More emphasis will be laid on the exhibits than ever before. Then there are the polo games, the inter-sorority riding contest, the parade, the dance and many other features.

Gerald Shick and Sally Seelye are to act as co-chairmen of the executive parade committee. They are laying plans for the biggest and best parade ever held for Farmers Fair. Evelyn Krotz and George Round are to direct the publicity and advertising of the 1931 show.

Members of the fair board have selected Elizabeth Williams and Fred Meredith as heads of the all-important exhibit committee. Emory Fahney will have charge of the finances of the fair. SMOKING BILL IS SENT ON WAY TO ANOTHER READING

Original Johnson Measure Carries With 23 to 9 Vote Tuesday.

AMENDMENTS DEFEATED

Axtell's Plan to Extend Prohibition in All Houses Fails.

A university smoking prohibition bill was advanced another step on its way yesterday afternoon as the state senate, sitting in committee of the whole, passed the original Johnson bill to a third reading on a 23 to 9 roll call vote. All attempts to amend the measure, including Senator Axtell's substitute measure to extend the prohibition to fraternity and sorority houses and include drinking as well as smoking, were defeated.

The bill in its present form provides that "it shall hereafter be unlawful for any person to smoke cigarettes, pipes, or tobacco in any of its forms, in buildings owned and operated by the University of Nebraska or State Normal schools, or in dormitories leased or owned for school purposes, or in any public or high school building or apartments thereto in this state." A fine of not less than $25 or more than $100 is provided for violation of the law.

The roll call vote on the motion to advance the measure to third reading was as follows:

Yeas—Allen, Andersen, Axtell, Behrens, Clark, Cooper, Easton, Frush, Johnson, Kunkel, McGowan, Neubauer, Pederson, Reed, Schepman, Scott, Springer, Tooley, Vance, Van Kirk, Warner, Wellensiek, and Wherry.

Nays—Bowman, Bowring, Dworak, Koster, Neumann, Pitzer, Randall, Rodman and Strb.

The bill will probably come before the senate for third reading Thursday. The opinion was expressed by two senators, one who voted to advance the bill and one who voted against the advancement, that the bill would never get out of the senate and that many voted to advance it yesterday rather than continue the discussion.

Student of Psychology Arranges Experiment With Rats as Test in Thought and Powers of Learning

An experiment testing the power of thought, learning, and the retention of knowledge is now being carried on by Dick Fitzgerald, undergraduate student of the psychology department.

The experiment is being carried on with a construction termed "maze" which is a structure of five floors. On the top floor a number of Albino rats, half starved, are placed from where they must go thru a number of floors to obtain food which is placed somewhere in the maze. The "maze" is a production of Prof. W. E. Walton, head of the psychological department, for whom Fitzgerald is carrying out this experiment.

To obtain food, of which the half starved rats are in search, they must go through a series of seven holes just outside the maze on the first floor.

Must Retrace Route. There are in the maze several "error" holes that make further progress impossible and which make it necessary for the rats to go back thru the ones they came and down another. In the correct

COUNCIL FINISHES POWER CLAUSE IN TODAY'S MEETING

Legislative Body Convenes This Afternoon to Conclude Work.

The task of applying the finishing touches to the council constitution and the consideration of choosing a senior student to membership on the student publication board will be the main items to come up for discussion at a meeting of the Student Council this afternoon. The session is set for 5 o'clock at 111 University hall and all members of the group are urged to be present, according to President Bob Kelly.

These two matters have been under consideration for some time and definite action is expected to be taken on them when the council members meet this evening. The remaining work on the constitution consists in supplying a powers clause, the purpose of which is to secure more adequate enforcement of the constitution as a whole, and to make clearer the problem of general administration.

Monday night the constitution committee of the student governing body, which includes Chairman Edwin Faulkner, William McCleery, Fred Grau, Alan Williams, Eather Gaylor and Gretchen Fee, held a meeting and formulated definite plans in regard to the insertion of the powers clause. The main parts of this clause and their purposes will be brought out before the members of the council.

Another subject of outstanding interest which the council members are expected to act upon is that of electing a senior member to the student publication board. This position was left vacant with the resignation of Cyril Winkler several weeks ago.

Kelly is authority for the statement that all members of the student governing group should make it a point to be at the meeting on time, as the session will be of outstanding importance. Several minor issues may also come up for discussion, Kelly said.

That rowing is on the wane, particularly freshman rowing, was the essence of a statement made recently by Head Coach Richard Glendon, jr., of Columbia university. The Lion crew member was obviously dissatisfied with the yearling turnout especially so, contrasted with the varsity and Jayvoo.

Since equal representation on the Big Sister board between sorority and non-sorority women is required, senior members after the election will consist of three non-sorority and one sorority women, inasmuch as both candidates for president are sorority members and the defeated candidate automatically remains on the board.

CROWD OF 5,800 ATTENDS CHICAGO OPERA CONCERTS

Company Plays to Largest Audience of Season at Coliseum.

FORMER YORKITE STARS

Constance Eberhart Takes Important Role in First Rendition.

An audience estimated at 5,800 listened to the rendition of "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci" by the Chicago Civic opera company in the coliseum last night. This is the largest crowd the company has played to this season. Coming direct from Portland, Ore., the performance last night was the concluding one of the season for the organization.

Leads in "Cavalleria Rusticana" were taken by Claudia Muzio as Santuzza, a village girl; Antonio Cortis as Turridu, a young soldier; Constance Eberhart, taking the part of Lucia, mother of Turridu; Jenny Tourel portraying Lola, wife of Alfio, and Desire Defrere as Alfio, a teamster.

Leading parts in "I Pagliacci" were taken by Charles Marshall as Canio, master of a village comedy troupe; Hilda Burke as Nedda, his wife; Richard Bonelli as Tonio, the clown; Giuseppe Cavadore playing Beppo, and Mario Fiorella as Silvio, a young peasant.

Both operas were sung in Italian. Both were well received by the large audience but "I Pagliacci" seemed to draw the biggest hand.

Scene of "Cavalleria Rusticana" is laid in a Sicilian village. The time is Easter Sunday, Turridu, a young peasant who is returning from military service, finds Lola, his former sweetheart, married to Alfio. Alfio, still infatuated with Lola, he consoles himself with Santuzza. Both girls love Turridu. Santuzza is serious, however, while Lola is coquettish and resumes her affair with him. Santuzza begs Turridu not to give her up for Lola and in jealous anger tells Alfio of the relations of Turridu and Lola. Alfio, who is outraged, vows vengeance. Alfio insults him and an immediate duel

The following year he was made chairman of the department of school administration. In accepting the resignation of Dean W. E. Sealock as head of the Teachers college, the board of regents expressed its appreciation of his service to the university in building up the Teachers college and regretted that he had seen fit to leave the University of Nebraska for his new work as president of the municipal university of Omaha.
