Halstead Wins Mile With Bracey Class of Sprint Stars.

Bernie Masterson Becomes 'Heel and Toe' Cinder Man

Big Bernie Masterson, next year a sophomore member of the University of Nebraska's football squad, has turned into a big "heel and toe" man.

It all began four years ago when Masterson, then a Lincoln high school athlete, started mimicking heel and toe walkers here for the national A. A. U. meet just to have some fun and give his friends a laugh.

Since that time, however, Big Bernie has been taking his heel and toe work seriously and now under the management of Cliff Cunningham, Lincoln Y. M. C. A. and George Douglas Lloyd, penitentiary inmate and former English distance walker, he is training extensively for the A. A. U. meet Friday.

University officials are inclined to scoff slightly at the idea but Bernie is insistent, Cliff is enthusiastic and Lloyd thinks Bernie has the right build. Last year only two men entered the junior A. A. U. three mile heel and toe walk at Pittsburgh and if the field is as small this year, Cunningham believes his protegee ought at least to win a place.

Halstead and Hill were both timed under 4:20. E. T. Turner, University of Michigan, an 880 yard performer, running in the same race, stopped after sprinting in at the half mile mark.

Johnny Morris, national junior A. A. U. high hurdles champion, Buck Grant, University of Utah, Linus Carroll and Bill Fleming, Nebraska, paced thru several hurdle flights before calling it a day.

George Corbett, Brigham Young university, got better than one hundred and fifty feet in the discus and was getting close to forty-three feet in the shot. Hugh Rhea's best effort in the iron ball event was a shade better than forty-seven feet.
