NEBRASKA IS WELL RANKED IN WHO'S WHO

Cornhusker School Stands Twenty-Third Among 500 Universities.

127 ALUMNI IN BOOK

Number Exceeded by Only Two Younger Colleges; Chicago, Stanford.

With biographies of 127 alumni appearing in "Who's Who in America," the University of Nebraska ranks twenty-third among 500 colleges and universities whose graduates have won recognition in the last issue, according to a recent survey conducted by School and Society, an educational journal. Approximately three of every 200 living alumni of the University of Nebraska are listed in "Who's Who," annual publication which mentions leaders in all phases of American life today. This is a much higher percentage than is claimed by Illinois, Iowa, Ohio State, California, Kansas, and the other state institutions. It is just slightly higher than Northwestern and Wisconsin, and only a little below Michigan, Leland Stanford and Indiana.

Listed Among Leaders.

Of the twenty-two institutions ranking above Nebraska in number of graduates appearing in "Who's Who," only Chicago and Leland Stanford universities were founded after Nebraska. Among all state universities listed in the fifty leading schools, the University of Nebraska is the youngest. Fifty graduates of the University of Nebraska since 1900 are mentioned in "Who's Who," placing it in eighteenth rank in number of twentieth century alumni to be found in the volume. While seven other state schools have a larger number of recent graduates in "Who's Who," all of them are older and have considerably larger enrollments.

The state schools of Michigan, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Indiana, California and Minnesota have more graduates in "Who's Who" than Iowa State, Ohio State, Kansas, North Carolina, Virginia and Missouri.

Beat Iowa and Boston.

Though Iowa State and Boston universities were founded in 1869, the same year that the University of Nebraska was established, they rank in forty-sixth and forty-seventh places, in contrast to Nebraska in twenty-third position.

Real leaders in "Who's Who" are the eastern institutions. Harvard with 1,374 and Yale with 937 alumni in the book furnish one-seventh of all college people whose achievements have merited mention in "Who's Who."

Of the more than 28,000 biographies in the book, 16,000 are of men and women who hold bachelor's degrees from some college or university. While 506 institutions granted these degrees, 85 percent of the degree holders come from the high 139. Only nine strictly state schools are among the leading twenty-five institutions. Nebraska ranks seventh in this classification but is younger and is smaller than any of the six rating above it.

Gives Number.

The following table indicates the leading educational institutions in America if the number of alumni in "Who's Who" is taken as a criterion of leadership:

Rank	College	Graduates Listed
1	Harvard	1,374
2	Yale	937

'Bunny' Oakes Proves Efficiency Expert as Well as Coach; Invents Machines to Improve Line Players

Bernard F. Oakes, football line coach at the University of Nebraska, is an efficiency expert as well as an instructor in the art of crashing through the opposing line and downing the enemy for a five yard loss. In this age of efficiency he invents machines to reduce wasted energy.

Two years ago Oakes patented his first invention, a football blocking machine which is now being used in several universities. It is used for teaching the fundamentals of defensive line play.

He is also a builder of powerful lines and all-American linemen. Since his coming to Nebraska in 1926 he has developed such stars as Lonnie Stiner, Ray Randels, Elmer Holm, Raymond Richardson, Ted James, Marion Broadstone and last season's all-American tackle, Hugh Rhea.

Deadline for Prom Filing Set Monday

Applications for appointment to the Junior-Senior prom committee will be received until 5 p. m. Monday, at the student activities office in the coliseum. Only juniors are eligible for appointment. Applicants must fulfill all university eligibility requirements for participation in student activities. The Junior-Senior prom committee will be chosen at a meeting of the Student council Wednesday.

SHARP TALKS TO PROFESSORS OF SOCIAL SCIENCE

Dr. Walter Sharp was in Lincoln last week interviewing candidates for fellowships offered annually by the Social Sciences Research council. Several faculty members are applying for the fellowships which range from $1,500 to $4,000. They are offered in all social sciences and in agricultural sociology. Preference is given to younger faculty members who have received their Ph. D. degrees. Dr. John P. Senning, chairman of political science, was host at a University club luncheon in Dr. Sharp's honor.

