NEBRASKAN GETS REPORTERS FROM VARIOUS SOURCES

Reportorial Staff Varies As Interest in Work Fluctuates.

SMALL GROUP HAS BEATS

Miss Pizer Reports Players Activities; Erickson Covers Council.

Captured by a paid staff of editors, reporters for the Daily Nebraskan are recruited from all departments of the university, although the majority of the volunteer news writers come from the school of journalism.

The size of the reportorial staff fluctuates from time to time as new students with journalistic aspirations drop into the office for assignments or relinquish their positions to enter a new line of activity, but it is built around a small group of more or less permanent reporters to whom "beats" are assigned.

Experience Counts Little.

Experience counts for little at the university hold or have held positions on the staff.

During this semester Roseline Pizer has covered all University Players, and George Dunn has reported the activities of the Wesley Players, the Prairie Schooner, and Sigma Upsilon Literary society.

Jack Erickson has been assigned to cover all student council meetings in addition to doing general news.

ALPHA SIGMA PHI COMPLETES MOVING

Fraternity Is Forced to Change Quarters Due To City Rule.

Alpha Sigma Phi completed moving last weekend to its new home at 1039 South Eleventh street. The fraternity formerly lived at 1845 D street but was forced to move because the district in which the house was built was restricted to purely residential structures. Two years out of a five year lease were still left when the fraternity men were forced to leave.

The quarters are only temporary as plans are being formulated to build on a lot already purchased at Sixteenth and R streets. Members of the fraternity expect the house to be ready for occupancy some time next fall.

The fraternity fought the residential restriction to the supreme court but was ruled against and thus was forced to move. The new temporary residence was formerly the Oak Tea room and was used for refreshments and parties.

HIGH SCHOOL PAPERS ADVERTISE ATHLETICS

Probe by Wiedeman's Class Reveals Space Given To Sports.

Athletics are given the largest amount of space in high school papers next to advertising is the conclusion pointed out by an investigation recently worked out by Prof. C. C. Wiedeman's class in educational publicity in the department of the school administration.

Other extra-curricular activities rank next, with personals, editorials, jokes taking their place in the order named. The following are the approximate percentages of space given each: advertising—30 percent; athletics—16 percent; other extra-curricular activities—12 percent; personals—9 percent; editorials—7 percent; jokes 6 percent.

Subjects of possibility that were neglected were: health ranking sixteenth; music, tenth; religion, twentieth; alumni, twenty-first; exchange, fourteenth; attendance, twenty-third.

It is of interest to note that 85 percent of the column inches of the paper was distributed among 12 out of a list of 26 headings.

The statistics are based on a summary of column inch distribution by arbitrary headings from 54 Superior high school papers in the middle west between December, 1930 and February 1931. The project was worked out by: H. G. Satter, R. B. Peck, Conrad Rees, T. S. Rosen, D. D. Fellows, William Grosseohme, D. E. Tewell, R. L. Wolfner, F. T. Gradoville.

WALTER S. GIFFORD BELIEVES SCHOLARS ARE VALUABLE TO BUSINESS AS WELL AS IN LEGAL AND MEDICAL PROFESSIONS

Characterizing as a "stubborn myth" the theory that the academic scholar is considered useless as a prospective business leader, and backing up his argument by a series of convincing graphs, an article by Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, offers rather startling testimony to the contrary.

In this article, now appearing in pamphlet form under the sponsorship of the scholarship committee of the interfraternity conference of New York city, Mr. Gifford seeks to prove that the mind well trained in youth has the best chance to succeed in any business it may choose, and that scholarship as a measure of mental equipment is important both to business and to business men. The conclusion is a result of a particular study made by the Bell system.

Law Favors Scholar.

"The big law firms seek the high-mark men from the law schools, believing that the man who stands well in his law studies will make a better lawyer than one who does not," declares Mr. Gifford. A man with low marks in medical school is not likely to get an appointment in the best hospitals, for it is the experience of the medical profession that those who stand well in the pro-

AG STUDENTS CLEAN UP CAMPUS SUNDAY

College Returns to Normal Following Strenuous Fair Week.

After a successful Farmers' fair, the college of agriculture campus came back to normal this week with all classes running on full schedule. In preparation for the fair last week there was no school on Thursday, Friday or Saturday in the college.

Though officials of the 1931 fair have made no financial report as yet, students in the college consider the exposition a success in all other ways. The attendance was thought to be near normal with exhibits, concessions and various contests attracting the most attention.

Practically every student in the college turned out for the general cleaning up on Sunday. The fair board treated the workers to a cafeteria lunch at noon. By evening the campus looked normal with all bleachers, stands and exhibits back in their right place.

Only one "ducking" was reported on Saturday while several students were put under Sunday afternoon. The horse tank occupied the historic spot in front of the home economics building.

ENGINEERS LEAD ON INITIAL DAY OF REGISTRATION

124 Students Enroll on First Day as Few Plan Courses.

DEANS ANTICIPATE RUSH

Agricultural College Second As 30 Schedule New Classes.

Registration on the first day proved to be slow according to reports made by the dean's office in each of the colleges. At 4 o'clock 124 students had registered. The engineering college had the largest number of registrants with 60, next in order were the college of agriculture with 30, the college of arts and science 21 and the dental college five.

No reports on registration were available from the colleges of business administration, law and teachers. Registration in the college of pharmacy is done largely on Tuesday and Wednesday. No check of Monday registrants had been made in the pharmacy college according to Dean Lyman.

Deans in the different colleges expressed the thought that the peak of registration would come at the end of the week as in former years. Registration on Monday compared favorably with that of the first day in former years. As many students are expected to register this spring as did a year ago.

Students must have completed their registration by Saturday, noon May 9. Registration at this time is for the first semester next year.

EXTENSION WORKERS ARRANGE FIVE CAMPS

Nebraska Women to Spend Summer Vacations In State.

OUTINGS START JUNE 23

Nebraska women will have five mothers' vacation camps this summer, according to an announcement from Miss Mary-Ellen Brown, state extension agent in charge of women's work in Nebraska. This first camp is at Chadron, June 23 to 26, the second at Sidney, June 29 to July 2, the third at Lexington, July 28 to 31, the fourth at Deweese, Aug. 4 to 7, and the last at Camp Brewster near Omaha, Aug. 11 to 14.

While the outings are called mothers' vacation camps, any woman may attend who is over eighteen years of age. Miss Brown explains, "She feels it is a good idea to have both young as well as elderly ladies in each of the camps to make a very representative group. Members of clubs who have taken extension projects, who have been in study club projects, and also leaders of 4-H clubs are especially invited to attend the camps, although each of the outings will be open to any woman in the territory."

It will be necessary again this year for each camper to bring her own bedding, but Miss Brown will arrange for the meals, lodging, cost and the program. Each lady will pay a very nominal sum to cover her share of the actual expense of the camp. All of the camps are to be held in buildings this year so storms will not interfere with the programs.

In addition to the usual rest and recreation, Miss Brown plans to have handicraft work and nature study on the 1931 programs. Mrs. C. O. Bruce of Lincoln will assist with the program at Chadron and Sidney, and Miss Ella Gardner of the children's bureau, department of commerce, will take charge of the recreation activities at Lexington, Deweese and Camp Brewster.

County extension agents and home extension agents will help Miss Brown in getting the enrollment for the camps and the county home extension agents will attend the camps in their districts to help with the programs.
