During the last five years tennis has been moving upward in the galaxy of sports. This started back in the beginning of Secretary of State Stimson's governorship in the islands. Tennis was his hobby there.

His official family took to the tennis courts of the Malacanang palace, so the natives swept onto the tennis court as a pre-foot-ball game rally storms the campus.

This sport is fortunate in that Governor Dwight Davis, donor of the Davis cup, was appointed in his present office. The whole family plays tennis and this presents a stronger stimulus to the tennis enthusiasts. At the present time Mr. Davis is exerting his efforts for the creation of an Oriental Davis cup zone.

As this love for the game increases tennis courts are beginning to dot public plazas. Perennial sunshine makes this sport and all other sports appealing to the people.

"No sympathetic person can believe, surely, that a boy of eighteen is inspired to make the most of whatever abilities he has by doing a year or two of unsatisfactory work, pending the time when he shall become sufficiently discouraged to drop out. A sense of failure is not as a rule the soil in which future successes grow.

Loss Even for Those Who Succeed. "Finally, there is serious loss in this state of affairs even for those students who succeed in their university work. For the university cannot possibly do its best work when its classes, especially in the first two years are filled in large measure by students who ought not to be there. In the last resort the standards of a university are set as much by the students as by the teachers. The loss to the university lies in its ability to do from the start the very best that it might do for those students who really want and need a university education."

There is no kindness, Dr. Sabine declared, in teaching a student what he really does not need to know, or in encouraging a person to go on with what he is heavily unskilled to do. Nor is there any democracy, he added, in fostering "the illusion that excellence does not matter and that anybody can succeed at whatever he turns his hand to."

"Students are going to succeed or fail," he explained, "in a world that needs trained faculties and judges a man mostly by what he can do.

At the Illinois relays, with a quartet that included Bill Lamson, Harold Petz, George Smutny and Myrie White, the Huskers established a new mark in the 320-yard shuttle relay event with a mark of 40.5 seconds, bettering by a scant half second the previous carnival mark established by the University of Iowa in 1930.

ALPHA XI DELTA WINS LAST CAGE TILT WEDNESDAY

Champions Take Game From K. B. B. Five; Score Of 15 to 6.

TILT STARTS OUT SLOW

Victors Miss Many Tries But Forwards Save Count at Half.

In the final game of the girls basketball tournament Wednesday afternoon the Alpha Xi Deltas grabbed the long end of a 15 to 6 score in a game with the K. B. B.'s and became the champions in the intramural hoop circle.

The game started out rather slowly. Neither team was playing its regular speed. The Alpha Xi Delta's missed frequent tries at the elusive hoop and the general floor work of the K. B. B.'s was loose.

However, before the first quarter was over the Alpha Xi Delta's prize forwards of this season, Gloria Aggen and Helen Yowell, were getting warmed up and by the half time they had put their team up in front by three goals, making the score 9 to 3.

Many Fouls Called. The K. B. B. forwards were not up to par, but Jean Ash, the mainstay of the guarding faction, was playing her usual good game and was getting the ball almost incessantly under the basket.

Neva Bollinger and Denice Greene, the Alpha Xi Delta guards, played their best game of the year. Esther Abbott, who substituted for Marian McLaren at the half, played well with her running mate, Velma McCue.

A number of fouls were called on both teams but they were to be expected as this was a fast, hard fought game. Both the K. B. B.'s and the Alpha Xi Delta's have performed in superb manner all season, but the champions outdid their opponents in every aspect of the game.

The passing of the centers, Catherine Jensen and Blossom McCade, was a feature and the co-operation of the whole team was excellent.

Gloria Aggen was high in points scored with eight markers. Her team mate, Helen Yowell, was a close second with seven.

For the K. B. B.'s, Marian McLaren turned in five pointers to put her high. Esther Abbott and Velma McCue each had one.

The individual scores for the game:

Table with 4 columns: Name, Points, Rebounds, Assists. Rows include Aggen, Yowell, Bollinger, Greene, Jensen, McCade, McCue, McLaren, Abbott, Ash, Brittain, Baird.

Alpha Xi Delta. Aggen, 8; Yowell, 7; Bollinger, 6; Greene, 5; Jensen, 4; McCade, 3. K. B. B. McCue, 1; McLaren, 1; Abbott, 1; Ash, 1; Brittain, 1; Baird, 1.

ENTRIES IN SHOE TOSSEY TOURNEY Will Close at 5

Sixteen fraternities have registered so far for the intramural horseshoe tournament. Rudolf Vogeler, director of Greek sports, has set 5 o'clock this afternoon as the deadline for entries in both the fraternity and all-university horseshoe competition.

The all-university horseshoe affair is open to all men registered at Nebraska, including those fraternity players who desire to toss the iron hoof protectors even though they are already competing for their own organizations.

Vogeler urges that more men sign up today to vie for the gold and silver medals offered to first and second place winners in the all-university tournament.

DELTS DROP VOLLEY BALL TILT TO TEKES

The alert Tekes sextet copped the first canto by the decisive score of 15-0, and took the second with a 15-5 count. Speedy teamwork on the part of the winners contributed to the Delts' downfall.

The lineups follow: TEKES, Jensen, Koolen, Winkquist, Stipsky, Lunney, Young. DTD, Brandt, Batty, Nelsen, Prucka, Johnson and Lawlor.

BIBLE DRILLS MEN IN NEW COACHING PLAN

Mentor Takes Advantage of Balmy Days; Squads Study Plays.

OAKES TO LEAVE SOON

With about two weeks of spring football still on deck Coach Bible is appreciating the balmy weather of the last few days which should bring out a larger number of men with varsity pigskin aspirations for next fall.

Yesterday Bible had his Red and Blue squads studying each other's plays under the revamped coaching plan. Oakes, Lehman, and Black were looking over the Blues and directing their activities while D. X. himself, Brown, and Weir took charge of the Reds.

Program is Full. Some putting, plenty of the cut back type of catching passes, and then individual squad instruction constituted the program of last night's workout.

"Bunny" Oakes, who has been turning out linemen in seasons past that have been a Cornhusker joy, plans to leave for his Montana coaching post about a week from Friday. Oakes has been assisting Bible in the spring practice before assuming his duties as head coach at Montana university soon.

Oakes Plans Drill. Line Coach Oakes intends to conduct a spring practice of his own at the northern school beginning immediately on his arrival.

Bible will also lose the services of Baseball Director Harold Browne after this week when the latter shoes his ball and bat candidates out on to Landis field for the opening workout next Monday.

A regular game between the Red and Blue teams will entertain spectators in Memorial stadium Saturday afternoon according to Coach Bible.
