WEBER RESIGNS TO TAKE NEW POSITION

Animal Husbandry Teacher Will Go to K-Aggie School Soon.

TO RANK AS PROFESSOR

Prof. Arthur D. Weber has resigned as associate professor of animal husbandry at the Univer-sity of Nebraska college of agri-culture to accept a position in the animal husbandry department of Kansas state agricultural college, according to Dran Burr. Profes-sor Weber's resignation becomes effective July 1.

Altho no official action has been taken by the university board of regents on Professor Weber's re-signation, it is doubtful, Dean Burr stated, if the university could equal the offer made by the Kansas agricultural college. Further he said that Professor Weber would have the status of profes-sor at Kansas with a larger salary. He succeeds Prof. Harry E. Reed who resigned.