MISS PORTER ELOPES ON HER WEDDING EVE

Former Student Engaged to One Man Marries Another.

FATHER A LEGISLATOR

Eloping on the eve of her wedding to a Lincoln bank employee, Thelma Porter, daughter of State Representative and Mrs. John Washington Porter of Albion and former student at the university, was married to Daly Link, Lindsay druggist, at Central City Friday, friends of the young woman at Albion revealed yesterday.

Miss Porter, who was to be married to Raymond Whiting, employee of a bank in Lincoln, on Saturday left Lincoln where her parents are living during the legislative session early last week to visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. John Culver at Albion. She returned her engagement ring to Whiting with the understanding that he was to match it with a wedding ring, friends said.

Thursday she borrowed her sister's automobile and with Link drove to Central City where they were married at noon Friday by County Judge Warren Riggs.

Father A Wit.

Representative Porter, who as wit of the house has become known as the "Will Rogers of Nebraska," on hearing the news of his daughter's elopement and marriage yesterday expressed his sympathy for Whiting, but said that whatever his daughter did was her own business.

Miss Porter attended the university following her graduation from Albion high school in 1926. She later taught school at Elgin for two years, but because of her scheduled wedding to Whiting had declined a contract to teach there this year.

Professor Macchioro To Arrive Here Soon

Vittorio Macchioro, visiting professor from Italy who is to teach two courses here next semester, is expected to arrive in Lincoln four or five days before the opening of the semester, according to Dr. Hinman of the philosophy department.

BURNETT WANTS TO BORROW FOR DORM PROGRAM

Chancellor Would Pledge Endowment Fund to Secure Money.

SPECIAL ACT NEEDED

Constitution Forbids State Issuing Any Bonded Indebtedness.

A proposal that the university be given permission to borrow from its own endowment fund to secure the money for the construction of a women's dormitory was made by Chancellor E. A. Burnett to the members of the state house and senate at the third biennial legislative dinner at the college of agriculture Thursday evening. The state constitution prohibits the state from assuming any bonded indebtedness. The chancellor's proposal, however, would circumvent this difficulty by allowing the university to borrow from its own endowment fund now held by the commissioner of educational lands and funds for loan at interest.

$200,000 Appropriated.

The $200,000 appropriated two years ago for the construction of a women's dormitory has proved insufficient, according to the chancellor. A loan for the additional sum needed for the dormitory is asked with the provision that it be paid back over a period of years from the income of the dormitory. In addition to the permit to borrow, the recommendations of the board of regents to the governor ask an appropriation of $100,000 from the general fund for dormitory purposes. The proposed dormitory would contain no facilities or rooms for smoking. Chancellor Burnett said in reply to a question asked by one of the guests at the dinner.

More Money Needed.

At the same time he recommended a special act to permit the university to borrow for the dormitory construction. Chancellor Burnett explained the other recommendations for the university appropriation submitted to the legislature. He stressed the fact that financial need of the university is caused by its attempt to keep pace in educational facilities with its constant growth.

AWGWAN STAFF GETS MATERIAL FOR ISSUE

Deadline of Editorial Copy For First Issue Set For Jan. 21.

Material for the first issue of the Awgwan, which will be released early in February, has begun to come in, according to Elmont Waite and Lowell Davis, editors of the first number. The deadline set by the editors on the copy for the February issue is on Jan. 21.

Art work has been submitted by Arthur Kozelka, W. Sterling Wenke, Marvin Robinson, Erwin Schell, Francis Obert and Ruth Schill. A cover design for the first issue has not been chosen.

Articles and stories have been submitted by Ivan Schweninger—"Lea-nu to Dance!" Howard Gillespie and Sterling Wenke. Marvin Schmid, Reeve Rhodes and Arthur Murray have turned in short jokes. James Crabill, Howard Gillespie, Doris Lou Minney, F. Koos, and Arthur Kozelka have written poetry for the humor publication.

More short jokes are needed the editors say.

