commissioned Miss Dolan to do the work. The four portraits upon completion will be placed in what is to be designated the Founders room, now known as the mineral gallery of Morrill hall. The murals are to be recessed in the wall.

Miss Dolan has already completed her portrait of Mrs. Morrill. She expects to finish her task in eight or ten months.

"I have always wanted to paint ever since I can remember," said Miss Dolan, when asked at what age she became interested in painting.

It was natural, then, when she entered the University of Nebraska for her specialty in painting. From Nebraska she went to the Chicago Art Institute, where she holds a life scholarship. Four years in the Art Students League in New York City and a year at Fontainebleau in Paris completed her studies in New York she studied under George Bridgman, Louis Mora, and other famous artists.

At Fontainebleau her favorite teacher was St. Hubert, noted widely for his fresco work.

The Nebraska state capitol commission asked Miss Dolan to paint a mural of the state capitol building. This mural, which she finished a year ago in July, is found in the capitol library. She considers it her best work. The series of murals that form the background for the various exhibits in the Morrill hall museum are also from her brush.

As an indication of her ability, Miss Dolan while on a recent vacation trip in the east was approached by officials of the National History Museum of New York City, who asked her to paint a picture which when completed will be placed alongside the works of renowned painters.

Among other incidental improvements, Vogler explained, will be the installation of double windows, which extend on three sides of the pool, to prevent condensation of moisture.

In addition special insulation will be placed on the ceiling to avoid, as far as possible, the deafening echoes which abound in many indoor pools. The ceiling lights will also be strengthened by larger reflectors.

The erection of fifteen tier bleachers at the east end of the natatorium, together with side bleachers and the old balcony on the south and two or three tiers of seats on the north will afford accommodations for approximately a thousand spectators, a larger number than any other school in the Big Six.

Big Six Meets Booked.
As a result, it is probable that many of the conference swimming meets will be held here. Several engagements with Big Six schools have already been booked, and negotiations are under way with Washington university at St. Louis, Vogler said.

"Now that relations with the University of Minnesota have been reopened in all sports," he added, "it is probable that a home-and-home swimming meet arrangement can also be worked out with them."

Preliminary plans called for the pool to be finished by Oct. 1, but owing to several days delay in getting the summer and the fact that it was impossible for construction to be begun as early as had been planned, the work will not be done until sometime between Sept. 1 and 15.

Classrooms are Moved.
Owing to the necessity of providing space for the women's dressing rooms and showers, the classroom in the east part of the Coliseum basement is being torn out and classroom space provided in the southeast corner of the basement.

The indoor tennis courts will not be affected, although it will be necessary for some of the handball courts to be moved. Rooms has not yet been provided for the boxers and wrestlers who formerly worked out in the room where the pool now is.

Women students will have their own entrance to the Coliseum basement.

The pool is being built at a cost of about $35,000. Part of this will be paid for by the students themselves, who will each be assessed $1 at the time of registration. Just as formerly a $1 medical fee has entitled student to the use of the University medical facilities, the swimming pool fee will entitle all students to the use of the pool.

and will cost approximately $60,000.

Dormitory on 16th Street.
The new women's dormitory, to be constructed on the east side of 16th street will be started as soon as financing plans are completed. The central unit, to be built first, will accommodate 175 women. This will also provide parlors and additional kitchen and dining room facilities. The kitchen and dining room have been arranged so that when the other units are added the women may be accommodated in the central unit. Plans include provisions for social and recreation facilities. Work will start late this fall and will be expected to end in July when the building will be opened. The central portion will cost approximately $269,000.

A new shop building at the Curtis school of agriculture at a cost of $20,000 will be built this year and architects are drafting the plans.

The campus of the North Platte experiment station will also receive $15,000 for residence improvements.

RAPID READING SAVES STUDENT MUCH TIME

Iowa Educators Find Right
Habits Increase Rate
Almost Third.

AMES, Ia., Sept. 12.—The average student may gain an extra seven hours a week by learning to read more rapidly, according to Dr. A. R. Lauer, associate professor of psychology of schools at Canaville, recently completed a study of reading habits of 135 students.

The average student spends 20 to 25 hours a week reading material which could be read in 12 to 18 hours. In a year the saving would amount to thirty-six days.

In order to read more rapidly and still comprehend the subject matter the following points are recommended: Keep your mind on your subject; see phrases instead of words; read silently; never take notes while reading; relax occasionally and summarize and make a mental outline of the material.

The boys in the group of students studied improved their speed of reading 31.6 percent and the girls 29.7 percent.

Let Us...
Plot Your Curves

When your shoulders are massive like Hugh Rhea's—or you've a Milwaukee goiter like John Keriaedes—or your pants pockets are four feet from the floor like "Red" Nesmith's, then we can serve you best, as we did them, by plotting your curves and having your suit custom made.

For the past two days we've had with us, Mr. A. R. Green, a stylist from Chicago, who has a great display of suitings, topcoatings, and overcoatings for college men—all from the House of Kuppenheimer. We've persuaded him to stay with us for Friday and Saturday.

If you're hard to fit—or want something different—come in. You'll find a good selection at
