADIAN LITERARY SOCIETY, FOUNDED IN 1871, CAUSED BIG FRAT BARRAGE FIGHT IN 1884-5; GREEKS BARRED SINCE THEN

(Continued from Page 1.) since died. Meet in U. Hall. Both of the old literary societies were recognized by the university officials as educational influences and both were granted club rooms on the third floor of University hall which at that time was the only building on the campus. Rooms on the east end of the third floor corridor belonged to Palladian and Union held its meetings on the west end of the corridor.

In 1907 Palladian moved to its present club room on the third floor of the Temple building. The society holds those rooms permanently as a result of the fact that they raised $1,500.00 toward the erection of the Temple.

Every Friday night since the beginning of the organization its meetings have been held. Every Friday night the society has been holding programs for its members. In the early years those Friday night meetings from 6:30 to 9:30 were the chief social event in Lincoln and many townspeople attended.

Existed 59 years. Next year the organization will commemorate its sixtieth anniversary.