126 STUDENTS OF OMAHA PAY VISIT TO MORRILL HALL

Visiting and inspecting the university museum in Morrill hall last week were 126 students from Omaha Central high school and nine students in zoology from the Ferris state normal college. A number of Nebraska high schools and colleges are terminating their courses in zoology by a trip through the museum in order that the students may get a better idea of the specimens and animal life about which they have been studying. F. G. Collins, assistant curator, is in charge of the museum tours.

ASTRONOMY LECTURE SCHEDULED TUESDAY

The Orion nebula will be shown to those interested in astronomy who attend the public program presented by Prof. G. D. Swezey at the university observatory Tuesday evening. A lecture at 8 o'clock on "The Planets of the Solar System" will be followed by viewing the Orion nebula through the telescope. In his lecture Professor Swezey will speak particularly concerning Pluto, the new planet in the solar system which was discovered last year.

Granted Absence Leave

Prof. Margaret Fedde.

Who has been granted a leave of absence for the second semester, beginning Feb. 1. Miss Fedde will attend Columbia university, where she will study the field of college administration. This summer she plans to continue her studies in Europe, visiting a number of European countries and especially Germany and Russia. She will return to assume her duties as chairman of the department of home economics in the latter part of August.

SEALOCK, ORFIELD MAY HEAD OMAHA U

Two Nebraska Professors Being Considered, Regents Say.

TWO OTHERS IN GROUP

Dr. W. E. Sealock, dean of the teachers' college, and Prof. Lester B. Orfield, assistant professor of law, are among the seven being considered for the presidency of the new municipal university of Omaha. The board of regents, which met Friday, announced the list of principal candidates for the position. Besides these two University of Nebraska men, the Nebraskans are: H. S. Gossard, dean of men at Wesleyan university, and Dr. Robert T. Hill, former Nebraskan but now of New York, where he is secretary of the council of adult education.

A bill clarifying the law under which the new institution has been created will be prepared for presentation at this session of the legislature, it was decided by the regents at their meeting. One of the proposed changes is for the handling of the school funds by the county treasurer, instead of by the school's own treasurer, as the present law provides.

23 STUDENTS ASK APPOINTMENT ON NEBRASKAN STAFF

Applications for positions on the editorial and business staff of The Daily Nebraskan for next semester closed at noon yesterday with twenty-three filings for the thirteen positions open. The Student Publication board will meet about the middle of the week to choose the second semester staff. The applications received are: Editor-in-chief, two filings with one position open; managing editor, five filings with two positions open; news editor, nine filings with five to be chosen; business manager, one filing for the one position open; assistant business manager, four applicants for the three positions open. One application was received for the single position of assistant business manager of the Cornhusker.

MISS HEPPNER AT HAWAII.

Word has been received in Lincoln that Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women, has progressed as far as Honolulu on her round the world voyage.

Anti-Military Drill Petitions Are to Be Checked In Tuesday

All persons who have been circulating the anti-compulsory drill petitions, which are being sponsored by the League of Industrial Democracy, are requested to turn in the petitions Tuesday, by Evelyn Adler, who is leading the movement on the Nebraska campus.

The petitions may be given to Miss Adler, or left at The Daily Nebraskan office, or at either the offices of C. D. Hayes, university Y. M. C. A. secretary in the Temple, or with Berenice Miller, university Y. W. C. A. secretary in Ellen Smith hall. Miss Adler stated that persons circulating the petition could exercise some care, since several copies have been destroyed by parties who oppose the movement.

Persons who have not had an opportunity to sign the petition and who would like to do so are requested to call at any of the above mentioned offices.

DROP SEEN IN SECOND TERM REGISTRATION

1,125 Enrolled for Next Semester; 1,265 Last Year.

EXPECT MORE AGGIES

Engineering, Bizad and Dental Colleges Show Increases.

Increases in the resident registration for the second semester were shown over those for the second semester last year in the college of engineering, college of business administration, and dental college at the close of registration yesterday noon. The teachers college alone showed a definite decrease, although reports were not complete. The total number registering last week was 1,125 as against 1,265 resident registrations last year.

Six hundred students registered last week for second semester courses in the college of engineering. This number is about fifty greater than the resident registration for the second semester last year.

