A slanderous scandal sheet, entitled the Ragger, caused much whispering, gossiping and nodding of heads, when it was distributed at the annual Rag banquet Thursday evening at the Lincoln hotel. Following the dinner a reunion of the staff twenty years hence took place.

Gene Robb as the toastmaster, posed as a political leader and introduced the various speakers who were William McGaffin, Elmont Waite, Evelyn Simpson, Robert Kelly, Art Mitchell and William McCleery.

Senior Members of D. G. To Be Honored.

Members of Delta Gamma will entertain their graduating seniors at luncheon Saturday noon at the Lincoln hotel. Gifts will be given to the graduates. Mrs. F. R. Fenn, housemother, will be an honored guest. The graduates to be feted include Beatie Fricker, Jane Scott, Carita Kingsbury, Miriam Wiggenshorn, Blanche Ashbrook, Katherine Pickett, and Frances Holyoke.

Dorothy Stanley Chosen New Phi Head.

New officers for the remainder of the semester and for the fall semester were recently elected by Pi Beta Phi. Members chosen for officers were Dorothy Stanley, Lansdowne, Pa., president; Miriam Kissinger, Fairfield, vice president; Betty May, Lincoln, recording secretary; Mary Heine, Fremont, corresponding secretary; Alice Reader, Kimball, treasurer; Isabel Meagher, Omaha, and Maxine Musser, Rushville, censors; Marjorie Peterson, Fremont, senior council member; Virginia Ross, Central City, junior council member; Ann Bunting, Lincoln, sophomore council member.

D. U. Seniors To Have Informal Dinner.

Sixteen members of Delta Upsilon who are seniors in the university will have a 6:15 dinner Friday evening at the Lindell hotel. Those who will attend are Gene McKim, Arthur and Robert Danjelson, Paul Hummel, Laurence Tyler, Jack Lieben, Harold Pedley, Gale Davis, Ace McCallum, Arthur Bailey, Kenneth Gammill, Edwin Edmonds, Lester Schick, Gene Robb and Edgar Backus.

Delta Gamma Will Entertain

brothers at Sunday dinner at the chapter house. The guests will number about fifty. Spring decorations will feature the dining room. Pledges are in charge of a short program to follow the dinner.

himself into space for a 24 feet 4 inch leap down in Texas to be victorious in that event there. Gray Hege and Tomson of Nebraska are considered the other great threats in the broad jump.

Capt. Milton Ehrlich of Kansas Aggies is a 6 feet 3 inch high jumper and is acknowledged a chance to break the existing record in that event.

Coffman of Kansas has vaulted 13 feet 7 inches this year. Hugh Rhea of Nebraska is without competition in the shot put and the wagers are being laid that he will sling the iron ball for a new Big Six distance. Eisenhart of Nebraska tosses the discus for 137 feet and up, the best recorded twirl this season in the conference.

The javelin looks like a Kansas win unless Bryan of the Jays should fail to duplicate a previous 191 feet heave. Mills of Oklahoma and Faytinger of Nebraska sling the spear well over 180 feet.

Directors Meet. Athletic directors of the Big Six schools met Thursday at the Lincoln hotel to discuss various matters. The sessions were closed and details of the gathering were not learned last night.

Prices for admission have been set at 50 cents Friday afternoon and one dollar Saturday. Students with athletic tickets can gain entrance for half these stated sums.

SENATE TO MEET MONDAY ON BARB ELECTION APPEAL

(Continued from Page 1.) Heves, the old rule still holds. Under this interpretation Dr. Thompson fails to see how any conflicts such as pointed out by Williams in a statement to the Nebraska Wednesday, can possibly exist between the new constitution and the old rules.

Williams Wednesday pointed out another alleged conflict between the old rules and the new constitution concerning the filing of candidates. The old rules provided that each candidate must file his own name. The new constitution provides that each faction shall file its slate of candidates. Under Dr. Thompson's interpretation this conflict is automatically settled in favor of the new constitution.

The Barb action, of course, is within its rights in appealing Kelly's order. Dr. Thompson recognizes. The new constitution puts all student elections in the hands of the Student Council, but also provides for appeal to the senate in case any one feels injustice has been done.

As to the council's authority to reprimand the Barb faction for its action and, at the same time, seat its elected representatives Dr. Thompson declined to enter his bridges until they are reached.

Under the new constitution the senate ruling will be final, so the decision will be made in absence of the first meeting of the new council next Wednesday. The decision of seating the Barb representatives will not fall on the new council members.

