

U OF OKLAHOMA LOWERS STUDENT TICKET PRICES

NORMAN, Okla.—The price of the student season athletic ticket at the University of Oklahoma has been cut from $10 to $8.50, it was announced today by Ben G. Owen, director of athletics.

The new ticket will save a student $23.25 if he or she attends every athletic contest played at Norman by the Sooners this coming school year.

The new low priced Sooner season football ticket is becoming quite popular, according to advance reservation orders now being received in the office of Ben Owen. The feature of the early sale this year is the unusually large proportion of tickets being ordered by new customers, persons who have not ordered in former seasons.

FIVE NEBRASKANS HAVE ORCHESTRA ON OCEAN LINER

A student orchestra of five university men including James Douglas, Roger Wilkerson, and Royal Alber of Lincoln, and William Higdon and Fred Hunt of Goodland, Kas. drove to New York this summer to play as ship's orchestra on the liner Rotterdam of the Holland-American steamship lines. After reaching Europe they made a two week stay in Paris.

HUSKERS RESUME GRID RELATIONS WITH MINNESOTA

First Contest Between Two Schools Scheduled For 1932.

FOLLOWS 12 YEAR LAPSE

Friendship Between Bible And Crisler Plays Integral Part.

After a twelve year lapse the University of Nebraska is to resume athletic relations with the University of Minnesota next year. The new pact calls for the appearance of the Cornhuskers at Minneapolis, October 15, 1932. The arrangement will work on a return game schedule with appearances of the teams alternating on the playing fields of the two universities. The appearance of the Gophers at Memorial stadium, however, may be delayed until 1933. A tentative arrangement with a strong eastern institution was sought by Minnesota before the Nebraska game came into the picture. Contracting of an eastern contest would make impossible the presence of the Gophers on Nebraska sod in 1933 or 1934.

In the event that the eastern contract does not go through, Nebraska fans who visit Memorial stadium each fall will have an opportunity to watch the 1933 Huskers perform against Minnesota's Gopher aggregation.

All Sports Included. Not only are relations between the two schools to be resumed in football, but they will be arranged in other branches of sport as well, including basketball, track, wrestling and possibly tennis and baseball.

Gridmaster D. X. Bible is in a large measure responsible for the consummation of the pact. Bible's friendship with H. O. "Fritz" Crisler, athletic director and head football coach at Minnesota, was an instrumental factor in the agreement. Both have been active in the American Football Coaches' association, having served jointly on a number of important assignments.

1932 Schedule Growing. Addition of Minnesota to the 1932 Cornhusker slate calls for a game on October 15 of next year, making eight games for the Scarlet gridder. Contests away are with Minnesota, Iowa, Oklahoma and Kansas, while Pittsburgh, Missouri, Kansas State and Iowa State will appear at Memorial stadium. A ninth game is to be arranged.

Resumption of relations with the Minnesota school will be received with rejoicing by Nebraska sport fans who have always held the Gopher outfit in high regard. Twenty years ago the annual game was one of the high spots of the football season and athletic leaders of each institution are firm in the belief that with the return of athletic relations on the home and home basis will result in healthful rivalry which will grow into a midwestern tradition.

Minnesota is one of the few teams to hold a decisive margin over the Cornhuskers in football statistics. The institutions have met 13 times, Minnesota winning eight games, the Cornhuskers three, and two resulting in tie scores. The last game was in 1919 when the eleven battled to a 6-6 tie. Scores for the entire history of athletic contests between the two schools follow:

1900—Nebraska, 12; Minnesota, 20
1901—Nebraska, 0; Minnesota, 19
1902—Nebraska, 6; Minnesota, 0
1904—Nebraska, 12; Minnesota, 16
1905—Nebraska, 0; Minnesota, 35
1906—Nebraska, 0; Minnesota, 13
1907—Nebraska, 5; Minnesota, 8
1908—Nebraska, 0; Minnesota, 0
1909—Nebraska, 7; Minnesota, 0
1910—Nebraska, 0; Minnesota, 22
1911—Nebraska, 3; Minnesota, 21
1912—Nebraska, 0; Minnesota, 13
1913—Nebraska, 7; Minnesota, 0
1919—Nebraska, 6; Minnesota, 6

THE ONLOOKER BY MURLIN SPENCER.

A news dispatch from the University of Oklahoma tells of a big reduction in season student athletic tickets. A drop of from $10 to $8.50 was given. This will be a big help to those students who are in the grip of the depression. It remains to be seen whether or not other members of the Big Six will follow in the footsteps of the Sooners. At the present time, there seems to be no aid in sight, especially on the Nebraska campus.

The spirit displayed by the Cornhuskers on the field has been remarkable in the face of such a hard weather. One group in the practice last night even refused to put their heads under a hose and instead went right on with their scrimmage. There is a different attitude prevailing this year than anything we have ever seen in the last three years. It should take the Huskers a long way.