In the college of business administration the figures were 643 as against 624 for last year. The dental college reported a registration of 105, somewhat larger than the second semester registration last year.

Ag College Incomplete.

A smaller enrollment for the second semester than for the first was indicated in the early registration of the college of agriculture. Five hundred resident students registered for second semester classes last week. The first semester enrollment this year was 601. However, since the new student enrollment for the second semester at the college of agriculture is greater than in the other colleges, the decrease in enrollment will not be as great as the figures now indicate. The total second semester enrollment in the college last year was 582.

The teachers college reported a decrease of 140 from the second semester last year in resident registration.

The early registration for the college of arts and sciences was 1,250. Comparison with the residential (Continued on Page 4.)

PLAYERS DRAMATIZE 'ALADDIN' SATURDAY

University Cast Presents Play at Children's Theater Hour.

BY ROSELINE PIZER.

"Aladdin," Theodore Du Bois' dramatization of "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp" was presented by the University Players Saturday afternoon in the Temple theater under the auspices of the Junior League.

The play was effectively staged and presented well. The fascinating story from "Arabian Nights" with the magic lamp and his slave, made a delightful play. An air of mystery was created with darkness and strange rumblings whenever the genie appeared, and the palace scenes were pleasingly luxurious.

The complete cast was in the spirit of magic and mystery and played their parts well. Joe Di Natale made a convincing Aladdin and Mae Posey was a pleasing Julanar. Mildred Bickley played the part of Aladdin's mother and Don Crow the part of the magician, the evil uncle. Madison Shaw succeeded in getting the right number of laughs from his part of the indignant uncle. Irene Davies played the Princess Badroulbadour.

John Snipes performed several magical tricks between acts, accompanied his magic with a patter of pertinent (and clever) remarks. Pupils of Flavia Waters gave a group interpretative Japanese dances.

The play will be presented again next Saturday afternoon in the Temple theater at 2:30 o'clock.

ARTISTS CHOOSE BESS STEELE AS NEW PRESIDENT

Miss Bess Steele, head of the design division in the home economics department, was chosen president of the Lincoln Artists' guild at the annual election of the club held in the home economics building. Miss Evelyn Metzger, also of the design division of the college, was chosen secretary, and Mrs. Anna F. Albin, treasurer. Miss Steele and Miss Grace M. Morton, head of the clothing and textiles department, told of their recent trip to Europe at this meeting and exhibited textiles, pottery and prints which they brought from European countries.

NEBRASKANS TIED FOR FIRST PLACE

Victory Over Oklahoma Places Cornhuskers on Equal Footing With Kansas in Big Six Standings; Missouri Conquers Iowa State.

WHIRLWIND FINISH WINS GAME FOR SCARLET

Opponents Lead at End of Half With 19 to 16 Score; Lorry Meyer Is Removed for Fouls; Maclay and Fisher Open Scoring Spree.

A whirlwind finish, led by Fisher and Maclay, enabled the Husker basketball team to hand a 36 to 30 defeat to Oklahoma, the third which she has suffered this season. The outcome of the game played last night in the Oklahoma field house at Norman placed Nebraska on equal footing with Kansas for first place in Big Six standings.

The Jayhawkers succeeded in losing out a victory from Kansas Aggies, 37 to 29. Iowa State, previously unbeaten in conference play, was conquered by Missouri 20 to 18, leaving Kansas and Nebraska the only undefeated teams in the Big Six.

At the end of the half of the Norman game, the Sooners were leading with the long end of a 19 to 16 score. The game was fought out on even terms until Captain Lorry Meyer, outstanding guard of the Sooner aggregation, was removed from play because of personal fouls. Fisher and Maclay then opened a scoring spree which succeeded in burying the Sooners.

Andy Beck, a Sooner sophomore, who was shifted from guard to forward, was the high point man in the game with fifteen points to his credit. Maclay, with thirteen counters, six baskets and one free throw, led the scoring for Nebraska. Fisher sank four field goals and three gift tosses, making eleven points.

Coach Charley Black used his entire first string throughout the entire game. Hugh McDermott, Oklahoma mentor, used two full teams.