A few years ago the Blue Shirt candidates were declared ineligible by a Barb majority on the council for spending twenty-seven cents in an election campaign.

Big Six Tracksters Must Hustle If Present Marks Are Surpassed

NORMAN.—Big Six conference track and field athletes will have to hustle at Lincoln, Neb., Friday and Saturday to surpass some of the marks they have set up in dual and relay carnival outdoor meets this year.

The names of several formidable athletes are not included in the following compilations, for instance Lamson and Smutney, the Nebraska hurdlers, who have had to compete this spring against such top-notchers as Hager of Ames, and Flick and Gridley of Kansas and therefore have no marks. Others in this general category are Wells, Iowa State; Smutney of Nebraska; and Mell of Oklahoma in the dashes; Jones of Kansas and Wessling of Iowa State in the 440; Nagel of Iowa State and Ostergard of Nebraska in the 880; Nagel and Labertew of Iowa State in the mile; Kite of Kansas in the hurdles and Cronkite, Kansas State, in the shot and discus.

is out June 12 many students will leave in "collegiate" models of popular cars for jobs, some of which are as distant as the Pacific coast.

Summer work for all students in horticulture and a few in other departments has been secured by the department here, according to Prof. J. C. Cunningham.

EXPECT 70 STUDENTS WILL ENTER CONTEST

Tri-K Club's Judging Meet Attracts Many Entrants at Farm College.

Nearly seventy students in the college of agriculture are expected to enter the first annual student grain judging and identification contest being held Saturday in the dairy building, according to Clifford Jorgensen who is making the general arrangements for the contest.

The contest is being sponsored by the Tri-K agronomy club, a recently organized society composed of students interest in agronomy. Members of the crops judging team at the college this year are the charter members of the organization.

Final plans for the contest are being made today. Each entrant is being charged twenty-five cents to help defray expenses of the banquet scheduled for Saturday evening in the dairy building. Announcement of winners in the contest will not be made until that time. Melvin Husa, charter member of the Tri-K club, is making arrangements for the banquet.

Jorgensen declared Thursday evening that nearly eighty students were expected to enter the contest Saturday but with the meats judging contest being held at the same time, the number of entries will be cut down a little. More interest, however, has been aroused on the campus over the contest than was expected by the club. All contestants are to meet at eight o'clock Saturday morning.

Culbertson to Judge. The only last minute change made in the plans for the contest was the announcement that Joe Culbertson, assistant agronomist at the college, will assist in judging the contest. Each contestant will judge six classes of grains and identify the common crop seeds and weeds.

Grains to be judged include two classes of wheat, one of corn, one of oats, one of barley and one of alfalfa. Written reasons will be required on each class.

SCHULTE WORE TRACK SUIT BUT ONCE; WAS DRAFTED IN SPORT HE DISLIKED.

(Continued from Page 1.) ning just before the meet he arrived at a sporting goods store and asked the clerk to give him a track suit. This was done and Schulte took it home to try on.

When he looked at himself in the mirror his eyes dropped and he blushed. This would never do, there were girls out there, giggling and whispering. But he had to make the meet.

Hurriedly he opened a drawer and extracted a pair of long, black, cotton stockings, a resemblance of the days before he began to wear long trousers. Hastily he put them on but they failed to meet the bottom of his trunks by several inches yet. Still, he thought, this would be better than nothing.

He dashed onto the field, and when quiet and order had been restored he threw the shot, threw it farther than anyone else in the meet. After winning this he sought out the coach to tell him of his victory.

"I won that shot throwing," he said. "I want to do something else."

Law Interests. The 440 was the only race left so Schulte entered. After the race the coach asked him how he came out to which he answered "sixth."

"Sixth?" asked the coach. "There were only four in the race."

"I know," replied the Indian, but two policemen crossed the track before I got in."

Schulte spent his collegiate days at Michigan where he was a member of that school's famous point-a-minute team. He coached football and basketball at several different schools and finally got a chance to go to Missouri. When he arrived in Columbia he found that according to his contract he was to teach track also. The Indian had kept away from tracks all his life with the one exception at his prep school and was set against taking the job. He finally consented however and this was the turning point in his career.

At Missouri he developed such outstanding stars as Bob Simpson, Jackson Scholz and William Sylvester. In 1919 he was employed at Nebraska as a football coach, minor in track. When Fred Dawson became head football coach Schulte was made assistant and head track coach. From that time on he began to develop some of the outstanding stars in the world and his name became a byword in American track circles.
