Two Parades
With the noise of martial music, the parade begins, as the brave little soldiers file along the streets. The next is a colorful pageant of G. C. T. O. groups thanking the people for their support.

Brass bands fill the streets with music, and the processions are accompanied by the clashing of the drums. The decorations are of the highest order, and the floats are most attractive. The weather is delightful, and the sun shines brightly on the city.

The B. W. S. Board
Makes Progress

A committee has been appointed to handle the problems of students' activities upon the University campus. This committee, known as the "B. W. S. Board," has been organized to promote the welfare of the student body.

The board has met several times, and has discussed various problems, such as the organization of sports clubs and the improvement of the student center.

The board members are chosen by the students of the University, and they are expected to represent the interests of all students.

College Comment

"In the days of the Renaissance, the universities were centers of learning and culture. The scholars of that time were the leaders of society, and their work was respected by all."

The editor of the New York University daily, a member of the board, said: "Our goal is to provide a quality education for all students."