One of the problems to be faced now is to see what the reaction of the student body will be—whether they will display the same spirit that is shown by members of the team. Two years ago the spirit went so far as to practically end up in a mob scene. Last year, as the natural reaction to the previous season, spirit on the campus was at a low ebb, so low in fact as to amount to practically nothing. This year, things should be different. The organization sponsoring rallies should get to work immediately and work up the spirit so that it will be at a high pitch at the time of the first important game—two weeks from this Saturday with Northwestern.

It should not be necessary to call out the entire military department to get enough men to attend the rally.

There are times and places for displaying such spirit, however. It is only natural that fathers, fraternity brothers, girls and mothers should want to see the team practice. The spirit they show in going down to the practice is appreciated. It is, however, better for all concerned if these people will wait until the practice is thrown open to the public and then turn out in a mass and fill the stands. A large crowd surrounding the practice field makes it difficult for the team to work; besides, imagine the number of people that have been killed when some husky player came crashing down on them.

Getting back to this subject of spirit, an open practice will be held Saturday in which four teams will probably see plenty of action. It will be the first opportunity the student body will have to watch the Cornhuskers in anything approaching a game. Turn out for that practice, and you will probably be shown more football than you have ever seen a Nebraska team put out so early in the season.

Nebraska will have a tough time pointing for any one certain game this year. The Huskers tried it a little last year and woke up to find that Oklahoma had slipped a fast one by them. Northwestern, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa all come whizzing by in one sweep, each school represented by a good team. Try and point for any one of them.

A coach certainly leads a tough life. Not only has he to develop the men that he has on hand, but he must also see to it that some school doesn't take the players he has away from him. It must be an instinct (ask the fraternities after rush week) for people to try and get what some one else has. The trait was displayed the other day when O'Brien, husky tackle, received a wonderful offer from a former schoolmate now registered at the University of Montana. It's a hard life.

CONFERENCE KANSAS EDITORS ANNOUNCED

Journalists Will See Night Football at Round Table Session.

LAWRENCE, Kas.—The Kansas editors' round tables will be held in the department of journalism at the University, Oct. 2 and 3 it was announced today by L. N. Flint, chairman of the department. In accordance the round tables last year, practically all of the time of the conference will be devoted to round table sessions by groups of editors of weekly papers, small dailies and larger dailies. The usual address by an editor from outside the state will be given Friday afternoon, Oct. 2. Details of the program will be announced in an issue of the Kansas Editor. The visiting editors will be the guests of the university at the Haskell-K. U. football game the evening of Oct. 2, thus affording to many their first sample of night football.

LARGE SQUAD GREET FIRST CYCLONE CALL

Gridders Enthusiastic at Iowa State; Talent in Ranks.

A large squad turned out at Iowa State for the first practice of the year under George Veenker, fresh from the athletic staff at Michigan, who succeeds Noel Workman.

Although Iowa State has not won a game in over a two year term, there was no lack of enthusiasm as the practice season got under way.

Eight lettermen were lost by graduation and one by ineligibility. Eleven letter men are slated to return, two of them from the 1929 team, to form the nucleus for the 1931 eleven.

End and guard positions seemed weakest when Veenker looked over the squad in spring practice. Other talent is strong, however, and the opinion seems to prevail that football will again take its place in the sun at Iowa State.

THURSDAY SEES PASSES FEATURE HARD PRACTICE

End Prospects Take Turns Receiving; Backs All Practice Punts.

NO SET TEAMS USED

Open Scrimmage Scheduled For Saturday; Squad Cut Due Soon.

A pass offense and defense was the main feature of Thursday's football practice as Coach Dana X. Bible sent his squad through another long, hard workout. A passing combination of Sauer tossing and Petz receiving worked best during the afternoon's workout.

Coach Bible is still working to solve his end problem and Jones, Schmitt, Kilbourne and Petz were used alternately in receiving the passes. Attention was also given to varsity backs in work in breaking up the tosses.

No set teams were used in the practice. All backfield men were used during the workout. Rhea and Gilbert saw the most action in the tackle positions. Justice and Koster were in their usual positions at guard with Ely and McPherson alternating at center.

A portion of the evening was devoted to punting with Kreitzinger, Paul, Sauer, Masterson and Raugh getting off some good kicks. Kreitzinger and Sauer look as though they may get the punting assignment for this year unless some new talent is uncovered.

Scrimmage will be held in Memorial stadium Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock and will be open to the public. All members of the squad will probably see action at this time in order to enable the coaches to pick the members of the squad to be carried through the entire season. There are still about sixty hopefuls that are candidates for the squad, but before the season gets officially underway the group will be cut to about thirty-six.