PAUL WHITEMAN TO PLAY AT COLISEUM

Junior League Signs Famous Orchestra for Dance On Jan. 30.

TICKETS SELL FOR $3

Paul Whiteman and his twenty-five piece orchestra including seven entertainers will play for the mid-winter ball at the coliseum, Friday, Jan. 30, according to members of the Lincoln Junior League who are sponsoring the affair.

The "king of jazz" and his band are on a tour through Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska on their way to the west coast and were secured by the Junior League to play for the party. Proceeds of the mid-winter ball will be used to defray expenses incurred through the charitable work undertaken by the league in Lincoln.

The price of tickets has been set at three dollars per couple. They will be on sale at Ben Simon's after Monday noon. Spectators will be admitted to the balcony for one dollar. According to junior league members a limited number of tickets will be sold for the party. A block of tickets has been reserved for university students and will be distributed on the campus next week.

This orchestra has been playing all winter in Chicago. It will make one other appearance in Nebraska on the western invasion. Plans for a late supper to be served in the coliseum for those who attend the ball are being formulated by the junior league.

It was deemed advisable by the university administration to have the Junior League party in the coliseum as a "holiday" attraction for those students who will have completed their final examinations by that time.

CONGREGATIONAL GROUP ORGANIZES PILGRIM PLAYERS

"The Pilgrim Players," a dramatic society for university Congregational students has been organized under the sponsorship of the Vine Congregational church. The Vine church is sponsoring the organization because there is no student Congregational pastor.

About thirty are now enrolled in the society, and other Congregational students have been invited to join. The players have presented two plays so far this fall and winter and are now preparing another to be presented this spring and summer. J. Edward Kilgore is student director of the organization.

The play "What Men Live By," adapted from the story by the Russian author, Tolstoy, was presented during the Christmas vacation at the Vine Congregational church and was again given two weeks later at the Trinity Methodist church.

The society is now preparing the play "The Terrible Meek," written by Charles Rann Kennedy, author of "The Servant in the House." This play will be presented at several churches in nearby Nebraska towns during their Sunday evening services.

Students Make Study Of Oklahoma Schools

Harold G. Salter and Donald Tewell, graduate students in the teachers college, will return to Lincoln today after a week in Canadian county, Okla., where they have been studying the rural school system. In Canadian county the schools are organized for individual instruction of students. Teachers and the county superintendent work in co-operation with the University of Oklahoma at Norman. Salter and Tewell made preliminary studies in Norman before proceeding to Canadian county for observation and further work.

Yearbook Staff Sets Jan. 21 as Deadline

All proofs of photos for the junior and senior section of the Cornhusker must be turned into the studios by Jan. 21, or the photographers will be instructed to use their judgment in picking out pictures to be used for these sections. It was announced by the yearbook staff Saturday.

TASSELS TO PLEDGE NINE NEW MEMBERS

Will Take In Girls From Tri-F Club, Pep Group On Ag Campus.

Nine members of the Tri-F club, pep organization on the Ag campus, will become pledges of Tassels at a luncheon Tuesday noon at the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria. Three members from each class, excluding freshmen, of the Tri-F club have been chosen by Tassels to become a part of their organization. Tri-F is a separate pep club on the Ag campus to which four members from each class have been appointed by faculty members. In order to constitute a more representative organization, Tassels will incorporate the Ag club. According to the new plan, the Tri-F club this year will choose their own members, but henceforth they are to be selected by Tassels. Their duties correspond to those of regular Tassel members and they will handle the usual business of the club on the Ag campus and wear the regulation Tassel uniforms. The new pledges will be entertained by the active members of Tassels at a luncheon Tuesday following their pledging.

Pi Lambda Theta Will Hear Talk on Antiques

Pi Lambda Theta, national educational honorary society will be addressed by Mrs. Moore, of Miller and Paine's antique department, on the subject of "European Antiques" at a meeting Tuesday at 7:30 o'clock. Luvicy Hill, Gertrude Goering and Gertrude Beers will be hostesses at this meeting at their home, 908 South Eleventh street. Members who wish conveyance must meet at Ellen Smith hall at 7:15 o'clock.
